workingman's opportunities for employment, but rather increases them; and it certainly puts within his reach comforts that would be beyond his grasp were it not for the cheapness brought about by machinery.

LATEST TELEGRAMS.

FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

REGULAR SESSION.

SENATE.

Washington, 16.—Edmunds, from the committee on private land claims, reported adversely on the bill to abrogate the powers of executive officers of the United States in allowing indemnity locations or scrip for confirmed unsatisfied private land claims under the law of 1853, and to vest that power in courts of the United States. Indefinitely postponed.

The Senate considered the calendar, and the bill granting a pension to Jesse F. Carter, a scout, was again taken up.

Davis, of West Virginia, described the gallant conduct of Panzer, at Beverly, West Virginia, by which he saved the Union forces, and said that although the United States paid more money than any other country, he thought this a deserving case.

Voorn was tired of hearing complaints about the amount paid in pensions. How could the money be better spent?

McMillan and Kirkwood supported the bill.

The morning hour expired, and the Geneva award bill was considered.

Kirkwood said he would move to strike out of section five the words, "and interest accruing therefrom." The amendment is to disallow interest on claims.

Jones, Florida, opposed the bill.

Blaine, Thurman, Carpenter and others, engaged in a colloquy, and the latter endorsed the speech of Davis, of Illinois, on the subject of the Geneva award, and said that the right of the sub-committee had been ridiculed, but not overturned, and Davis' speech had not been answered.

We did not claim that fund from Great Britain as a belligerent, but to satisfy individual claims. It would not be creditable for us to activate with a belligerent; we did not activate with confederates, nor would we with any other power. Blaine had singled him out for obliquity as being a lawyer. Nobody could hurt back that charge on Blaine; he defies the law and defies the question from a legal standpoint at considerable length, and in concluding he claimed he had shown that the claim for enhanced war premiums was first declared by the United States, and that it was to be simply pressed for the purpose of having it removed as a bone of contention between the two nations, we never expecting damages on it, and that by the statement of one of the arbitrators the claims of underwriters formed a basis of award.

HOUSE.

Washington, 16.—Considerable miscellaneous business was disposed of.

Cox, from the foreign committee, reported a resolution requesting the President to take steps to abrogate the Clayton-Bulwer treaty. He reported it for printing and recommitment to the committee on the whole.

Wilson, from the same committee, reported a joint resolution for the disposal of the Chesapeake and Potomac Rivers.

On motion of Valentine the bill passed for the relief of settlers on the public lands.

It provides that a preemption claim, homestead or timber culture claimant who has filed a written relinquishment of his claim in the local land office, the land covered by such claim shall be open to entry without further action on the part of the commissioner of the public land office.

Hooker, chairman of the committee on military affairs, reported a joint resolution appointing managers for national homes for disabled volunteers.

Referred to the committee of the whole.

The House went into committee on the Indian appropriation bill.

Haskell opposed the amendment to strike out the provision for an Indian commission. If the Democrats abolished the supervisory power they must keep quiet about swindling agents and wormy mail.

Scobie said although the commission itself was honest, more corruption and impropriety had existed in the management of Indian affairs than before its appointment.

Belford asked if the commission had rendered inculcable service in getting rid of the late Indian commissioner.

Hooker modified his amendment so as also to report a provision for the appointment of a commission.

Scobie's amendment striking out the appropriation for the Indian police caused Haskell to ask if the purpose was to turn the whole frontier over to the scalping knives of the savage.

Scobie said it was to protect the whites and the Indians.

The pending amendment providing that all bids for provisions for Indians and for transportation shall be opened and contracts awarded at some suitable place in the Mississippi or Missouri valleys, was ruled out on a point of order.

Hooker moved to strike out the section appropriating $10,000 for the expense of the Indian commission. There was no necessity for this commission. The amendment was rejected.

The amendment of Downey, empowering the secretary of the interior to apportion the different tribes among the several states and territories and invest them with all the rights of citizenship was referred.

Hooker submitted an amendment transferring the Indian bureau to the war department after the current fiscal year.

Foreign Fishes.

London, 16.—The cooperative store on Bedford street, Strand, was partly destroyed by fire; the building and stock were insured for £150,000.

The Emperor Eugenie has arrived at Cape Town, South Africa. The North German Gazette, of Berlin, says that the ultramontane, by supporting the government on the customs question, were at one time on the point of securing a position of influence, but subsequently by their strong hostile attitude in political questions in no way arrested the progress of reapprochement which would have been so useful in promoting religious peace.

The journal sets, in conclusion, how the Prussian government possibly feel encouraged by such proceedings, to meet the wishes of the ultramontane?

Stocks.

New York, 16.—There was a sharp up turn in stocks this afternoon, of which the Post says: It is too early to say whether the advance was only for a turn for new profits in stocks, or whether it is the commencement of a bull campaign. The story of a new obligation of nearly $10,000,000 of the St. Paul Company, upon which the bearing of the stock has been going on for several days, is explained to-day by the fact of a change of a bill campaign. The story of a new obligation of nearly $10,000,000 of the St. Paul Company, upon which the bearing of the stock has been going on for several days, is explained to-day by the fact of a change of a bill campaign.

