

Knees Became Stiff

Five Years of Severe Rheumatism
The cure of Henry J. Goldstein, 14 Barton Street, Boston, Mass., is another victory by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where others have utterly failed. Mr. Goldstein says: "I suffered from rheumatism five years, it kept me from business and caused excruciating pain. My knees would become as stiff as steel. I tried many medicines without relief, then took Hood's Sarsaparilla, soon felt much better, and now consider myself entirely cured. I recommend Hood's." Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

It was while President Taft was in Brooklyn a month ago that a man who had evidently walked a long distance at a fast pace and was perspiring freely stopped on a corner to say to a group:
"Well, that cooks Taft's goose for a second term."
"What's wrong?" was asked.
"I used to know him, you know."
"Did, eh?"
"Yes, went to school with him. In fact, as young men we courted the same girl."
"And naturally you shook hands with him today?"
"That's the trouble. I set out to do it, and to have a word or two with him. I was sure he'd know me on sight."
"And didn't he?"
"Say, when I grinned and reached out my paw he looked at me dead in the eye and said:
"Pass on, Sam Schomerhorn, and don't interrupt the procession!"
"Well?"
"But my name is Thomas Wales! Sam Schomerhorn! Great snakes, but what an insult on me! And he meant it, sir—he meant it, and I am a grocer with five clerks and a driver and we'll smash him as flat as a pancake if he runs for a second term!"

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitive and modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.
Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.
It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

DIFFICULT TO GRADE EGGS

Sixteen-Candle Power Electric Light is Most Desirable—Each One Examined Separately.

Eggs are among the most difficult of food products to grade. This is because each egg must be considered separately and because the actual substance of the egg cannot be examined without destroying the egg.

From external appearance eggs can be selected for size, cleanliness of shell and freedom from cracks. This is the common method of grading in early spring, when the eggs are uniformly of good quality. Later in the season the egg candle is used. In the technical sense any kind of a light may be used for an egg candle. A sixteen-candle power electric lamp is the most desirable. The light is inclosed in a box or tin cylinder, in which are made openings about the size of a half dollar. The room being darkened, the candle holds the egg to the light, large end upward, and gives it a quick turn in order to view all sides and to cause the contents to whirl within the shell.

To the expert this process reveals the actual condition of the egg to an extent that the novice can hardly realize. The art of egg candling cannot be readily taught by the worded description. One who wishes to learn it had best go to an expert, or he may begin unaided, and by breaking many eggs learn the essential points. Eggs when laid differ considerably in size, but otherwise are a very uniform product. The purpose of the egg in nature requires that this be the case, because the contents of the egg must be so proportioned as to form the chick without surplus or waste, and this requires a chemical composition that varies but slightly. For food purposes all fresh eggs are practically equal. The tint of the yolk varies somewhat, being more yellow when green food has been supplied the hens. Occasionally when hens eat unusual quantities of green feed the yolks show a greenish brown tint and appear dark to the candle. Such eggs are called grass eggs. They are perfectly wholesome.

An opinion exists among egg men that the white of the spring egg is of finer quality and will stand up better than that of summer eggs. This is true enough of commercial eggs, but the difference is chiefly, if not entirely, due to external factors that act upon the egg after it is laid. The flavor or odor of an egg may be noticeably influenced by the feed of the hen. This has been demonstrated by feeding hens heavily on onion tops or garlic.

She made her first cake, and, wishing to "jolly" her, the husband winked at her brother and said:
"Nice cake, dear. Are you sure, though, that you used baking powder in it?"
"No," she said, as a little smile flickered around her mouth. "I didn't have baking powder, so I put in a substitute."
"Ah," said the husband, brightly, "and what was that?"
"Cement, dear," said the wife sweetly.

BRIDE DIES OF FRIGHT

OWL'S SHRIEK CAUSES DEMISE OF LAWYER'S WIFE.

Spectra-Like Form With Huge Yellow Eyes, Flapped at Her Window and Uttered Blood-Chilling Cries.

New York.—The shrill scream of an owl and its shadowy form and gleaming eyes frightened Mrs. O'Neill, the beautiful bride of Assistant Corporation Counsel James O'Neill of Brooklyn, to death.

The bird first appeared while Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill, with hands on each other's shoulders, were walking along the road from fashionable Argyle park to Babylon. It flew in front of their faces, then hid in the trees and screamed.

The next evening they started again upon their customary walk to the village. They had scarcely left the lights of home behind, when a double shriek, long drawn out and terrifying, assailed their ears and a specter-like form, with huge yellow eyes, swooped swiftly toward them. It veered off only within a few feet.

After reaching home, O'Neill recalled the lines of Macbeth:

"It was only the owl that shrieked; The fatal bell Which gives the stern 'at goodnight.'"
Later Mr. O'Neill and his bride exchanged some joking words about the incident and retired.

Of a sudden, when all was still, there came a blood-chilling shriek, a tearing of claws and a beating of wings at the wires of the window screen and the vision of the golden eyes peering in from the darkness.

