Louisville, Ky., Aug. 27.—With four pitchers playing in the field, two catchers and a generally patched up team, the broken down and unlucky Senators gave the Colonels a big score this afternoon. As it is made up at present, the Washington team is reasonably the worst that ever represented a city in the National League, but the Colonels were lucky to defeat them after ten innings of play by the score of 4 to 2.

The Colonels made one in the first. Clark was hit by a pitched ball and scored on infield hits by Hoy and Dexter. Wagner and Ritchey also got on the bases, Dexter being forced, but neither was able to score.

In the fifth McGuire hit one at Cincinnati, Billy threw at the plate, and McGuire went out to second. He went to third on Donovan's long fly out to Hoy and scored on Killen's two-bagger down the left field foul line. Weyhing and Mercer flew out.

In the Colonels' half they made two scores. Hoy hit to left and Dexter beat out a bunt. They tried for a double steal, and Farrell threw the ball to centerfield. Hoy scoring and Dexter taking third. Decker followed with a safe drive to center, scoring Dexter. Decker stole second and went to third on Ritchey's game to Weyhing, but was thrown out at the plate.

The Senators resumed business in the ninth inning. After Farrell had gone, McGuire pitched and Decker, Anderson followed with a home run, the ball striking the center field fence near the club house. This tied the score. Killen went out from Cincinnati to Decker. Wagner put into bat for Weyhing. He singled past Wagner, but Mercer struck out.

The Colonels could do nothing in their half. A great stop of a double by Cincinnati spoiled Washington's chances in the tenth. In the last half Dexter was hit by a pitched ball, Wagner hit one at Killen, who threw badly to first, and Dexter took third. Decker singled and Dexter came in with the winning run. FINE SPORT AT SARATOGA.

Every Race But One Is Won in a Driving Finish. Saratoga, Aug. 27.—Although the Saratoga Racing Association offered a poor card to its patrons for the twenty-seventh and last day of the meeting, it produced the best sport that has been seen here any day since the meeting began, every race but one being won in a drive. A big crowd was present to witness the last day's sport and they went home all smiles and with their pockets full of money.

First race, two-year-olds, five furlongs—Champion, 12 to 1; won; Tyson second, Semper Leon third. Time, 1:34 3/4.

Second race, one mile and a furlong—Donna Rita, 11 to 1; won; Joe Miller second, Premier third. Time, 1:43 1/4.

Third race, seven furlongs—Prime Minister, even; won; Trinn second, Faraway third. Time, 1:26 1/4.

Fourth race, handicap, one mile—Bron Inon, 3 to 5; won; Oxnard second, Brighton third. Time, 1:43 1/2.

Fifth race, a mile and a furlong—Donna Rita, 11 to 1; won; Vanessa second, Squan third. Time, 1:37 1/2.

BIG BASEBALL DEAL ON

Scheme Afoot to Place Cleveland Club in Brooklyn.

MONEY MEN BEHIND IT

Frank Robinson, the Owner of the Indians, Looks With Favor Upon the Suggestion, and It Is Said That Albert L. Johnson Will Be Its Financial Backer.

The poor showing of the Brooklyn this season has not only disappointed thousands of local baseball enthusiasts, but has also aroused the envy of the big league magnates, who have all along appreciated the fact that a winner at Washington Park means increased receipts for all the clubs. As the Brooklyn club has never been a money-maker since the old days of the American Association, when the team won the championship, it is taken for granted that patrons of the club want a first-class team.

While various stories have been afloat this year regarding the disposition of the Cleveland club, this is the first time the plan of several influential league men to locate Tebeau and his men in Brooklyn has been made public. Frank De Haas Robinson has decided to take his fine ball team out of Cleveland at the end of the present season. Reports have been in circulation that he would either go to St. Louis or to Buffalo with Indianapolis as a successor to Cleveland if the Mount City should be chosen.

Now comes a scheme to put Tebeau's men in Brooklyn, Albert L. Johnson, who was the last manager of the club, is the organizer of the Players' League, assisted Abell and Ebbitts to build Washington Park this year. Robinson is one of Johnson's most intimate friends, and he is regarded as most fortunate by the magnates who want to see things boom in Brooklyn.

