

Lansburgh & Bro.,

Washington's Favorite Store.

Here Are Bargains You Simply Cannot Afford to Overlook.

Bargain Table Specials.

Tomorrow morning we will place on sale on large table opposite transfer counter two cases of Linen Novelties for Waives and full suits. These are manufacturers' stock ends and run in lengths from 2 to 10 yards, and we claim this the greatest bargain ever offered in the Washington public. These are actual values. For a quick clearing we've marked them.

7 1/2 yard. 7 1/2 yard.

Undermuslins at Special Prices.

Skirt. 69 cents. Ladies' Cambric Skirts, with 2-inch hem and long row of lace insertion—full ruffle and all lengths.

Gown. 50 cents. Ladies' Muslin Gowns, surplus or high neck, inserted yoke, some trimmed with tucks and insertion—extra.

Corset Comfort Cheap. 49 cents. For one lot of Corsets, made of net and jean—extra long waist, short hips—low bust, trimmed with lace. All sizes.

Hats for the Children Cheap. 43 cents. For Children's Mull and Straw Hats, either simple crown or wide-brimmed—these are 75c hats. Special, 43c.

LADIES' FEATHER-WEIGHT UNDERWEAR CHEAP. 9 cents. 21 cents. For Ladies' Richelieu Vests, ribbed, with low neck and no sleeves—regular 15c value, at 9c.

Lansburgh & Bro.,

420 to 426 Seventh Street.

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Dinner Guests Entertained at the British Embassy.

A River Party on Board the Sylph and a Garden Party at the Residence of Mrs. Hubbard Made Up the Attractions of Yesterday Afternoon and Night—Other Timely Topics.

The British Ambassador and Lady Pauncefoot entertained last night at a dinner, when their guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Robbins of New York, who are the guests of Lord and Lady Pauncefoot; the Russian Ambassador, Count Cassini; Mlle. Cassini; the Swiss Minister, M. Pioda; Mr. and Mrs. Lowndes, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Thron, the Countess von Moltke, the Argentine Minister and Mme. Wilde, Miss Ernst, the Hon. Sybil Pauncefoot, the Hon. Audrey Pauncefoot, Count Tarnowski, Prince Troubetsky, and Mr. Clives Bailey, British Consul at New York, who is also a guest at the embassy.

A trip down the river on board the Sylph was the pleasant method taken by Rear Admiral and Mrs. Crowninshield of entertaining a number of their friends yesterday afternoon. The same yacht was the setting for a lake hospital earlier in the week, when the Secretary of the Navy gave a cabin dinner on board in honor of the President and Mrs. McKinley.

The garden party given under the auspices of the Aid Association for the Blind Friday afternoon and evening in the grounds of Mrs. Gardiner G. Hubbard's residence in Dupont Circle was such a success that the ladies composing the ways and means committee, who were in direct charge of the entertainment, decided to repeat it yesterday at the same hours and place. Neither evening was really adapted for garden fetes, but notwithstanding the threatening clouds of Friday and the chilly breezes of yesterday a generous sum was the result of the efforts of the association and the generosity of the guests.

On Friday evening Miss Alleen Bell dispensed hot tea at a table set with rare old silver and beautiful china loaned by Mrs. Graham Bell. Mrs. John Ruster Young was in charge of the ice cream table, Miss Satterlee of the flower booth, and Miss Hopkins of the candies. Assisting and adding no little to the success of the occasion were the ladies of the association and a corps of attractive young girls.

Among the patrons of the evening were Mrs. Burrows, Mrs. Hainsworth, Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Graham Bell, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Couden, and Mrs. Hubbard. Mrs. Westinghouse, Chief Justice Fuller, and Justice Brewer sent donations of money that covered every expense of both evenings, and other friends of the blind sent leeks and beautiful flowers.

Former Commissioner John B. Wright's trip to southern California and Alaska is the consummation of years of anticipation, the visit being postponed each summer because of official duties or personal business affairs. He proposes to include Cape Nome in his travels, and when he left last week had no doubt as to the return of his general expectation of being ready for his homeward trip about the early autumn.

Mrs. Wright and her young son will leave early in June for the family summer home at Martha's Vineyard.

The Swedish Minister, Mr. Grip, will sail for Europe next Wednesday on the New York to spend his vacation in his native land. Other travelers registered for passage on the same steamship are Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Croftroth of this city.

Mrs. Horstmann will close her Washington residence this week, and with the Misses Horstmann will go to their summer place at Deer Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Colton will spend the summer at East Gloucester, Mass.

