LOCAL LAYOUT

Lord Bennet and brother, the English hunters, are again in town. McBrayer '79 whisky at Fowle's.

Morning and evening church services were held yesterday by Rev. Mr. Archibald.

New potatoes at Donovan's, Main street.

Judge Budlong who has been "under the weather" for some days past, is regaining his health once more.

If you want anything in the hardware line it will pay you to go to J. A. Kreiger's. You can buy at your own prices, as he is closing out.

Hon. Martin Maginnis spent a part of Saturday and yesterday in town and went west to Helena on last evening's train.

Beets, cabbage and summer squash at Donovan's just from the Gallatin.

Mr. Gossage, formerly of the Rapid City (Dak.) Journal, has returned to Livingston after a visit to the western Montana towns.

White lead, paints and oils at Douglas & Weirick's, Park street.

Yankee Jim was in town last night. He says that business at the toll gate is running light; receipts do not average much above $100 per day.

Fresh vegetables at Donovan's.

The obstruction at Point of Rocks on the Park branch has been removed so that trains now make the full run to the end of track without transferring.

A fine lot of Chamber and Parlor suits just received at P. A. Kreiger's.

We return thanks to the Livingston Board of Trade for a kindly recognition. It has our best wishes, as does the live, enterprising town.—Husbandman.

Particular attention given to prescriptions at the Park Street Pharmacy. DOUGLAS & WEIRICK.

Since selling the building at present occupied by them E. R. Dean & Co. have decided to erect a brick building to accommodate their wholesale liquor business.

Fine stationery, blank books and fancy goods at Douglas & Weirick's, Park street.

Bradstreet's mercantile agency has been represented in town during the past day or two by J. G. Carmody, who has been looking into the financial standing of our business men.

Lawrence & Staff have for sale stoves of every description, and will warrant to suit purchasers in both style and price. They have also full line of general hardware.

Mr. Wren, a heavy stockowner whose cattle are now in Texas, was in Livingston yesterday. He is looking up a suitable range in this country with a view of transferring a portion of his herd to Montana.

Souvenir Albums of the National Park just received at Douglas & Weirick's, Park street.

It is announced that the Park branch will be completed to the terminal town next Saturday evening. Rails are now laid to a point about forty-seven miles from town, leaving but a few miles to complete the line.

Railroad tickets bought and sold at the Brewery Headquarters. P. Flannery.

It is the opinion of Major Maginnis, who may be presumed to be pretty well informed in regard to the programme of the presidential party, that they will reach Livingston not earlier than the 30th inst.

Call at the Gilt Edge for "Lurline Club," and "Entre las Rosas" Cigars.

Col. Lamborn and family are visiting the National Park. As Ed. Stone accompanies them it is probable that business connected with the townsites at the end of the Park branch may have something to do with the excursion.

Choice cigars at Douglas & Weirick's.

M. Reing and son, and Lafe J. Burr, of Helena, returned from the Park on Saturday afternoon and took the train yesterday for Hunter's Hot Springs, where the first named of the party will rest and recuperate during a few days.

A line of couriers are now stationed along the route from Sphinx, the last telegraph station on the Park branch, to the southern limits of the Park to carry dispatches from the president and his party to the outside world.

Farmers, if you want the best make of mowers, rakes, harvesting machinery and agricultural implements of all kinds, call upon Lawrence & Staff, Main street.

The Northern Pacific has notified all connecting lines that cars without brakes will not be received to go west of Livingston on account of the danger in running them down the heavy grades on either side of the Rocky mountains.

In the Supreme Court last week Mr. John H. Elder, of this place, by virtue of a certificate of admission to practice in all the courts of Minnesota, was, upon motion of J. K. Toole, Esq., admitted to practice in all the courts of record of this territory.

Brown & Saxe, the Park branch news agents, have built a booth on Main street, opposite the Brewery Headquarters, and have stocked it with such articles as they handle on the trains. They deserve success, and there is not much doubt but they will achieve it.

