SENATOR JONES INTERVIEWED. Views of the Nevada Statesman on the Silver and Chinese Questions-The Muir Glacier.

Senator John P. Jones, who so long and ably represented Nevada, the land of sagebrush and silver, in the Senate, arrived in Portland (Oregon) yesterday, says the News of the 1st. The distinguished statesman was accompanied by his wife, nieces and son, Dr. Clunness, wife and son, of Sacramento, and R. E. Moulton, of New York.

Senator Jones is now serving his second term in the Senate, which will expire on March 4, 1886. He is a distinguished oxygen to start the chemical movements looking man 55 years of age, with long of life." looking man, 55 years of age, with long beard, keen eyes and pleasant smile.

Senator Jones is the ablest man that ever represented the State of Nevada in the Senate, and his famous speech on the silver question is one of the best ever delivered in Washington. It attracted the attention of the thinkers of both America and Europe. He is noted for his open-handed liberality, and is of such a genial nature that he is possessed of a host of friends.

Last evening when the News repre-sentative entered the Esmond Hotel he found quite a number of distinguished gentlemen waiting to pay their respects to the Senator. Among these were ex-Governor Woods, Col. Frank Drake, ex-member of the Nevada Legislature, A. T. Stephens, Col. J. H. Mills, ex-Speaker of the House of Representatives of Nevada, W. T. White, Congressman M. C.George, Ben. Holladay, Gen. Rufus Ingalls and others. Senator Jones was warmly received by his waiting friends, and it was only after quite a little wait that he was enabled to grant the reporter an inter-

Just imagine towers and pinnacles of ice 250 and 300 hundred feet high, like cities of the ice king, glistening with prismatic hues and falling into the sea with a sound like salves of artillery. The sound made was something fearful. It was a mighty and impressive drama of nature, enacted and in Tables or a properties. with Titanic properties, and gigantic scene shifters, in the presence of an audience who felt their insignificance in the face of such a wonder."

"How did you like the appearance of the Treadwell mine?"

"It is a magnificent deposit of ore 480 or 490 feet in width, with a slate foot wall and a granite hanging wall. The ledge has been traced for a distance of two or three miles. Ore in almost inexhausti-ble quantities is plainly in sight."

"The silver question, Senator, is now attracting considerable attention. What

lar Science Monthly, has recently propounded a rather startling question, "May not life be restored to the body after actual death?" As men now understand the theory of life the response must be in the negative. But Richardson cites some testimony that gives ground for an affirmative answer. Thus by com-bining artificial circulation with artificial respiration, a dog was restored to life an hour and five minutes after having been killed by an overdose of chloroform, and the heart having become perfectly still and cold and was passing into rigidity. Again, animals that have been killed by suffocation and partially dissected were brought to such a state of muscular irritability that the experiment was stopped for fear that they would return to conscious, sentient life. Frogs poisoned by nitrate of amyl were restored after nine days of apparent death, and in one case after signs of putrefactive change had com-menced. The action of peroxide of hy-drogen in reanimating the blood and restoring heat in a really dead body is quite startling. From these observations W. Mattieu Williams thinks the conclusion is justifiable that "a drowned or suffocated man is not hopelessly dead so long as the bodily organs remain uninjured by violence or disease, and the blood re-mains sufficiently liquid to be set in mo-tion artificially and supplied with a little such a body life may be revived and con soul, in its immortality, and in its sever-ance from the body at death, gives the lie to even the possibility of science ever restoring life to the body which has been once dead.—Sacramento Record-Union.

SIR HENRY THOMPSON and English physicians who understand the thing say that all enteric fevers, such as typhus, cholera, and the Oriental plague itself, are due to positive pollution in the air and water. Historiographers of disease tell us that the cholera comes from the mouth of the Ganges, the yellow fever from the mouth of the Missippi, and the plague from the mouth of the Nile. Now the Mediterranean is an obvious focus and hot-bed of enteric poison, and has been so ever since the days of the Athenian plague, which Thucydides chronicled. Its tideless waters accumulate unspeakable filth and garbage. The present cholera commenced and found its chief seat in Marseilles, which is, perhaps, the most pestilential port in the world.

Of course until science has actually brought to life a human body that has been actually dead, that is, from the state which we define to be death, the whole subject must be one of speculation. But assuming that the theory is possible of demonstration, and that one, in whom the circulation of the blood, and the pul sations of the heart have actually ceased and the breathing of air into the lungs has come to an end—one from whom consciousness has departed and in whom sensation has ceased—assuming that in sciousness restored, what becomes of the doctrine that the body is dependent for its vitality, not alone to physical conditions, but to occupancy by the immaterial part—the soul? If that has once severed its relation to the body, and life may be restored, it involves the rababilitation of the sealest with the or rehabilitation of the casket with the es-sence of life, intelligence, thought, reason and all other soul attributes. Of course, it is profitless to speculate upon a mere theory of this kind, but when an approach is made to restoration of life symptoms, it is at least well to be kept informed of the theories of science and the groping for supposed new truths. But in this case reasonableness of the belief in the
