

Lewisburg Chronicle.

O. N. WOODEN & J. R. COBLENZ. Published for the Proprietors by J. R. COBLENZ, at the Lewisburg Chronicle Office, No. 101 North Third Street, Lewisburg, Pa.

Lewisburg, July 4, 1857.

Hon. WM. D. KELLEY, formerly a lawyer, recently a Law Judge in Philad., has accepted the invitation to address the Mechanics' Celebration in this place. He is an able and eloquent man, and we think will well repay a hearing.

G. ALEXANDER FELTZ, late a carpenter, now a student in the University at Lewisburg, will read the Declaration of Independence.

Stoer's Danville Silver Cornet Band, is engaged—also, the Millburg Band and Martial Music are expected.

The leading public exercises will take place in the forenoon, leaving the afternoon for private parties, pic-nics, Concerts, or whatever may be devised.

R. M. Mussen is appointed Marshal, assisted by Messrs. George A. Frick, Phillip Billinger, A. M. Lawshe, Thomas Graham, J. A. Kreamer, John M'Faddin, Michael Fiehorn, Henry W. Fries.

The Procession will march up Market St. to Fourth St.—up Fourth St. to St. Mary St.—down St. Mary St. to Third St.—down Third St. to St. John St.—down St. John St. to Water St.—down Water St. to Market St.—up Market St. to Third St.—down Third St. to University Avenue—up University Avenue to University Hill.

The following orders of Mechanics and Artizans, have places assigned them in the procession, (and others to be added as may be found expedient) viz:

- 1. Music. 2. Order and Invitation Committee. 3. Reader of Declaration of Independence. 4. Clergy. 5. Burgers and Town Council. 6. Editors and Printers. 7. Physicians and Apothecaries. 8. Watch-makers and Jewelers. 9. Shoemakers and Saddlers. 10. Millwrights and Carpenters. 11. Boat-builders and Caulkers. 12. Coach-makers, Trainers and Drivers. 13. Blacksmiths. 14. Saddlers. 15. Shoemakers. 16. Tailors. 17. Bricklayers and Plasterers. 18. Brickmakers. 19. Stone-masons and Cutters. 20. Gunsmiths and Smiths. 21. Workers and Hatters. 22. Tanners and Curriers. 23. Saddlers. 24. Millers. 25. Butchers and Bakers. 26. Miscellaneous.

ALL in this and other towns, or country, who are or have been Mechanics or Artizans or personally engaged in any Mechanical business, are invited to march in the procession; and Farmers and every other person desirous of celebrating the day, are urged to attend.

BANNERS, FLAGS, &c.—It is desired that the several trades, &c. should be represented in the Celebration by appropriate devices, such as each class may select—only one or more banners for city, and a badge for every individual.

We are requested to invite all the Carpenters and Joiners to meet at the late Argus office, to-morrow evening, to agree upon their decorations.

The Painters, Coach-makers, and Trimmers are invited to meet in room adjoining Chronicle office, this (Friday) evening.

Other trades should make similar arrangements—some one taking the lead in calling them together.

THE LADIES we trust will lend their necessary aid in preparing bouquets, flags, &c. for the stand and Market street. Some of last year's flags can be easily adapted to the occasion.

We notice several of our neighboring towns have no celebrations, but recommend a good turn out to Lewisburg. We find much interest also in the country. Should the weather be fair, there will doubtless be an immense and unprecedented assemblage here.

News Items from Other Counties.

J. G. L. Shindel, we understand has been appointed Post Master at Selinsgrove. A good man, and a good location, the Telegraph being kept in the Drug Store of Wagonsell & Shindel.

H. S. Pinnney, lumberman, of Bradford county, had his trunk broken open at Marietta, at night, and $3,000 in bills stolen. The paper money in his pocket and $500 in gold escaped their notice.

Judge Jno. Thompson (as well as Packer and Strickland) is a Printer.

The Lykens Journal, hitherto neutral in politics, is coming out for the American Republican nominations.

ADVANTAGES OF TRAVEL.—A correspondent at Rockdale, furnishes the following (Pa) Republician this scrap of information: "Samuel C. Gray, Esq. of Rockdale, having just returned from a journey through several of the Southern States, has been led to change his political views on the slavery question by the repeated cruelties of the most barbarous kind he has witnessed perpetrated upon the slave by his master. He has forsaken the Sham Democracy, and become a staunch Wilnot Republican. God speed him!"

The increase of tolls on the Cattawissa road for May, 1857, were 40 cents over the sum for May of last year.

A mad dog appeared in Shamokin—and a dog was shot in Sunbury, supposed to be mad in strychnine.

DYING EMPIRES.

