

ODDS & ENDS.

UNION VERSUS SECESSION.—On a certain railroad train running out of the city of Baltimore, there is employed a conductor who is an undividing Union man, obliging, prompt, courteous and civil to every one with whom he has daily intercourse, and just as determined and uncompromising when he comes across an "ugly customer" among his passengers as the next one. A short time since, while hurrying through his train, which was crowded to excess with passengers, he came up to a pair of "coves" occupying a double seat, and wearing the unmistakable paraphernalia of city swells.

"Tickets, if you please, gentlemen!" said the conductor. "Got none," answered the swells. "Your fare will answer as well." "Take this"—one of them handing the conductor an envelope apparently filled with bank notes or bank paper, upon which was printed in glorious red colors a female figure, holding out at arm's length a secesh rag, in imitation of the goddess of liberty wearing the glorious flag of our country. The swells grinned and looked amazingly funny as they beheld a shadow flit over the honest face of the ticket collector.

"You are on the wrong train!" said the official. "How is that?" queried both swells in a breath. "This pass," returned the conductor, "is good only on the road to H—ll! Pay your fare, gentlemen, or I shall be obliged to put you off the train!" They did so. After which, the weather being warm, they gracefully proceeded to "wilt" after the most approved style, the other passengers keeping up the joke with the frequent inquiry, "Where does this road carry us? ain't we on the wrong train?"

PRECOCIOUS SCHOOLBOY.—Two boys of tender age, who went by the name of Tom and Jack, became members of a district school in a certain town. On making their appearance, the teacher called them up before the school and proceeded to make certain interrogatories concerning their names, ages, parents, etc.

"Well, my fine lad," said the teacher to one, "what is your name?" "Tom, sir," very promptly responded the juvenile. "Tom does not sound well. Remember always speak the full name. You should have said Thom-as." Then, turning to the other boy, whose expectant face suddenly lighted up with the satisfaction of a newly comprehended idea, the teacher inquired: "Now, then, my son, can you tell me what your name is?" "Jack-as!" replied the lad in a tone of confident decision.

Two citizens of an out West town, whom we will call A. and B., while riding out leisurely the other day, had their attention attracted by three ladies who were walking ahead of them, one of whom excited the admiration of A., who expatiated in warm terms upon her fine form, beautiful ankles and graceful gait. B. acquiesced in all that A. said in praise of the lady, and became quite interested in her. When they had overtaken the ladies, and were able to see their faces, A. was greatly surprised to hear B. exclaim—"Thunder! that's my wife!"

Two young men commenced the sail-making business in Philadelphia.—They bought a lot of duck from Stephen Girard on credit, and a friend engaged to endorse for them. Each caught up a roll, and was carrying it away, when Girard remarked: "Had you not better get a dry?" "No; it is not far, and we can carry it ourselves." "Tell your friend he need not endorse your note. I'll take it without!"

Mr. Hobbs says he has one of the most obedient boys in the world. He tells him to do just as he pleases, and he does it without murmuring!

Almost every young lady is public spirited enough to be willing to have her father's house used as a court-house—o' nights, especially!

A CARD.—WITMER'S BRIDGE, Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1859. Messrs. EVANS AND WATSON: Gentlemen.—The small No. 1 Schlemmer safe which I purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam R. Bar, in Lancaster City, on July 29th, 1858, has been subjected to a very severe test, which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This safe, containing all my books together with valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neighbors and friends, and representing a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars, ($20,000) was in my Mill which was destroyed on the night of the 27th of July, 1859, and passed through the fire ordeal unscathed. The safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement of the Mill, and was subjected for six hours to an intense heat among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity of grain confined within the brick walls. After the fire the safe was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discolored. This fact was, however, to many bystanders a better recommendation of your Safes than could be expressed in any other words from me. Yours Respectfully, SAMUEL RANCK. [Sep 13] A large assortment of the above quality of Fire and Thief Proof Safes always on hand and for sale at as low rates as any other firm, at EVANS & WATSON'S, No. 16 South Fourth st., Philadelphia.
