Cornelius Mooney began a suit in the district court of Cascade county recently against the Great Northern Railway Company, corporation and Win. J. Neilson, in which he seeks to recover damages in the sum of $20,000. The complaint recites the fact that Charles Mooney, a son, aged 20 on September 20, 1910, purchased a ticket from Spokane, Wash., to Butte, Montana, and that the passenger was wrecked at Coram, Flathead county on the same date and the younger Mooney killed.

NEWS OF THE STATE

Items gathered from our contemporaries

At an early hour last Saturday morning fire broke out in the roller skating rink at Lewistown. The fire was soon extinguished but not until considerable damage was done. It is believed that one of the big heating stoves in the front of the building caused the fire. The building is insured.

Phillip Tillinghast, receiver of the defunct First National Bank of Billings, Saturday instituted suit in the federal court against P. B. Moss, former president of the institution, for $135,800 and against C. T. Thomas for $10,500. The first action represents a supposed stockholders' liability and the second is to recover on promissory notes.

J. P. Hendricks, a former superintendent of schools of Butte, and who after leaving there about 11 years ago, took up his residence in Chicago, is reported to have committed suicide by shooting himself. Mr. Hendricks became city superintendent of schools in the year 1894. In 1900 he resigned and went east where he engaged in the business of mine promoting and it is understood met with considerable success.

In an opinion rendered Monday, the attorney-general's office holds that county deputies are public officers and that therefore they may not be held by women, the law inhibiting females from occupying such positions of trust. The opinion further holds that the prohibition does not lie against women as clerks or subordinate officials, however. The opinion is addressed as the board of commissioners of Sanders county and refers to the appointment of a woman as deputy county assessor.

The first fatal boating accident on Flathead lake in several years has found an echo in the filing of a damage suit by H. P. Napton, as attorney for Angeline Pariseau, whose husband fell from the boat City of Polson last summer. The complaint names to minor children as co-plaintiffs with the mother and declares that it was due to the negligence of the boat's captain that Pariseau was not rescued. Pariseau is said to have been saved from a similar fate once before during the trip. The complainant asks for $25,000 damages.

H. R. Cunningham, insurance commissioner of this state has submitted to Acting Governor Allen his annual report for the twelve months ending last Wednesday. It shows that the insurance receipts were seven thousand nine hundred and twenty six dollars and fifty six cents exclusive of those paid under the provisions of the coal mine laws. The receipts are wholly from the fees collected from insurance companies doing business in this state. The commissioner expressed himself as highly gratified with the showing, indicating as it does a very healthful condition of the insurance business in the Treasure state.

F. H. Ray, register of the state land office Wednesday submitted to Acting Governor Allen the report of the operation of his department for the fiscal year. With a single exception, the receipts are the largest on record and even this exception would not exist save for large cash sales of timber lands in the Flathead country. The receipts for the year amounted to $826,573.36, derived from the following sources: Sales $536,260.44; timber sales, $14,722.27; leases, $259,830.76; interest, $19,091.59; coal royalties, $1,171.55, and fees $5,750.40. The lease receipts are $91 larger than last years.

His body shaken with agony and tears almost bursting from his eyes young D. Williams, youthful oiler at the Neversweat mine, begged the surgeons at St. James hospital in Butte last week not to amputate his arm. It was the right arm, and muscles, tendons and bones were severed at the wrist. The hand hung only by shreds. Yet in his mighty wish, Williams believed that perhaps the tissues might grow together again, and the doctors listened to his piteous plea.

J. J. McDermott, state coal mine inspector, is in receipt of a letter from the United States bureau of mines to the effect that rescue car No. 5, which is to travel through Montana and later be stationed at Billings, will stop at the different mining camps for demonstrations and for training men in first aid to the injured and in helmet work. The car will arrive at Billings the evening of Dec. 23 and will proceed to Red Lodge on the 24th and there remain until Jan. 3. It will then visit the other mining camps of the state.

Dan D. Sullivan was elected president of the Miners Union of Butte at the election last week. It took two days of continuous labor to count the votes. The officers elected are as follows: President, Dan D. Sullivan; vice-president, Joe Guelli; recording secretary, John Vickers; secretary-treasurer, Joe McKinnon; assistant secretary, treasurer, Dan S. Markich; warden, Mike Neary; conductor, T. J. Booher; members of finance committee, John F. O'Brien, Max Marvin and John Byrne.

C. E. Kumpke, state examiner, has issued a statement showing the condition of the 89 state banks and trust companies of Montana under the supervision of his department on Nov. 10, the date of the last call, together with a comparison with the corresponding call of last September. Five new banks are included in the report, having been organized in the interim. The institutions are shown to have resources of $32,067,083, as against $32,039,176 in September as follows: Capital stock, $4,621,400; surplus, $1,126,110, undivided profits, $1,385,200; deposits, $24,169,422; bills payable, $754,000; other items, $10,880. The new banks established are: Conrad Trust & Savings bank of Helena, capital $177,200; Benton State bank of Fort Benton, capital $25,000; Lewistown State bank of Lewistown, capital $50,000; Milk River Valley bank of Glasgow, capital $30,000; The First State bank of Chester has increased its capital $2,000; and the Carbon County Bank of Red Lodge, and the Flathead Valley State Bank of Roman have been converted into national banks.

NIHILL ITEMS

Too Late for Last Week

R. E. Edwards and son have ordered a new saw mill and expect to locate near the Snowy Mountains for the winters work.

The new screened lump coal, for sale by Ted Johnson at Nihill, is giving the best of satisfaction.

W. F. Coleman and wife made a business trip to Nihill Saturday.

Mae Coleman, who has been suffering from rheumatism for the past week, is reported much improved and able to be up.

F. L. Dailey was a business visitor at Nihill the first of the week. Nihill has four passenger trains daily. Monday the first train load of horses went south on the B. & N.

Fine weather at Nihill these days. Ted Johnson's correct weights and prices on coal is bringing him a fine business.

R. E. Edwards and son expect their new saw mill soon and will start sawing at once.

Percy Stover of Lewistown paid Nihill a visit Thursday. While Percy knows the land marks and is a good land locator, he got lost near Hedgesville, but he is not the only one lost in that section, which resembles the bad lands.

Art Edwards was sick last week and taken to the Shanahan hospital where he rapidly recovered and is now able to take long walks, and says he thinks he can walk over to Chapman's Sunday afternoon.

The new Angidile scales at Shanahan's is a beauty, and we would recommend Helena to get her merchants to put in a few.

E. V. Parson made a business trip to Harlowton the first of the week, and says the city looks good to him, and is ready to vote for it to be the county seat. He is not the only one that feels that way.

"Dad" Edwards can't see why the jack rabbits always run in their holes when they see him with a gun.

J. A. Dresemann and Wm. Schulte greet each other when they meet, as "brother." Both of these young gentlemen are nice boys and a credit to Nihill, where they have valuable claims.

Nihill is to have a new hardware and implement store. Parties from Devils Lake, N. D. are behind the enterprise.

John Glynn and Charles Young are logging these days at the Snowy Mountains.

Steve Shuster expects to spend the winter at Harlowton, his family having gone to Nihill.

C. J. Shanahan spent Wednesday at Judith Gap on business.

Orville Buckner returned from Parker, S. D. this week.

M. T. Connolly, superintendent of the Raitt ranch, was a pleasant caller at Nihill Wednesday.

Nihill is to have three new traction plow outfits in the early spring.

Tom Lee managed the store for M. Gyland during his absence this week.
