JEFFORDS AND ARMES OUT

Their Resignations Accepted by District Attorney Davis.

BOTH OF THEM REPUBLICANS

Joseph H. Shillington Selected to Succeed Mr. Jeffords—Davis Consulted Attorney General McKenna Before Making the Change—He May Hold Office for Some Time.

MESSRS. TRACY L. Jeffords and Charles H. Armes, the only two Republican assistant attorneys in the office of United States District Attorney Henry E. Davis, yesterday tendered their resignations, and they were promptly accepted, to take effect April 15, as noted in The Evening Times.

Mr. Joseph H. Shillington, a prominent local attorney, has been selected to succeed Mr. Jeffords, but there has been no one named for the other place. Mr. Davis said he would announce a successor later. Inquiry into the cause for these resignations elicited but little, except that the relations between the District attorney and his two assistants have been and are now most cordial, and that their retirement conveys no reflection upon their ability or integrity as officials. It is said Mr. Davis asked for their resignations, and this is doubtless correct, but it was not admitted by any of the parties to the transaction.

Mr. Jeffords was seen in his office at the city hall yesterday afternoon, and asked whether or not he had voluntarily withdrawn from the office. "What did Mr. Davis say?" he asked. "Mr. Davis merely admitted that you and Mr. Armes had resigned, and that your resignations were accepted, to take effect on the 15th."

"And that is what I have to say. I never gave out about the matter should, of course, come from the head of the office." "I may say, also, with propriety, that the personal and official relations between Mr. Davis and myself are most pleasant. I had served four years, my term expiring on the first day of the month. I had it in mind to resign on that day, but deferred it."

Mr. Jeffords further stated that he would now have the opportunity of engaging in practice on other than the lines followed in prosecuting offenders, and that he was not at all averse to the change. It is known that when Mr. Davis was before the Senate for confirmation, after his nomination to the office by President Cleveland, that in case he was installed he should reorganize his office force, and Mr. Shillington was then his choice for one place. It was learned yesterday, however, that when Mr. Davis was given the temporary appointment by the District supreme court, it was with an implied understanding, if not expressed, that there would be no changes made until and unless he should be regularly re-appointed and confirmed by the Senate.

Mr. Davis has since consulted with Attorney General McKenna, and has received from him the sanction of any changes he might consider it proper to make, and acting upon such assurance, he asked the two assistants to resign. He did not state to himself, but that bit of gossip was current at the city hall yesterday. It was also stated that Mr. Davis was given to understand by Attorney General McKenna that he might expect to retain the office for some months yet.

Mr. Armes was not in the office yesterday afternoon, after the news of his retirement became public, and there was no opportunity to see him. He has held the position for a number of years, having gone into the office during the incumbency of District Attorney John Blair Hoge, who was succeeded by Hon. C. C. Cole, and he was retained while Mr. A. A. Barney held the commission.

Mr. Shillington said yesterday afternoon: "I have not yet accepted the office, but I have the matter under advisement." It is an assured fact that Mr. Shillington will accept the trust, and since he would not care to take the office upon an uncertain tenure, it is argued that he is not to be displaced yet awhile. His selection of Mr. Shillington was warmly commended by those who discussed it. The next essential that is to be regarded as one of the foremost of the younger class of lawyers practicing at the District bar, and it is looked for him that he will make a successful prosecutor. He formerly held the place of assistant in the police court under the attorney for the District.

It is believed that there will be no more changes in the office, although nothing authoritative upon this subject was given out by Mr. Davis.

SANGULLY'S PLEDGE.

Secretary Sherman Thinks He Will Not Return to Cuba.

He Has a Long Knife Up His Sleeve for Roosevelt.

The Department of State has been informed that Julio Sangully is in Florida, and that it is reported that he intends to return to Cuba. When Secretary of State Sherman was asked about the report yesterday by a Times reporter he replied: "I do not know what Sangully will do. If he should be so foolish, he would have to take his life into his own hands. We should never interfere in his behalf again, but would have to let things take their course. I have his written pledge not to take active part in the insurrection in any way, and so long as he keeps that pledge, I will not concern myself with his movements or ceremony. No, I think he would not be such a fool."

The pledge that Secretary Sherman had reference to was made by Sangully in January, just before his pardon by the Queen Regent of Spain, and was signed voluntarily by Sangully and handed to Consul General Lee. The Spanish copy went to the Spanish government and the other was forwarded to the State Department. It reads as follows: "Affirmation of Julio Sangully: I, Julio Sangully, an American citizen, do hereby solemnly and voluntarily promise that I will not take any active part in the insurrection in Cuba, and I will not aid, directly or indirectly, the present insurrection against the government of Spain, and I hereby promise that should I do so at any time I will not claim the protection of the United States Government. I certify that this pledge is given of my own free will and without compulsion on the part of any one."

"Fortress Cabana, Havana, January 21, 1897. "WITNESSES: Ernesto La Foz, Donnell Rockwell."

It was said at the State Department that if Sangully makes any attempt to leave for Cuba the United States will be prepared to expel him, unless he comes with an armed expedition, but grave fears are expressed at the State Department that the departure of Sangully at this time might seal the fate of other Americans imprisoned in Cuba, whose pardon by the queen regent under similar conditions is now being sought.

