Mere Man.
Another reason why a salesgirl thinks a man shopper hasn't got any sense is because he is willing to buy a collar button without trying it on.—Dallas News.

You Know What He Wanted.
When his father asked Charles what he wanted for his third birthday, he said: "Oh, one of those horses, you know, that keeps on a-goin' but never gets anywhere."

NOT ALL.
Pansie — I'd bet you kiss every girl you meet.
Percy — Well hardly that some get away

Persevering.
John was at his aunt's house for dinner. She grew alarmed because he was eating so many pancakes. She said: "Do you like them, dear?" He replied: "No, ma'am; I'm only waiting for a good one."

Humans Please Baboon.
More than a hundred wild animals, including fifteen baboons, have arrived in England from the Congo. Asked what he thought of this country, the senior baboon informed our special correspondent that the natives did not seem nearly so wild as reports had led him to expect.—London Punch.

Small Beginnings.
Michael Faraday, the famous physicist, made some of his famous discoveries while experimenting in an old apothecary shop with old bottles and tin pans. Eli Whitney had few tools and he worked for months in a cellar experimenting with his new cotton gin.—Boston Post.

Still Time to Repent.
The only religion that fixes a date for the end of the world is that of the Hindoos. According to their faith, the world is in the last of four separate periods. This period is 432,000 mundane years, of which 5,029 have elapsed, so that they figure the world has 426,970 years still to exist.

Marmot Skins in Demand.
A large business is done in Manchurian marmot skins. The marmot is very much like a woodchuck, but it possesses a finer coat than does our woodchuck. Thousands of these skins are shipped from ports in northern Manchuria by parcel post through the Japanese post office, but skins of the cheaper grade are forwarded by freight in the usual way.

Chronic Constipation.
There are people who never have a movement of the bowels without it is produced by a cathartic. Most of them have brought that condition on themselves by the use of mineral waters and strong cathartics that take too much water out of the system and aggravate the disease they are meant to relieve. A mild laxative tonic like Chamberlain's Tablets affords a gentle movement of the bowels that you hardly realize has been produced by a medicine, and their use is not likely to be followed by constipation. Virtue Ascribed to Laurel.
According to an old tradition laurel communicates the spirit of poetry and prophecy. Hence the custom of putting laurel leaves under one's pillow to acquire inspiration.

Progressive Alaska.
All Alaskan cities have their own schools, and in addition there are 68 schools for natives, under the jurisdiction of the bureau of education of the interior department.

More Than Skin Deep.
Beauty is more than skin deep, according to the United States public health service. Natural beauty is usually a sign of health that comes from keeping the body clean and getting plenty of outdoor exercise.

And Dodge if They See You First.
According to bill collectors the "all-around" good fellow usually takes longest to "square" up his accounts.—Cartoons Magazine.

Never Satisfied.
Grandfather had come to visit at little Harriet's home, in Franklin. The four-year-old was very much interested in watching him removing and replacing his false teeth. One day she said to her mother: "I wish I had teeth like grandpa's. I don't like the kind that's sewed in."—Indianapolis News.

Food Value of Oatmeal.
The value of oatmeal as a human food is established by Drs. H. C. Sherman, J. C. Winters and V. Phillips in the Journal of Biological Chemistry. But it needs milk in addition, and the two together can furnish a man with all the protein he needs.

Early Insurance Company.
Fire insurance originated in its modern form immediately after the great fire of London in 1693. In 1696 the Hand in Hand—probably the oldest fire insurance company in the world and certainly the oldest in Great Britain—was established on the mutual principle.

LINE BUSY.
I guess the wife is home, all right.
What makes you think so?
I've been trying to get the house on the phone for three quarters of an hour, and the line has been busy all this time.

The Velvet tin is twice as big as shown here

There's a World of Solid Comfort In the Rich, Red Tin

YES, sir, we mean that same warm red and gold tin that smiles a welcoming "Howdy" to you in every tobacco store. Know what those colors mean?

The red is for the friendly warmth, the mellow cheeriness, that Velvet puts into your old pipe. And the gold is where the Kentucky sunshine, that ripens good old Velvet, has just sort of soaked through.

Remember what Velvet Joe said about it?
"You've met canned meat and canned music. Ever see any tinned sunshine? Well, look into any Velvet tin."

And think this over:

We don't have to hide Velvet's taste or smell with a lot of this, that and the other thing. Because Velvet has naturally what pipe smokers want—real simon-pure tobacco taste and fragrance. It's just good, honest Kentucky leaf, made still more friendly and mellow by two years' ageing in wooden hogsheads. Just good tobacco. That's all. But it's mighty near enough for the man who wants a pipeful of tobacco and not a box of bon bons

The picture of a pipe on the tin needn't keep you from rolling a jim-dandy cigarette with Velvet.

How's the Velvet holding out in your old red tin?

Inherited Characteristic.
As a general thing the kind of mother who enjoys a midnight supper downtown gets mad when the baby wants to eat as soon as she reaches home.—Dallas News.

Where She Caught It.
Little Mildred had often been told that she had hair and eyes just like her mother's. One day she was playing on the street when a lady spoke to her and remarked pleasantly: "What pretty red hair you have." "Yes," glibly answered Mildred, "I caught it from mother."

A Lucky Throw.
I awoke one night just in time to see a man getting out of my window. I picked up an ink bottle, the only thing handy, and threw it at him. It was a lucky throw, for, although it didn't hit him, it struck the window and splattered him liberally with red ink, which identified him later.—Chicago Tribune.

Did Her Best to Get There.
When Lucy's teacher told her that she was five minutes late for roll call, she replied: "I didn't mean to be late, and if I hadn't runned all the way, I'd been a heap later."

Patriarchal Yew.
An enormous age is attained by some trees—notably yews. At Fontain's abbey, Yorkshire, the yew trees were old in 1132. California has a very ancient tree in Mariposa grove. Baobab trees of Africa have been computed to be more than 5,000 years old, and a deciduous cypress at Chapultepec is still older.

Imparting Information.
The little boy across the way came in to call on me when I was baking doughnuts. He informed me his mother made doughnuts, too. After a silence he said: "She lets me eat only three when she bakes them." After another silence he added: "She didn't bake any this week yet."—Chicago American.

Try it on the Donkey.
When a gypsy girl wants to know how soon she will be married, she whispers into the ear of the first donkey she meets. "Shall I soon have a husband?" If the donkey moves his ear, she will. If he stands immovable, she won't. So if you have a little donkey in your home—
