Did you ever stand in the golden sunlight of a warm day with your eyes turned upon a sheet of fly paper. If so you may have noticed how when one fly adheres to the sticky surface, its companions, instead of profiting by the horrible warning, immediately buzz down and go to destruction in the same manner, and in a little time there are hundreds in the throes of death. They are fools, to be sure, and so are men. Men see their associates caught in the nets of vice. There are examples and warnings all about human beings, but they treat them as lightly as do the flies and step down to death just as insensibly.

The suggestion has been made that we have a weed day, a day devoted to the removal of the weeds that line the walks and ditches and which are now fast approaching seed time. If left a little longer it will be labor lost to cut them down for they will have distributed their seed everywhere. If a day could be set apart, say next week, and everyone turn with hoe and sickle to put the weed crop out of commission, it would be a good thing.

Printing establishments in Utah have been advised by their wholesale houses that practically all paper manufacturers have withdrawn prices while the market is in its present unsettled condition, and that therefore they are compelled to withdraw all prices and quotations. Our wholesale houses write the Alpine Pub. Co.: "In the present crisis all will be obliged to bear their share of the burden, but we earnestly assure our customers that we shall, in making prices, take no advantage of conditions." No advance in job work has been made by this paper, and it is to be sincerely hoped that the occasion will not arise to make this necessary. There is, however, every probability that in the event the Canada product is shut off prices on all kinds of paper will advance.

Working For Earlier Mail

Postmasters James H. Clarke of American Fork, Joseph Anderson of Lehi and Luella Thorne of Pleasant Grove, this week, have written letters to Chief Clerk Bangasser of the Railway Mail Service, asking that arrangements be made for exchanging mail between the Interurban line and the towns mentioned.

This would give a service nearly two hours earlier than at present, the first mail arriving before eight o'clock. It would also give us a much earlier delivery of the morning papers. The matter will probably have to go to Washington for adjustment as it would necessitate a new contract. If the matter is acted on favorably, it is pointed out that the present unsatisfactory exchange with the Salt Lake Route could also be discontinued.

Small Blaze

The fire department did some quick work Monday night and saved the home of John Parker, north of town. When they arrived there was a good blaze in the roof, caused by burning soot, which was distinguished with the aid of buckets. The department boys think the city should purchase a pump for use outside of the fire hydrant limits.
