He having placed his house in this circuit will be enabled to bring a class of attractions to Lehi, that otherwise would have overlooked this town. The Curtis Dramatic Co. will be remembered as the Company playing at the New Grand Theatre in Salt Lake City all of the past summer.

The plays selected for production in Lehi are: On Monday night "A Rascal Hero," a comedy drama of today, and on Tuesday "Woman Against Woman" will be presented. Both plays are exceptionally strong dramatically, with enough comedy to satisfy all. A special scenic production of each play is promised by the management.

Origin of The "Passion Play."

Nearly 250 years ago, at the time when the long Thirty Years' War was devastating Germany, a severe plague broke out in the villages and valleys of the Bavarian Tyrol, Partenkirchen, Mitterwald, and indeed all the larger towns, were devastated by it. The little secluded village of Ober-Ammergau was, however, exempt from the visitation, and in order to be safe from infection the village authorities drew a cordon about the hamlet—already protected by nature by its circle of mountains—and forbade any one of the inhabitants to pass from the happy village into the perilous outer world, while the condition, of course, included that none should penetrate from the plague-stricken region into the charmed circle thus held empty.

Perhaps it never occurred to modest little Ober-Ammergau that any attractions within it should tempt strangers to break through the dividing barrier. As it happened, however, a native of the village who has been for some time working at Eschenlohe, a village at the foot of the Ettalberg, where the plague was raging furiously, was seized with a sudden home-sickness, and unknown to any of the village magistrates, returned, finding his way by night over the mountains. Three days afterwards he lay dead of the fell disease, and no less than forty of his fellow villagers succumbed to the same cause. In their agony of terror it occurred to the good people of Ober-Ammergau that a pious vow might possibly propitiate Heaven and turn the vengeance from their hearths and homes. They then in solemn assembly consulted as to what would be probably most efficacious, that is to say, pleasing to the Almighty, and finally it was resolved then every ten years afterwards to perform, with all due reverence and solemnity, a play which would set forth the life, death and mediation of the Redeemer.

From that time it is asserted the plague was stayed in the village and the vow had been strictly and religiously, the decennial connection being only once broken since 1634, in order to establish the performance at the beginning of every decade, for which a fresh start was, so to speak, made in the year of 1639.

At the Lehi Opera House Saturday night, for the benefit of the Tabernacle, Ticket 15 and 25c.
