

TOO SEVERE ON HAZERS

The Senate Rejects the Conference Committee's Report.

The Amendment to the Military Academy Bill the Subject of a Warm Debate—Disfranchisement Considered Too Harsh a Penalty—The Practice Generally Condemned

The Senate yesterday devoted over five hours to the discussion of the conference report on the Military Academy bill. The amendment providing that any cadet found guilty of hazing shall be dismissed from the Academy and forever barred from entering the army or navy or holding a position under the Government passed a vote of 54 to 46.

Mr. Pettus argued that the provision in question was unconstitutional. Mr. Butler also opposed the provision, although he did not consider it unconstitutional. He objected that there was no active definition of hazing. He had been hazed at college himself, and it had done him no harm.

Mr. Hawley, Chairman of the Military Committee, expressed the opinion that the penalty for hazing should go no further than expulsion from the Academy with a prohibition of re-entry. He thought that the penalty of the bill was too severe.

Mr. Depew said that the case was one where action had taken place under public animus and under impulse rather than judgment. The whole country agreed that hazing at West Point as developed in the testimony should be prohibited. But under the provisions of the bill, the young men in that institution, it was all right, as proposed that the cadet convicted of hazing should be dismissed, but that he should be excluded from appointment in the Army or Navy or Marine Corps. It was possible to conceive cases where the sneaks and cowards of the institution might conspire against an unpopular student, or against one more successful than themselves and post him as a criminal for the rest of his days.

Mr. Proctor spoke against the amendment, saying that it was too strong. Mr. Chandler said that he wanted the amendment modified, making the punishment last for only five or ten years.

Mr. Allen said that he would be satisfied with ten years' punishment, although some of the cadets had been guilty of felony.

Mr. Spooner argued that the boys should not be disfranchised for life. Mr. Kenney agreed to a ten-year limit. Mr. Allen read the conference report and spoke in favor of its adoption.

Mr. Spooner spoke at length against the amendment as too severe. Mr. Teller favored legislation against hazing, but did not deem it wise to make the punishment too severe.

Mr. Lodge agreed to an amendment as cruel. He said that it placed the cadets at the mercy of all tale-bearers, and was too extreme. He held that the West Point cadets were no better than those in any other university. He praised the school which had turned out Grant and Lee and Sherman.

Mr. McComber said that the amendment would prevent the murderers of Boozie from becoming commanders in the United States Army.

Mr. Wolcott spoke against the amendment as tending to make "milk sops and pigs" out of the cadets. They were not school children, he said, and should not be treated as such.

Mr. Hale argued against the amendment and against the action of the conferees. He said that the intention was to make a corps of spies and sneaks do duty at West Point.

Mr. Hale favored sending back the conference report and having a properly limited provision for the subject. "We have made a tremendous uproar over this matter," he declared, "as if there was no such set of malefactors on the face of the globe as the students at West Point."

Mr. Money argued in favor of the conference report, and indulged in a fierce denunciation of the hazers of West Point. He would not disparage West Point, but he thought that the country could get along without it. In the recent wars, and in all the wars of the country, the volunteers had not been so numerous as the grandeur and courage of the American people—and not the regulars.

During a pause in the discussion the liver and harrier bill was reported, and notice was given by Mr. Nelson that he would call it up as soon as possible.

Mr. Daniel opposed the conference report, which, he said, was an illustration of the old maxim that "hard cases make bad laws." He doubted if there could be found a population of 450 young men in any town or township in America whom there was such good order and social discipline as at West Point. It was a reproach, he said, on American civilization to characterize these boys that had grown up from the best American homes as perverted by a brutal spirit. He ridiculed the "maudlin sentimentalism" which wanted to place West Point cadets under a military law, and which "called upon all the gods at once to come and go and catch a boy, because he had hit another boy too hard in a fight."

Mr. Tillman, referring to his allusion to West Point cadets as "dogs" and "brutes" said that he almost felt ready to apologize for such a comparison, because no big dog would ever abuse a little pig.

Finally, after a discussion lasting over five hours, the conference report was rejected, yeas 42, nays 52. The vote follows: Yeas—Allen, Carter, Cockrell, Hanna, Hatcher, Hendon, Kyles, McLaurin, Money, Nelson, Pennington, Pittman, Simon, Sullivan, Teller, Tillman, and Wolcott.

