VERY CLEVER, BUT—

A New Way in Which to Pay Social Debts.

"I don't know much of the ways of fashionable people," said a young physician to the "Cleveland Plain Dealer" reporter not long ago, "for I am not in society, but if many society women are like one I know here in town, I think I'm safer to be out of it. It was not this season, but it wasn't so long ago but that plenty of people can remember the circumstances. I had among my patients an elderly woman, who lived with the daughter's family. The daughter lived, if not beyond her means, at least up to the very edge, to be given a great deal, and entertained a great deal. The mother fell sick with a complaint which I knew would prove fatal. I did not know the lady until one day the daughter asked me to tell her frankly what her mother's condition was, and just how long she could live. I told her that the old lady didn't want her young daughters distressed, she said, of course, I told nobody, and just a week after that I read in the papers that Mrs. Dash, the daughter of my dying patient, had sent out invitations to a large dancing party, to be given on an evening a fortnight away. My patient did not live as long as I had expected. The day after she died I read in the papers that 'owing to the sudden death of her mother, Mrs. Dash had been compelled to recall her invitations. She had never intended to give a ball. She could not have afforded it and she bluffed.' I have cold shivers every time I see her."

Broomstick Arms.

The great trouble in the matter of sleeves for broomstick arms—sleeves for the coming season that are to be made of transparent or semi-transparent textiles. On French gowns these sleeves have, first, a closely-fitted lining, either of mull or tinted silk, which gleams delicately through the transparent fabric that is put on over this close lining, and arranged either in spiral-shaped puffs, those alternating with bands of insertion, or there are tucks of various widths, edged with very narrow lace, with lace straps set between a matching pattern. Where the forearm is shapely, the sleeve is then made close about the elbow and shirred diagonally with odd insertion bands or V-shaped pieces of embroidery set between. Where the upper is graceful but the forearm ugly, the material above the elbow fits the arm with great perfection; below it are set circling bands, lace-edged frills, or an inserted piece of trimming on the outside of the arm to form a graceful, graduated puff to be bordered with jeweled insertion or pleated chiffon.

ONEIDA BISCUIT

THE SOCIAL WORLD OF WASHINGTON

Several Weddings Arranged for the Coming Week.

Mrs. Westinghouse Will Aid the Children's Hospital.

A Grand Promenade Concert to Be Given at Blaine House Next Friday.

The Aladdin-like structure that sprang into sudden and splendid existence at the bidding of Mrs. Westinghouse, that she might fittingly express her matchless hospitality, will not disappear until it has paid tribute to a charity dear to her generous heart. On next Friday evening Blaine House will be graciously placed at the disposal of the managers of the Children's Hospital for a promenade concert, for the benefit of that institution. The hostess will not only open her beautiful home—including the fairy salon with its wonderful decorations—but she has also offered to supply the music for the occasion and the refreshments which will be sold.

Representative and Mrs. Pitt entertained at dinner last night.

Miss Harriet Ward and her fiancé, Mr. Chandler Parsons Anderson, were entertained at a 5 o'clock tea on Friday afternoon at "Westover," the out-of-town home of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. Allen W. Mallory entertained a number of friends at luncheon at the Pines, Kentworth, D. C., on Friday. Her guests were Mrs. William C. Lewis, Mrs. G. Franklin Lippitt, Miss Mallory, Mrs. Edw. Pickford, Miss Randolph Hopkins, Miss Margaret Lewis, Mrs. Julius A. Ford, Mrs. William A. Esterday, and Mrs. Herbert Esterday.

Gen. and Mrs. S. S. Sumner will sail Wednesday for London, where the former goes to join the United States Embassy as military attaché.

