Dukes Shot.

Harrisburg, Pa., 13.—Jim Nutt shot and killed Dukes at 8:30 to-night. Particulars later.

Pittsburgh, 13.—A Post Union town, Pa., special says: James Nutt, son of state treasurer, Captain A. Nutt, deceased, shot and killed N. L. Dukes, his father's murderer, this morning at 7:30 o'clock. He shot him four times, all the balls taking effect. Dukes died instantly.

Dukes had been frequently warned of his danger in remaining in Uniontown, and he lately said he would either stay there or lie in the cemetery. It is said that he had expressed a fear of the son of Captain Nutt, and was never seen on the street after night. To-day James Nutt was seen practising with his revolver at his home, and this evening about 7:30 o'clock he was standing near the postoffice when Dukes came along.

As Dukes was passing he turned his head and noticed young Nutt just as he stepped from the doorway and fired, the shot taking effect in Dukes' side. Dukes started to run when Nutt followed and shot him again. By this time Dukes was on the postoffice steps when he received another shot and fell inside the door. Nutt followed and fired two more shots into Dukes' prostrated body, one taking effect in the neck. Dukes was dead before any one could get to him. The revolver that did the work is the same one that Captain Nutt carried on the morning of his death. Young Nutt gave himself up and is now in jail. He was calm but pale as a sheet. Five shots were fired, four taking effect. The coroner's jury is now sitting. Excitement is running high.

At 11 o'clock to-night everything was quiet. Young Nutt is not quite 20 years of age and has always been considered as quiet and inoffensive. The murder which led to the tragedy to-night is still fresh in the minds of all. Dukes, who was engaged to Miss Nutt, had written an infamous letter to her father, Captain Nutt, questioning her chastity, and Captain Nutt, upon the invitation of Dukes, had gone to the latter's room in the hotel on December 21 to settle the affair quietly, when Dukes shot and killed him. The murder created intense excitement, and Dukes was arrested, tried and acquitted. His release caused great indignation and threats on his life were heard on all sides, but no attempt was made to carry them out, and it was generally believed he would be allowed to remain at Uniontown unmolested.

The transactions are regarded as significant of the intention of the Chinese to monopolize the trade of Chinese and Japanese goods with eastern Canada, on completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway.
