SAVING SAL AND WINNIE WISE
A Rhyme of Two Range Buyers

Saving Sal went out one day
To buy a kitchen range;
She got a bargain, so they say,
And saved a piece of change
Now Winnie Wise had bought one, too—
The best that she could get.
She said, as all wise women do:
"The best is cheap, you bet."
Said Saving Sal: "The coin you spent
I've saved—I'm 'way ahead."
But Winnie smiled as home she went
And shook her pretty head.
Soon Saving Sal began to use
More coal than Winnie Wise.
The oven flues got out of fix,
And soot got on her pies.
The oven leaked; some parts were broke;
It cost her quite a bit;
It filled her kitchen full of smoke;
Her meals weren't fit to eat.
She called to see what Winnie Wise
Did when her stove went wrong;
She found her baking cake and pies,
Her kitchen filled with song.
Wise Winnie's range was good as new,
She hadn't spent a dime
For anything. Besides that, too,
It didn't waste her time.
It never acted up or failed,
It burned the least amount,
"Where is your saving?" Winnie railed—
"Have you kept close account?"
"I didn't save a single cent,"
Most pitifully wailed Sal;
"I wish I had a range like yours:
THE SOUTH BEND MALLEABLE."

HOW TO AVOID MISTAKES IN BUYING YOUR RANGE

In the first place, do not buy of a peddler or mail order house. Both are in the same class. Goods of merit are sold by responsible dealers, men who live in your own town or vicinity. These men could not afford to sell an article that they could not recommend and guarantee to be first-class. Their very business existence depends upon selling a product that will give satisfaction. It is the only way they can build up their trade.

In selecting their goods, therefore, they are very careful to buy from well-known and responsible manufacturers—men whose name and address you will find on their goods.

You don't know who made the goods manufactured for and sold by the peddler and mail order houses. These goods are made under contract—the name of the makers do not appear on them. They make their goods at an agreed price. Their interest ceases when they are accepted and they get their money for same. The interest of the peddler and mail order house is the same. They don't live in your town. If they succeed in selling you a range and getting their money for same, you are forgotten. They only expect to do business with you once.

In buying your range from your dealer do not be influenced by the lowest price. It is not economy to buy an article because it is cheap. The cheapest is often the very dearest in the end. If a range is made right and properly taken care of, it will last a lifetime. To build it in such a way and of such material as will last a lifetime costs more money than to build one that will rust out or crack in a short time. Then there is the question of economy in the use of fuel. You pay for a range but once, but you are using fuel every day, and fuel costs money.

Examine the range carefully. Compare it point by point with other ranges that are considered to be in the first class. Note carefully the material of which it is made and the way it is made.

The inside flues have always been the weak point in ranges. Ever since the first range was made manufacturers have been looking for a metal that will best resist rust and corrosion.

THE SOUTH BEND MALLEABLE is the only range made with Patented Keystone Copper-bearing Aluminum-Fused Flues. This metal will resist rust and corrosion better than any other metal known.