Nays—Allison, Bacon, Baile, Berry, Butler, Caffery, Chandler, Clapp, Clay, Cullerson, Coffey, Daniel, DeLoach, Depew, Doolittle, Fairbank, Foster, Fry, Gurnea, Hawley, Jones of Arkansas, Kearns, Lindsay, Lodge, McComber, McCumber, McMillan, McMillan, Morgan, Perkins, Platt, of Connecticut, Prichard, Reardon, Ransom, of Tennessee, Stewart, Thurston, Turley, Vest, Wetmore, and Wolcott.

A new conference was ordered, and the conference report was rejected, yeas 42, nays 52. The vote follows: Yeas—Allen, Carter, Cockrell, Hanna, Hatcher, Hendon, Kyles, McLaurin, Money, Nelson, Pennington, Pittman, Simon, Sullivan, Teller, Tillman, and Wolcott.

THE SENATE ROUTINE.

A Resolution for an Enquiry into Pension Legislation.

In the Senate yesterday morning, a resolution was reported from the Committee on Pensions, providing that a committee be appointed to examine carefully during the recess of Congress all the general pension laws and into the matter of special pension legislation and to pursue such other enquiry on the general subject as may be deemed advisable. It was referred to the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

Mr. Warren, Chairman of the Committee on Claims, asked unanimous consent for a meeting of the Senate at 10 o'clock to-day and to have the first hour given to the reading of the Omnibus Claims bill. Objection was made by Mr. Pettigrew, and then Mr. Warren said he would turn the matter over to the steering committee, the Committee on the Order of Business.

"I never heard of that as one of the committees of the Senate," Mr. Bacon remarked.

"Perhaps I should not say 'steering committee,'" Mr. Warren admitted. "I should say the Appropriations Committee, which has always had charge of business in the Senate."

"I think it is commonly recognized as such," Mr. Warren replied.

"I am glad to be so informed," was Mr. Bacon's comment.

The resolution offered on Monday by Mr. Chandler to have the memorial exercises for four deceased members of the House held at a special session of the Senate on Sunday next, went over till today without action.

Mr. Callinger offered an amendment to the Army Appropriation bill, appropriating $457,500 for the improvement of the Army Post Exchange.

Mr. McMillan presented a resolution providing the District Commissioners with power to revoke any theatre license immediately whenever it is learned that the laws are being violated. The resolution was adopted.

THE HOUSE ROUTINE.

Time Largely Spent in Debating the Sundry Civil Bill.

At the opening of the House yesterday morning Representative Cannon reported the General Deficiency bill, the last of the appropriation bills for this session.

Mr. Sherman presented the report of a partial agreement by the conferees on the Indian Appropriation bill. It disposed of the matters in dispute, save those relating to irrigation, mineral lands, closing the Chickasaw rolls, and the Sisseton and Wahpeton claims. The report was agreed to.

A bill regulating the taking and sale of game in the District of Columbia was reported, with an amendment from the Senate, and was sent to conference. Representatives McKim, Meyer, and Babcock being appointed conferees on the part of the House.

A bill providing rules for the Girls' Industrial School of the District and a Senate bill to convey a certain lot within the city limits of Washington to J. H. G. Gandy were passed.

Representative Hitt, of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported back the resolution of enquiry introduced by Mr. Lewis, asking that the "Secretary of State be requested to furnish to the House, if not incompatible with the public interests, all the information in the possession of the State Department relating to the claims of the United States against New Orleans in large numbers for use in the British army in the war in South Africa."

This was passed, and also a similar resolution asking the Secretary of the Treasury be "required to inform the House if our ports and waters have been used for the export of mines and other military supplies to South Africa."

Mr. Cannon then moved to take up the Sundry Civil bill. Mr. Crumpacker desired to take up the paragraph on venting, and furnishing the House of Representatives with upon which he had made a point of order the day previous. At Mr. Cannon's request the House voted to suspend the rule until the reading of the bill had been completed.

Representatives Shafer, Bell and Newland attacked the paragraph of the bill appropriating $100,000 for gauging streams, investigating underground flows, etc. The Western members claimed that the bill was a long and unnecessary measure. A lengthy discussion on the subject of irrigation was precipitated. Mr. Hill said that in his opinion an organized effort was being made to start the United States on an experiment which would, in the end, cost $30,000,000, according to his calculation, based on figures given by the members from the arid land States themselves.

Mr. Moody explained the method of the propaganda on the subject of irrigation, and read a letter which he said had been widely circulated among his constituents. The proposition looked to him, as a member of the Appropriations Committee, to vote for the insertion of a clause in the Sundry Civil bill carrying $250,000 to be used for investigating irrigation matters.

