The French. Paris, 4.-At the cabinet council, Waldeck Rousseau, minister of the interior made a strong argument in favor of the expediency of retaining General Jollicoen, as director of cavalry manoeuvres. General Thibaudin, minister of war, said on military matters, Waldeck Rousseau was ill qualified to give an opinion. President Grey interposed and the matter was dropped. Paris says Ferry and Thibaudin have to come to an agreement. The great cavalry manoeuvres on an eastern frontier should be abandoned on account of the heavy expenditure it will cost. Jollicoen will have command of the usual cavalry manoeuvres. Henri Rochefort in an article in his 'Tribune', says the nation relies on the business and loyalty of Thibaudin to save the republic from the misfortune of falling into the hands of Desgallifet.

London, 4.-A dispatch from Paris says minister Ferry informed president Jollicoen, that government had decided to take energetic action in Tonquin with the view to establishing a protectorate.

Blue Horse Wants an Eye.

Washington, 4.-The following letter from the Sioux Indian Reservation was received at the Indian Office to-day: PINE RIDGE AGENCY, March 26, 1883.

To the Hon. Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Washington. Sir-I am a friend of the great father's, and am going in the white man's ways. I have noticed white men cutting wood and I thought I would be like the white man and chop some wood for my wife. A piece of wood flew up and put out my eye. Now I would like the great father to send me another eye. I can have it put in here. I have always been a friend to the white man, and am bringing my children up in the white man's ways. I am getting old and wish my father would send me a cane. When you send the eye please send a brown one, as that is the color of my other eye. I hope the great father will do as I ask. I shake hands with a good heart. Your friend, (Signed) BLUE HORSE.

Low, Cyrus W. Field, John E. Parsons and H. M. Shiefelr.

Hull has issued a corrected statement of Cooper's illness. He says Cooper has been troubled with sore throat for some weeks, but otherwise was in fair health. Sunday revealed pneumonia, and yesterday the symptoms became worse, leaving no hope of recovery.

Indian Wheat.

Washington, 4.-As India is the growing rival of the United States in the supply of wheat for the British market, American wheat shippers will be interested in the report on Indian wheat productions by H. Matson, consul general at Calcutta, in the February number of Consular Reports, which is just entered. Matson's conclusions are as follows: That India can produce an average quality of wheat at as low a cost to the producer as the most favorable locality in the United States; that she now can supply the European market with about 50,000,000 bushels annually, and possesses facilities for increasing the supply to an almost unlimited extent owing to the great elasticity of home consumption, and to the vast amount of land awaiting cultivation; that in quality, cheapness of transportation, facilities for handling, safety against damage during transit and stability of the money exchange, American wheat, especially that from the new northwest, has such advantages that there need be no apprehension on account of Indian competition at legitimate prices, but in order to maintain this advantage it is necessary that America should keep pace with India in efforts to reduce and maintain freight at the lowest possible minimum. On the other hand it is an indisputable fact that India wheat has already become and will continue to be a very important factor in the grain markets of Europe, and the check against high prices brought about either by speculation or any other unnecessary or artificial means; finally, that upon the basis of a fair average crop throughout the world, the American farmer will have to prepare himself to reduce the cost of production to the lowest minimum and be content with small profits, or else wheat growing in India will be stimulated to such an extent that subsequent competition may become extremely formidable.

Anti-France.

Rome, 4.-The story of a triple defensive alliance between Germany, Austria and Italy against France, is made the occasion by the press of Italy for many anti-French articles. Liberta sets forth that if the republic assumes arrogant airs in her dealings with other countries of Europe, she will find herself confronted with the unpleasant spectacle of several powers united for mutual defence. The Journal de Rome (clerical) goes still further, and says: From the Baltic to Sicily, the French republic has not but enemies who are ready to attack her if she but moves a finger. She is at the mercy of her enemies if there is the slightest cause, as Bismarck and Italy will not fail when the chief of the alliance gives the smallest sign to find such cause on a few minutes' notice.

Railroad Construction.

Chicago, 4.-The Railway Age will publish a statement of railway construction for the first quarter of the year 1883. It shows the latter part of the winter was extremely unfavorable to road building, on account of the severity of the weather, heavy snowstorms, floods, and a flurry in the iron trade, causing the timbers to hold off. The report is to the effect that a construction of main track for that time was 765 miles, against 1,200 for the same period of 1882, when the weather was very mild and all conditions were favorable. The mileage for the year is estimated at 8,000. Among the leading amounts by states are the following: New York, 114; Arkansas, 91; Arizona, 82; Pennsylvania, 73; Montana, 45; Florida, 43; Missouri, 40; Illinois, 37; Idaho, 28; New Mexico, 8; Utah, 25.

The Creek War.

Washington, 4.-A telegram received at the war department and forwarded to the Indian office, to day, reports that the chiefs of the Splocha and Creek Indians who recently left their reservation have gone into camp with the Comanches, thirty miles west of the Sac and Fox reservations. Peaceable Creeks held a council with the seceders to-morrow, and if the latter refuse to return to their reservation and are supported by other tribes, all the available military force at forte Reno and Sill will be needed. The dispatch further states that Major Platts has directed Major Bates, of the Twentieth Infantry, to call on commanding officers at forte Reno and Sill for troops if necessary.

The New Postmaster General.

Washington, 4.-Gresham was born in Harrison County, Indiana, in 1832; was educated in his native state, and after graduation at the Indiana State University in Bloomington, studied law, and soon afterwards began practice in Graydon, the county seat of Harrison County. He was from the first successful as a lawyer, and took an active part in the politics of the state. Shortly after the outbreak of the late war he was elected a representative in the state legislature, and in 1861 was chairman of the house committee on military affairs. While occupying this position he co-operated so skillfully and energetically with Governor Morton in the organization of the state militia, and raising and forwarding troops, that the latter in '61 commissioned him lieutenant-colonel of the Thirty-eighth Regiment, Indiana Volunteers, March, '62; he was promoted to be colonel of the Fifty-third Indiana, August, '63, to be a brigadier general of volunteers. He participated in the siege of Corinth, the siege and capture of Vicksburg, the siege of Jackson, Miss., and up to January, '64, commanded the Third Brigade, Fourth Division.

The Liquor Question.

Booth in Vienna.

Vienna, 4.-Booth's Othello was loudly applauded. The closing scenes, although marked by certain beautiful passages, were not satisfactory to the critics.
