MAN-A-LIN is An Excellent Remedy for Constipation

There are many ailments directly dependent upon constipation, such as biliousness, discolored and pimply skin, inactive liver, dyspepsia, overworked kidneys and headache.

Remove constipation and all of these ailments disappear.

MAN-A-LIN can be relied upon to produce a gentle action of the bowels, making pills and drastic cathartics entirely unnecessary.

A dose or two of Man-a-lin is advisable in slight febrile attacks, la grippe, colds and influenza.

THE MULES WON.

Judge Decided That They Couldn't Possibly Make a Sudden Start.

"Men in the East," said a well-known Westerner while talking to some friends in the lobby of a downtown hotel, "appear to me to be mostly short and stocky built, except the Down East Yankee, who is usually long and lank."

"Now, out in God's country you seldom see a man under six feet, and broad in proportion. But I'll admit it sometimes pays to be small."

"I remember that in the early 70s," the speaker went on, after taking a copious drink of whisky straight, "a man lived in my town who was over six feet four, and he was about as broad as he was long, and weighed 400 pounds or so."

"In those good old days the festive mule pulled the street cars."

"Well, my friend brought suit against the street railway company for damages sustained by their suddenly starting a car in which he was standing."

"During the trial the company brought two of their mules into the court room as witnesses for the defense."

"The jury viewed the complainant, took a casual glance at the mules, and at once brought in a verdict for the company on the ground that the sudden start was plainly impossible."

DIVIDING LINE DISPUTE FATAL

DAKOTA COUNTY FARMER SHOT DEAD WHILE AT WORK IN HIS FIELD.

NEIGHBORS ARE UNDER ARREST

Lakeville, Minn., Aug. 29.—Following a dispute with neighbors over the dividing line between their respective farms, Anthony Brennan was shot yesterday morning and died a few hours later. Michael Brennan and his father, M. F. Brennan, were arrested and lodged in the Dakota county jail on a charge of murder.

The Brennan families, who are not related to each other, live three miles from Lakeville. There has been a dispute between the Brennans of long standing over the dividing line between their farms.

Indulged in Heated Words. Yesterday morning when Anthony Brennan was plowing M. F. Brennan, father of the man who, it is alleged, did the shooting, passed along and asked Anthony why he persisted in cultivating another man's land. Anthony responded that he was plowing his own land. Heated words followed, but Anthony resumed his work.

When Anthony returned on his next round the elder Brennan had been joined by his son, and the dispute was renewed. The argument grew more heated, and at the height of the discussion, Anthony turned to remove the men from his plow, just as he turned to again face his neighbors the younger Brennan, it is alleged, pulled a revolver and fired three times.

Three Shots Take Effect. One of the shots took effect in Brennan's stomach, another in his leg and the third in his neck. After the shooting Michael Brennan and his father went to Lakeville.

Anthony Brennan's sons heard the shooting and hastened to the scene, where they found their father still alive but unconscious. He was removed to his home where he died a few hours later.

Before he died he rallied sufficiently to make an ante-mortem statement, in which he accused Michael Brennan of doing the shooting.

News of the tragedy spread rapidly and it was not long before the officers had the Brennans under arrest. Both men deny all knowledge of the shooting.

D., Aug. 29.—Louise Merchant, a domestic in the employ of Dr. Kennedy, was fatally burned while attempting to heat water on an alcohol stove. The stove exploded and the burning fluid was thrown over the clothing of the girl, setting it on fire. She rushed into the street and ran for several blocks, the wind fanning the flames until she was a veritable living torch. Finally she fell exhausted and those who were hastening to her aid managed to extinguish the flames. She was taken to the hospital, but died soon after reaching there.

The ants, which have long been a terror to residents of Australia and South America, work mysteriously. The damage already done by the ants will reach $2,000.

MONTANA NEWS

MURDERED; HID BODY IN ROOM.

Man Evidently Brutally Assaulted by Slayers. The body of an unknown workman was found in the Blue Front buffet at Butte. His neck was broken and there was a deep imprint of some blunt instrument on his brow.

Beside the corpse in a drunken slumber was found Tim O'Hara, a well known character among South Butte saloons. O'Hara was awakened and questioned, but could tell nothing except that late in the afternoon, being drunk, he had gone into the wine room and fallen asleep. He had not noticed the corpse beside him. His story was believed, as he was seen at times during the afternoon about saloons in the neighborhood.

It was late at night when two men looking for a friend glanced into the wine room and discovered the two men on the floor. Police officers were called in and Dr. C. T. Pigot sent for. The doctor said the man had been dead from fifteen to twenty hours when found. The day bartender at the saloon denies ever having seen the man before. The conclusion arrived at by the police is that the man was carried into the saloon soon after being killed.

RIDE CATCHING FATAL.

Two Men Are Killed as Result of Attempts to Board Trains. A man believed to be H. C. Madson was killed by being caught between the bumpers of a freight train at Huntley. He evidently was trying to steal a ride and slipped between the cars. The body was discovered by a brakeman. The name mentioned was written in a notebook, which bore the name of a Pendleton (Or.) mercantile firm. About $25 were found in the dead man's pocket.

William J. Burns, who was injured at Willow Creek by being run over by a train, is dead at St. Ann's hospital at Anaconda, where he was taken for treatment. Burns, with a companion, attempted to board a freight train, but slipped and fell under the wheels, eight cars passing over his legs before the train could be stopped. An engine and caboose took him to Anaconda at once, but he was beyond surgical skill and died in a short time. He was young in years and little is known about him. Papers found on him would indicate that he served during the Spanish-American war.

OMENS COAL FAMINE.

Demand and Labor Shortage, State Inspector Says, Make Outlook Bad. State Coal Mine Inspector McDermott has just completed a tour of inspection of the mines of the state, and his report on the fuel situation for Montana is anything but cheerful.

He declares that at all of the mines in this portion of the state coal is being mined rapidly, but is being shipped as fast as it can be taken out. No storing is being done at the mines, as it is almost an impossibility to supply the existing demands. Heretofore large quantities of fuel were stored at the mines to meet emergencies during the winter, and this source of supply always has been largely drawn on.

In the northern part of the state operators are experiencing a labor shortage, and are able to remove coal only in limited quantities. With the great increase in freight traffic the railroads are consuming an unusually large amount of black diamonds, and the shortage which has been freely predicted by various authorities, the inspector declares, is almost sure to come.

BIG BEET CROP.

Larger Acreage is Reported in Montana This Year.

According to reports received from every section of the district, the sugar beet crop for the Billings factory will be far greater in tonnage this year than was that of last season. Growing weather is now ideal, and the beets, which have received more systematic cultivation this season, are rapidly attaining full growth. The present acreage is approximately 9,000. Last year it was about 6,500, and the second crop on the same ground is said to be always larger than the first. About 1,200 laborers, mostly Russians, were brought into the valley during the early part of the season for work in the beet fields. Improvements have been made at the beet dumps along the railroad west of Billings, automatic appliances for unloading the heavy freight wagons having been installed. It is expected that the work of harvesting the beets will begin about Oct. 15, and that delivery at the factory will be completed by Dec. 1.

SURVEYING NEW ROUTE.

The Northern Pacific has unloaded a corps of engineers at Bridger, who immediately began work on a survey of a route to Belfry and Bear Creek, paralleling the Yellowstone Park railway. From Red Lodge a rumor came that the above mentioned corps of engineers was in the employ of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway. It has been an open secret that the St. Paul road expects to build a branch line through Billings to the Bear Creek coal district.
