F. A. KRIEGER,

A slight fire in the kitchen of the Brunswick hotel yesterday afternoon created the usual stir, particularly in the mind of the Chinese cook, who was thrown into a state of great alarm. The fire was extinguished with little trouble before it had done much damage. The members of the fire company came to the rescue, but missed the opportunity to distinguish themselves.

At the sitting of the Supreme Court just closed, the counties of Custer, Dawson and Yellowstone were restored to the First Judicial District, and Beaverhead county was restored to the Second district. The following attorneys were admitted to practice in courts of record in the Territory: John H. Eider, George B. Winston, James W. Forbis, Ashburn K. Barbour, Oren Emerson and Rudolf Von Tobel, Jr.

Senators Logan, Dawes and Cameron, with the other gentlemen of their party, except Major Maginnis, went east on Saturday, after their return from the Park, and will visit Standing Rock and Pine Ridge Indian agencies before going back to the States. Senator Vest and Hon. Martin Maginnis will, after the arrival of the former, visit the Flathead reservation and that of the Piegams, Bloods and Gros Ventres.

Wisconsin like almost every other state in the Union, has been sending her representation of distinguished visitors to the National Park. The following gentlemen returned from there on Saturday: S. M. Hay, J. H. Porter, H. W. McCoy, leading citizens of Oshkosh; E. P. Sawyer, of the same place, son of Senator Philetus Sawyer, G. E. Sullivan, of Fond du Lac, W. H. Morris, of Minneapolis, attorneys for the Minneapolis & St. Louis R. R.; O. J. Wiren, a Texas cattle king, and W. J. Fisk, of Green Bay, inspector for the Chicago & Northwestern R. R.; They had enjoyed their trip to the Park in the highest degree, and were much impressed with the capabilities of this country.

Hon. J. B. Grinnell and Prof. R. D. Jones, of Grinnell, Iowa, returned from the Park on Saturday, and, though they were anxious to go clear across the continent, found that their time was so limited that they were forced to forgo the Pacific trip, and went upon their way homeward yesterday. A. B. Curry, Esq., of this town, who has known Mr. Grinnell for many years, says that to him was first addressed Horace Greeley's celebrated advice, "Go west, young man." When Mr. Grinnell, the present millionaire, was a New Yorker casting about for some place to dispose of himself, and the very few dollars he possessed, he asked Mr. Greeley's advice in the matter, and the latter made the celebrated reply, "Go west, young man, and grow up with the country." The advice so promptly given was as promptly acted upon with the most desirable results.

Notice to Shippers.
Parties wishing to ship small lots of freight for points on the Park branch will please bring it to the freight depot on Tuesdays and Fridays and be prepared to prepay charges on same, as no freight can be put on cars at the passenger depot in future. Bear this in mind.

Leaning Tower of Pisa.
This wonderful shaft is a campanile, or bell tower, commenced in 1174, by Bonanno, of Pisa, and William of Innsbruck. It is cylindrical in shape, fifty feet in diameter, 179 feet high, and leans about thirteen feet out of perpendicular. It is divided into eight stories, each having an exterior colonnade, or gallery. The top is reached by 330 steps. It was not purposely built to lean. The foundation settled more on one side than on the other until it reached the present inclination, which it has maintained with scarcely any perceptible increase for hundreds of years. The defect in the foundation was discovered before its completion, and the upper part of the structure was built in a manner to counteract in part the inclination; and the grand chime of bells, seven in number, of which the largest alone weighs 12,000 pounds, is mounted with reference to counteracting this fault still further. This magnificent tower is justly regarded as one of the wonders of the world.

There are 30,000 women in New York city who support themselves.

A Word For Mutton.

The mutton of a well-fed sheep of every breed, from the Downs and Shires down to the little woolled Saxony, is palatable and healthful. None of the objections urged against the use of pork can be brought against those of mutton. It has never been known to impart scrofula, trichinae or tape worms to its consumers. The sheep does not thrive in the mire, nor does it consume garbage or vermin, on decaying meats or vegetables. It does not wallow in the trough it feeds from, but it is a dainty and a careful feeder, and as cleanly as needs be in its habits. Mutton is more easily produced than beef, is just as nutritious, and may be served in as great a variety of forms. As a steady food, it is far superior to poultry and costs no more. We mean good, fat, juicy mutton; not that from the half-starved, scabby or foot-rotted specimens that have outlived their breeding age and been shorn of fleece enough to furnish blankets for a tribe of Indians. People in cities seldom know how really good mutton tastes, and the remark may also apply to most families upon the farm. The latter too often fail to try it. We know of many well-to-do farmers, men who have well-stocked farms, who do not slaughter a sheep during a twelvemonth, yet who kill a pig every month in the summer season, and in the fall "pnt down" pork enough to last every other month during the year. This is a nation of meat-eaters, but it confines itself too exclusively to pork and beef. It is better to sandwich in a little more mutton. A few sheep for family consumption, even when they are not kept for sale or for wool, will be found an excellent investment on all farms.—Connecticut Farmer.

Courted Her Like $900.

There was a man named Watkins in a Confederate regiment during the war, who was well on toward middle life, but when his wife came to camp one day she seemed to make him young by comparison. There seemed to be a century's difference between them; and the man, who was as ugly as a Georgia cracker usually is, was handsome beside his wife. "How did you ever come to marry such an old witch as that?" asked one of his superior officers, taking him aside. "Well, you see," said the man, rather sheepishly, "her mother kept a little grocery store down on the corner of the street where I lived, and I used to go in there to get what I wanted to eat. One day I found the old woman's ugly daughter all alone in the store. Just as I came in I heard the clink of silver through the loose rafters overhead, and the old woman counting, 'One, two, three,' and so on. I sat down and made love to the girl, and the old woman up-stairs kept on counting. By-and-by she was away up in the hundreds—400, 450, 500. I courted that girl harder and harder as the old woman got higher. Finally she stopped at nine hundred. 'Great Scott!' I said to myself, 'Nine hundred dollars! Beloved Sukey, will you be mine?' She said she would, and we were married that same day." "Well, is that all?" "No; there were only thirty of those silver dollars; the old woman counted them over thirty times." Perhaps it would be well to investigate a little every time.—Philadelphia Record.

Care of Wagon Wheels.

The severest strain in the cart or carriage comes upon the wheels. The fellos especially are exposed to alternate mud and drought, according to the prevailing weather. The paint soon wears off, and the wood absorbs the water from every mud-puddle through which the vehicle is driven. In a dry time the wood shrinks and the tire gets loose. The remedy is a new setting of the tire, and a bill from the blacksmith. It is much cheaper to clean up the carriage occasionally, and give the wheels a dressing of linseed oil as hot as it can be put on. The wood will absorb a good deal of the oil and will swell the rim so as to make the tire tight. It will prevent the rotting of the wood and make long-lived wheels. When the wheels have soaked up all the oil they will take up on a good coat of paint.—American Agriculturist.

The Fee for Being Married.

Advice to those about to get married in fashionable London circles: Select an occasion when the Vicar is taking a holiday, and then, if you are content that a humble curate should perform the ceremony, you will save a £5 note at least. Why does a clergyman expect a heavy fee when his legal remuneration is about 12s 6d? That he does expect it I gather from the fact that the Vicar of a West End church, to whom the best man at a recent marriage tendered £5, wrote, somewhat indignantly, to say that his fee was 5 guineas. Of course, the above hint does not refer to those persons who require a Bishop to make them man and wife.