TWO CLASSES of conquerors appear upon the earth, and from each class we select a type to illustrate the difference which lies between their practice and achievements. There are soldiers whose mission seems to be to pull down and overturn—and such were Alexander and Napoleon; and there are reformers who, from the ruin of decaying systems create and build up new structures—and to this latter class belong such men as Luther and Holloway!

Let us contrast Napoleon and Holloway—two men, alike perhaps in the normal nature of their genius, and each aiming at a certain universality of empire in the professions they respectively selected. The empire of the sword, which the former created and for so many years of fluctuating victory sustained and fostered, was, after all, an idle and a lifeless dream. It failed in the first of his reverses, when he died, a lonely exile on the sea-girt rock, there was no compensating benefit that he could point to for all the carnage, misery, and ruin, his personal ambition cost the world.

Professor Holloway made a wiser choice, although the enemy he grappled with was more than mortal terror, and he was relieved war upon disease, and with the self-made weapons of his Universal Remedies has fought and overcome his enemy in every land, on every sea, among all tribes and nationalities of the earth. It was a stubborn fight and one in which success brought no triumphal cries to cheer the prowess of the conqueror. The silent gratitude of a rescued sufferer, the still small voice of an approving conscience, the assurance that his years had been devoted to a worthy object, and the growing respect and admiration of all whose good opinion deserves to be considered—these were the only stimulants which prompted him to despise the calamities of interested hate, and persist in the dissemination of that medicinal empire which he has at length established among all the nations and branches of the human family. And his is an empire that will last, and a reward that shall not pass away.

It would be an irony to the understanding of our readers—versed as we must suppose them to be in matter of such vital interest—to enlarge upon the different steps of the investigation by which Prof. Holloway succeeded in demonstrating that all maladies took their rise in an organic impurity of blood. He did discover it; and by discovering, in addition, one single combination of herbs capable of restoring the blood to purity, arrived at that Universal Remedy which, though dreamed of, and believed in, and hoped for by the wise men of all former ages, had never before been realized in the test of universal practice. Great indeed to the reward of the learned and indomitable physician; the prayers of the millions who have saved accompanying him through life, and the record of their gratitude, have gone before him when he is summoned from the scene which his genius and philanthropy have so largely contributed to improve. The reward of practical benevolence is an imperishable crown.—N. Y. Sentinel, Nov. 1856.

(Correspondence of the Lewisburg Chronicle.)

Sights of a Lewisburger "down South."

May 31st, we passed down the Valley of the West Conococheague, passing Dry Run, Fannettsburg, Carriek Furnace, and finally out of the mountains to Loudon. A long and narrow valley this, but with good roads, and wheat crop promising at least an average, most of which they have to wagon thirty miles to market. Loudon is an old town on the Philad. & Pittsburg Turnpike, and was formerly noted as a factory of the best cart-whips in the State. Passed through Bridgeport and Upton, into a low but heavy limestone clay region, six rail post fences taking the lead, and the big chimneys outside of the houses. The Baltimore & M'Connellsburg Turnpike we found to be only a graded road, but had to pay toll nevertheless. Drove through Greenacres in the lower end of Franklin county to the Mattouton Hotel, kept by Mr. Brumbaugh—in a magnificent country, just on the State Line.

June 1st, we reached Hagerstown, the seat of justice of Washington county, Maryland—a fresh looking town, principally built of brick, and containing 4,000 inhabitants. Limestone fences line the road in abundance, and there are limestone rocks in superabundance. The grain fields look very spotted.

Driving on eight miles, we reached the grounds of the Annual American Dankard Conference, about 10 o'clock A. M. Representatives of the congregation of this denomination were here from all parts of the Union except New England. They appear to be most numerous from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Iowa, and some from nearly all the Southern States. There were said to be 6,000 or 8,000 people present yesterday, and to-day about 3,000 or 4,000. There was preaching at the same time from three different places—from the meeting house, a large barn, and a large tent. We made our way through the crowd to the meeting house, and heard Isaac Price, of Chester Co., Pa., deliver one of the most searching discourses it has ever been our good fortune to listen to. With a charming voice, and an animated delivery, the right word always in the right place, to our mind he seemed to lit the nail on the head at every blow—Public preaching being closed, we found our way out to look upon the congregation. The fields and fences were lined and filled with carriages, horses, and drivers of every variety and color imaginable—Had quite a discussion with a Maryland bachelor on the ebony skin question. He contended that Uncle Sam should buy all the slaves and colonize them; the opponent said each State should buy their own, and dispose of them as they thought proper.

Whitman's Monday, the colored folks have a grand holiday; our informant says there are about 600 of them having a picnic about four miles from this place.

