LOCAL NEWS BUDGET

Thos. Kelly returned from Anaconda last Friday morning. He has been staying there for the last six months, and he says he can see that Libby has improved since he was here last. He will probably stay in Libby this summer.

The people of Lincoln county will be pleased to learn that the motion to recall Representative Conner, which was put to a referendum vote of the Socialist locals of Montana, was defeated by a majority of 140. Great Falls, the local that started the howling about his voting for the Hon. T. J. Walsh, never cast a single vote.—Eureka Journal.

Mrs. John Roche, who has been suffering with typhoid for some time, is recovering rapidly and will soon be as well as ever.

Geo. E. Davis of Troy was a business visitor in town Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Boyle are the proud parents of a baby girl born Saturday, March 29.

Contractor P. S. Rose is busy repairing the big ditching machine and will be ready to start work on the sewer as soon as the frost goes out of the ground, probably inside of ten days. He is getting every thing in shape so that the work can be rushed to a finish in the shortest possible time.

It begins to look now as if spring was here to stay and the continued mild and wet weather makes the streets almost muddy.

It will soon be time for cleanup day. Let us get ready to swat the fly before he gets so numerous.

W. W. Warwick came back from Bonners Ferry Monday and closed a deal for his house, selling it to Geo. P. Johnson who came here from Washington a short time ago. Mr. Johnson will reconstruct the house and use it for his residence.

The Young People's Branch will meet at the Thompson home Friday evening, April 4.

Fred Daniels was a visitor from Warland Saturday afternoon.

Miss Eva Miller was down from Warland Saturday.

Sheriff Frank Bauey was a business visitor at Eureka Monday.

"Graustark" drew a large crowd Monday night. The play was a good one and the people of Libby seemed well pleased with it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Ingebretsen of Fortine were visitors in town Sunday and Monday.

The dogoes arrested by Game Warden Ralston for killing deer out of season furnished bail in the sum of $100 each and were turned loose. They will probably now do a disappearing stunt and the county will be $200 to the good.

J. M. Kennedy, commissioner of agriculture and publicity for the state of Montana, came in Saturday and remained in town until Monday morning. He went from here to Kalispell where he attended a meeting of the boosters of Flathead county.

Herman Bockman left on a business trip to Helena Sunday.

Miss Savage, daughter of W. D. Savage of Troy, visited here Saturday and Sunday with Miss Mildred Stonechest.

State Examiner Williams was in town Friday and Saturday inspecting the county books. He found everything ship shape and complimented the county officers on the way they are handling the business.

County Commissioner J. P. Bartlett was up from Troy Friday and Saturday.

County Commissioner F. P. Garey was down from Eureka Saturday attending a meeting of the board.

A black eyed man is always jealous of his wife, a grey eyed one the most faithful, a brown eyed one the best provider, and a blue eyed one always henpecked. Girls take your choice.

HUMOROUS QUIPS

Make Good.

The world is often humbugged by the guy who has the galle; The world is often bunked, but 'tis only for awhile. With all who try to do things she is patient, as she should; But, Lordy, how she slams them when they don't make good!

The braggart and the boaster they apparently get on. Today the world is with them, but tomorrow they are gone. The justice of her processes they have not understood. She has no use for any man who won't make good.

The world is often put upon, the world is oft deceived. And many a flimsy fable for awhile, she has believed. But finally her common sense deception has withstood. No man can fool her always when he can't make good.

So, laddie, take a lesson now from one who knows the game. 'Twill save you, maybe, money, and 'twill save you a'retly shame. The world will treat you squarely if you treat her as you should. But don't forget she'll nail you if you don't make good. —Judge.

Mutual Deficiency.

Joe Gepfert, the secondhand book dealer, went out to luncheon, and when he got seated at the table in the restaurant he found that he had left his glasses at the store. So he couldn't read his newspaper. And then when the waiter brought the bill of fare Joe couldn't read that either. So he squinted at it a minute and then handed it back to the waiter.

"Here," he said; "you'll have to read this to me."

The waiter grinned sympathetically and shook his head.

"Sorry, boss," he whispered. "But I ain't got no educashun, neither!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Unlimited Credit.

"You have left the name of the author off the program," the stage manager ventured to suggest.

"What's the author's name?" asked the manager with the thick mustache and the double chin.

"William Shakespeare." "Friend of yours, eh? All right, give him all the credit there is. Put down on the programme, 'Words and music by William Shakespeare.'"—Washington Star.

A Big Difference.

"Marriage makes a big difference," she sighed.

"What? Married only two weeks and disappointed? What's the trouble?"

"Oh, there isn't any great trouble. But I've noticed that whenever I sit on George's lap now his foot goes to sleep much quicker than it used to."—Detroit Free Press.

Heard at a Concert.

She—Miss Howler rendered that last song rather poorly. You should hear her sing "When the Cows Are in the Corn."

He—I should think it would scare them out, all right.—Boston Transcript

Fact.

"People say of a small eater, 'She eats like a bird,' yet a bird is an enormous eater."

"How do you make it?" "Doesn't a bird take a peck at every mouthful?"—Baltimore American.

Untimely.

A darky, coming around a corner in a Texas town last winter, was met square in the face with a blow of bitter cold north wind.

"Hub!" he said indignantly. "What wuz you lass July?"—Harper's.

He Knew.

Mrs. Gotham—This paper says a familiar face and form may be recognized at from fifty to a hundred meters.

Mr. Gotham—Yes, I know. That's the gas man.—Yonkers Statesman.

Knew Him Too Well.

Lawyer—Did you hear the plaintiff swear that he bought the goods relying on your representations?

Witness—Well, I don't believe it. That man has been doing business with me for years.—Brooklyn Life.

A Candle Lecture.

He—My dear, you talked in your sleep a long time last night. She—What did I talk about? He—Why, it seemed to be mainly abuse of me. She—I wasn't asleep.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

How He Looked.

"Mrs. Smythe has a beautiful new plume for her hat." "I thought so. I just met her husband." "Did he tell you about it?" "No, but he looked as if he had just been plucked."—Houston Post.

Not Better.

"Try one of these cigars, old man. I am sure you can't get better." "No, thanks, dear boy. I tried one last week, and I'm not better yet."—New York American.

A Change.

Mrs. Yeast—I just love to shut my eyes and think. Mr. Yeast—Why don't you try that with your mouth some time, dear?—Yonkers Statesman.

Prejudiced.

"I don't believe old Gibson is capable of loving anything but his pipe." "That's because he has the tobacco heart."—Judge.
