FROID

Twelve of Froid's younger set of boys and girls gave Melfort Dahl a very pleasant surprise at his home Wednesday evening on account of his leaving for Fargo to spend the winter in college. The young folks gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Hogan and went to the Dahl home in a body where a splendid time was enjoyed until about 1:30 at music, games, etc. Refreshments were served during the course of the evening. As a token of esteem and friendship Melfort was presented with a cash purse of $12.00 from the assembled guests.

A. J. Kauffman is once again a man without a home, having sold his residence last Saturday evening to George Richwine, who has rented his farm and will move into Froid to make his home henceforth. Mr. Kaufman has decided to move to other fields in the western part of the state, returning to Froid again next spring to again take up his residence in this community. On Saturday, October 11th, he will hold a public auction of his personal effects.

Now that threshing is well along, farmers would like to see a few good rains so that plowing could be done to advantage this fall.

The chicken super served last Saturday night at the Hardie building by the ladies of the Congregational church was a big success in every way and was very liberally patronized by both town people and from the country. The proceeds amounted to about $87.00 and after deducting a few minor expenses there will still remain a neat sum to the credit of the church.

R. E. Baker, formerly of Froid, but now farming in the Flaxville country, was here Wednesday shaking hands with old friends and transacting some business matters. Bert says this his crop this year is not half bad and that he expects a fairly good yield from all his grain.

Edward Galloway was calling on the Coonville neighbors last Sunday afternoon looking for a game of whist but he found them all reading the Producers News.

Roy Medders, Bill Johnson and Ray Lang and the Medders were duck hunting and visiting the first part of the week with friends north of Comertown.

George McLeod and Albert Peterson from north of Dooley called on Ed. Galloway Sunday forenoon.

N. H. Harris was in Comertown on business Thursday afternoon. Mr. Harris has 75 acres plowed for crop next year.

The whist party at Dan McCall's last Saturday evening was well attended and all had an enjoyable time. Bruce King is cutting flax this week at his son's place north of Dooley.

Ray Mensing is expecting Ruby out with his Ford car and typewriter this week Saturday for some cheap information and sworn statements and to call at his place this time for sure or he will feel rather slighted.

Matt Eaton found one of his cows in the lake at Ed. Galloway's place last Friday morning. Neighbors gathered and helped to get her out. The cow seemed none the worse for being stuck in the mud all night.

President Wilson says: "As long as there is some thing to correct, I say, God speed to the men who are trying to correct it. That is the way to meet radicalism."

After Taylor and the leaguers save Sheridan county thousands and thousands of dollars from the clutches of sneaking, crawling thieves, then the truthful Rube Vezina classed us all together as radicals and then has the nerve to stand up and say that he is a friend to the farmers. Piffle!

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schilling arrived home to take up his duties as agent after having spent several weeks on a touring vacation through Minnesota and Wisconsin.
