SAYS SCHOOL IS INSOLVENT. Seventy Pupils Enrolled, but Cash Is Needed for Expenses.

Application was made yesterday by President Benjamin A. Coloma of the American Correspondence School to the District court for a receiver to be appointed to take charge of the business. He sets forth that the school is insolvent, therefore making this action necessary.

The institution was incorporated May 29 last for the purpose of teaching persons the business methods of the various branches of Government, including them to head departments of business. William H. Penton and John S. Swornsted are the directors.

Mr. Coloma states that he was assured the school could be instituted at an outlay of not more than $500, but says that he has already paid out over $1,500. Seventy students are now enrolled and he has numerous letters from would-be students.

The money received for tuition has not exceeded $520, while the liabilities, plaintiff believes, are nearly $2,400. He, therefore, prays for the appointment of some person to wind up the affairs of the institution.

Upon hearing the petition yesterday Judge Cox issued an order directing the directors to show forward and show cause why a receiver should not be appointed.

Law Registering Sale of Potatoes. Acting Sealer of Weights and Measures Miller has discovered on a parcel of the District laws that there is a regulation extent providing that all potatoes must be sold by weight, whereas almost all the dealers now sell them by measure. He has brought the matter to the attention of the Commissioners, who have requested the attorney of the District to render an opinion as to whether dealers violating the regulation should be proceeded against.

POLICE HAVE THE BRUTE

Barly Negro Attempts to Assault Two White Ladies.

FOUGHT LIKE A WILD BEAST

Trapped From Baltimore to Southwest Washington, Where He Endeavored to Assault Mrs. G. T. Sanford and Mrs. Chapple—People Now Sorry He Wasn't Lynched.

A big, burly, negro tramp assaulted two white ladies, attacked three policemen, and like an enraged wild beast, desperately fought a mob of fifteen men and boys who were attempting to capture him in South Washington yesterday afternoon.

The victims of the brute are Mrs. G. T. Sanford, the wife of a roofer, at No. 218 Thirteenth and a-half street southwest, and Mrs. Ella Mills Chapple, of No. 219 Thirteenth street southwest.

About 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. Sanford was standing in the back door of her husband's store, when a negro came up through the alley and asked the price of some watermelons which lay outside the door. Mrs. Sanford told him and while she was selecting one for him the negro seemed to be looking about the place as if to see if there was anyone near.

When Mrs. Sanford asked him for the money before handing him the melon the negro refused to take it unless she permitted him to eat it in the shed in the rear yard which he carried it there for him. She refused to do so, and the brute then demanded to know "where the toes is?"

Mr. Sanford was not at home at the time, and there was no one in the house to see what happened. He has two daughters, Miss May, a pretty young girl of fifteen, and a child of eight years. As the negro looked suspicious, Mrs. Sanford felt afraid of him, and, thinking to frighten him away, she told him that her husband was upstairs.

"Youse a fyin', he's down gone away," replied the negro, with an oath. "I tells you to come and bring dat melon down in the shed," and with that he made a spring at the woman, who turned and ran into the house shouting for help. When Miss May, in response to her mother's calls, the negro demanded in a surly tone to know where her father was.

Just as the brute was about to continue his attack a young man named Jones, who drives a wagon for Baker Beton, entered the store, and the negro fled, running down the alley. As soon as he learned of the negro's conduct Jones took after him, but he had already got out of sight. He had gone down the alley and entered the back yard of Mrs. S. F. Legge, at No. 219 1/2 street, which is surrounded by a high board fence, which prevented Mr. Jones from seeing what happened.

The child ran into the house and informed her mother, and Mrs. Chapple, who is Mrs. Legge's daughter, went to the door and saw the negro standing in the yard. She stepped into the yard the brute seized her with both hands and attempted to drag her back into one corner of the yard.