Robinson wants an inducement to come to Brooklyn, Johnson, the man with money, who wants to see a winner at Washington Park, may be the means of fixing up the deal. Two of the latter, in talking over the plan, said recently: "Robinson would jump at a chance to put his Cleveland team into Brooklyn, but, of course, he would not care to get the short end of the stick. We would like to see Robinson, Johnson, and a new club to be organized in Brooklyn, and we believe that it would be a success from the start."

"In case Johnson should look upon the scheme favorable he might be the one to pay a cash bonus to Robinson to bring the team to Washington Park. Abell and Ebbitts are also interested in the project, as a new club that would be calculated to make a barrel of money.

A team calculated to come near winning championship could be placed in the field."

AL SELBACH TALKS.

Defines What He Believes to Be the Duty of a Player to His Club. Al Selbach, who now sits on the hospital list, has ample time as his disposal to talk baseball, and as it is a theme in which he delights, he is always an interesting subject for the interviewer. Speaking to a Times representative, he said: "I first acquired a fondness for ball playing around the lots about Columbus, Ohio, where I spent all my idle time in learning the fine points of the game. Of course, the knowledge I received was of the kindergarten kind, yet in a mechanical way it was of great benefit to me in after years. I was always devoted to the game, and was never so happy as when I was with a winning nine."

"The scrappiest games of ball I ever participated in were those played upon the open lots, when a disputed play generally ended in a fight that resulted in bloody noses.

"I finally succeeded in establishing a local reputation and was given a chance upon a semi-professional club, where I acquired myself fairly well. I admit that I was 'stuck' on myself and that the baseball was buzzing in my bonnet, and I imagined that I was fitted for all sorts of work, consequently there is no chest expansion kept up with my aspirant and my assumption of being the real thing brought me into public notice.

"Finally Gus Schmelz, who was then manager of the Chattanooga team of the Southern League, and had been keeping me on my toes, came to me and offered me a place on his team, which, it is needless to say, I readily accepted. It was the realization of my dream to get into the game professionally, and the salary of $75 per month, which was dazzling to a kid who had always played for fun and glory, was a secondary consideration."

"Schmelz had got together a fast lot of youngsters, and under his careful and wise management, we soon took a prominent place in the Southern League, and had been keeping my aspirant on my toes, came to me and offered me a place on his team, which, it is needless to say, I readily accepted. It was the realization of my dream to get into the game professionally, and the salary of $75 per month, which was dazzling to a kid who had always played for fun and glory, was a secondary consideration."

WORLD'S RECORDS BROKEN

The Midget Was Beaten Thoroughly and Fairly—The 'Major's' Managers Challenge the Welshman to Ride From One to a Hundred Miles—The Time Was 1:44 1-5, 1:43 2-5 and 1:41 2-5.

New York, Aug. 27.—A colored man, Major Taylor, is now the cycling wonder. He gained a title to that appellation today by thoroughly beating Jimmy Michael in a race that established new records for the world.

It was one of the fiercest and yet prettiest contests seen on the Manhattan Beach track this season. The diminutive Welshman was fairly beaten.

Taylor rode faster than the midget did and shattered the idol that has so long been worshipped by the followers of cycling racing.

Early in the afternoon it was announced that a contract had been signed for a one-hour race on September 5 between Linton and Michael, with unlimited pace and the men to start from opposite sides of the track. The suspicious ones thought they saw in this a foretold victory for Michael over the colored man, and bet accordingly.

When the men started for the first mile heat, both had a hard strug to catch the five-seated pacing machines, of which each man had two. In the back stretch the chain on Taylor's pacing machine broke. No other was near to pick him up, and Michael rode home a winner by 150 yards.

In the second heat the men got away together, traveling abreast for two laps, Taylor striving to force to the front. In the third lap he opened up a gap of fifty yards which gradually widened to 100, and then seeing that he was hopelessly out of it, Michael sat up when he reached the fourth turn.

In the third heat, Taylor went to the front at the start and remained there, crossing the tape a quarter of a lap ahead. The time made in the heats are below all previous records.

In the third heat the world's record for one-third and two-thirds of a mile were broken.

After the race Taylor's managers challenged Michael to race him at any distance, from one to a thousand miles for from $5,000 to $10,000 a side. The summaries:

Two-mile L. A. W. championship professional—Final heat won by Bald; Cooper second, Freeman third, Kimball fourth, Gardiner fifth. Time, 4:38 3/5.