Miss Vivian Sartoris has returned from her visit to England, where she went in the early spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Shaw, of Kentworth, D. C., gave a housewarming last evening. The house and lawns were tastefully decorated with palms and flowers and lighted by Chinese lanterns. The entertainment took the form of a country dance, and all present spent a most enjoyable evening. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Sheriff, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Cruse, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Voorhees, Mr. and Mrs. John Brightwell, Mr. and Mrs. Allen W. Mallory, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor, Miss Louisa Bell, Miss Brightwell, Miss Louisa Brightwell, Miss Lottie Miller, Miss Mattie Donald, Miss Daisy Cruse, Miss Wallace, Miss Lucretia Elderly, Miss Florence Eaden, Miss Bertie Clark, Miss Mallory, and Messrs. James Thirlie, Levi Burt, Pinkney Walker, John Brightwell, and Robert Shaw.

One of the pleasant events of the past week was the reception given last Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. George B. Sieton to the members of the Mayflower Society and other friends. The "Palmyra of the Puritans and Pilgrims" formed the theme of an interesting address by Mr. Sieton, which was made additionally attractive by the characteristic piano illustrations of Miss Boutelle. The guests were Admiral and Mrs. Bradford, Mr. W. L. Marsh, Miss Marsh, Dr. and Mrs. Marcus Benjamin, Mrs. F. F. Fletcher, Miss Boutelle, Mrs. W. H. Claffin, Miss Rodgers and Miss Avery, of Boston; Mr. T. S. Hopkins, Miss Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. A. Howard Clark, Mrs. Robinson, Miss Mary E. Terry, Miss Hattie L. Alden, Miss Isabel Chamberlin, Mr. A. A. Applewall, Mr. W. P. Metcalf, Mr. F. B. Smith, Mr. H. W. Van Dyke, Rev. John L. Ewell, Dr. George L. Fox, Mr. Edwin A. Hill, and Mr. W. W. Case.

The boarded front is beginning to assert itself in the climate of this city. There is no denying the fact that Washington is an ideal city to spend the summer in if nothing better offers, but its

"Piano Bargains."

PIANOS That Are Known!

For over forty years our establishment has handled only standard and reputable goods, such as could be guaranteed by the manufacturers and upon which they were NOT ASHAMED to put their names. During the past season we have had out on rent a large number of these instruments. Many of these are now being returned by parties leaving town. We must make immediate room for our new fall stock, and to that end shall make the following extremely low quotations:

- $350 Poole Piano, white Mahogany $400
$350 Poole Piano, dark Mahogany $275
$450 Gabler Piano, Ebonized $375
$450 Gabler Piano, Walnut $400

wide, tree-shaded streets, its avenues, winding country roads, and its verdant Potomac present very tempting inducements for anyone who can get away from them—even if the change means an over-crowded train, whose chief diversion is the postoffice and a dotted road or half the distance across the stubble fields.

There is a desolate something about a boarded-up front that conjures up such uncanny suggestions that if they were typewritten and "submitted" for publication, literature would not be called upon to depict for its horrors quite so exclusively on Poe. The trouble may be that it is a blessing—is that the harrowing little fancies born of a summer twilight walk along a deserted thoroughfare of the West End are seldom of the nature of the imprisoned in copy. They fit about the imagination like bats in the dusk, and when you try to catch them—but who ever succeeded in catching a bat?—the old "Corcoran mansion" looks, on the whole, more dreamy than gloomy, despite its sealed doors and impenetrable frontage of green curtains. Perhaps the nearby hotels and the fire-whizzing cars have taken the edge of its loneliness, and perhaps, again, it owes its exemption from the forsaken, mildewy banishment of the deserted to the fact that its rambling old garden full of yewhedge and fragrant bushes, where sunshine and shadow dance all day to the music of the manager's rattle, and that Senator Dewey was charmed with the grounds at first sight, and closed his siege of househunting there and then. Naturally, there has been a considerable amount of discussion as to where the new Spanish Minister and the Duchess d'Arcoz will reside. Seemingly, the old Lowery homestead is out of the question, and among other houses reported as a possible selection is the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Pollock, in Connecticut Avenue and I Street. Whether the report be true is quite another story.

