When a man tells you that the big city weekly is worth more than your home paper, ask him how much the big city has ever done for your locality; if it had ever mentioned what he and you were doing to improve the condition; if it had ever noticed him or his friend when sick or dying; in short, if all his dealings with the metropolitan weekly have not been entirely one-sided, in which his dollar only was recognized by the other party, while he and all his individual interests were completely ignored.

During the past few years improvements have been made in the cemetery, which have greatly changed its appearance for the better. Still, if it is to approach the ideal, much remains to be done. Decoration Day is rapidly approaching, yet between now and then there is sufficient time in which to effect great improvements, if lot owners will give the matter attention. The city has done its part and almost all that can reasonably be expected. Individual plots will have to receive individual attention.

The fruit trees are now in full bloom, and American Fork is like a paradise—the most beautiful place on God's earth. She is a beauty, but needs more boosters.

In some cities and towns they are having "newcomers' day" to welcome new residents and make them feel at home. The idea is a good one. The city which treats its newcomers hospitably will not lack for newcomers.

A few of you go to a store for confections that carry candy as a side line. Dunkley makes confections his leader. Always fresh, always good. He sells more candy and refreshments than all the balance of the "bunch" combined.

A most enjoyable party was given at the home of Mrs. Washburn Preston, Tuesday evening, in honor of Mrs. William Grant of Salt Lake City. The evening was spent in conversation, interspersed with music and recitations. A tasty luncheon was served. Covers were laid for ten.

Everybody ought to see "The Adventures of Kathlyn." The third of the series will be given at the opera house tonight. See the marvelous escape of Kathlyn on an elephant, which goes dashing through the jungle, terrorizing all people and animals who see it.

Earley to bed and early to rise, mind your own business and tell no lies, don't get drunk and deceive your wives, pay your debts and advertise, buy from men of enterprise, is the best counsel under the skies. Get the idea.

If American Fork gets after the state prize for the "Cleanest City," would it not be a good idea for the proper officials to appoint half a dozen ladies in each ward to superintend the cleaning up of their respective wards. No doubt of good results from such committees.

There are thousands of good people in this state who are color-blind when it comes to distinguishing between a news item and an advertisement. Newspaper men are asked every day to publish scores of items as matters of news that if published would be first-class advertisements, pure and simple, to boost somebody or something in some way, but to aid the newspaper man in no way, except in giving away his time and space.

Have you imagined that the "ads" would make tiresome reading? Test the matter today. Try the experiment of "wading through" them all in search of facts that might have a bearing upon some buying problem or quest of your own. Do not be surprised to find that almost all of them have practical value, as well as "human interest." In fact, a few lines of reading matter in the classified advertising columns may contain an actual message for you. Look for it. You'll find the search interesting—not tedious.

On Thursday afternoon the Bonnie Brier Club met in regular session with Mrs. Thomas Barratt. The house was prettily decorated with lilacs and other spring flowers. Sewing occupied the time, followed by a dainty luncheon. The hostess was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Ben Moffett.

In the district court at Provo this week, in the case of Cora A. Huggard vs. Samuel Huggard, defendant was discharged after hearing on an order to show cause why he should not be punished for failure to pay alimony, the evidence showing that he had recently been ill and unable to work. The court retained jurisdiction of the case and cautioned defendant that he must do something for the support of his wife and children.

Miss May Garff, who has been with the CITIZEN during the past nine months, has tendered her resignation. During this time her work as reporter has had much to do with making the local columns of this paper the most interesting of any country paper in the state. As bookkeeper and office girl she has given eminent satisfaction, and because of her genial and pleasant disposition she has gained many friends, both for herself and the paper.

Miss Elsie Peterson will take Miss Garff's place, and the same favors shown to her as were shown to her predecessor will be much appreciated.
