Features of the Proposed Bond Issue.

Date of Election: Saturday, Oct. 23, 1911.
Qualified Electors: Only those registered at last preceding election are qualified to vote. As registry agents have been done away with, no transfers can be made and votes must be cast in precinct of last registration; county clerk will send certified list to each polling place.
Estimated Cost of Bridges: At Troy $28,000, at Libby $28,000, at Rexford $33,000. For roads in each commissioner district $12,000.
With present debt drawing 5 per cent., and proposed issue at same rate, yearly tax charge will be $10,550.
Who Will Pay Taxes: This year's assessment roll shows that 85 per cent. of the property of Lincoln county is owned by non-residents.
Nearly half of the realty of the county was donated by congress to the Northern Pacific Railway company, which steadfastly refuses to part with same to settlers and has done so for twenty years, but has transferred large blocks to lumber and mining companies for speculative holdings.
To proposed bond issue should be added $25,000 in general road and bridge fund annually, making $150,000 available first year.
Prospective Free Ferries: Leonia, Jennings and Warland.
Six hundred voters petitioned for $150,000 bond issue and 135 against.

The darkey who was taken off the train at Eureka last week by Sheriff Baney, under telegraphic advices from Kalispell, was given two years in the pen by Judge Erickson. He had passed some worthless checks and was skipping the country.

Timothy Miller and Mrs. F. M. Plummer left Sunday evening for Billings, the former as delegate to the meeting of the grand lodge, I. O. O. F., of Montana, and the latter as delegate to the Rebekah grand lodge, both of which met in the same city last Tuesday.

Dr. Weir of Washington, D. C., pathological expert, has been in this section for a week past, examining our forests for tree diseases, taking specimens and photographs. Trees, just like humans, have their troubles, and he is investigating and prescribing for their ailments under the auspices of the government.

Kalispell Times: Jim Lindsay, one of the best railroad construction men on the Great Northern, who has built nearly all the bridges on the Kalispell divide twice, and in the meantime homesteaded a dandy ranch on Echo lake, is quitting the division. Jim has been corrupted by J. P. Rogers, superintendent of the S., P. & S., and has gone to Portland to accept a bridge foremanship on that railroad. Mr. Rogers has drawn a half dozen of the best engineers and conductors, Grant, the wrecker, and now Canada Jim has gone from this division to the popular old boss.

Passed Over the Divide.

One of our pioneers, Chas. P. McDonald, died at one o'clock, Oct. 15, at his home on Leigh creek, at the ripe age of 72 years.

The deceased came to the Libby country 14 years ago and has been since actively identified with the mining interests of the district. For the past year he has been in failing health and last Monday passed peacefully away.

Sixteen Years Ago this Week

(Items culled from old Troy Times.)

The organization of the Troy Mining, Power & Improvement company was perfected at Spokane with a capital stock of $100,000. E. L. Preston, manager of the Troy townsite company, was at the head of the company.

Over 80 claims had been located in the Atlanta mining district, and much prospecting work was being done.

Railroad business began to show signs of a revival. The Great Northern placed an order for 1,000 box cars, and a Missoula firm received a contract for 500,000 ties from the Northern Pacific.

Bar silver was quoted at 68c, lead at $3.15 and copper at $12.

Jas. A. Coram was advertising for a patent to 50 acres of placer ground on Star creek, below Troy.

The growth of the Great Northern in 16 years is shown by the publication of the time table, which then had one passenger train east and west bound each day. Now there are three a day each way, besides the fast mail.

Local merchants were advertising 15 pounds of granulated sugar for $1.

The weather 16 years ago registered an average maximum temperature of 68 and minimum 33; prevailing wind, calm; precipitation, none. The Times, in extolling the beauty of the weather, said it made one wish he could live forever, which, to us oldtimers who are still here, seems like an old story. We certainly have the goods.
