LINCOLN'S MOTHER.

The Family Pedigree of the Hankses and Their Early Deeds.
A friend requests me to give for publication, if I can do so, a sketch of the family of Nancy Hanks, the mother of Abraham Lincoln. She tells me she has read every history of Abraham Lincoln and considers it very strange that nothing has ever been written by the historians of the president's mother, except that her name was Nancy Hanks.
The historians never made any effort to trace the pedigree of the family. Raymond, in his "Life and State Papers of Abraham Lincoln," declares nothing is known concerning her ancestry or early life. He merely mentions that she was a Virginian by birth. The name Hanks is rare in America, yet we have a straighter line on the pedigree of the Hankses than we have of the Lincolns. Beyond the grandfather of Abe Lincoln, we know absolutely nothing of the family pedigree.
The earliest account we have of the Hankses is their first appearance in Gloucester county, Va., in 1673. In deed book No. 6, land grants, page 472, 1673, is recorded the grant of 264 acres to Thomas Hanks. And on page 476, same year, 1673, is recorded a patent to Thomas Hanks for 500 acres. In the early colonial history of Virginia a person who paid for the passage of a person who came to settle in Virginia was entitled to a land grant of several hundred acres. This was why he was given a grant of land. The patent of 500 acres which is recorded was land paid for in cash or tobacco, which was the circulating medium in Virginia. In course of time the family increased and emigrated westward. We next hear of them in Orange county, 149 miles west of Gloucester. Among the marriages recorded in Orange courthouse on March 26, 1803, is Rodney Hanks, son of Reuben and Elizabeth Hanks, to Alice Chandler. But they didn't stop at Orange courthouse. We find a family of them in Rockingham county, Va., in 1790, and another in Shenandoah county. In 1780 Abraham Lincoln, grandfather of President Lincoln, removed to Kentucky from Rockingham county, Va., and we are certain that the Hanks family was with the Lincolns during that journey. The next account we have of the Hankses is in 1806. In that year, in Kentucky, Thomas Lincoln, father of the president, married Nancy Hanks.
The next account of the Hankses was at the battle of Tippecanoe, in Indiana, Nov. 7, 1811. We find the names of Peter and James Hanks. Peter was killed. He was a member of Captain Berry's company of militia from Kentucky. James belonged to a company of mounted riflemen and was from Kentucky. They may have been brothers, and if so I am certain they were the brothers of Nancy Hanks. In six years after the battle of Tippecanoe Thomas Lincoln removed from Kentucky to Indiana.—Des Moines Register.

An Insult.

"Have you ever written on an empty stomach?" asked the mere man.
"Sir," exclaimed the literary person "I am a poet, not a tattoo artist!"
