NEWS OF THE DAY.

—Twenty-eight cases of small-pox died in Montreal yesterday. Masses are celebrated daily.

—Respectable papers in London continue to publish letters protesting unavailingly against the unchecked sale of obscene publications in the streets of London.

—Ex-Treasurer Adams, of the Fanningham Savings Bank, Mass., committed suicide at the bank yesterday afternoon by cutting his throat with a razor. His books are in bad shape.

—The assertion that the directors of the Panama Canal have purchased the President of Nicaragua in order to prevent the construction of the Nicaraguan canal is branded as a vile calumny.

—Judge Thoman of the Civil Service Commission will conduct the examinations for department service at Helena, Mont., Sept. 15th; Portland, Sept. 19th; Seattle, W. T., Sept. 22d; San Francisco, October 1st.

—Mrs. Nellie Sartoris is now in correspondence with her family in England to have her children brought over here. If her husband consents to let them come she will remain with her mother. Her mother will go back to England about the first of October.

—President Cleveland fishes through the day and plays cards in the evening. Stopping at the Prospect House is a young lady who has evinced a most lively interest in the President since he has been in that region and it is said he shows a marked liking for her society.

—A St. Paul dispatch reports a killing frost last night over a great portion of the Northwest territory, extending southward to the northern part of Minnesota. The temperature fell to 27 degrees above zero at St. Vincent, and the air in St. Paul was crisp and chilly but there was no frost. The visitors are leaving the lakes in large parties for the south.

—Last night a grand banquet was given to Parnell in Dublin. Parnell dwelt upon the importance of securing loyal and self-denying members in the next Parliament for the final battle for Home Rule, before which he hoped to pass further remedial measures. He hoped that the coming party would be strong enough to restore independence to Ireland.

—General Preston, a rebel leader in the insurrection in Panama, has been captured and returned to Aspinwall. The court martial will assemble to-day to try him. There seems but little doubt that he will be condemned to death. On landing at Aspinwall he was perhaps less concerned than the people who had him in charge, and walked to his prison with a cigar in his mouth.

—A dispatch received at Washington yesterday reports the Southern Utes in New Mexico were starving; that they had no supplies and were unable to procure any, and that unless food was immediately secured for them they would go on the warpath. These are the same Indians that a few weeks ago were reported to be without food and in a starving condition. Temporary relief was afforded them by drawing on the military stores.

—In Rome, society has been scandalized by the discovery that an ex-officer of the Italian Government is the principal in an organized traffic in girls from the interior provinces of Italy. He had offices in Rome, Naples and Spoleto, whence, as alleged, he furnished to America girls recruited in these provinces. Intermediaries in New York paid, as is charged, for each girl from 1,000 to 2,000 francs. Ten arrests of his agents have been made in Rome since Monday.

—Nevada's trousseau will be rich and elaborate. Among the items of interest called mention is made that some of the dresses are worth 75 francs ($15) each, and the petticoats and night robes all the way from 100 to 300 francs. The wedding no doubt will take place at the English Embassy in Paris, and after the civil ceremony a second one will follow at the Church of the Passionist Fathers. A special clergyman will come from Rome to officiate at this ceremony, the same that came two years ago when Miss Nevada took her first communion and entered the Roman Catholic faith.

—Emma Nevada does not wear the regulation engagement ring, but wears a bracelet locked on one arm, and Doctor Palmer carries the key on his watch chain. The design is a five-barred gate with the fence a tiny gold clasp around the arm. The posts and bars of the gate are studded all over with fine diamonds. The little prima donna like all other singers has a great many valuable jewels, a number of the most magnificent ones having been given to her by her mother, Mrs. John W. Mackay, the wife of the bonanza king, but she is more proud of the bracelet her lover locked on her arm than all the others in her possession.

—The third contest between the yachts "Puritan" and "Priscilla," resulted in a victory for the former by one minute and fifty-two seconds. Of the three trial races the "Puritan" won the first in a strong breeze by ten minutes. The "Priscilla" won the second in extremely light water by six and one-half minutes, and the "Puritan" won the deciding one in a moderate breeze and smooth water. While it is not actually decided that she is the yacht that will defend "America's cup," it is almost certain that she will be chosen at the meeting of the New York Yacht Club to be held during the week.

Music Hath Charms.
A Harrisburg man played on an accordion to a crazy man having heard that the music would soothe and cure. Both player and accordion are in the hospital.

The remains of an accordion have been dug up in the ruins of a Roman bath. We now begin to understand how it was that suicides were so common in ancient Rome.

Musical host entertaining a visitor—Would you like a tune?

Visitor—No, thanks. I'm not drinking anything this summer.

A Pennsylvania man, having heard that music would soothe and cure insanity, played on an accordion to a crazy man. The player was picked up in sections, but it is thought that the accordion will recover.

Won't Give the Lieutenant's Name.

BAR HARBOR, Me., August 25.—A story is going the rounds to the following effect, and has caused a sensation here: Hon. Alfred P. Conkling, of New York, a nephew of Roscoe Conkling, a few days ago was in company of Lieutenant —, in the navy, when the latter indulged in some remarks derogatory to General Grant's character. Conkling denounced the Lieutenant and subsequently sent him a challenge to fight a duel. The latter declined on the ground that it was contrary to navy regulations; thereupon, Conkling sent him word he would shoot him on sight. The Lieutenant then accepted the challenge, but the Admiral interfered and prevented him from leaving his ship. Both Conkling and the officers of the vessel decline to give the Lieutenant's name.

Among the guests were the Russian Minister and Mr. and Mrs. Blaine. Mr. Blaine was received with great enthusiasm and a salute of twelve guns was fired in his honor. Indorsing the Administration.