Capt. Thorp Reinstated. Secretary Gage yesterday appointed Capt. M. R. Thorp, of this city, chief of the supply division. Friday the Secretary reinstated D. W. Harrington as chief of the division of accounts. This position had been filled for twenty-eight years by Harrington, when he was discharged under the Cleveland Administration. F. W. McDowell, who succeeded him, has been transferred to the supervising architect's office as assistant chief. The reinstatement of Thorp and Harrington indicates that the Secretary intends to carry out his promise to veterans to restore to capable men who had been discharged during the Administration of Mr. Cleveland.

Ships for the Naval Militia. It is proposed by the Navy Department to take good care of the naval militia during the practice season, and it will place at its disposal as many ships of the North Atlantic squadron as can be spared for that duty. Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Maryland and New York are to each have large cruises assigned for the work, and the Southern reserves will be equally well provided for. The ships on the Pacific coast will be ordered to take the reserves in that section to sea, and the Michigan will perform a like service on the great lakes.

PLATT'S STRONG PROTEST

He Has a Long Knife Up His Sleeve for Roosevelt.

RAYMOND'S CHANCES BRIGHT

The 'Easy Boss' Called at the White House to Insist that the New York Police Commissioner Be Not Recognized—Many Callers at the White House.

Yesterday closed a record-breaking week at the White House. One needed but to call a roster of both the House and Senate to find out who had called to see the President. Senators and Congressmen of all degree came in countless numbers to participate in the spoils. Many were accompanied by delegations; some came alone.

There was a rush, so to speak, on the political bargain counter, but bargains are getting scarce and many went away disappointed. Speculation ran riot as to who will be selected to fill the remaining places at the President's disposal. The President managed to lend a willing ear to all his visitors.

First of all came Thomas C. Platt, the acute and suave politician of the Empire State. Mr. Platt came alone. As usual, he tried to reach the President's office unobserved. Platt has called but seldom at the White House during the present Administration. His visits, however, are all connected with matters of great political import. Yesterday's mission was no exception to the general rule.

The 'easy boss' came to block the anticipated nomination of Theodore Roosevelt as McAdoo's successor at the Navy Department. Roosevelt is at present president of the police commission of New York city, but would quickly resign if the Assistant Secretaryship of the Navy were offered him. Roosevelt, however, is not a machine politician, and Platt would like to see some one else appointed to the place. Roosevelt's name has been repeatedly mentioned, however, in connection with the appointment.

It is said that Secretary Long wants him and has repeatedly urged his nomination. His authoritative statement that Henry W. Raymond, of Pennsylvania, will get the coveted position. Mr. Raymond called at the White House yesterday and held an extended conference with the President. It is believed that the appointment was finally settled upon, and his name will go to the Senate tomorrow.

It is not hard to discern the fine Italian hand of Matthew Stanley Quay in Raymond's appointment. Senator Penrose has called at the White House several times of late and given the President to understand that Raymond would be acceptable, not only to Quay, but himself as well. The withdrawal of ex-Congressman Robinson of Pennsylvania, from the race practically settled the matter in Raymond's favor.

Raymond comes from Germantown, Pa., and has always taken an active part in the Republican politics of the State. Platt's opposition to Roosevelt is said to have been the principal cause of President McKinley's determination to give Raymond the place.

Besides having the support of both Senators Quay and Penrose the Pennsylvania man was strongly indorsed for the position by ex-Secretary of the Navy Benjamin Tracy.

The declaration of Col. Fred Grant will not interfere with a quick selection for the Assistant Secretaryship of War. Mr. McKinley has other candidates in mind, but just who will get the plum is yet a matter of conjecture.

Col. Buck, of Georgia, who is slated as next minister to Japan, called at the White House yesterday and held an extended conference with the President. Col. Buck's mission was for the purpose of urging several Federal appointments in Georgia, among others being that of Col. William Pledger, of Atlanta, who wants to go as consul to Kingston, Jamaica.

Senator Mason, of Illinois, brought with him W. B. Mann, a prominent politician

CIVIL SERVICE IN THE NAVY

Secretary Long Inaugurates a New System of Marking.

Five Elements Are to Be Considered in Determining the Actual Efficiency of an Employee.

After having made a careful study of the conditions of civil service regulations governing promotions Secretary of the Navy Long yesterday issued a general order to the departmental service of the Navy which is in part as follows:

"I. All vacancies above those in the lowest class of any grade not filled by reinstatement, transfer or reduction, shall be filled by promotion. Provided, That if no person eligible for promotion, or if the vacant position requires the exercise of technical or professional knowledge, it may be filled through certification from the Civil Service Commission."

"Provided further, That if a vacancy occurs in a position requiring exceptional technical qualifications, and the board of promotion find that there is no eligible in the class next below that in which the vacancy exists who possesses the required qualifications, but that there are one or more persons in some lower class of classes who possess such qualifications, and that the interests of the service require the promotion of one of those persons to the vacant position, then the board of promotion, after such tests of fitness as the commission may prescribe, shall certify to the Secretary of the Navy, from the highest class or classes in which such person are serving, the names of the three persons, if there are so many, having the required qualifications, or a lesser number, if there are not so many as three in the department."

Reports of efficiency are to be made semi-annually, but certification for promotion is to be based upon the average actual efficiency for the year next preceding the six months in which the certification is made, or for such lesser period as the employe may have served.

Continental for the Constitution. An act of the Fifty-third Congress provided that an appropriation of $5,000 should be made to place the Constitution in repair. The old war vessel is at Portsmouth, N. H., and on October 21 the people of that city will celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the vessel.