The original 7 per cent. mortgage lien upon the Southern Minnesota division to a 6 per cent. obligation of the St. Paul, for the principal and accrued arrearages of interest on the road, which has not become part of the St. Paul system.

Honor to Nordenskjold. Copenhagen, 16.—The steamer Vega arrived with Professor Nordenskjold on board. Arrangements are making to give the professor a brilliant reception and banquet, to be given to-morrow, by the Danish Geographical Society, and Nordenskjold will dine with the King on Sunday. On Monday the bourgeoisie gives a banquet, and afterward the professor will be received by the association of students. The Vega was escorted by a flotilla, and was received with a man of war and a salute. Twenty thousand persons assembled to witness his arrival.

The West Point Case. West Point, 17.—At the afternoon session in the Whitaker case, Col. Lazelle gave his reasons why he thought that Whitaker was stamping. He was strongly impressed with the note warning; the finding of the necktie was, he thought, against Whitaker, because no person in civilian dress would have brought it there. Whitaker's manner since the occurrence has been of uniform frankness and candor, extremely so with all the cadets.

The Exodus. Washington, 16.—Before the exodus committee, Dr. T. M. String field declared that republican officeholders and politicians, headed by Governor St. John, had controlled the negro exodus in its inception. St. John is to be regarded as the largely anti-republican white immigration to the state, which was imperiling his reelection.

Murder. Montreal, Pa., 15.—To-night Fred. Warren shot and instantly killed Mason Wilson, both respectable young men of the same town. Warren said he had good reasons. He fired four shots, two after Wilson fell.

The Canal Report. Washington, 16.—Representative Cox report from the committee on the report of the committee on the re-opening canal and Moore doctrine, quotes at length from the President's message upon the subject.

Lord Beaconsfield.—He has grown quite spare. His glossy rimples have given place to a dull mass of black hair which bulges out from under a silk hat over the crown and neck like that of a typical German professor of old language. From beneath his well-marked eyebrows a pair of large eyes, which shine brilliantly at times, but usually appear languidly under heavy lids more than half closed, take in all that is passing around without appearing to do so.

Lord Beaconsfield's features are familiar to all newspaper readers on both sides of the Atlantic, but the peculiar olive-yellow tinge of the complexion and the shades of expression must be seen to be understood. No one can look twice at "Dizzy," as many still call him, without feeling inclined to say that he is in the presence of a man of remarkable gifts. His face is now somewhat long, but the brow is still massive and the front high. His lordship was protected from the weather this afternoon by a sack of wool in color part of gray and black, reaching almost to the boots. He wore the orthodox white stand up collar of antique cut, and a black silk neckerchief.—Correspondence of Chicago Times.

HURRYING EDWARD EVERETT.—On a certain occasion Edward Everett visited the composing room of the Boston Advertiser at a late hour to read a proof of an article which he had failed to see at an early hour. Extremely particular about his style he was altering sentences and making additions while the forms were waiting, which so irritated the foreman that he roared out: "Get short, Everett—confound it, cut it short. There's no time now for patching up bad English."

A Fine Thing for the Teeth. FRAGRANT SOZODONT is a composition of the purest and choicest ingredients of the Oriental vegetable kingdom. Every ingredient is well known to have a beneficial effect on the teeth and gums. Its emollient and antiseptic property and aromatic fragrance makes it a toilet luxury. SOZODONT removes all disagreeable odors from the breath caused by catarrh, bad food, etc. It is entirely free from the injurious and poisonous properties of tooth pastes and powders which destroy the enamel. One bottle will last a month.

Reconstruction Impossible. This may not be true as regards states—indeed we know it is not; but it is absolutely true as regards those delicate organs, the human lungs. When they are disorganized and partly consumed, they cannot be restored to a healthy condition. But bear in mind that this misfortune can never happen if HALE'S HONEY OF HONEYCOMB AND TAR is administered as a remedy for cough which always precedes consumption. Sold by druggists everywhere at 50c and $1. Great saving to get the large size.

Joseph O'Brien, Auburn, N. Y., writes: "HALE'S HONEY OF HONEYCOMB AND TAR and FICK'S FOOTBALL-ACIE DRESS sell well."

THE BRITISH PORK PIE.

The American pie has been a favorite subject for English wit, and recently George Augustus Sala wrote a letter to his London paper on that prolific topic. He had eaten the pie, and therefore could write learnedly on the matter. But there is an opportunity now to turn the tables against the exasperating and insupportable Britisher. The weakness of the Britisher is for pork pies, and the Leicester pork pie is not only on every British table, but it goes to every part of the civilized world. Doubtless it can be had in Newark; certainly in New York. It is to be feared, however, that the days of that indigestible luxury are numbered.

The Leicester men, so says the London News, have been brought into court for using or basing on their premises 800 weight of diseased beef. The fact that pork pies are made out of beef is not particularly astonishing; "it is all in the season," said Sam Weller, but the material was very properly objected to the meat being unseasoned, and although it was not proven that the defendants were aware of the fact, they were mulcted in the sum of £100. Brother Jonathan and his kind are avenged.—New-Jersey Advertiser.

Poverty and Suffering. "I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring, which did them no good. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor I procured Hop Bitters, and commenced their use, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have seen a sick day since, and I say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters, for less than one doctor's visit will cost. I know it."
