MANY MAIDS MADE WIVES

The Wheatley-Veazey Wedding a Brilliant Affair.

A Number of Other Interesting Marriages—People Going Away. Notes and Personals.

Historic Christ Church, West Washington, was the scene last night of one of the most beautiful weddings of the year. The magnificent edifice, made beautiful with palms, magnolias and graceful vines, was brilliant with an assemblage composed of old residential families of Washington and Georgetown, together with many guests from other cities, who were there to witness the marriage of Miss Marian Dorothy Wheatley, daughter of ex-Congressman Wheatley, to Mr. Alban Veazey, son of Gen. Veazey, of Vermont.

A full choir service added to the impressiveness of the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. A. Rhet Stuart, rector. The sweet young voices greeted the arrival of the bridal group with the nuptial hymn, "O Perfect Love," and then, joining the procession, led the way up the aisle singing the nuptial chorus from Lohengrin. When the bride, attended by her father, who gave her away, and preceded by her maid and ushers, reached the chancel, she was met by the groom, who, with his best man, Mr. Charles A. Sheldon, of Albany, N. Y., was waiting to receive her.

The betrothal services were then read and at its close the party entered the chancel, where the marriage ceremony was performed under a bell of magnolias, the choir singing meantime, "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden."

The ushers were Mr. James S. Morrill, of Vermont; Mr. Frank W. McCullough, of Norfolk, Va.; Mr. Henry P. Blair, Mr. A. A. Fisher, Mr. Richmond F.ingham and Mr. S. Hartley Wheatley.

The maid of honor was Miss Frances Wheatley, and the bridesmaids, Miss Belle Nesmith and Miss Ellen Hartley Wheatley. The bride was attired in white satin, crepe, and lace, and carried a cluster of orange blossoms and fastened in her hair was an antique silver comb, an heirloom in the family.

The attendants were gowned exquisitely in the latest styles, and the bridesmaids, with Marie Antoinette tucks, the maid of honor wearing sash ribbons of white satin, and carrying a shower bouquet of red roses, while the maid carried La France roses with ribbons the same shade of pink. Mrs. Wheatley wore a distinguished toilet of lavender brocade and point lace, with amethysts and pearls.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wheatley, No. 1314 Thirteenth street, to the bridal party and out-of-town guests, after which Mr. and Mrs. Veazey left for a summer trip North, to return in the fall.

Miss Ida V. Madigan and Mr. Stewart J. Shea were married yesterday evening at 7 o'clock at St. Paul's Catholic Church in the presence of a large number of friends.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Foley, assisted by Rev. Father Hanna and Rev. Father MacIn. Archbishop Goss was present in the sanctuary and at the conclusion of the service pronounced the benediction.

The bride was attended by Miss Mae Reilly in a pretty gown of pink organdy over silk, and the best man was Mr. A. J. Sheridan.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. H. V. Madigan, of Washington, Pa., and the groom is the eldest son of Col. Thomas J. Shea, of Hartford, Conn.

The bride was beautifully attired in lavender organdy over silk, and wore a large white hat, trimmed with roses and chiffon. She carried a cluster of long stemmed roses, tied with satin ribbons. After a short tour South, Mr. and Mrs. Shea will be at home at No. 1318 T street.

In the Eastern Presbyterian Church last night, Rev. Dr. McKim T. Lane, together with Mr. and Mrs. John H. Lane, and Mr. K. Behren were married in the presence of a number of friends, Rev. Dr. Easton, officiating.

The bride entered the church with her father, preceded by Miss Ella Vickery. In a prettily gowned, she carried a bouquet with sash and shoulder knots of yellow ribbon, and Marguerite Bonick, a tiny flower maid, wearing a dainty white slip and carrying a basket of pink sweet peas.

The ushers were Mr. George H. Judd, Mr. J. W. Bennett, Mr. F. C. Leman, Mr. F. J. Randolph, with Mr. Freeman, D. C. N. G., as best man.

The bride wore a pretty dress of white organdy, over white tulle, and carried a bouquet of bride buds.

TALENTED BOYS AND GIRLS

Clever Work of Public School Pupils on Exhibition.

REMARKABLE SKILL SHOWN

Commissioner Wight Opens the Exhibition with Complimentary Remarks—Proud Parents and Teachers Through the Building—Specimens of Handicraft.

Every year the public schools of the District hold an exhibition of the work done by the pupils. Heretofore, this has been held at some of the school buildings, but on this occasion the building No. 1218 F street northwest was secured for the purpose and filled with the handicraft of the bright children of the city.

Yesterday the parents and friends of the boys and girls viewed the results of the school work. The evident progress which has been made was most gratifying to everyone. Teachers and pupils alike seem to have felt the spur of action, and they have bent every effort toward bringing together interesting exhibits for the inspection of the visitors. Although the affair is, in a measure, entirely impromptu, nevertheless it surpasses by far anything of the sort ever shown here.

When the exhibit opened yesterday morning, Supt. Powell addressed those present with a few pertinent remarks upon the object of the exhibition, and then spoke about the satisfactory manner in which everything had been arranged.