The young woman fought him desperately and managed to tear herself free. Her cries attracted the attention of her mother, Mrs. Legge, who, upon learning her daughter's danger, rushed out into the street for assistance. There she met young Jones, who was still looking for the culprit and he hastened in pursuit and was soon aided by a dozen men and boys. Through ally and over back yard fences they chased the fugitive out into B street where the negro jumped on a passing horse car and attempted to escape. The mob, however, was close at his heels, and setting him violently, dragged him from the car and finally succeeded in overpowering him for a time.

Park policeman Davis, attracted by the excitement of the chase, came up, and after a lively fight with the brute, during which he was compelled to use his baton liberally over the negro's head, he succeeded in securing him with a pair of handcuffs, and telephoned for a patrol wagon.

While waiting for the arrival of the patrol the negro made another desperate attempt to escape, and with the strength of a Samson he managed to break the handcuffs apart as though they had been nothing more than fragile weeds. While being placed in the wagon he made another effort to get away and this time attracted policemen Rink and Schraeder and gave them a thorough taste of his fighting man in the crowd were struck by the negro in his attempt to escape from them.

Upon reaching the station the negro first gave his name as John Pinetree and afterward changed it to Collins, so that he was entered on the blotter as John Pinetree, alias Collins. He is about twenty years old, of very stout build, weighs about 190 pounds, and is very black and has a vicious face. He says he is a tramp and came here yesterday from Baltimore. Further than that he would say nothing concerning himself. After he had been locked up the men in the crowd were sorry that they had not lynched the brute. Mrs. Sanford and Mrs. Chapple called at the station yesterday afternoon and identified the negro as their assailant and two charges of assault were entered against him.

WANT A TRUSTEE APPOINTED. To Take Charge of the Hotel Arno and Other Property.

William E. Fraill, Jr., and Gladys Earnest Knorr were yesterday made defendants in a suit entered by Jennie M. Fraill and others against the appointment of a trustee, who may be authorized to sell or lease the premises on Sixteenth street, near H, known as the Hotel Arno.

The contention is set forth that the complainants were given life interests in the estate by William E. Fraill and that the property was constructed and completed to administer it most advantageously it should be under one management.

Overcome by the Heat. William Simpson, colored, employed as a sewer inspector by the street department, was overcome by the heat shortly after noon yesterday on the corner of Four and a-half street and Pennsylvania avenue. The man was removed to his home, No. 426 P street northwest, in the Sixth precinct patrol wagon and a physician summoned. It was stated late yesterday afternoon that his condition was serious.

CANTY & CO. DEFENDANTS

Dr. Daniel McMurtrie Seeks to Recover Money From Them.

The Doctor Claims $4,775, Which He Alleges Is Due Him Because of Investments He Made.

Proceedings at law were instituted yesterday by Dr. Daniel McMurtrie against W. Van Sinden and Dennis Canty, formerly in the stock-ticking business here, to recover $4,775 for money which is alleged to be due and which the defendants refuse to pay.

Mr. Van Sinden, who was formerly private secretary to Secretary Carlisle, and Mr. Canty, who was a clerk in the interstate commerce commission, were indicted by the grand jury in June, 1897, for the alleged embezzlement of large sums of money aggregating over $10,000 from their customers. Their case comes up in the police court tomorrow.

Among those whom it is alleged they defrauded was Dr. McMurtrie, and he has instituted this suit to recover his losses. In his bill Dr. McMurtrie recites that the defendants, under the firm name of Canty & Co., were engaged in the business of stock-ticking during the month of August, 1897, prior to the 12th, they were employed by him as agents to purchase for him certain shares of stock, for which purpose he paid them $1,700.

On the 12th day of August they had in their possession these stocks, which, with the aid of his knowledge and consent, they sold and received payment therefor. That upon accounting of this sale there is due the plaintiff $4,775 after the deduction of all other expenses.

Canty & Co. is alleged, although requested to do so, have failed and refused to pay the amount alleged to be due, for which the plaintiff, therefore, brings suit.

THOMAS TO PREPARE A LAW. To Insure Safety at Railroad Crossings in the District.

