BELANSKIE'S HOME ENDANGERED BY FIRE

Tuesday afternoon about three o'clock the Plentywood fire department was called out to extinguish a small blaze at the Belanskie residence on the south side of town. The blaze was caused from an overheated cook stove placed too close to the walls. Although the walls were protected by asbestos the heat was so intense as to cause the woodwork to catch fire. Fortunately Mrs. Belanskie discovered the fire before it had gotten any great headway and phoned the fire department. Small damage was done to the residence, the fire being put out with chemicals, forced through a hole chopped in the roof.

"I believe that the new wheat prices on light wheat announced by Julius Barnes, head of the United States Grain Corporation, will mean millions of dollars to our spring wheat farmers," declared J. M. Anderson upon his return from New York last week.

EDITOR VS. STAIRWAY

Anyone in doubt as to the length of the stairway in a certain business block in Plentywood, can receive the desired information by applying to a well known, and shall we say, popular, editor of his city. It is also rumored that the above editor can give valuable information in regards to a child's express wagon as a substitute for a jitney.

However, a certain barber who resides in said block says: "Had I known who the jinned up gentleman was, I would not have peeled my knuckles by throwing him down the stairs."

WHO WILL BE POSTMASTER?

The postal examinations held at Froid Wednesday for postmaster for the Plentywood office was attended by six men from Plentywood. Ralph Sunderhau, Ralph Paske, Paul Ketterman, Ed. Peterson, Garland Schmidt and A. A. Oakes all took the examination. It is reported the examination is easy and only counts 20 per cent the other eighty per cent being judged by your standing in the community in which the postoffice is located. The examination papers were sent in to Washington for correction and just when this new postmaster will receive his appointment is not known at this time.

MRS. ANNA JENSEN SUDDENLY CALLED

Dooly Sun: Mrs. Anna Jensen, wife of Jens Jensen, living five miles southeast of Dooley, died Tuesday morning from heart disease. The deceased had been troubled from time to time with her heart, but death came as a shock to her many friends and loved ones, as she apparently was well the day before. Funeral services were held at the house Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Anderson officiating. Interment was made at the cemetery located five and one-half miles southeast of here.

A. B. THOMAS STARTS NIGHT SCHOOL

Plentywood people past school age who wish to improve their education will have a chance, now that Mr. Thomas is the commercial teacher in the Plentywood high school. Several people who wished to become more efficient in their work, induced Mr. Thomas to start a night school, teaching shorthand, typewriting and bookkeeping, with the result that the school opened Tuesday evening with an enrollment of eighteen pupils. The course costs $10.00 and the books are furnished by the school board. There will be three lessons a week: Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. Mr. Thomas thinks the class will be able to take dictations by Xmas, depending of course, upon how much the student studies as well as the efforts of the teacher. Those who wish to enroll are advised to do so at once, so that they will not be behind the others in their work.
