LOCAL LAYOUT

Charlie Berg is back at his post in C. W. Savage & Sons' store.

Blank books at the Postoffice drug store.

R. P. Vivion, one of the leading legal luminaries of Bozeman, is visiting Livingston.

Gilbert is closing out at cost.

N. Imo has just completed fitting up his new bath rooms in his building opposite the ENTERPRISE office.

Go to Billy Miles for baled hay, oats, wheat barley chop feed, etc. At wholesale or retail.

Captain C. C. Wrenshall, engineer of track, bridges and buildings on the Northern Pacific, is in town to-day in his business car Crow Wing.

Collections of all kinds carefully attended to by Morris Cook.

An elderly gentleman whose name we were unable to ascertain, living in the Park addition, died yesterday and was buried this afternoon.

Gilbert is closing out at cost.

Blair & Donovan have taken out execution against Lafferty & Seebich's restaurant, and the personal property of the establishment will be sold to satisfy judgment.

Those choice cream candies and caramels have arrived at John O. Sax's News Depot, Main street.

The balmy chinook has been scattering the thin covering of snow to-day with its usual celerity. An unpleasant feature of the process is the fact that mud remains in its place.

Pure strained honey by the quart or gallon at Campbell & Merrill's.

With the opening of spring travel the Northern Pacific will have fifty emigrant sleepers, and be prepared to accommodate all emigrant business that reaches their eastern termini.

Jim Stills will prepare the dinner at the English Kitchen on Christmas day.

Our merchants are making a fine display of Christmas goods, and the individual who can not get suited in Livingston in the way of holiday purchases is too fastidious for this world.

Fresh Oysters at the Big Horn Stores.

Messrs. Wakelield & Hoffman, contractors for the carriage of the mail between here and Cooke City, are in town to-day making arrangements with Postmaster Wright for the days upon which the mail will arrive and depart.

Have you seen Jim Kane's goose?

We should be obliged to our local readers to report particulars of marriages, births and deaths as they occur in town. Such items are frequently hard to get at without what would seem like intrusion on the part of the reporter.

Staple and fancy groceries at N. C. Matthiessen's.

A letter received by A. L. Gossage this morning states that Frank P. Moulton, ex sheriff of Pennington county in the Black Hills, is now on his way to pay a visit to Miles City and Livingston, in both of which towns he has many friends.

Go to the Big Horn Stores for fresh oysters.

Another of those gorgeous sunsets last evening. The sky was brilliantly crimsoned by the flood of fading light until after 6 o'clock, or longer than even the summer twilight lasts. Scientists are still disputing as to the causes of these phenomena, but we are content with admiring their beauty.

Hot drinks and beef tea at Jim Kane's place.

The Livingston Quadrille Band has arranged to give a dancing assembly at the skating rink on Christmas eve. As there is no other entertainment for that evening and the band folks are making full and careful arrangements for a successful evening, the dance will doubtless be largely attended and very enjoyable.

The roller skating rink will be open from 10 to 12 a. m. every day for the exclusive convenience of ladies who desire to learn how to skate.

A petition addressed to Andrew F. Burleigh, the district attorney, is in circulation asking the appointment of W. H. Frye as his deputy for Gallatin county. It has been signed by all our leading citizens, including Mr. Frye's brother attorneys, and should be granted by Mr. Burleigh. Mr. Frye is a vigorous and able member of his profession and will fill the office creditably and well.

Misses Baker & Fay, of the English Kitchen, promise the public on Christmas day the finest dinner that will be given in the west. These enterprising ladies have engaged the services of Jim Stills, one of the ablest and best cuisine artists in the west.

C. M. Gilbert, of St. Paul, agent of an association of capitalists who are looking toward western investment, is looking over Montana towns for the purpose of reporting their condition and prospects from a financial point of view. Livingston he looked over especially to determine the advisability of building a large hotel here, which he was advised to do by Col. Lamborn. What his report may be cannot be stated, but he was certainly well pleased with Livingston and with the hotel site set apart by the railroad company. Mr. Gilbert is an old friend and schoolmate of our townsman John H. Elder.

Disgraced County Officials.