Mrs. Louis P. Shoemaker, Brightwood Avenue, will receive informally Wednesdays in May and June from 4 until 8 o'clock.

The marriage of Miss Sadie F. Brown and Mr. James Kirk, the latter of Chicago, will take place June 27.

Mrs. McGrew has gone for a short visit to her daughter, Mrs. Money, in Columbus, Ohio.

Gen. and Mrs. Ellis Spear have gone to their home in Maine.

The marriage of Miss Eleanor Vinton Clark of this city and Boston, to Dr. Murray will be solemnized early in the summer at the Clark estate, which is one of the show places of Pomfret, Conn.

Mrs. John S. Ward and her granddaughter, Miss Alice Ward, will sail next month for a summer of travel abroad.

Narransett Pier promises to retain its popularity as a summer home for members of the Diplomatic Corps. The Minister from Brazil and Senora Assis-Brazil have already opened their cottage at that resort, and among others expected to occupy cottages are the Minister from Chile and Senora Irujo, and the Minister from Costa Rica and Mme. Calvo.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Barnes have issued cards to the marriage of their daughter, Beulah Benton, to Mr. George A. Weaver, on June 6, at 8:20 o'clock, 2423 Third Street.

M. de Wollant, First Secretary of the Russian Embassy, who will be in charge during the absence of the Ambassador, who will be in the city on Friday evening. Miss Azeez will probably spend the early summer at Bedford Springs. He will be accompanied by Mrs. de Wollant, who is translating one of her husband's works from the Russian.

Mr. Henry White, First Secretary of the American Embassy at London, has sailed for Europe to join Mrs. White, who is again seriously ill.

Mrs. Gallinger, wife of the Senator from New Hampshire, who spent the winter season at the Dewey, has gone to New England, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Harry A. Norton, of Cambridge, Mass., who has been in the city for her parents at the hotel for the past month.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay F. Bancroft, Mrs. W. T. Day, Miss Elizabeth Day and Master Elliott Day sailed for Europe Wednesday on the Westernland.

Mrs. William Vant Zant Cox will be at home to her friends next Thursday afternoon at her home, "Emery Place," in the country.

The marriage of Miss Julia Gerlach to Lieut. Edwin Bell of the Eighth United States Infantry will take place in the early autumn.

One of the prettiest dancing events of the spring was the sixteenth annual ball given by Mrs. Flora G. Dyer at the National Elks Hall on last Friday evening. Owing to the serious illness of Mrs. Dyer the ball was postponed from the date first arranged, and for that reason a number of the pupils were unable to appear in town to fill their places in the beautiful pageant that always marks the triumphant entry and crowning of the queen. Nothing could have been lovelier, however, than the procession of fairies, flowers, courtiers, and small maids of honor who escorted their chosen soverign to the gold and emerald throne. Led by a small, picturesque Goddess of Liberty bearing the Stars and Stripes, Miss Nina Van Arsdale, in a train of white satin, made a sturdy queen, and her maids were Miss Kathleen Bitter and Miss Cora Jones. The other members of her court were: Goddess of Liberty, Miss Emma Wamaling; Herald, Master Chester Caywood; crown bearer, Miss Elizabeth Forney; sceptre bearer, Miss Dorothy Hanover; fairies, Miss Lula Gerard, Miss Al Louise Hendricks, Miss Una Galloway, and Miss Mary Harlow. Among the other maids of honor were Miss Margaret Betz, Bessy Tiffany, Katherine Clemmens, Helen Galloway, Caroline Williams, Edna Hanover, Grace Noble, George Knox, Louis Gorr, Kathleen Bitter, Eather Green, Pauline Johnson, Virginia Wheat, Cora Jones, Katherine Ralph, and Marguerite Nailor; Harry Galloway, Herbert Wamaling, Neal Finch, master of ceremonies, and Galloway, the conclusion of the programme of fancy dancing the floor was given up to adults, who finished the evening with a merry measure which they tripped to the music of Haley's band.

Receptions were the chief diversion of last week, which would have been dull, indeed, without them. On Wednesday evening the President and Mrs. McKinley received the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine and their wives and friends who accompanied them to the convention, and on the same evening the delegation in Congress from Pennsylvania were entertained by Representative and Mrs. Dalsell. Senators and Mrs. Edmunds, Mr. and Mrs. West Virginia on Wednesday afternoon, and a number were entertained at dinner by various hosts and hostesses on each of the evenings of their stay in Washington. The evening of the South were also the recipients of a succession of unofficial courtesies, the most important being the informal luncheon given in their honor by the Secretary of State and Mrs. Hay. On Tuesday evening they were guests at a dinner given by Senator and Mrs. Pettigrew, the additional company including General and Mrs. Henderson, Representative and Mrs. Rixey of Virginia, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Croft, and Mr. and Mrs. George C. Gorham.