The Mexican Ambassador and Mrs. Apizaco will give a dinner Tuesday evening in honor of the Secretary of State and Mrs. Hay.

A wedding of special social interest to take place this week will be that of Miss Harriet Sara Ward to Mr. Chandler Parsons Anderson, New York, which will be solemnized at St. John's Church Wednesday at noon. There will be a wedding breakfast served at the residence of Mrs. Ward, the bride's grandmother, to which only the bridal party, relatives and personal friends have been invited.

The marriage of Miss Emily W. Norvell to Dr. E. Oliver Belt will take place next Thursday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Mrs. William F. Mattiny expects to spend the early part of the summer at Port Wayne, Detroit, with Lieutenant and Mrs. Breckinridge, and the remainder of the season with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat Falne, at Beverly, Mass., where they have taken a cottage for the summer months.

Though the Vice President is growing stronger every day, he has not arranged the date of his departure for Long Branch, but will remain in Washington as long as his weaker condition permits. For the first time in years the green wood boxes that rim the balcony of the handsome old residence on Lafayette Street, which has been the scene of so many of his sunny days in midsummer it has been refreshing to catch a glimpse of their bloom and a whiff of their fragrance, but the balcony garden was forgotten in the anxiety attendant upon the illness of the master of the house.

Miss Elizabeth Wilson and Mr. A. H. A. Medford were married Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Aloysius Church. The ceremony was solemnized with a nuptial mass, both being performed by Rev. Father Conway S. J. of Georgetown University. The bride was stylishly attired for traveling in light gray, and the groom in a dark suit. The wedding party was made up of the bride's sister, Mrs. McCloskey, 465 K Street northwest, and later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Medford left to visit relatives at Hughesville. The ceremony will remain two weeks. Upon their return they will reside within the grounds of the university, with which the groom is connected in a business capacity.

Miss Margaret Roycroft, of Baltimore, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ewell, 2801 Prospect Avenue, left for home yesterday.

Last week a cablegram from Simla announced the indisposition of the Viceroy, Mr. Robinson, being in India, which is anything but an ailment in keeping with so exalted a position, and now comes another dispatch to the effect that Lord Curzon, who has been in the city in the last few days, is unable to leave for India. The news does not agree with him in the least. Perhaps it is all an exaggeration—cablegrams have been known to do that sort of thing—and all events there is a cheerful little tag and a rather delightful news to the effect that the Misses Letter are having a lovely time, and that Miss Daisy has a devoted admirer in an English nobleman, who is able to keep the Viceroy. The advice does not state whether or not the Misses Letter have had a ride on the silver gray elephant that a previous dispatch described as having been selected especially for their use.

Dr. and Mrs. Clinton Cushing will sail for Europe about the middle of this month. Last year was spent by them in travel through Japan, and the pair of beautiful, queer blue and white china vases in the garden of their pretty home in I Street suggests to the passerby that they must have been brought from the way-off kingdom of the chrysanthemum, together with the native embroidered draperies and precious curios in old ivory and lacquer ware that so artistically adorn the interior of their home.

Mrs. Walker entertained at a dinner for young people last night in compliment to her house guest, Miss Beatrice Bell, of Philadelphia. Among those gathered around the flower-decked table were Miss Bell, Miss Hamilton, Miss Virginia Middleton, Miss Josephine Mitchell, Mr. J. E. Downs, Dr. Merton, Mr. James Walker, and Mr. Lawrence Bell.

Miss Stella M. Ireland, of Atlantic City, is visiting her cousin, Miss Katherine Nottingham.

GOOD LUCK!

The Most Gigantic Single Purchase of Ladies' Muslin Underwear Ever Recorded.

