Good Resolutions

I will try to be a lifter, not a leaver; an encourager, never a discourager; lighten and share other people's sorrows; start songs and rejoicings, not complainings; make the world a little sweeter place to live in; keep in mind the will of God; make sunshine in life's shady places; see the bright side of everything; be clean in mind and body, working patiently, industriously and honestly for a living; earning a spotless character, so that I can look up, not down, and meet death's coming with a fearless smile; endeavor not to run away from my weaknesses, but bravely fight them out; be glad of life; have hope and faith in everybody; try to live without hate, jealousy, temper and envy; avoid speaking critically and bitterly, repeating only the good I hear; love because I must, give because I cannot keep; doing for the joy of it; cheerful in disappointments, charitable toward the erring and fallen; protect helpless animals; do as I would be done by; smile more and frown less.

Napoleon's First Love.

The little French town of Auxonne is not associated in the popular mind with Napoleon; but, as Miss Betham-Edwards reminds us in "Unfrequented France," he spent some years of his childhood there. "In the Saone he twice narrowly escaped drowning, and here, too, as narrowly, so the story runs, marriage with a bourgeoisie maiden called Manesca. Two ivory counters bearing this romantic name in Napoleon's handwriting enrich the little museum."

KINDNESS.

When we consider the results it brings I wonder why it is we are not all kinder than we are. How easily it is done! How instantaneously it acts! How infallibly it is remembered!—Drummond.

What He Advised.

A young man unhappily married and practically penniless took his tale of woe to a prominent divorce attorney in Chicago and concluded with this: "I'm too poor to pay much for a divorce, but my wife makes my life miserable. After I get home at 6 o'clock in the evening I get no peace until I go to sleep. What would you advise?" "After considering all the facts in your case," said the lawyer, "I would suggest that you get a job which requires you to work all night."—Exchange.

RECIPROCITY.

There is one word which may serve as a rule of practice for all one's life—that word is reciprocity. What you do not wish done to yourself do not do to others.—Confucius.

OLD IDAMAR RESUMES FOLLOWING SHUTDOWN

Plans for the improvement of the old Idamar coal plant, near Dixonville, are soon to be carried out. The operations have just resumed after having been closed down for more than two years.

New sidings, a new tippie and other improvements are contemplated by the owners.

Facts Versus Fallacies

FACT is a real state of things. FALLACY is an apparently genuine but really illogical statement or argument.

IN an article in Leslie's the following FACTS are pertinent, showing not only the FALLACY of Prohibition, but the big part which the taxation of alcoholic liquors plays in running the United States Government.

"WE must avoid intemperance in eating, drinking, language, work, and recreation," is an old doctrine of one of the leading national organizations of farmers. The idea of total abstinence is not advanced by that society, but it does insist that members must be temperate not only in drinking but in all other things.

"PROHIBITION originated in New England, and was intended to prevent the Indians from getting fire water and disturbing the peace. About the middle of the last century from alcoholic beverages, was $230,147,000. The revenue derived from liquors and tobacco amounted to 48.68 per cent. of total revenue of the government."

THUS, not only is shown that Prohibition has always failed to Prohibit, and is a FALLACY; but the added FACT is shown that should National Prohibition obtain, the United States Government would lose the enormous sum which annually comes to it through taxation of alcoholic beverages, and which, in conjunction with tobacco, provides almost one-half of the Government's total revenue!