Attorney for the District Thomas yesterday had a conference with the Commissioners regarding the numerous recent disasters at grade crossings, and gave it as his opinion that there is at present no law under which the railroad officials can be held. To be sure the District statutes say the gates must be kept down while trains are crossing, but they do not say by whom, and the men are relieved from duty at 9 o'clock in the evening, so that there is no way of fastening the responsibility. More than this, there is no penalty provided for an infraction of the law.

Mr. Thomas advanced the opinion that a law should be passed providing that no engineer shall pass a crossing unless the gates are down. This, he said, would enable the authorities to fix the blame when an accident occurred. He was instructed by the Commissioners to formulate his ideas upon the subject and submit them.

CURIOUS REAL ESTATE DEAL.

Alleged to Have Been Conveyed to Secure Bail-Bond Fee.

William J. Stewart yesterday entered suit against Robert T. Slater to recover a piece of real estate. He alleges that on July 16, 1897, he became indebted to Slater to the amount of $16.55, because the latter went on his bond in the police court.

On July 21 Slater told him that he must pay the money, and suggested that the plaintiff give him a deed of his real estate, and when the money should be paid he would convey it to him. The plaintiff conveyed his property as suggested on July 22, giving him a deed in fee simple to lot 25 and part of lot 24, square 822. On September 9 he tendered to Slater the amount due him, and also a deed in proper form for his acknowledgment, the intention being to recover the property. The defendant, it is alleged, refused to receive the money or acknowledge the deed.

The Baltimore letter carrier claims, which have been under consideration by the court of claims, have been decided in favor of the carriers and will be paid on September 22. The amount found due is $23,884. The Treasury Department has until September 22 to file notice of appeal. In looking into the case, the court had assistant Secretary Van Orsipel in order to the accounting officers to prepare the claims for payment, as no appeal will be taken.

ASSIGNED HIS BICYCLER. And Now Application for the Appointment of Receiver Is Made.

Suit was yesterday instituted by Thomas J. Sweeney, against Albert Sellers, a leading attorney, to have a receiver appointed to take charge of the effects of the plaintiff now in the hands of the defendant as assignee.

Mr. Sweeney, who was formerly a bicycle dealer in this city, on September 16, 1896, made an assignment to the defendant, Sellers. In his bill the plaintiff avers that in consequence of his assignment to give the defendant possession of all his property under the terms of a deed of trust. This property consisting of bicycles and office furniture, he alleged, were sold by the defendant and converted into cash.

The plaintiff further alleges the deed of trust was not signed by his wife, and is therefore void so far as it attempts to convey that portion of the property exempt by the law from levy and execution.

On July 24 last a judgment was obtained before Justice of the Peace Mills for $200, the amount claimed, which the defendant has not paid.

The latter concedes, it is further set forth, that he has in his possession the sum of $225, but the plaintiff believes and avers the amount of the debt made by the assignee to be in excess of that amount. Although a year has passed, no advance toward paying the claim has been made.

HECHT & COMPANY, "the credit givers," 515 Seventh St.

Friday will be a busy day

It will take on its old-time attractiveness. Some unusual purchases in ladies' muslin underwear, hosiery, corsets, etc., and the extraordinary cutting we have done in all the summer stuffs which yet remain—will make the day of such importance that you cannot afford not to be present.

We are giving credit to all reputable people—giving them what they want and accepting the payment for it in little weekly or monthly installments. We make the terms to suit you. This way of crediting has become wonderfully popular, because it makes buying so easy—because it's so liberal—and being easy and liberal, folks take advantage of it to whom the payment of cash would be impossible.

Corset Covers, 5c. With the big purchase of Ladies' Muslin Underwear, made the other day, we have a lot of Corset Covers, the same as are sold about town for 12 1/2c; have folded them, the Muslin is of a good quality. We bunch the lot at 5 cents.

Child's 13c hose, 7 1/2c On another table we shall have a lot of Children's Fast-Black Ribbed Hose, with double feet, with 7 1/2c for 13c pair about town at 7 1/2c pair. They came with the above lot and under price.

Magnets in Millinery Dept. Lot of Feather Quills, in all colors, for hats, will be put out a table at 1c each.