Custer and Dawson county must feel somewhat proud (?) of some of their elected and appointed officials, particularly of their high(?) standard of morals and divine afflatus judging from the fact, that at Miles City, last Tuesday night, Garlock, recently appointed clerk of Custer county by the so-called reformed board of county commissioners, and Lonergan, a member of the last legislature, and present judge of probate of Dawson county, got into a disgraceful row at a house of ill-repute, which resulted in Garlock being arrested the next day for carrying and displaying concealed weapons, making dire threats, &c. It was a shockingly disgraceful affair, and neither complimentary to their profession, as lawyers, or the positions they hold as officers in their respective counties. The reformation might go on in both counties, without injury to the said limbs of the law or the sincerity of those reformers who placed the one in position, as a social reform officer.

The Indian Idea of Dress Trains.

A Chinaman at Junction City (on the Yellowstone) recently took to himself a wife in the person of an Indian squaw, whose tribe was encamped on the other side of the river. The wedding ceremonies were brief and informal, the services of a minister not being required. The Celestial was so enamored of his dusky bride that he sent to St. Paul and purchased for her an $85 silk dress with the regulation train. The Indian maid, proud of her stylish turn-out, went across the river to visit her relatives. The tribe held a council over the new dress, and after a grave discussion it was decided to reduce the train thereof, which was done by the use of a scalping knife, the dress being cut off even with the bride's knees. When she returned to her lord and master he was so incensed at the manner in which the dress had been slaughtered that he kicked her out and went off on a big drunk. At last accounts he was still on the war-path and his bride has returned to her people.—Independent.

The Northern Pacific Country.

Superintendent of Traffic Muir, referring to the impressions made by his recent trip over the Northern Pacific, says the line is in a satisfactory condition in every respect, and the country through which the road passes is destined to become one of the greatest and most productive in the United States. Outside of the mineral belt and the cattle ranges, the country is very fertile and will produce abundantly of the cereals, furnishing an immense amount of freight for the road. Montana is fast becoming the cattle center of the country, and the shipments of mineral, grain and cattle will continue to increase as the country develops from year to year. The various stations along the line are having a vigorous growth, and a majority of them are already good, live towns. He speaks very enthusiastically regarding the Coeur d'Alene mines—in fact in a way that is apt to be harmfully misleading to the public.

In Salt Lake City a large number of Mormon women are going from house to house with a subscription paper, which contains names for amounts from 25 cents to $10. The object of the subscription is to obtain the necessary means to "thwart our enemies in their efforts to overthrow this people."

Birdseye Views of Livingston

May be obtained at the ENTERPRISE office at $1 each or less for quantities. These views are lithographed on a fine quality of paper, 18x26 inches in size. They will make a beautiful and most acceptable present to friends living at a distance, and to secure their general distribution we place them at this low price.

New Bath Rooms.

N. Imo has just completed a series of new bath rooms, one of which is designed for the use of ladies only. The rooms are fitted up in first-class style, abundantly supplied with hot and cold water and in every way the best bathing facilities in Livingston. The public are respectfully invited to call. B street, near the skating rink.

Those choice cream candies and caramels have arrived at John O. Sax's News Depot, Main street.

Another Race at the Rink.

On Saturday evening next, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, there will be a free-for-all skating race at the rink, distance three miles. First, second and third prizes will be given of $5, $3 and $2 respectively. Entrance fee, $1. Ten persons only will be admitted to the race. Umpires will be chosen before the race by the competitors. Admission to rink, 25 cents. F. L. MINTIE, Manager.

Misses Baker & Fay, of the English Kitchen, will serve a Christmas dinner second to none in the west.

Announcement.

Miss C. E. Lockwood desires to inform the public that she has taken charge of Miss L. E. McClaren's dressmaking and millinery establishment, and will continue the business during that lady's absence, and having had six years experience in millinery and dressmaking, respectfully solicits a continuance of patronage. Millinery and dressmaking and plain sewing of every description attended to.

For watches and jewelry go to Niblock's. New stock.

Dressmaking.

Mrs. N. Davenport wishes to announce to her friends that she is now prepared to do dressmaking and fancy sewing at her residence, next door to the Cafe restaurant. The ladies will find on the first trial that Mrs. Davenport's work is of a superior character and reasonable price.

Any one going to St. Paul will find it to their advantage to call at the Brewery saloon for tickets.
