MONTANA NEWS.

Maiden is to have a post of the G. A. R.
 Dawson county has a debt of $110,000.

The Billings school house cost $12,445, including the ground upon which it is built. Of this sum Frederick Billings donated $4,000 and bonds were issued for $8,000.

John F. Maloney of Glendive, member of the legislature, etc., is under indictment for forging a dissolute woman's name to a county order upon which he drew $160.

The Northern Pacific is said to have repudiated the contract made by Ed. Stone with the Belknap townsite company, and to have gone in on the Thompson's Falls townsite with the pledge to assist the town by all means.

Oscar Stevens, who has a sheep ranch near Cone Butte, beyond Fort Maginnis, has taken his band to Junction City to shear. He will sell his wool at that point, and possibly his band, which numbers some 6,000 head.

"The snow going off" has ruined the reputation of many a winter-struck placer camp, and it is not unlikely that Coeur d'Alene will be added to the list. Already many more are daily leaving the camp than are going in.

Chronicle: Yesterday in a drunken row at the Bozeman Coal company's mines, Pat Lynch struck Pat Turner over the head with a bottle, inflicting a severe wound, and also cut him across the abdomen. We have not learned whether the wounds are fatal or not.

A. J. Fisk, writing from St. Paul, says: The passenger travel westward is enormous. On Monday of this week a train left for the west the fares of which amounted to $20,000, which was probably the largest amount ever realized in this country for a single train load of passengers.

Application was made to the war department for government aid to the destitute workmen of the Collar Mining company--the men who are without their money for labor performed. The application was denied as the government has no funds applicable to such a use without special legislation.

The Northern Pacific Express company now has its express line from Thompson's Falls to the new mines in operation, and carries letters through to Eagle City and Murraysville at eight cents per letter--a much cheaper rate than has heretofore been charged. All express matter is carried by men on foot, just now, but they contemplate putting on a pony express from Rathdrum soon.

Jos. W. Hanna, who is sentenced to be hung at White Sulphur Springs, is a brother of Bayliss W. Hanna, one of the most prominent lawyers and democratic politicians of Indiana, and no doubt some powerful influence will be brought to bear to secure a new hearing in his case. His relatives include ex-congressmen, ex-state senators and others high in both political and social life. Joseph was induced to come west on account of an unfortunate scrape he got into while attending Wabash college at Crawfordsville, Indiana, and has been in the territory ever since.

A Fargo special states that George Oarmer, of Dayton, who went into the turtle mountains a few weeks ago, returned. He states that his brother Mitchell Oarmer, whose troubles with the Indians have been reported, is safe now, but trouble is anticipated, as the Indians have been reinforced by a large band from across the boundary under chief Little Shell. The Indians refuse to allow a settler on the portion of their reservation which has just been thrown open to settlers by the interior department. The Indians have not killed any one but they destroy all the machinery and kill the cattle belonging to the settlers. They are increasing in boldness every day and trouble is feared, as the settlers are to few to protect themselves.

The mail steamer Reliance, from Rio Janeiro for New York, carrying coffee and hides, is a total wreck off Bahia.

A man named Michaels was arrested at Dayton, Ohio, on Friday on suspicion of being the wrecker of the Pan Handle express Thursday night.

At Naples, Italy, a drunken soldier turned loose with his rifle in the dormitory where his comrades were sleeping. He killed five and wounded three.

Eight prisoners confined in the jail at Gainesville, Green County, Ark., assaulted the jailer Sunday night and escaped after procuring arms from the jailer's house.

Dispatches from Sontay, to April 11th, state that General Negrier had bombarded the village of Hung-Hoa. The enemy forthwith began to evacuate the town without resisting.

A Paris telegram says the belief in the existence of a group of foreign anarchists, including Germans, connected with the dynamites in England and Ireland, is confirmed.

It was reported in New York that the Oregon Improvement company's coal mines in Washington territory were on fire. The company stock took a tumble in consequence.

At Whartown, Texas, C. S. Bythewood was shot by James Mattison a professional gambler, who has since escaped by the aid of his wife, who held the pursuing officers at bay with a drawn revolver.

The court now in session in Cincinnati is conducting criminal prosecutions and obtaining convictions with more expedition and surety than did the last. So much for the influence of the late riots.

Thomas Whichter, of Salina, Cal., was arrested on the charge of outraging his 15 year old daughter. He was released on bail, when his own son tried, ineffectually, to shoot him. He will probably be lynched.

The governments of England, France, Germany, Russia, Belgium, and the United States have informed the Porte that they will not consent to the abolition of their commercial rights under the capitulation.

Pioneer Press: Queer people ask queer questions invariably. Example: A clergyman asked me if it was true that successful newspaper men always drank. If I were telling the truth, I should remark that there is a lingering suspicion around newspaper offices that the reporter who turns in the most news and is "left" least is the one who knows how to accept an invitation to drink. It by no means follows that success in journalism depends on drinking. Drinking places are exchanges, in a sense, for the news of the day. They furnish de novo a good deal of mighty interesting reading matter. The late conflict between the city and county authorities in a St. Paul saloon is in point. I very much doubt if a prohibition reporter would have "got on to" that item, and even one with high license proclivities, without long range ears, would have run great risk. I answered the clergyman in the negative, but I lied.
