Postal Savings Banks

CHICAGO Drivers Journal: The farmers, beyond any other portion of our people, are to be the beneficiaries of the postal savings bank system established by the last congress, the details for the organization of which are now being worked out at Washington. For the farmer, beyond any other man, has been most commonly out of touch with the existing system of national and state banks. "Out of touch," often because practically out of reach, and even more frequently because the only available bank has been an institution to which, with or without cause, he has been unwilling to confide his funds.

Therefore, he has too often preferred to be "his own banker," with the inevitable consequence of frequent losses by theft fire and accident, which in the aggregate have footed up to an annual sum far greater than the total of those by bank failures in the United States. Add to such losses the loss of interest voluntarily incurred—fully $15,000,000 a year—and the sum by which our farmers have been annually "out" for lack of a savings bank system in which they could absolutely confide is something appalling.

Such a system, however, will now soon be in operation, and, low as is the interest rate of 2 per cent, it will, added the sense of security given by government control, work a practical abolition of hoarding in America. Even the Hindus—the most incorrigible hoarders in the universe—have recently shown signs of awakening to the folly of the practice and it was high time when congress at last decided postal savings banks to be a necessity if our country was to "keep up with the march of progress."

Much Interest Taken

IT WAS indeed gratifying to see what interest was taken by our sister cities in the county in the behalf of the Fair held here last week. It showed that all petty jealousy has been done away with, and that a spirit of harmony and unity now prevail in its stead. This friendly feeling between the two ends of the county and different towns will eventually result in much good, and is a long step toward a better and greater county.

EDITOR GREEN of the Martindale Independent, who is also filling the capacity of depot agent at that place, is complaining that the girls of that city congregate at the depot, and laugh and giggle so loud, that he can not hear the whistle of the incoming trains. Next.

The Man Who "Betrayed Montana."
THE INDEPENDENT charges that Senator Carter "has betrayed the people" of Montana.

Did he betray Montana when he worked for the opening of the Crow reservation?

Did he betray Montana when he secured the passage of a law exempting the settlers on that reservation from paying approximately $2,000,000 to the government?

Did he betray Montana when he secured the opening of the lands in the Fort Ellis and Fort Assiniboine reservations?

Did he betray Montana when he voted for two additional land offices at Missoula and Lewistown?

Did he betray Montana when he secured the land for a public park at Miles City?

Did he betray Montana when he secured over $250,000 to pay the settlers for improvements on the Northern Cheyenne reservation?

Did he betray Montana when he secured the passage of a law preventing the unlawful occupancy of public lands?

Did he betray Montana when he secured the establishment of a remount station at Fort Keogh?

Did he betray Montana when he secured the exclusion of corporations from the benefits of the suspension of mining assessment work?

Did he betray Montana when he secured thousands of dollars for the benefit of projects in Montana, such as improving the Missouri and Kootenai rivers, the erection of public buildings and the surveys of our public lands?

Did he betray Montana in securing pensions for many of the soldiers of the state?

Did he betray Montana when he aided in the establishment of Fort Harrison, and later the appropriation to obtain a water supply that will enable the enlargement of the fort to at least a regimental post?

Did he betray Montana and the railroad employes when he voted for the amendment which would make effective the law so as not to permit more than 16 hours' labor in any 24 consecutive hours?

Did he betray Montana when he secured the creation of Glacier National Park?

Did he betray Montana when he secured the $20,000,000 appropriation of which Montana will secure a large percentage for reclamation projects? —Helena Record.

The meanest man in the Musselshell Valley is said to reside at Twodot. Recently at a dance at that place he saw a girl stick her chewing gum on the bottom of a chair as she got up to dance. He went over, sat down on the chair, and taking the gum he inserted a piece of chewing tobacco inside and put it back. When the young lady came back to sit down she put the gum in her mouth again. The tobacco soon began to work and the fair one suddenly got homesick.

Prof. Thomas Shaw: Stop gambling in sowing crops. By this I do not mean gambling in the bad sense, but gambling in the sense of dealing in uncertainties. If the farmer in the dry country sows a crop on ill prepared land, he is incurring the hazard of failure. If he sows his crop on spring plowed land, unless it be perhaps a cultivated crop, he does it at the risk of failure. If he sows crops that ripen late, he is taking more risk than if he sowed crops that ripen early.

Here is a scheme a man worked to get his wife to hoe the garden: He went out with the hoe and after hunting around for a while went to the house to wash the dirt off a dime and a quarter. He had struck it rich. Back he went and presently returned with another quarter. He told his wife he had made money enough for one day and would take a nap. When he awoke his wife had the whole garden hoed but she hadn't found a cent. She doesn't know yet that the "mine was salted."

MAKING MONEY

Some men make money in business--some in stocks--some by toilsome saving of their daily wage. But we submit to you the unquestioned fact that more men have reached a comfortable competence through the ownership of property and land which bring in a fixed income than in any other way. Business requires your sole attention--stocks mean sleepless nights, and days of worry--property works by itself for you without your care.

Select it--set it to work--it takes care of itself and will take care of you.

A good sample of this sort of investment is found in a single ranch which we have that has more than trebled its value during the past three years and will continue to do so.

This ranch is composed of 1,000 acres of the richest and most productive land in the world. Pure running spring water on the place. Irrigation ditches are on the ranch and can be used at will whenever necessary. Large log house and barn and many other buildings on the place. Full set of farm implements so that anyone can start in with active farming as soon as transfer has been made. Entire ranch fenced, part rail and some barb wire.

The price is $18 per acre and all the cash required is $5,000. We do not know where $5,000 can be invested to better advantage. Come in quickly if you are interested.
