Perhaps Another Railroad for the Park.

The Cheyenne Leader of a late date contains the following item:

"A map has been received at the land office showing the surveyed line of the Wyoming and Montana railroad. The line begins at the Union Pacific railroad, at Fort Steele, and runs parallel to the North Platte river, as far north as the Seminole oil springs, near Searight's ranch, a distance, according to the survey, of exactly 100 miles. As no names appear on the map there are many conjectures as to the company interested in the line. Some say that it is a new road that is to take in the oil and soda region along the north side of the Rattlesnake mountains, and from there penetrate Wyoming's (not Montana's) wonderland—the Yellowstone park.

Sam Wilde and William Bennett Under Arrest in Billings for Theft.

The Billings Herald of the 18th contains a recital of the evidence rendered in the examination of Sam Wilde and William Bennett, charged with feloniously stealing, taking and carrying away three Northern Pacific checks of $100, the property of one Thomas B. Warren. The defendants are well known to many Livingston people and the story of the case may be interesting. On the 15th inst. Warren left his checks with McKee, the proprietor of the Bank Exchange, the leading saloon in Billings to be placed in the safe. This was done, and later McKee was ordered by Wilde not to give Warren the checks till the latter had signed a receipt for them. Wilde, it seems, had acted as Warren's attorney, and had a balance due him on fees. After a little time Wilde, Warren and Bennett came in and Warren demanded his checks, and McKee refused to give them up without a receipt. Wilde then started to write the receipt, claiming that he was Warren's attorney, but the latter protested and refused to sign the receipt. Meanwhile the checks had been placed on the desk and Wilde had his hands on them, and as Warren refused to sign the receipt or take the checks on any such receipt, Wilde shoved them to Bennett, who took them and left the saloon, and in a short time had cashed two of them with different merchants. Decision was reserved in the case by Judge Maginnis before whom it was tried.

McCutcheon Must Go.

Private advices inform us that I. D. McCutcheon, who now disgraces the position of Secretary of the Territory, will resign before very long. This is not in any way surprising. By his reprehensible course in obtaining a fraudulent divorce and immediately marrying a woman whose former associations with him had given rise to social scandal, he has brought down upon himself the condemnation of all pure-minded citizens, who have not hesitated to express their opinions either privately or in public. Added to this he has foolishly endeavored to intimidate the public press by a violent attack upon one of its leading representatives, who had merely exercised his undoubted right to criticize McCutcheon's course and present the facts in regard thereto. The sooner he resigns the better for himself and Montana. So long as he remains in his present honorable position he will be a mark for merited criticism, and at the same time bring opprobrium upon Montana. There can be no doubt but what McCutcheon is deserving of all that has been said of him, and this being so he is the wrong man for his present position. The second executive office in Montana must not be filled by a man who has outraged society and violated the moral, if not the statutory, code, upon the very scene of his official duties. Montana needs a new secretary.

How the Union Pacific Was Completed.

In connection with the ceremonies celebrating the driving of the last spike of the Northern Pacific railroad next month, which is to be witnessed by a number of distinguished foreigners as well as American national flag should receive the attention it did at the driving of the last spike in the last rail on the Atlantic slope of the Union Pacific railroad. At the suggestion of Capt. Clayton, who had superintended the laying of the track from the beginning, a monument commemorating the event was erected and the national flag planted upon the continental divide. The spot where this flag was planted is the true continental summit, and should a large enough drop of rain fall of it, and not be carried back to its native cloud by the process of evaporation, one-half of it would flow to the Atlantic and the other half to the Pacific ocean. The ceremonies attending the planting of the flag on that day, Sunday, August 9, 1868, are of historic interest. The hole was dug by Capt. Clayton, and the flag-staff planted in it by the hands of his wife. While Mrs. Clayton held the flag, Rev. Mr. Gierlow pronounced the following consecration service: "In the name of wisdom, strength and beauty; in the name of faith, hope and charity; in the name of the holy trinity, we consecrate this flag to the glory of God, the benefit of civilization and the happiness of mankind. And when this lone star shall have been surrounded by the sister constellations, may its ample folds protect us in the path of virtue, so that at last we may become worthy citizens of the land of the beautiful, the land of the free." Appropriate addresses were then delivered by distinguished gentlemen present and the exercises closed with the benediction.—Ex.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

A fight between the cigar-makers and their employers began on Wednesday, the latter resolving to make a stand against the demands of the union, and locking the cigar-makers out. Men to the number of 10,000 were thus thrown out of employment.

The house of John Flynn, living on the Missouri and Arkansas line, was robbed on Tuesday evening by three men who had obtained lodging in the house. In the course of the robbery they knocked Flynn down with the butt of a revolver and wounded his two daughters by shooting them.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The president has designated Z. B. Vance, son of Senator Vance, of North Carolina, Chas. D. Clay, of Kentucky, grandson of Henry Clay, and J. Harry Duvall, of Pennsylvania, to appear before the board at Fortress Monroe on the first of October for examination for second lieutenantcies in the infantry. These, with the twelve designated from civil life formerly made, will, if the examination is successfully passed, fill all the vacancies existing in the army up to July 1st.

In case these young men fail to pass the examinations other designations will be made by the president.

Tom Thumb (Chas. H. Stratton) the celebrated dwarf, died on Monday, of apoplexy, aged 45 years, and was buried on the 18th very quietly.

OGDENBURG, N. Y., July 18.—Hanlan defeated Ross by a quarter of a mile. The time-keeper made Hanlan's four miles in twenty-seven minutes and six seconds; Ross, twenty-eight minutes and ten seconds. Courtney made Hanlan's time, twenty-seven minutes and two seconds. Hanlan says the associated press time is correct.

CAIRO, July 18.—The number of deaths from cholera in this city during the twenty-four hours ending at 8 o'clock a. m., sixty-one.

A circular has been issued from the office of the third assistant postmaster general notifying postmasters throughout the Union of the reduction in postage after October 1st, and directing them to make preparations for it by allowing their stocks of three cent stamps and stamped envelopes to run low as that time approaches.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—It is denied on the highest authority that President Arthur's trip to the Yellowstone Valley will cause any expense to the government. It is also specifically denied that telegraph lines will be erected which will cost a thousand dollars, and that 180 horses are being provided for the party to be paid for with public funds. The fact of the President being a member of the party will not add a single dollar to the expenses of the trip. It is not to be a pleasure party for the benefit of the President, but an official exploration party and the President is to accompany it as an invited guest. The exploration would be made this year in any event, and that, too, regardless whether the President accompanied the party or not. It is the custom to send out one or more parties each year to make explorations for the War Department. Last year Lieut. Gen. Sheridan made an exploration of parts of the Territories of Wyoming, Idaho and Montana. Several months ago he determined to make another exploring trip, and invited the President to accompany him. The President subsequently accepted the invitation. He will leave Washington in time to be present at the opening of the exhibition at Louisville on the first of August. He will then go to Chicago. The party will leave that city August 3d for Fort Washackie.

Eastern papers are exercised over the fact that President Arthur will be beyond telegraphic communication while enjoying the sylvan pleasures of the National Park, and some of them gravely suggest the feasibility of constructing a telegraph line wherever he goes through the Park.
