NEW SUMMER PASS. SERVICE

Six First-Class Daily Coast Trains Will Soon Be Run.

LOW RATES FOR TOURISTS

The Passenger Traffic Department of the Northern Pacific Railway will inaugurate new and greatly improved through passenger service effective May 23rd. Summer Tourist fares to the Coast go into effect on May 20th, and the new service is designed to cater to the Tourist travel, which promises to be very heavy this season on account of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, at Seattle, the Rose Festival, at Portland, the National Irrigation Congress, at Spokane, the many attractions of Tacoma and the Puget Sound region, coupled with numerous conventions to be held on the Pacific Coast during the summer. The Northern Pacific is planning to equip itself to handle its large share of this trans-continental traffic.

There will be three daily, through electric-lighted, steam-heated, solid-vestibled trains between St. Paul, Minneapolis and North Pacific Coast points. These trains will provide standard and drawing room sleeping cars, commodious leather-upholstered tourist sleeping cars, buffet-library-observation cars new and thoroughly modern day coaches, and exceptionally high-grade dining car service a la carte.

To equip these trains, brand-new cars of various patterns have been ordered and many of them are already being received from the builders. This equipment is all of particularly strong and heavy steel-framework construction, designed to insure the maximum of safety.

The "North Coast Limited," (Trains 1 and 2), famous as the "Crack Train of the Northwest," will be limited in equipment to seven cars, electric lighted throughout. It will carry first-class sleeping car passengers exclusively, and will also carry, as heretofore, a unique buffet-library-observation car, entirely for the entertainment of patrons. There is in this car a barber, bathroom, a valet for pressing garments, library of current fiction, the popular magazines and complete correspondence facilities. Two large enclosed rooms afford quarters for those who desire to smoke, and a well stocked buffet is one of the pleasant features. Luxurious wicker chairs in the spacious observation parlor and the recessed platform invite a survey of "the Scenic Highway through the Land of Fortune," a the Northern Pacific styles itself.

The eastbound "North Coast Limited" will provide through standard sleeping car service from Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and Spokane to Chicago. This is an innovation and is designed to particularly appeal to tourists and Exposition visitors who will appreciate the convenience of occupying the same car through without change for the trip to Chicago.

In addition to the "North Coast Limited," Trains 5 and 6, to be known as the "Exposition Special" will leave St. Paul, westbound, at 9:15 a. m., Seattle, eastbound, at 10:30 p. m. These trains will provide practically the same accommodations and schedule as afforded by the present "North Coast Limited." They will carry standard

BEACH NUPTIALS

Miss Edith Jordan and Chas
Johnson Were United In Matrimony Wed.

Last Wednesday at noon there took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jordan, in Beach, a very happy event. On this occasion their eldest daughter, Edith, was married to Mr. Chas. R. Johnson. The wedding was of a quiet simple nature, only the relatives of the families being present. Rev. Alex. Douglas, their pastor, pronounced the solemn words that made them man and wife.

The bride was daintily gowned in white silk and looked very sweet. She had as her maid of honor her sister Elsie. The groom was attired in the conventional black and was attended by his brother, Ole Johnson of Glendive.

The happy pair have been prominent in religious and social circles for several years. Both are active members of the Congregational church.

Here they have endeared themselves to all by their upright character, and their faithful and efficient service in the choir, Sunday School and Young Peoples Society. Their many friends extend to them their heartiest congratulations and best wishes for a long, happy and prosperous life.—Con.

THE NATURE OF DISEASE

Among Sheep in Custer
County—By Dr. Mohi
er in Washington.

FORMULA FOR TREATING

(Concluded from last week.)

In some cases the lesions extend into the mouth, producing erosions on the inside of the lips, on the gums, and on the dental pad of the hard palate. The lesions which are of a spongy consistence and present a warty appearance are especially noted on the lambs. Lesions on the legs, as a rule, co-exists with those on the lips, hence the origin of the term "lip and leg ulceration." The sheep at this will show some lameness especially if the ulcers appear about the coronet, in the fold of the fetlock or in the vicinity of a joint. The progress and appearance of the ulcers upon the legs are identical with those upon the lips, and they are soon covered by a thick, dry crust, which, when forcibly removed exposes a granulating surface covered with a creamy pus. Similar ulcers and crusts are occasionally noticed on the teats, udders and external genitals of ewes, and on the sheaths of bucks. As the lambs are born to such diseased ewes they also become infected, the lesions appearing about the head and on the legs or irregular ulcers which later form wart-like scabs projecting above the surface. If the disease is neglected these ulcers may spread over a large area and extend deep into the tissues.

