

LOCAL LAYOUT.

Mr. Thompson, manager of the N. P. coal mine near this city, is in town.

Black Gingham and thread laces, lace collars, linen collars and ruching at Smith, Hagy & Co.'s, Park street.

Frank Merrill, who is to put in a large drug and paint store, arrived to-day. His goods are expected shortly.

Sattens, men's veerings, zephyr cloths, lattice lawns, blottings and chambrays at Smith, Hagy & Co.'s, Park street.

C. S. Sanderson is justly gaining great credit for his work in painting the stage scenery in use at the opera house.

Shot guns, rifles, revolvers, ammunition, fishing tackle, and a full line of sporting goods at the Boston Boot and Shoe store.

T. R. Mallon, a stock owner of the Yellowstone range, came to Livingston to-day and will remain during the balance of the week.

The Boston Boot and Shoe store is the place.

H. E. Wolf, of Miles City, arrived in this city yesterday, and is almost persuaded to abandon his summer trip to Europe and go in business here.

Men's fine boots and shoes made to order. Repairing done promptly and nicely. BOSTON BOOT AND SHOE STORE.

I. Silverman will open his stock of goods, in his Main street store, to-morrow. Mr. Silverman will keep a select stock of clothing and gents' furnishing goods.

Main street is not Park street by any means, but Park street is the main street, and Smith, Hagy & Co. are just in receipt of a large assortment of Leppit, Leak & Co.'s California gloves.

C. B. Towers, of Boston Boot and Shoe fame, with establishments in Livingston and Miles City, went down the road to-day to look after his interests in Miles City.

Imported silk dress patterns, velvets, cashmeres and trimmings at Smith, Hagy & Co.'s, Park street.

Chas. W. Savage, "the chief," will open his large stock of goods in his quarters on Main street, shortly, and will announce it through this paper—all of which is most eminently proper.

See our line of ladies shoes and slippers.—Boston Boot and Shoe store.

An examination of the choice line of guns, ammunition and fishing tackle at the Boston Boot and Shoe store will be found interesting to sportsmen and others who either fish or hunt.

Hardware, tinware and crockery at cost, to close out these lines of goods at Smith, Hagy & Co.'s, Park street.

Gas Plummer, well known along the valley, and formerly resident at Reed's Point, is outfitting here preparatory to going into business at Gardner. He expects to start up river to-morrow.

Before buying lumber go and see a man by the name of Goughnour. 4-tf

The Opera House opened last evening and gave its first performance to a crowded audience. Many left the house unable to find accommodation. The entertainment gave the greatest satisfaction.

A good calf boot for $2.50 at the Boston Boot and Shoe store.

It is said that in a few days, or after the end of track reaches Helena, a new railroad time table will take effect, by which the time between St. Paul and Livingston will be materially shortened.

Real estate is booming, and Allen Brothers and the other real estate men have their hands full.

Dr. A. H. Hersey, a prominent citizen of Billings and an old-timer in western Montana and in the Yellowstone valley, is paying Livingston a visit. He has already found many friends here to welcome him.

A complete stock of the best eastern lumber always on hand at Goughnour's. 4-tf

W. H. Dexter has commenced the erection of his new building on Main street, next to the Parlor restaurant, and hopes to have it completed in a fortnight. The building will be 24x50, with an addition of 25x30, to be used as a store room.

Before purchasing elsewhere, examines the stock of hardware displayed at Lawrence & Stuff's store on Main street. 1-tf

S. W. Langhorne, the editor and proprietor of that excellent paper, the Bozeman Chronicle, came over the range to-day and returned on the next train. It was our first meeting with the gentleman but we trust by no manner of means the last.

For every kind of fresh fruits, confectionery, stationery and all the latest papers, magazines and reading matter call upon Holden & Bingham. It

Judge J. E. Savage came down from Bozeman yesterday and returned to-day in the hope of getting a hearing of some of the cases in which he is retained as attorney. He says the court has thus far been occupied with the hearing of civil cases.

Wm. T. Powers, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, a man of capital, who had been looking over Livingston for some time, went westward yesterday to return in a short time. He has had long experience in connection with the management of electric light companies, and may yet conclude to introduce the system into Livingston.

Mrs. Macer displays a full line of fashionable millinery and is prepared to perform dress making in the latest styles. Next door to Douglas' fruit store, Main street.

Walter Matheson, one of the editors of the Daily Herald, came up from Billings to-day and will remain until to-morrow. He, in conjunction with a partner, Dr. McDonald, are about to erect a hotel at the Hot Springs, owned by them, twenty-eight miles up the Yellowstone from Livingston.

Allen Brothers have listed one of the finest coal mines in Montana, which can be bought at a bargain if purchased within thirty days.

As will be noticed elsewhere in our columns Gus Plummer is offering a reward for a pair of horses which he fully believes were stolen a few nights ago from where they were feeding north of track and opposite the Merchants Hotel. It certainly appears that horse stealing is being systematically prosecuted in this vicinity by some person or persons.