The Queen's birthday did not bring us "Queen's weather," for nothing could be more cheerless than Thursday's ceaseless rain. The occasion was celebrated in the usual patriotic and hospitable manner by the British Embassy, however, by the Ambassador and Lady Pauncefoot, who entertained the gentlemen of the embassy staff and other friends at a dinner, at which both host and hostess and their guests drank Her Majesty's good health.

It could not be expected that wise young people would refrain from marrying in May for fear of being happy for only "a year and a day," would risk their matrimonial prospects of wedding on a Friday. And June begins with that fatal day this year, which accounts for the inauspicious opening of the month that Hymen claims prominently as his own. On the 1st of June, last year, the air was fragrant with shower bouquets, and the organs of half the churches in the city were playing a small amount of exaggeration—were pealing out marches from Mendelssohn and "Lobengrin." Miss Clark, the daughter of Senator Clark of Montana, has no fear of the folk-munitions who have blasted the prospects of May as a wedding month. Her marriage to Dr. Morris will occur in New York tomorrow at noon, and according to the society chroniclers of the city, the bride is not known. Her father's name will be as gorgeous as, though the event were under the exclusive management of the gen custodian of Aladdin's Lamp. Invitations to Washington guests include cards to St. Thomas Church, where the ceremony will be performed, and to the reception which is to follow. The original date chosen was June 18, but as Senator Clark's affairs require his presence in Montana at the first of the month, it was decided to hasten the event rather than postpone it.

Miss Clark's attendants will be her sister, Mrs. Everett Mallory Culver, city, the favored matron of honor, and two bridesmaids, Miss Mai Plouts, of Butte City, Mont., and Miss Christine Pomeroy, of California, a niece of Dr. Morris.

The best man selected is Mr. William M. Harriman, of New York, and the usher, will be Dr. Everett Mallory Culver, who married the bride's sister, Dr. Charles T. Parker, and Messrs. Newton Morris, Wirt Howe, William A. Clark, jr., and G. Franklyn Lawrence. Mr. Frederick S. Young, who had expected to act as one of the ushers, is in Arizona and will not be able to reach here in time for the marriage, so he is replaced by Mr. Lawrence.

A part of the honeymoon of Dr. Morris and his bride will be passed in yachting along the English coast, and will include a number of the most beautiful and interesting details of one writer as pretty sure to be followed by the whole of the country. Reading, though there is always what dear Jane Austen used to call an "inward feeling" that neither story is true.

According to a reliable authority, however, Miss Clark's gown of gowns is to be a creation of straight lines, unbroken from the throat to the hem of the garment save for the slight curve of the fitting of the dress. Only two materials enter into its composition—ivory white satin and rose or round point—each of the most beautiful and most worn by a New York bride is the extremely valuable rose point lace shawl, which covers the entire dress with the exception of the sleeves and train. The point of the shawl is at the throat, and it slopes down over the figure, without belt at the waist, to the very feet of the bride. The two ends of the lace shawl are caught at the side of the train, which is a full court train of white satin without trim-

The Saks Stores

Pennsylvania Avenue and Seventh Street.

A Tremendous Sacrifice In Highest-Grade Silks.

It's a straight-out sacrifice made upon Silks taken from our own regular stock. The very finest qualities. Patterns that are all exclusive and exceptionally choice. There are upwards of 3,000 yards—that for some reason have not sold as rapidly as they should. But whatever the cause, it's not a lack of quality. Neither shall we permit them to go over into next season—nor wait until the last moment of this to cut them. We'll face this loss NOW.

Beginning TOMORROW MORNING you shall have choice of these 3,000 yards of Handsome Plaids, Stripes, Corded Effects, Pompadour, and Lace Designs, in Silk that "will stand alone," the actual prices of which have been $1, $1.25, $1.50, and $2 a yard, for—

48¢ A Yard

Saks & Company.

There's No Betterment of Corby's "Mother's Bread."

Everything in the way of modern equipment for successful bread-making and baking will be found in our bakery.

Expense is not spared in buying the materials out of which this delicious bread is made.