THE SPOONER AMENDMENT.

Favorable Report by the Senate Committee on Military Affairs.

The sub-committee of the Senate Military Affairs Committee has completed its consideration of the Army Appropriation bill, and agreed to include in it the amendment proposed by Mr. Spooner, vesting in the government all military and civil powers for the insertion of a clause in the Sundry Civil bill carrying $250,000 to be used for investigating irrigation matters.

Favorable Reports on Bills Submitted to the House.

THE HOUSE REFUSES TO PURCHASE LAND FOR THE ASYLUM.

An Exciting Debate Over the Proposals During the Consideration of the Sundry Civil Bill—The Project Defeated After a Discussion Full of Sensational Statements.

After an exciting and somewhat acrimonious debate yesterday, the opponents of the provision in the Sundry Civil bill to purchase 145 acres of land adjoining the Government Hospital for the Insane for $145,000 brought about its defeat. Discussion occupied the greater part of the session, and brought out accusations bordering upon the sensational. An attempt was made by those favoring the purchase of the property directly adjoining the institution to amend the section in such a way that the price asked could not be regarded as objectionable. This was not successful, however.

There still remains the appropriation of $100,000 to be used in erecting buildings which will probably be put up upon the tract of land already owned by the Government lying across Nichols Avenue opposite the present location of the asylum.

The first blow in the contest was struck by Representative De Armond, who raised a point of order against the clause providing for the purchase of the land. He said that in the Sundry Civil bill passed a year ago, it had been provided that the new buildings for the asylum should be erected upon "land now owned or to be donated to the Government." He held that the provision for the purchase of this new tract was in direct abrogation of that provision in the old law, and consequently out of order, since in an appropriation bill no legislation is allowed which repeals former enactments. Representative Hopkins, in the chair, overruled the point on the ground that the Government had a right to provide for the purchase of land if it chose, and that the clause in the present act in no way abrogated the clause in the act of a year ago.

The dead negro was well known in that locality, as for a number of years he had been doing odd jobs in and around the various parts of the city. He was known as one who lived or lay low to locate his family.

MONEY IN THE LAUNDRY.

Police Officer Hayden and O'Donnell, of the Ninth precinct, last night arrested Mary Porter, a colored woman, thirty-three years of age, residing on Congress Street northeast, upon the complaint of Mr. James Speight, of 223 K Street northeast, who claims that the woman stole $125 from his wife. The Porter woman had been employed by Mrs. Speight to do the washing and ironing for her family. Her clothes to launder she accidentally dropped into the bundle a garment to which was pinned an envelope containing $125. Not long after the clothes were discovered, and Mr. Speight went to the woman's home and demanded the money. She handed back all of the clothes she had taken care to return, but the envelope of the garment mentioned, and upon being questioned as to what she had done with it, refused to talk.

Mr. Speight went to the Ninth precinct station and reported the case as a result of Police Officer Hayden and O'Donnell were assigned to the case. The blueprints of the clothing of the woman, and after a search "discovered" the missing article, but not until the woman had been put through the sweating process would she divulge the hiding place of the $125. She was taken to the station and locked up, despite her protests, and removed from there later to the House of Detention to await her trial in Police Court this morning on a charge of grand larceny.

ELOPING COUPLE MARRIED.

What is said to have been an elopement terminated happily yesterday afternoon at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, near Tenth and F Streets northwest, when Patrick J. Griffin and Miss Catherine O'Neill, both of Richmond, Va., were married by the Rev. Father Stafford, assisted by Father Thomas Dolan. The couple are now registered at the Hotel Hamilton, near the city today for Baltimore, where the groom has relatives.

FOUND LYING IN BLOOD.

Charles T. Shackles, residing at 1345 L Street southeast, a huckster by trade, was found lying in a pool of blood on the tracks of the P. W. & B. railroad near the north end of the Navy yard tunnel about 10 o'clock last night by Trackmen Harry Douglas and John H. Traylor, who were on duty at the time. The man was found profusely from the nose and mouth and at first it was thought he had been beaten and killed. After an investigation by Police Officer Harriet and John of the Fifth precinct, it was discovered that the injured man had been drinking heavily. He told the policeman afterward that he had been in a quarrel with a woman and while attempting to reach her fell down upon the tracks. He was returned to the Washington system hospital in the Fifth precinct patrol wagon, where his injuries were treated.