Do not forget that H. Frank, the merchant tailor, will make clothes to your order that cannot be beaten in Livingston or elsewhere. 1-tf

The type and material in use in the ENTERPRISE office was purchased at the old and reliable firm of type-founders, Marder, Luse & Co., who are now doing business in Minneapolis; for the convenience of northwestern customers. J. J. Jordan, foreman of the Minneapolis Tribune, and a printer of superior ability, made the selection for us.

Every description of shelf and heavy hardware, builders' supplies, and ammunition, for sale by Lawrence & Stuff. 1-tf

Geo. Anderson, a Minneapolis tender-foot printer, who came here a few days ago to perform on the DAILY ENTERPRISE, grew weary of the beautiful mountain scenery hereabouts, and secretly stole away, leaving behind him several unpaid bills for the proprietors of this paper to settle. To his credit, we will state that he is a good compositor, but not one that can be relied upon.

Lawrence & Stuff's stock comprises stoves, blacksmiths' supplies, cooking utensils, sportsmen's outfits, and every variety of hardware. 1-tf

We noticed a party of four gentlemen walk boldly riverward through town this morning equipped with such apparatus as should enable them to capture the wary trout. All day we have watched in vain for their return. Whether they have stolen back in such manner as to escape attention, or whether they have camped on the banks of the Yellowstone resolved to catch fish or die does not yet appear.

We offer for a very few days some of the most desirable business lots in Livingston at prices which defy competition.

The Bozeman Courier says: "Owing to limited time Judge Wade states that he does not expect to give the civil causes a hearing during the present term of court, and that the term will adjourn when the criminal calendar has been cleared up. It was love's labor lost to collate and publish the civil causes, but readers can paste it in their scrap book for reference when court shall again convene."

The largest assortment of business and residence lots in the city can be seen at Allen Brothers.

E. G. Woolfolk, paymaster for Winston Bros. & Clark, who have the contract for the completion of the N. P. R. R., was a passenger westward to-day en-route to the front to distribute the needful among the construction force. He was accompanied by Messrs. Hines and Fraser of the contractors' office, and Thomas Hanlow, manager of H. Clark's store at Billings.

Kennedy & Co. do excellent sign work, as well as house painting, lining and kalsomining. 1-6t

The railroad company has a very enterprising youth in its employ at Bozeman. He held the position of Pullman car cleaner, and has been doing a nice little trade by charging curious old-timers who had never seen the inside of a palace car twenty-five cents each for the privilege of looking through them. He was in the habit of telling them that he was not allowed to let anyone in the car, but he might break the rules for about two bits. Some envious employ "peached" to those in authority, and his little game will probably be broken up.

If you wish to make a quick sale list your property with Allen Brothers, who have superior facilities for disposing of bargains.

Orders have been issued by the Chief U. S. Signal officer to the effect that after June 30 the military telegraph line will be abandoned from Fort Buford to Helena. The reason for this move is that the advance of the Western Union Telegraph Company into this territory has so cut off their commercial business that the line is run at a great loss, and that a large saving can be made by doing business over it. This change will be greatly deplored by the officers at the military posts of Keogh and Ellis, as then they will not get their daily press report as heretofore.

Those desiring clothes, furnishing goods, hats, caps, or anything in the line of wearing apparel will save trouble by first calling upon H. Frank.

To-day's issue of the Courier contains extended reference to the best ways, routes and times to visit the National Park. It embodies much valuable information, the only flagrant error being the advice to outfit at Bozeman, which, we presume, was intended for Livingston, but was written otherwise from force of habit. When tourists reach Livingston, at the gate-way of the Park, and the junction of the branch line thither, they will hardly care to cross the range for the purpose of buying supplies when the merchants of this town are making that line of trade a specialty.

Do you want a home? Do you want to own the best city property? Then call on Allen Brothers and buy in the famous Park addition.

Among the west-bound passengers who stopped here for dinner to-day was the Hon. Martin Maginnis, Montana's delegate to congress. He was accompanied by his wife, and they will spend the summer months in Helena and in visiting various parts of the territory. Major Maginnis was frank to express his surprise and admiration on viewing the beautiful town that had grown from the nucleus of a few log shacks which he saw here last October on the occasion of his campaign trip through the valley. He said this country was developing so rapidly, and new towns and settlements were springing into existence with such celerity, that he found it difficult to keep track of the movement. Being questioned as to whether there was any prospect of a reduction of the Indian reservation area in Montana, the Major said that in the latter part of July he would go east and meet the commission appointed for the purpose, and with them visit the different reservations in the territory, where endeavors would be made to treat with the Indians for a reduction of the segregated lands to reasonable bounds. He could not, of course, be certain that the desired end would be accomplished, but felt pretty confident of a successful result. Mr. Maginnis said that President Arthur had expressed a desire to visit Montana, in the hope of finding some good fishing, an amusement of which he is very fond.

On the night of the 5th inst. Barnum's circus caught fire and the main tent, covering six acres of ground, and said to be the largest in the world, was burned to the ground with such property as it contained. No lives were lost as it was after the performance, and as the show beasts were in other tents they escaped also. The total loss is about $15,000 or $16,000.