A lucky chance placed in our buyer's path a quiet tip that the reliable firm of Henry Lewis & Co., 68 Wooster Street, New York, who are deservedly popular as specialists in Ladies' Muslin Underwear, whose goods are favorably known throughout the land as a standard of excellence in style, workmanship, and finish, were about to unload in a single sale their entire stock of this season's muslin underwear. Washington was unthought of as a market, a larger city was expected to catch the plums, but our buyer made a plunge and secured the entire mammoth stock at prices that we little hoped to have made us. Our luck is also your good fortune, as we commence Monday at 8 a. m. to place on sale as much of the enormous lot as we can unpack and conveniently find room for. The prices that we name will delight the hearts of even the closest buyers.

Decided hits in the professional world last season, and have made their names synonymous for all there is good in music. Homer Lind is probably the most successful of these. He commenced with the American Theatre, in New York, only a short time ago, and rapidly became the leading baritone and a general favorite. He was compelled to leave the parts that William Stewart made popular, and he filled these roles to the satisfaction of everyone, gaining great credit for himself. D. M. Lumden, who was at one time a popular local singer, is here this week with Wilton Lackaye. Mr. Lumden sings in the quartette with Messrs. Lackaye and Ernest, and has been very successful on the road. Arthur Ernest, another well known local vocalist, is also in this quartette. He has been in this city all winter, but will probably stay with the Lackaye company until it finishes its season.

The Columbia Musical Society and Dramatic Club gave a very enjoyable entertainment last night at the Carroll Institute. The programme included a number of vocal and instrumental selections, besides the enactment of two one-act plays by the members of the dramatic club. The musical feature of the programme was very pleasing, and included a number of selections of the best class of music. Both of these organizations are made up of pupils of the Lawrence School of Music and Elocution, and last night's performance was given at the request of the friends of the school. The affair was under the personal direction of Prof. George W. Lawrence.

The order of services at the Calvary Baptist Church this evening will include one of the best musical programmes that has been given in the churches of Washington, except on special occasions, for a long time. Prof. Frank Gebert will play Duetty Buck's "On the Coast," as an organ prelude, which will be followed by Rossini's "Inflammatus Accensus," by Mrs. Kittle Thompson-Berry and the full choir. The remainder of the programme will include Gounod's "Sanctus," Schubert's "Andante," from the symphony in C. "All Praise to God in Light Arrayed," from Lohengrin, and "Jubilate Deo," from Tanzehauser. The soloists will be Mrs.

Berry, Miss Florence McNally, W. D. McFarland, and J. D. McFall.

The musical entertainment held under the auspices of the Knights of Honor at the National Hippodrome Monday evening, was one of the most successful affairs of the kind that has been given by this organization. The programme included solos by Miss Mary Vails, Jasper Dean McFall, and J. M. Reinin, besides a number of selections by the Brigade Band orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Donald B. MacLeod.

The last concert of the National Guard Brigade Band, under the direction of Lieutenant MacLeod, of the present season, was given at National Hippodrome Monday evening. The band has improved a great deal in the last few months, and the performance of Monday night eclipsed all previous efforts. The programme offered was one of the most varied brass band programmes that was ever presented in this city, and all of the numbers were rendered with an artistic excellence that places the band in a very high position among the concert bands of the country. The idea that nothing but quicksteps and heavy choruses can be played properly by a brass band has been exploded by Sousa, so that the programme offered by Prof. MacLeod did not excite any wonderment. Some of the music given was of even a souter nature than has been attempted by the March King and his company of military musicians. Tobani's "Hearts and Flowers," which is one of the most beautiful of that master's compositions, was played with an expression seldom heard where brass is used, and Schumann's "Romance," of the same class, was equally well rendered. A composition of the leader of the band, called the "Fence Jubilee March," was played for the first time as the fifth number on the programme, and the applause was so great that the march was given again as an encore. The soloists of the occasion were Herndon Morsell and Guy Hoppe.

Miss Alma Spoot will play the piano accompaniments at the May ball, to be given by Miss Minnie Haskie at the Lafayette Theatre this week.