Whatever the underrcurrent of disappointment at the slow progress made in turning the rascals out, Democrats are evidently not prepared to declare formally that the Administration should not be indorsed. Politicians who go to conventions would like to see the offices, every one of them, in the possession of the workers, but they are not insensible of the influence of public opinion. The great body of the electors of this country who are not office-seekers, and whose interest in the civil service is that of an employee, who hopes for the best attainable results, approve the attitude of the President with reference to the civil service. A situation thus easily discerned by the active workers, who, however successful at primaries and in conventions, are not so sure of their acquiescence in a reform which they may not heartily approve. Iowa has received very little attention in the bestowal of patronage, but the resolution in the platform of the Democratic convention indorsing the Administration is received with cheer. Mississippi falls into line. Ohio, where an outbreak might have been looked for, is discreet. New York will be cordial. While it is undeniable that spoilsmen are dissatisfied with the President's adherence to pledges which they regarded as the clasp of the campaign, it is clear that they do not care to assume at present responsibility for a formal break on the unpopular topic. Their condemnation of the President's course would be his vindication. They dare not venture a declaration which would easily be construed as a wall of disappointed office-seekers. Chicago Herald, Aug. 24th.

—A distinguished member of Congress from the Northwest has written to the Secretary of the Interior that he is informed the Oklahomans boomer have in good faith dispersed and will no longer remain in camp. This action on their part is largely the result of the action of the Administration concerning the issue of leases and the occupancy of the cattle syndicates in the Indian Territory. He states that the proclamation of the President meets with universal approval among the people and has inspired the greatest confidence that it is evident that the Administration intends to deal with equal fairness with all classes of people, and he feels assured that there will be no further trouble on the border of the Indian Territory.

New York State Republican Committee.

SARATOGA, August 25.—The meeting of the State Republican committee was called to order at noon to-day by Chairman Warren Fire Commissioner Van Cort offered the following preamble and resolutions:

WHEREAS, The best interests of the Republican party will be subserved in the pending contest by a free and fair expression of the wishes of all classes of Republicans throughout the primaries held for election of delegates to the next convention, therefore,
Resolved, As the judgment of this committee, that all voters residing in the several districts of the assembly of this State who adhere to the principles of the Republican party, and whose intention is to act with the party and promote its success by their vote, and influence at the next general election, be invited, without regard to any so-called fundamental test, to attend and take part in said primaries, and the committee recommends all organizations of the party throughout the State to act in compliance with the foregoing suggestions. Jacob Hess asked if the plan would not interfere with the plans of the State Republican committee, Van Cort said there were thousands of Republicans in New York city who did not vote last year for the committee, and if the committee would be wise for the committee to do all in its power to give them an opportunity to vote for Republican nominees this year.

The resolution, after a short discussion, was unanimously adopted. It was decided to hold the convention at Saratoga, September 22d.

France on Bismarck's Greed.

PARIS, August 25.—The French newspapers are praising Spain for the attitude she has assumed towards Germany over the Carlist affair. They advise Spain to resist Bismarck's greed, and assure the Spaniards that Bismarck will yield if they continue to maintain a bold front. There is a great deal said in the press about a Franco-Spanish alliance, and this causes uneasiness in French official circles. It is feared that Bismarck may make forcible complaint against it.

An Ex-Governor Drops Dead.

BUFFALO, N. Y., August 25.—A special to the Evening News from Jamestown, N. Y., says ex-Governor Fenton dropped dead in his office in the First National Bank at 2:45 this afternoon. He was apparently in good health, heart disease being the supposed cause.

GOLD IN THE ROCKIES.

A Soldier in the Army Said to be Entitled to the Honor of its Discovery.

A good deal of interest has always attached to the question where the actual first discovery of gold in the Rocky mountains was made, says the Park County (Col.) Bulletin. Two or three localities have been claimed for the honor, and at the risk of tearing them up with dissection, we shall advance a new competitor for that position. In the spring of 1857 six columns of United States troops were started from Sioux Falls, Iowa, to quell a rebellion in the Territory of Colorado. They were led by Sidney Johnson, who, with a small force, was encamped upon the Wasatch range in Utah, and preparing himself for an attack, as the Mormons, whom he had been sent to subdue were in a very threatening attitude. The mounted reinforcements toward the front, but on reaching the Lodgepole creek, in Wyoming, the animals were so jaded that an enforced halt for a day or two was made. During this halt Lieutenant J. H. Alexander, who was in partial command, left camp, accompanied by a soldier named Slater, to reconnoiter the country. It was exceedingly severe in the mountains, and the soldiers had to make a long march, and on reaching the foot of the mountain, Slater, who was a man of great energy, was so tired that he could not go on, and he was left behind. Alexander, who was a man of great energy, was so tired that he could not go on, and he was left behind. Slater, who was a man of great energy, was so tired that he could not go on, and he was left behind.

A Million Dollars Under Water.

LONDON, August 25.—Divers and apparatus have gone out from Liverpool to Grand Canary to make an attempt to recover the large sum of £200,000 in specie, which went down with the Spanish steamer "Alphonso XII" off the above island. The diving party, which is under the supervision and direction of Captain R. T. Stenhouse, surveyor at the Admiralty, went out in the African Steamship Company's steamer "Niger." The "Alphonso XII" was a Spanish mail steamer going to Cuba with passengers and valuable cargo. She put into Las Palmas harbor in February last, when leaving the island struck Guano Point, a ridge of dangerous shoals extending some distance out to sea. She remained on the ridge a few moments—just sufficient to enable the crew and passengers to leave in their boats—then she went bodily over the ridge into deep water. The treasure, which the English divers are going out to try and recover, is said to be in ten cases of £20,000 each.