A GOOD OUTLOOK FOR THE PHILADELPHIA CLUB'S MANAGEMENT.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Philadelphia club of the American League, held at the Hotel Lafayette today, Benjamin Franklin Shibe was unanimously elected president. Shibe is a member of a sporting goods and manufacturing establishment. The fact that Mr. Shibe has accepted the presidency of the local club is considered a sufficient guarantee that it will be run on straightforward business principles.

THE HAWAIIAN JUDGESHIP.

The Name of George D. Gear, of Honolulu, Sent to the Senate.

The right for the second judgeship of the Circuit Court of the First Circuit of the Territory of Hawaii was ended yesterday, so far as the appointment was concerned, by the President sending to the Senate the name of George D. Gear of Honolulu. The nomination of Gear for the judgeship is something of a surprise, as it was understood that Edgar Cayless, of Honolulu, who was strongly endorsed by Delegate Wilcox, had the inside track. The other applicants for the judgeship were B. E. Bebb and Judge W. L. Wilcox. It was said last night that the Senate Judiciary Committee will be asked to hold up Gear's nomination until the committee can hear from certain members of the Hawaiian Legislature. There seems to be no question as to the opposing factions in Honolulu who are so vituperatively attacking Delegate Wilcox's nomination. Delegate Wilcox, who supported Cayless, bordering upon the sensational, attempted to make his way to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

FOUND DEAD IN AN ALLEY.

An Aged Negro Thought to Have Fallen to Death.

Sam Williams, a colored man, sixty years old, a well-known character in the vicinity of Iowa Circle, was found dead in the rear of 1214 Rhode Island Avenue, about 1:35 o'clock this morning by Henry Jefferson, a coachman in the employ of James F. Orator.

Jefferson had just returned with his employer to the house, and was driving his team around to the stables in the alley when the horse suddenly alighted at some dark object lying on the ground. Jumping out Jefferson ran over to see what it was and discovered the old negro lying upon his back. Only those who have suffered as I did know how grateful I am to you for your cure. I cannot praise it too highly and will be glad to give my name to any who wish to try it. Yours truly, ANDREW P. FRANKS, Chief Temple, Sup. Lodge G. G. Templars.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Henry L. Stillwell, Formerly of New York, Dies of Apoplexy.

Henry L. Stillwell, a familiar figure at the Capitol building and a native of New York City, was found dead in his bed at the Kenmore Hotel, 4th North Capitol Street, yesterday morning about 8 o'clock. He was sixty-one years of age and had been living in this city for about two years. He was a man of considerable means and a Thirty-second degree Mason. Monday night he complained of being ill and retired early. During the night his roommate heard him moving about several times, but this was nothing unusual. Yesterday morning his companion called him to get up to get ready for receiving an expense account. He found him dead. A coroner's inquest was held and the cause of death was asphyxiation. His effects were taken charge of by the police, while a Masonic lodge made provision for the care of the remains until his family, who live in New York City, could be notified. The interment will probably be in that city.

RODNEY TO SHOW CAUSE.

May Be Cited for Contempt for Failure to Pay Alimony.

An order was issued yesterday requiring Robert Rodney to show cause on February 25 why he should not be committed for contempt of court for refusing to pay alimony to his wife, Margaret E. Rodney, as decreed by the court. Mrs. Rodney applied for a writ of habeas corpus against her husband for separate support and maintenance, and the court ordered that Mr. Rodney should pay his wife $45 per month during the pendency of the proceedings.

ALUMNI STILL LOYAL.

Business High School Graduates at Their Annual Banquet.

A decided impetus was given to the movement to secure a new Business High School building at the second annual banquet of the Business High School alumni, held last night at the Calvo. Over two hundred graduates and ex-students, teachers and friends of that institution were present. Senator Hanna was expected to attend, and was scheduled for an address. The evening passed, however, without the Orlean putting in an appearance. Commissioner of Education spoke regarding the place of the Business High School in the community. The guests of honor in addition to the above named speakers were: H. H. Pennington, Secretary of the Board of Education; A. T. Stuart, Superintendent of Public Schools; Sherburne C. Corning, president of the Business High School Alumni Association; and W. B. Chandler, and contained a cartoon by Will Chandler and two stanzas of appropriate verse by "Whispering Will." The evening was presided over by the President of the Alumni Association and toastmaster, Mr. E. Golden Donaldson.