"This exhibit," he said, "shows what is now being done by every school child in the District of Columbia. It is not an exhibition of the work of a few public school children, but the work of all the children of the city. It is a most vital one and worthy of the most profound consideration. The opportunities for its development have been decidedly limited in the District, yet despite this disadvantage, its growth and progress have been especially very great and exceedingly satisfactory."

"We realize that it deserves much more encouragement from Congress than has been given it, and we hope to secure in a short while a sufficiently large appropriation for the erection of a building exactly suited to the needs of this branch of instruction. In case we attain our object, it is extremely desirable that the building be located in some central portion of the city, easily reached by pupils from all sections."

"The work here exhibited has been very gratifying to me, and has only tended to emphasize my opinion as to the need of such an institution as I have mentioned. Gentlemen of the school board, and ladies and gentlemen, I now leave the pleasure to you of the exhibition, and I will return to my office."

Mr. Whelpley, the president of the District school board, was the next speaker. His address was very brief. After welcoming those present, he expressed his great gratification at the improvement shown by the children in the various departments, and in particular, in the work of the boys and girls in the various departments.

The principal exhibits are compositions, clay modeling, sewing, drawing, manual training and the work of the pupils of the various branches of the public instruction. The most interesting work is that of the boys and girls in the various departments, and in particular, in the work of the boys and girls in the various departments.

Entering upon next, the fourth week of high class vaudeville, Mr. Robert Grau, director of the Grand, will present the greatest hit of the season this far, among whom may be mentioned Miss Phyllis Hamilton, just entitled the American Girl, who has just finished an engagement and booked for a return at Koster & Bial's and Olympia, New York; Miss Lizzie Evans, the electric spark, of Fogg's Ferry fame, who will be assisted by the prince of comedians, Mr. Barry Mills, in the funniest sketch yet seen in vaudeville; Jim Cronin, the great monologist, late of the firm of Scanlon and Cronin; Horwitz and Bowers will present their side-splitting travesty on "Candide."

The Nineteenth century wonder, Miss Belle Hathaway and her monkey, dog and baboon circus, will appear here for the first time; this act is truly wonderful, and is proof of what can be accomplished with dumb animals by patience and kindness, a treat for the ladies and children. It will also be the first appearance of the funniest sketch ever seen in vaudeville, the quest of queer men, Mr. John W. Byrne, whose act is truly wonderful; Miss Marguerite Ross, the charming contralto, the only rival of Helen Murray; also will be seen Sherman, the acrobatic wonder whose contortions and postures are truly wonderful.

Mr. Robert Grau, the general of all vaudeville managers, has promised the greatest revelation in the near future that has ever been seen in vaudeville.

FANCIULLI FOUND GUILTY Sentence of the Court-Martial Discharge From the Service.

Indorsed by Col. Heywood—Report to be Submitted to Acting Secretary Roosevelt.

Judge Advocate General Lewis has handed the record in the court-martial case of Prof. Fanciulli yesterday afternoon. The record shows that the court found the leader of the Marine Band guilty of the charges of insubordination preferred against him, and the sentence imposed was "discharge from the service with bad conduct discharge." The findings of the court were indorsed fully by Col. Heywood, the commandant of the Marine Corps.

In making this indorsement, Col. Heywood says that, while Prof. Fanciulli's previous record had been good, his offense was of too serious a character to be overlooked.

After the judge advocate general makes a careful review of the record to ascertain that the proceedings were correct, it will be submitted to Acting Secretary Roosevelt. It is thought at the Navy Department that Mr. Roosevelt will not be in the case, but will leave it for Secretary Long to pass upon when he returns from Boston.

The Secretary of the Navy has the power to set aside the findings of the court, but he cannot reduce or increase the sentence. This right was given him by a general order issued by Secretary Herbert, in May, 1893, for the purpose of guarding against excessive punishment. The order reads:

"The attention of commanding officers and of all officers liable to duty as members of summary court-martial is called to the frequency with which the punishment of discharge from the service with bad conduct discharge is inflicted by such courts. Such punishment is appropriate only to cases in which the offense committed demonstrates the fact that the accused is an unfit person to remain in the naval service, and the department is of the opinion that said punishment is to be awarded to continuous service men except in extreme cases, and then only after careful consideration of the nature and length of service of the accused. Information on these points should also be obtained and considered by the senior officer in command of the vessel, whether or not to approve a sentence involving discharge from the service with bad conduct discharge."

It is believed by Prof. Fanciulli's friends that Secretary Long will disapprove of the findings of the court, and simply reprimand him. It is also understood that positive orders will be given defining the privileges of band leaders in the naval service in the future, and thus settle the question beyond all controversy.

The sentence of the tribunal would probably not have been as severe as it was were it not for the fact that Prof. Fanciulli insisted upon standing on his rights before the court. He conscientiously believed that he had a perfect right to select the music to be played by the band, though he said repeatedly he had no intention of being disrespectful to his superior officers. The general public, to a great extent, shares the opinion held by the popular bandmaster. The members of the court, however, though each one personally greatly admired Fanciulli for his sterling character and wide musical knowledge, were of the opinion that, according to the rigid rules of military discipline, a severe sentence should be imposed to prevent a repetition of the unfortunate occurrence in the future.