The Art Gallery will be here but a few days. Now is the time to fill your parlors with pictures at bottom prices. 621 wk

The new town that is to be the terminus of the Park branch is being surveyed and staked out at a point between two and three miles this side of Gardiner. Arrangements could not be made by which Buckskin Jim's claim upon the Gardiner townsite could be transferred to the Northern Pacific and hence the new location.

Rufus Hatch's Yellowstone Park party left St. Paul last night over the Northern Pacific, and unless there is unusual delay should reach Livingston on Wednesday, or perhaps Tuesday night. They reached St. Paul on Saturday, spent the afternoon in driving around town, and on Sunday visited Minneapolis.

The train from the east due in Livingston at noon, came in contact with a Montana steer near Rosebud. The conflict was short but decisive. The steer was killed and the engine and two cars thrown from the track. Hence the non-arrival of the train till last evening at 8:30.

Dr. Hunter, of the Springs, came up to Livingston on Saturday and was delighted beyond measure to meet upon the train Senator Beck and the Goodloe brothers, all old friends whom he had not seen since leaving Kentucky, some years ago. He would not have missed the encounter upon any consideration.

We have received from Lee Mantle, secretary of the West Side Racing Association, the programme of the meeting at Butte Sept. 21 and 22. The purses aggregate nearly $3,000, and races should, and doubtless will, draw the best horses in the west. Ladies are to be admitted to the grounds free.

Rev. Mr. Archibald, a clergyman of the Congregational denomination, formerly of Cottage Grove, Minn., arrived in Livingston on Saturday and will remain here for an indefinite period. He seems like an active, earnest young man and we trust that he will not become discouraged in the midst of spiritually unfruitful surroundings.

The first lot of freight for shipment over the entire length of the Northern Pacific from Lake Superior to the Pacific, arrived at Duluth on the steamer St. Paul. It consists of 400 car wheels for the Northern Pacific, and was shipped from the Peninsular car works at Adrian, Mich., and consigned to Tacoma, Washington Territory.

A letter received from A. L. Loye from W. R. Stebbins stated that he and his party were encamped within 500 yards of Old Faithful, and were waiting patiently in the expectation of seeing the Giantess belch forth that evening. The letter also stated that the writer hoped to get back to Livingston on or about the 25th inst.

It is reported that Judge H. N. Maguire is soon to become proprietor of the Livingston Tribune. The Judge is a brilliant writer and will get out a readable paper.—New Northwest.

While we should most heartily welcome Judge Maguire to the ranks of Montana journalism, which he at one time honored, we opine that the announcement contained in the above extract is a little too previous.

J. J. McLaughlin, the railroad agent at Livingston, has received a stock of coupon tickets for all points east, and as soon as his cabinet arrives will place them on sale. As soon as the road is completed he expects to be able to sell coupon tickets to all points west, and travelers from Livingston will then be able to buy tickets here for any destination.

The Park train now consists of two passenger coaches and a baggage and express car. Going and returning each day they are pretty well filled with passengers.

Nine old-timers from different parts of the territory met in one saaloon in Helena without any previous arrangement, but all drawn there, as the Independent says, "in their regular round of business." The lengthy record of the meeting omits to mention the brand of whiskey they drank, but it was probably of the tenderfoot variety and perhaps (oh! degenerate days) brought in by the railroad.

C. A. Galloway returned on Saturday, bringing with him a number of new performers, and the same evening the Opera House re-opened with a crowded audience. Chief among the new stars is Andy Adams, who, with his partner, Jim McGraw, makes up the best minstrel team in the northwest circuit. Galloway & Truax are fortunate in commanding the services of both at the same time.

Another party of celebrities arrived on Saturday bound for the Park. It comprised James B. Beck, U. S. Senator from Kentucky, G. Clay Goodloe Paymaster U. S. Marine corps, and his brother Col. Goodloe from the same state, and Mr. Corcoran from Arkansas. The two first named gentlemen were accompanied by their wives. They remained a few hours in Livingston and then took the train for the Park. This is not Senator Beck's first visit to Montana. He was here last spring upon a visit to his son who owns a ranch, and has a herd of cattle on the head-waters of Powder River.
