Kootenai Valley for Fruit.

John B. Chase of Troy, who is attending the teachers' institute, handed us a Wealthy apple from the orchard of Oscar Colberg of Bull lake, with the request to sample it for its edible quality. This is the apple which swept the boards at the state fair at Helena for 1st prize against 27 competitors, and we can truthfully say that it is the article. We all know the Troy district is extra good for fruit raising and this prize winner shows that both sides of the Kootenai in our neighboring district are equally adapted to the raising of fruit and will take a back seat to no place in the Pacific northwest.

Percy Kidder of Troy is in a hospital here, the result of a wound in the shoulder, received while out hunting with Wm. Righthower. While separated from his companion, he was taken for a deer and received the shot. The wound is not dangerous and young Kidder is reported as progressing favorably towards recovery. The accident happened just at dusk, when they jumped two or three deer as they were returning home.

Sidney Logan, the Kalispell attorney, came in yesterday to attend court.

Tried Newspaper Stunt.

Phil Eberhart of Wallace, Ida., was a visitor in Libby last Saturday, coming up from Leonia, where he is visiting his father. Mr. Eberhart is a mining broker in the Coeur d'Alene metropolis, and promoted the deal with the Pacific Smelting & Mining company, a transaction which meant so much and is now doing so much for the mining interests of the Libby district. Phil is not a stranger in the west end of the county and the writer remembers him in the palmy days of the Yahk as an active force in that community. We hate to tell it on him, but after we had retreated from the camp with a stake we hid our gladsome way to Spokane and engaged in the newspaper business. It was the first time Phil had ever been up against the real thing. As we were no millionaires—not yet—the game was too swift in the city by the falls, and while the writer lingered awhile longer Phil beat a hasty retreat to the lead belt and followed his natural bent in mines and mining. He now swings mining deals as naturally as we sling type. And thus we are both coming into our own. Phil says he has never liked Spokane since that strenuous winter and we don't know as we can blame him, seeing what became of his introductory experience in that particular bailiwick. But we both came to a simultaneous conclusion, that Spokane is a dandy place—to spend money in.