We employ only skilled bakers—pay them liberally—train them right—so as a result secure their best efforts.

You'll find it "MOTHER'S BREAD" a bread easily digested and rich in nutritive value.

Secure "MOTHER'S BREAD" of your grocer—he sells it. Refuse substitutes. Every loaf stamped.

Corby's Modern Bakery,

2335 Brightwood Ave.

KNABE Pianos

Other Make Uprights at All Prices. PIANOS FOR RENT.

Wm. Knabe & Co.,

1209 Pa. Ave. N. W.

VERO DENTISTS,

117th St. and Pa. Ave. (Over Davis' Hat Store).

BEAUTIFUL SET OF TEETH, $4. Best made. 22-carat gold crown, $3.50. Gold fillings, 75c up. Teeth extracted without pain, etc. Our prices lower, because of low office expense.

DR. PATTON, Dentist, 1212 Twelfth St. N. W.

Haines' Washington Store,

Penna. Ave. and 6th St. S. E.

Open Until 11 o'clock Saturday Nights, But Closed All Day Sundays.

The Acme Dental Parlors.

Cleanliness, Comfort, Satisfaction. It will pay you to investigate our prices before going elsewhere.

Acme Dentists.

OPEN SUNDAYS. 808 F St. N. W., Second Floor.

Moths, MOTH EGGS AND MICROBES effectually destroyed from carpets, rugs, etc., by our newly patented process of CLEANING, DISINFECTING and RENOVATING NATIONAL STEAM CARPET CLEANING CO. Office—Room 22, Le Droit Building.

Evans Dental Parlors

Established 1899.

1309 F Street N. W.

BRANCH OFFICE, 307 7th St. N. W.

ENTERTAINED BY GRADUATES.

Exercises at the Washington College for Young Ladies.

The students of the Washington College for young ladies entertained their friends in a most delightful manner last evening. It was the second entertainment given in connection with the commencement exercises, which will be concluded tomorrow night, when the members of the graduating class will be presented with their diplomas by Senator Depew. The programme rendered last evening consisted of a number of instrumental and vocal selections which were sung and played in excellent style and justly merited the generous applause bestowed upon the performers.

The friends of those who contributed to the entertainment had provided a wealth of floral offerings which it was their intention to have presented to the individual performers while on the stage, but at the request of the president of the institution the flowers were not presented until after the last number of the programme was concluded.

The programme consisted of the following numbers:

Piano Quartet—Overture, "Don Giovanni"; Mozart Misses Prescoe, Crowley, Murray, and Berner; Vocal Duet—"Where Thou Wilt"; E. Beckert; Misses Mary Murray, Berner, and Beckert; Piano Solo—"Air de Ballet, in G major"; Chambliss; Miss Margie Lovejoy.

Song—"Memories"; Miss Flora Zisch; Piano Solo—"Kameral Overture"; Rubinstein; Miss Flora Jones; Song—"An Open Secret"; Woodman; Miss Bessie Williamson; Piano Quartet—"Spring"; and "In the Hall of the Mountain King"; Misses Prescoe, Crowley, Murray, and Berner; Song—"Spring's Awakening"; Hanley; Piano Solo—"Capriccio levandino"; Mendelssohn; Miss Mary Murray, second piano; Mr. Ralph; Vocal Duet—"Piano Solo"; Misses Berner, Chambliss, Misses Dougherty and Lovejoy; Piano Solo—"Variation"; Grigg; Miss Cora Bennett; Song—"Rose Tree"; Cannon; Violin Solo—Hungarian Rhapsody; Hanes; Miss Bessie Dougherty; Piano Duo—"Gavotte"; Pirani; Chorus—"Waves of the Danube"; Jamini Kros; Solo—"Waltz"; Miss Lovejoy.

An interesting part of the commencement exercises took place yesterday morning in the college assembly room. The programme consisted of a number of talks by the members of the graduating class, and were known as "class day exercises." The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan.

A pleasant feature of the exercises was "the planting of the ivy" by Miss Edith Tate, of Kansas, during which a song, written for the occasion by Miss Dorothy May Turner, of Ohio, was sung by the class. The class prophecy was read by Miss Daisy Graves, of Missouri.

The history of the class was told by Miss Marie T. Azeez, of Syria, who spoke of the pleasure which the recall of incidents of college life would bring to her in coming years in her home in the East. The class address was delivered by Miss May Jean Francis, of Ohio, and the response was by Miss Coral Wilson, a member of the junior class. A brief address was also made by Rev. Dr. George Duncan