

SALOONKEEPER WAS HELD UP

Robbed of Sixty Dollars by Highwaymen.

PLEADED FOR HIS LIFE

They Marched Him to a Grave Yard, But Relented. Robbers Have 24 Hours Start.

Special Dispatch to the Bee: Bozeman, July 29.—William Shepard, a saloon keeper at Courts, about 20 miles north of Bozeman, was held up Saturday night by two men who had ostensibly sought supper and lodging. As Shepard was in the act of lighting a lantern with which to show the fellows to the barn where they were to sleep, one of them pulled a gun and demanded money. The host gave up $60 and the robbers ransacked the house. They then marched Shepard to a grave yard near by, probably intending to kill him, but the victim's pleading softened them and they commanded him to return home, go to bed and not show his nose before 6 o'clock the following morning. The command was obeyed and it was not until 24 hours later that the badly scared man mustered the courage to come to town and report the matter to the sheriff. Shepard insisted that the brigands were part of the gang of Great Northern train robbers.

Returning to the boat in the afternoon they found their weapons gone and shortly afterwards were fired upon from ambush by Indians. Terence Sullivan was killed by the first volley. Jackson escaped into the brush and after many days of hardships finally reached the shore near the False pass, where he was rescued half dead by Edward Wildinson, a prospector, and the two were shortly afterwards picked up by the steamer Newport and taken to Unalaska.

RESOLUTION TO STRIKE

Ties Up the Shipping in San Francisco

STRIKERS UNANIMOUS

Business Suspended Along the Water Front. Only Two Boats Are Running at the Present Time.

By Associated Press: San Francisco, July 29.—The labor troubles in this city reached a culmination late last night when the city water front federation ordered a general strike on the docks of San Francisco, Oakland, Mission Rock and Port Costa. The resolution to strike, which received the unanimous indorsement of every delegate to the federation, will cause a temporary paralysis of the shipping business of San Francisco. In some business sections this morning goods are being moved somewhat freely, but in others a complete tie up is the result. Along the water front business is suspended, though one or two river boats are running on the regular schedule. Two non union teamsters fired into a body of strikers today and wounded one man. They claim they fired in self-defense. Most of the trouble so far has been caused by hoodlums, not strikers.

GOVERNMENT AWAITS PROOF

The Small Pox Infected Cree Indians

WERE DRIVEN OFF

The Flathead Reservation by Major Smead. The Cost to this County to Be Repaid.

Dr. A. F. Longeway, secretary of the state board of health, is in receipt of a letter from the secretary of the interior, in which that official states that if Dr. Longeway will substantiate the charge that Major Smead, agent of the Flathead Indian reservation, drove from that reservation Indians who had been exposed to infection from smallpox, the government will refund to Flathead county the amount expended by that county in quarantining such Indians, says the Tribune.

The secretary of the state board has arranged to have certified to him from Flathead county the expenses of that county on account of the quarantine. This will be done immediately after the September meeting of the Flathead county commissioners, when the claims on that account will be allowed, and Dr. Longeway will immediately thereafter present the claim to the government.

In his letter, the secretary of the interior states that the government will recognize its obligation to bear the expense if incurred through the fault of its agent, but he states that Major Smead denies that he ordered the Indians from the reservation.

In substantiation of the charge, the doctor has secured the affidavits of the Indians who were quarantined by Flathead county, the substance of which has heretofore been published in the Tribune, and these affidavits will be transmitted to the secretary of the interior in support of the claim. They all tend to show most conclusively that the Indians, who are Crees, were driven from the reservation by order of Major Smead. One of the Indians testifies that Smead in person ordered him to leave the reservation at a time when he was convalescing from smallpox, and others testify that they were driven away by the chief of the Indian police, who said that he was acting in accordance with Smead's orders. Others testified that they heard Smead give such orders to the police, and all testify that when they were driven from the reservation there was smallpox among them in houses where they had been living.

Leaving the reservation, the Indians went to Kalispell, and as soon as the authorities discovered they had come from the reservation, they were placed in quarantine and the one of them who was ill with smallpox was placed under treatment, by a physician who was compelled to remain in the camp. It was also necessary to employ guards, and the total cost of the quarantine was about $3,000, which the government will be asked to pay.

Reports to the secretary of the state board of health show that there are fewer cases of smallpox in the state at present than at any time in the past two years. An occasional case is reported from Lewis and Clarke, Missoula and Park counties. The source of infection in Lewis and Clarke county seems to be confined to the Prickly Pear valley, below Helena, and quarantine seems to be efficient. In Missoula county, on account of the proximity of the Flathead reservation and the disagreement of physicians, conditions are by no means satisfactory and the state board will probably intervene. There are two cases in Teton county.

The epidemic on the Flathead reservation continues and an occasional case is reported from the vicinity of Missoula in Park county, there have been a few cases and conditions have been bad because the county authorities have not properly fought the disease. Instead of establishing a pest house, they have treated each case where it developed, thus creating several foci of infection in the county and permitting convalescents to be at large at the most infectious stage of the disease, dropping scabs at many places and making thorough fumigation impossible. The state board has intervened and has ordered Park county to establish a pest house and

THE TERMS ARE NAMED

Certain Concessions Made by the Steel Strikers.

DEFINITE CONCLUSION

Is Expected Before Adjournment, But It May Be Late Today.—Settlement In Prospect.

By Associated Press: Pittsburg, Pa., July 30.—The general executive board of the amalgamated association met at 9:40 o'clock and President Shaffer placed before it the terms upon which the United States steel corporation will settle the strike and the concessions the amalgamated officials agreed to make in conference with J. P. Morgan, last Saturday. A definite conclusion is expected before adjournment, but it may be late before a decision is reached.

treat all patients there. In Choteau county there is one lone case of the disease, it having developed at Havre. There are unofficially reported a few cases on the Fort Peck reservation, but if this is true, the quarantine is strict. It is believed that all the rest of the state is entirely free from the disease, but this cannot be stated positively, for the reason that some of the secretaries of county boards of health have not yet complied with the law requiring them to report. They will be given a little more time to get into the traces, and then the whip will fall.

Cascade county is absolutely free from smallpox and there is only one case of diphtheria known to exist in the county, but not all physicians have reported promptly, and there is trouble in store for them.

TOLSTOI GROWS WEAKER.

Aged Writer Has Small Opinion of Physicians.

By Associated Press: St. Petersburg, July 29.—Count Leo Tolstoi, who has been dangerously ill, continues to improve, but his physicians are unable clearly to diagnose his trouble. "You good folks," Count Tolstoi said to his doctors, "know all that medical science teaches, but unfortunately that science itself knows nothing at all."

A few days ago Count Tolstoi said to a friend: "The carriage is already at the door and I must go."

Then later, after he had slightly improved, he said: "Oh, I am allowed to wait a while."

The chief cause for alarm concerning Count Tolstoi lies in his extreme weakness. His body is emaciated and his skin is sallow, his eyes alone retain their brilliancy, while his mind is perfectly clear.