Mrs. O'Neill started up with an answering scream, then fell back. O'Neill, with a word of anger, sprang for a walking stick and jumped out upon a balcony. He was just in time to swing and miss at the form that flapped leisurely away.

He spoke a cheering word as he reentered the room. There was no reply. He snapped on a light. His bride was lying senseless. He sprang to the telephone and called a doctor, then a priest. The priest was the first to come. There was still life in Mrs. O'Neill's form as he administered the last rites of the church. But just as he finished, the priest touched his hand to a wrist and said to Mr. O'Neill, "She's dead, my son."

GIRL LIED; MAN IS JAILED

Untruthful Story Sent Stephen Smith, Famous Polo Trainer, to Prison for Twelve Years.

New York.—After serving six years of a sentence of twelve in the Sing Sing prison in New York, Stephen Smith may obtain his liberty because it is found Rhoda Smith of Jamaica, R. I., could not possibly have told the truth when she accused him. The truth came out recently when she made a similar charge against her father accusing him of impairing her morals.

Stephen Smith was a trainer of polo ponies and was well known on Long Island. He had money in the banks at Bay Shore and was the owner of 20 polo ponies. At the time of his arrest he was boarding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Smith, parents of the girl. After he had been indicted and had been sentenced by County Judge Humphrey he protested that he was innocent of the charge that had been made against him.

Since an investigation has shown that the charges against Smith could not possibly have been true an effort will be made to obtain his release. Attorneys who assisted in convicting him are among the most eager that he shall be released as soon as possible.

BIG WAVE BREAKS HER LEG

Strange Mishap to Woman Bather in the Ocean at Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Atlantic City, N. J.—By one of the most peculiar mishaps that has ever occurred along the beach front, Mrs. Theresa Hanley of Philadelphia, sustained a fractured leg while bathing. With a party of friends, Mrs. Hanley stood waist deep in the surf, and, carried from her feet by a wave of unusual height and force, she disappeared with a cry of pain.

Her companions shouted with glee at what they believed was nothing more serious than a ducking, but they hurried to her aid when the face of Mrs. Hanley reappeared showing signs of great pain. She was hurried to the hospital tent, where it was found that her leg was fractured.

Foster Parents Arrested for Treatment Incredibly Inhuman—Youth Bitten and Scratched.

Rapid City, N. D.—Kept in a cage with a pair of South American hyenas, which were being shown at a carnival, and bitten and scratched until he moaned when anyone touched him, was the experience of a five-year-old boy named Jenree, according to the charges of State's Attorney Denn, who caused the arrest of the child's foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Johnston. The petition of the attorney tells a story of treatment incredibly inhuman, in which the child was exhibited by a carnival company through Minnesota and Iowa.

TELL TRUTH ABOUT MELONS

Growers Must Not Mark Packages "Rocky Ford" Unless Cantaloupe Are Really From Colorado.

The government says growers must not label packages "Rocky Ford Seed Melons" or any other name containing "Rocky Ford" unless the melons are the real thing—that is, they must be grown in the Rocky Ford district of Colorado and the government board of food inspection says:

"The use of geographical name shall not be permitted in connection with a food or drug product not manufactured or produced in that place, when such name indicates that the article was manufactured or produced in that place.

The Rocky Ford melon is one of the older varieties of melons which, in the environment of Rocky Ford, Colo., has attained particular excellence.

The same remark applies to the Indian river oranges of Florida. They are not a new variety, but various varieties which in the environment of the Indian river have attained unusual excellence.

This is a remarkable decision. There is no reason why melons from any other section should be sold upon the reputation of the Rocky Ford melons, they will establish a reputation of their own; if they are not as good, they don't deserve it, and should not be permitted to pass under false colors.

Fruit growers generally should take note of this decision for it will apply to every other similar case where packages have been marked with a geographical name.

Sell your products for what they actually are—by so doing you will establish a reputation of your own and will not be dependent upon the reputation of others.

STOP EYE ACNES

Horse Wouldn't Eat It.
Chicago.—William Hobson was fined $1 by Judge Walker of the municipal court as a result of trying to feed $50 in fresh green bills to a horse hitched to a truck.
"It was this way, your honor," explained Hobson. "I drew $50 from the bank to buy some clothes and invested some in drinks. I used to be a cab-driver and I met a horse that had once saved my life by refusing to let me drive him off the Clark street bridge on a dark and stormy night. I felt so bad for that poor old horse that I burst into tears, hauled the rest of the $50 out of my pocket and offered it to him."
"All right," said Judge Walker, "I'll fine you $1 for being drunk."
"You say you enjoy gardening?"
"Immensely."
"I never hear of your raising anything."
"No. I get all my fun standing around and telling my neighbors what to do."
"How is it that Grace believes everything you tell her?"
"I gain her confidence by telling her she is beautiful, just before I start to talk."