Treatment of this disease is very satisfactory if taken in time and applied energetically. It should not be deferred as better results will be obtained by attacking the outbreak as soon as discovered than can be expected if the disease is permitted to spread among the band or to penetrate deeper into the tissues of the affected parts. One of the first steps to be taken in the treatment is to separate all the sheep that are in any degree diseased from those that are healthy. If only a few animals are affected the best results are obtained by removing the scabs and sareds of tissues from the diseased areas and washing them twice daily with a five percent solution of one of the approved coal tar sheep dips as the disease responds quickly to any of the common antiseptic solutions. Should the disease attack a large number of animals the ulcers on the legs may be best treated under range conditions by causing the affected sheep to pass twice daily through a shallow trough containing a 5 per cent solution of carbolic acid or a 5 per cent solution of any of the above-mentioned sheep dips. The ulcers of the mouths of these animals may be treated by applying this same solution to the affected parts by means of swabs. Under favorable weather conditions the affected animals may be dipped in one of these coal tar dips on two or three occasions with very satisfactory results, providing all the diseased parts are reached by the solution. In case the lesions on the animals have become far advanced it will be necessary to hand-treat them by applying a stronger solution of the dip, say one part to three parts of

The bill providing for an enlarged homestead unit as applied to arid areas has been reported out of conference and agreed to by both Houses of Congress. The act provides in a general way that any qualified entryman under the homestead laws may enter under the provisions of the Act 320 acres or less of non-mineral, non-irrigable unreserved and unappropriated land of the public domain, which does not contain merchantable timber. The land so entered must be located in a reasonably compact body not over 1½ miles in length and shall have been designated by the Secretary of the Interior as not being in his opinion susceptible of successful irrigation at a reasonable cost from any known source of water supply. The procedure and method of entry prescribed by the Act is the same as that required under the homestead laws. Where former entry has been made of the character contemplated by this Act such entry may be extended to contiguous lands so as to embrace in all 320 acres.

CUPID MAKES GOOD

As Was Proven This Week
When He Made Three Couples Happy.

Cupid is "there" when it comes to "making good," and this fact has been demonstrated during the past week when a number of our most highly esteemed young citizens were joined in wedlock.

DUNN-SUTHERLAND.

The first one in the procession of newly weds to start the good work was Donald Sutherland, a well-to-do young ranchman residing in the vicinity of Preston, who recently left for his former home in Scotland, where he was united in marriage about two weeks ago to a handsome young lady in the person of Miss Mary Dunn, who was, until shortly before the wedding, in the service of the Duke of Portland. Their wedding was very quiet, owing to the death of a sister of the bride's which occurred about a week previous. Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland started for America about a week later, arriving in New York after 4 days and 17 hours sailing, and on Monday evening they arrived in Wibaux. The happy couple departed on the stage, Wednesday, for Mr. Sutherland's cozy home on the ranch at Preston.

Mr. Sutherland has a host of friends here whom the Pioneer joins in extending hearty congratu-

SENATOR IS CRITICISED

Pennsylvania Senator at

cord As Truant

SESSIONS NOT ATTENDED.

The dramatic incident of this session of Congress was presented on Thursday of this week when Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania gave a solar plexus blow to La Follette. The senior Senator from Wisconsin had filibustered against the Naval appropriation bill for three days previous and set to delay the passage of the Post Office appropriation bill, which was in charge of the Pennsylvania Senator. After La Follette had repeatedly stated that sufficient time was not given to consider these great bills he ventured to express a doubt that the senator from Pennsylvania understood the bill. Penrose came back at the Wisconsin Senator as follows:

"Mr. President, I shall not sit silent in my seat while misstatements are made or clap-trap statesmanship is attempted. The Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads has been criticised by the senator from Wisconsin and the method of selecting Committees has likewise been criticised by him. I make the statement without fear of contradiction, that he has been on the Committee on the Census during his service in the Senate and failed to attend a single meeting of that Committee. I make the statement, without fear of contradiction, that he is on the Committee on Claims and has attended only once or twice in all his service a meeting of that Committee and that attendance was only to bring up some trivial claims bill. I make the statement, without fear of contradiction that he has been until recently on the Committee on Pensions, a committee holding and considering one of the largest appropriation bills before Congress every year, and that, according to the unanimous testimony of all his colleagues on that committee, regardless of party, he has hardly ever attended a session of that committee. I make the statement without fear of contradiction from him or any other Senator, because the statement is confirmed by the testimony of every member of the Committee, regardless of party.
