OUR OLD friend—by which is meant the friend of Utah—ex-Governor S. B. Axtell, is in Washington, but for what reason is not clearly stated. As Axtell is a stalwart, and a great admirer of Grant and Conkling, and consequently of Arthur, perhaps the old man indulges the hope of once again becoming the governor of Utah. It would be amusing as well as interesting if Axtell should come back to his first love, to the annoyance of the persecutors of "El Obispo."

JUDGE FOLGER, who was on Thursday made secretary of the treasury, leaves a position on the supreme bench of New York, the salary of which is $14,000 a year, the pay of the secretaryship being but $8,000. It is questionable if the honor of being chief of the treasury department is equal to that of the chief justiceship of the great State of New York. But what Judge Folger is bidding for is a life position with $10,000 a year on the Supreme Bench of the United States. Judge Folger is one of the ablest and most honest men in the nation. He is not particularly a politician, though he and Conkling and Arthur have long been warm personal friends, and he owes the position just vacated to Conkling, as he does the new office to the President. His administration of the treasury department is certain to be honest, so far as he is personally concerned. If he shall be fortunate in the selection of underlings, we may expect no thieving in the department while he retains the office. It is hoped that President Arthur will be as careful and discriminating in the selection of his other cabinet ministers as he has been in this, in which event he will have a cabinet of which everybody may well feel proud.

PRIVATE SECRETARY BROWN kept the run of the expenses of the late President's illness and funeral, and says the entire expenditure will amount to $347,000. Of that sum $100,000 was spent during Garfield's long struggle for life. The average daily expenses approximated $1,250, and the doctors' bills will aggregate $53,000. The cost at Cleveland was $247,000, which, it seems to be understood will come out of the Ohio state treasury and the pockets of the Cleveland people. The decorations alone cost $103,000; the accommodations, $100,000; the arches, $5,000; the catafalque, $3,000; the music, $2,000, and the incidentals make up the balance. The Pennsylvania Railway Company makes no charge for transporting the remains from Elberon to Washington and thence to Ohio. Brown thinks, and so do the people generally, that Congress will bear the sick bed expenses, that is to say, will pay the $100,000 that it cost up to the time of the President's death; and will probably grant to Mrs. Garfield for life a pension of $3,000 to $5,000 a year. One crazy man was the cause for all this long suffering, the anxiety, the death of the President, and this large expenditure of money. It must also be remembered that the above estimate does not include the cost to individual states and municipal incorporations, the combined expenditure of which amounted to some millions. The hanging of Guit-tan will be but poor satisfaction to the country, and, but slight punishment, considering the enormity and cost of his crime.

THE CORRECTION act passed at the last session of Parliament, and under which the numerous arrests are now being made in Ireland, is not creditable to Great Britain, or would not be were circumstances in that country different. One clause of the act reads as follows:

Any one who is declared by warrant of the lord lieutenant to be a person suspected of having, either before or after the passing of this act, been guilty of principal or accessory, of high treason, treason-felony or treasonable practices, wherever committed, or of any crime punishable by law committed in a prescribed district, being an act of violence or intimidation, or the inciting to an act of violence or intimidation, and tending to interfere with or disturb the maintenance of law and order, may be arrested in any part of Ireland and legally detained; during the continuance of this act in such prison in Ireland as may from time to time be directed by the lord lieutenant, without bail or mainprize, and shall not be discharged or tried by any court without the direction of the lord lieutenant; and every such warrant shall be conclusive evidence of all matters therein contained, and of the jurisdiction to issue and execute such warrant, and of the legality of the arrest and detention of the person mentioned in such warrant.

In this country we may hardly judge such an act. The occasion for placing so much and such arbitrary power in the hands of any man we can scarcely conceive it possible may arise. Yet Great Britain has a constitutional government, and her law-makers are wise, conservative men, jealous of the rights of individuals, and careful to avoid persecution of British subjects. They guard the persons and property of citizens of the empire with a religious faithfulness and national pride that challenge the admiration of the world. When Parliament can be induced to enact a law containing provisions like that which is quoted above, the situation must be serious indeed. The members must certainly know that ordinary acts have failed, and that common laws will prove of no effect. The Irish have but themselves to blame for the seemingly despotic enactment, for the circumstances and situation must have been of the gravest character to have induced the great stickler for the rights of the people, Gladstone, to consent to the law, to say nothing of the consent of the many talented and liberal statesmen to be found in both houses of the British Parliament.
