—O. M. Lutness, a prominent farmer of McElroy, was a county seat business visitor this week. Mr. Lutness is a stockholder in the Peoples Publishing Company.

—W. P. Langan of Minneapolis, representing the Bankers' Casualty Accident Sickness Insurance Company of Minneapolis, was in Plentywood this week getting the names on the dotted line.

—Mr. Frank Koester, Cashier of the Security State Bank of Outlook, stopped in Plentywood for a short time Thursday morning while returning to Outlook from Grenora, N. D., where he has been visiting his daughter.

—Mrs. Caroline Christianson is building a bungalow on Chestnut St. in the Davis second addition. Contractor S. H. Tucker is doing the work. Considerable building has already been done in this section of the town this spring and as this addition is one of the most desirable parts of town for residences it is likely that before the summer passes many more improvements will be made there.

—Mr. Carver of Wibaux, Montana, a League organizer of some note, made a pleasant call at this office today, telling about some of the farmers' organizations in his part of the state. He stated that nearly all the farmers belonged to the Nonpartisan League and Equity and that the farmers recently organized and now own their own bank and recently purchased the leading news paper at Wibaux with which to fight the farmers battles.

—The endless chain letter at last meets with an office which is worthy. Someone has conceived of the idea of sending five thrift cards with a stamp on each card to five of his friends, who in turn do likewise, creating an endless chain. Madoc has a splendid start already and is doing its share in aiding Uncle Sam. The war saving stamps will surpass the Liberty Loan at this rate. You will be getting your card soon. Watch for it.—Scoby Sentinel.

—Mr. Chas. Sloneker of Outlook, was a visitor to the county capitol on Thursday and while in the city made this office a pleasant call becoming a stockholder in the Peoples Publishing Company and ordering the "great family journal" sent to his home once a week for the next five years. Mr. Sloneker will have another "wherefore of the why story for us next week that will be of great interest to the farmers of Sheridan county and vicinity.

—W. A. Wheeler, Public Administrator of this county and one of the leading farmers of the Froid territory, was in the city last Monday on official business. Mr. Wheeler is now serving his second term in his present office and has made a very efficient officer. His services have in fact been so efficient in his present position that it is rumored that the farmers of Sheridan county could use him in other official capacities and he may be drafted to fill the office of county commissioner or some of the other offices in this county which has long been vacant insofar as a man representative of the farmers is concerned.

—Wm. Baladeau came to an untimely end at Snoden last Tuesday. He was returning from Williston where he had been trying to enlist in the army any was trying to catch a freight to Sidney and in someway slipped and fell under the train, cutting both legs nearly off above the knees. He was able to crawl to the side of the track, where in his agony he hastened death by inflicting a terrible gash in his throat with his pocket knife. He was found dead about an hour after the accident by section men, and was taken to Williston and prepared for burial. The remains were taken to Bainville where he has a brother.

PATRIOTISM AND POTATOES

daily in search of unusual table linen. The long suffering clerk dragged out his stock frequently in an effort to satisfy her. But in vain. One day, in desperation, he resolved upon a scheme to unload upon her the piece of damask they had had the longest in stock, one from which they had sold the most cloth. She surveyed the display as before. At last with a great air, the clerk said, "Now, madam, I am going to show you something very new and most original, just in and extremely choice." He bent down under the counter and with great impressiveness produced the timeworn pattern. "Now, madam," said he, "I want you to take particular notice of this original pattern. The central design is in the middle, while the border runs around the edge." His customer in delight bought the entire piece. Should potatoes be dressed up in finer clothes, given a French name, and increased in price? Or is it plain common sense linked with a desire to help the country a sufficient motive to increase their use.

WAR GARDENS

At a recent meeting of the Montana Council of Defense, it was ordered that all mayors of towns and cities within the State be requested to urge upon the inhabitants thereof, the necessity of planting and maintaining war gardens. Those who read the daily newspapers, and I take it that all the citizens of Plentywood do, will have no difficulty in seeing the urgent need of every one having his or her little war garden. Many towns and cities throughout the nation have set apart certain tracts of land, giving the school children an opportunity to plant such gardens under the leadership and direction of the local teachers and school superintendents. So far, to my knowledge, no effort has been made in that direction, which in a measure is regrettable, if conditions were and are such that it could have been done, here in Plentywood.

The manhood of the nation has gone forth to the battlefields of Europe to fight for the cause of right and justice. The supply of food-stuffs to feed these fighting men and their comrades our Allies, has through the submarine warfare aided by partial crop failures, been reduced to a point where it is absolutely necessary for us all to do everything in our power to supplement that which the farmers usually and in more happy times so abundantly supply. It is true, we are giving our share in Red Cross aid, in Y. M. C. A. aid, in purchasing Thrift Stamps and in responding to the call for Liberty loans; but all this will be of no avail to us if we neglect the most important of all—the supplying our soldiers with food. Food is the staff of life, and our soldiers must have it or they cannot fight.

I, therefore, as mayor of Plentywood, Montana, urge upon all the good people of Plentywood, to utilize every available foot of ground they can spare and plant the same to garden vegetables, and to see to it that such gardens are properly attended to during the summer months. Spend less for gasoline. Do less joy riding. Plant War Gardens. Call them Lib-