Our inner man needing strengthening, we repaired to the tent, which was erected especially for eating purposes, and will seat 250 persons at one time. A great crowd in attendance, food being furnished gratuitously, and about 5 o'clock we got a chance at the fourth table, where we made amends for previous abstinence.

After dinner, a business meeting was held in the barn, when questions were sent in by different congregations, and referred to committees to report to-morrow morning. Another furious shower coming on, the best accommodations we could find were in a deserted cooper's shop, where we retired, and no doubt felt grateful after we had fallen asleep.

June 2. This morning, the prospects for good weather were fair overhead, but underfoot it was all mire and clay. The proceedings opened with morning worship in the barn, which, being of Pennsylvania size, with the board partitions on either side of the thrashing floors removed, accommodated a very large audience with seats in the camp meeting style. Breakfast was served up in the tents, all the seats being taken up by the oldest members first. Prayer and singing being ended, the edibles began to disappear. The main bulk of the crowd having scattered themselves amongst neighbors and friends in the evening, did not arrive at the meeting ground this morning till about 9 o'clock. Breakfast being over at that time, proceedings in the barn were resumed with prayer and singing. The first business in order was the examination of the reports of the various committees. One query elicited considerable discussion; the question, in substance, was I think, nearly as follows: "Does the rule for church government, laid down in the 18th chapter by Matthew's Gospel, cover all offences against the church by members, both public and private?" The committee having charge of this question had answered it by simply saying, No. This did not suit many of the members, and the answer was finally modified so as to satisfy all. Other questions were bro't up and discussed, such as these: "Should the supper be on the table at the time of washing feet? Why are women excluded from breaking bread like men? Is it prudent for brethren to attach fictitious names to any of their communications in public prints? Is it proper for ministering brethren to deck their children with jewelry, such as gold, finger rings, breast pins, and carbols, and to send them from home for the purpose of being taught instrumental music?" and many others, on many different subjects. Good will, brotherly kindness, and love, pervaded all the proceedings that fell under my notice. The following are some of the names of the greatest lights in the society: Isaac Price, John Fries, Saylor, Unstad, Kurtz, Quinter, Eversole, Metzger, Hunsicker, Garver, Hoke, Rapp, Letherman, &c. The hour of twelve arrived and with it dinner, and after a bite, a smoke, &c., we started for Shepherdstown, Va. HARLOW.

A CARD.—Before the nominations were made by the 9 counties at Lancaster which placed Hazlehurst on the gubernatorial track, a delegate presented the following letter to the Convention, and withdrew from the deliberations of that body: Mr. Passover—In view of the fact that the whole mass of Americans in Bradford county, (which I had the honor to represent in this Convention) have full confidence in the Americanism and integrity of DAVID WILNOT, and can not by any means be drawn from him to support any other man for Governor and the fact that a considerable number of our constituents is represented here, I therefore withdraw from any further co-operation in the action of this Convention. B. S. DARTT.

CALIFORNIA OVERLAND MAIL.—Bids were received at Washington, on the 15th inst., for carrying the mail to California. The highest bid for the weekly mail was $1,000,000, and the lowest $200,000. It costs Uncle Sam considerable to send his wallet just where he pleases.

By a new law, Township Auditors are to settle the accounts of the School Directors of this State. County Treasurers using public funds for private purpose, are liable to heavy punishment.

AUCTION SALE!!

A PUBLIC Sale of VALUABLE LOTS at Port Trevorton, the shipping port of the Trevorton Coal & R. R. Company, also the terminal of the TREVORTON RAILROAD, and junction with

THE NEW BRIDGE, crossing the Susquehanna to the present terminus of the Northern Central R. R. The said lots will be offered for sale at Port Trevorton, on Saturday, the 25th of July, 1857, at eleven o'clock A.M., to the highest bidder. The lots embrace some of the best building and business locations in the village.

Port Trevorton is situated on a growing river, and has among other advantages, a track derived from the completion of the Northern Central Railroad, and its connection with the Railroad of the Trevorton Coal and Railroad Company leading to their extensive mines, which will make it one of the largest coal shipping ports along the Junction. It has also a fine wharf on the bank of the Canal and Basin, and the Bridge across the Susquehanna; the Bridge offering the only facilities for miles up and down the river for forwarding country produce to Southern and Eastern markets by Railroad. Port Trevorton has the finest and extensive agricultural country in the vicinity.

TERMS OF SALE.—Purchasers will pay ten per cent. cash, balance in three instalments at one, two, and three years, with interest annually on the amounts unpaid; improvements valued at two hundred dollars to be put on each lot within eight months from the day of purchase. GEORGE MOWTON, Sup' of Port Trevorton, June 13, 1857.
