THE TWENTY-FOURTH.

How the Day was Spent in Salt Lake.

THE CONCERTS. Of course, the principal event on the Twenty-Fourth was the concert in the Tabernacle gotten up in honor of the entrance of the pioneers into this valley.

There was quite a large attendance at the square, not so large, however, as on the Fourth. The principal event was the balloon ascension by Mr. Van Tassel, accompanied by Mrs. Hoyt. A majority of those who took an interest in the affair were confident the lady's courage would fall before the time came for starting; but she had the nerve, and was not a whit behind the professional aeronaut in the matter of courage and collected bearing.

Among the other attractions was the duddesque doings, in which the duddes suffered a disastrous defeat at the hands of the duddes. The score was 24 to 10, the former figure representing the runs of the merchants' employees, the latter the runs of the drummers.

There were also bicycle races, W. Wood not only earning the gold medal for the third time, but also winning a stop watch for which Fred. Pierce competed with him. The silver medal was won by Chas. Howe. In the foot race, 100 yards, James Wilson came off victorious.

All the pleasure resorts in and out of the city were crowded. Fuller's Hill, Calder's Farm and other similar places had their full quota of those in search of pleasure and rest.

There was an enormous crowd at the lake, but nothing of a serious nature transpired to mar the pleasure of the day.

Don't Miss Going

To the Circus; you never will see such a show in Salt Lake City again. No, never! The crowd was so great that it became necessary to get large quantities of lumber for extra seats, which were soon filled to overflowing. It is estimated that there were fully 25,000 strangers in Salt Lake City to witness Old John Robinson and his ten big brand new shows, combined with his monster three-ring circus. To-day is the last, and two performances will be given.

Bold Robbery.

A bold robbery was successful executed on Wednesday morning in broad daylight, Madsen, the proprietor of the second-hand store on Commercial street, being the victim. Madsen, desiring to see the circus procession, locked up his front door and started out. During the few moments he was absent a man jumped over the fence in the rear of Madsen's place, entered the back door, broke open the desk, stole $200 in cash, a gold watch and two silver watches, the aggregate loss being about $400. There can be no doubt that the man had anticipated just such an opportunity, and had waited for it with successful results.

There is no clue whatever to the thief. A woman living in the rear says she saw a man wearing a cap leave the place, and with this poor exception there is nothing to which the police can turn with the hope of leading to the detection of the party.

To-day, Last Day—Two Grand Performances.

This afternoon the Monster Show of Old John Robinson gives its third performance in Salt Lake City, and to merely say that if the last day pleases as well as the first, his tents won't be able to hold the crowds. Go early, take the children early, so that they can see the menagerie; then go into the monster circus and look with wonder upon a sight you never witnessed before—three great circuses going on at one and the same time.

The Pioneer Loan and Building Association

Will hold its fourth regular monthly meeting for the loaning of money and payment of dues, on Thursday, July 26th, at 7:30 p.m., at Independence Hall, on Third South street, opposite the Cliff House.

"The Silver King."

On Tuesday and last evening the noted modern dramatic success, "The Silver King" was produced at the Salt Lake Theatre. In point of numbers there has never been a larger audience in the Theatre than Tuesday night, and in respect to money, the company played to the largest audience which ever did gather in that building.

The company is a very large one and is superior in every particular. In fact, it is difficult to conceive how any character could be improved. Mr. Osmond Tearle as the Silver King is a magnificent actor, who seems fully en rapport with the part, or who has merged the part into himself till they seem inseparable. The scene in which he discovers the dead body of Ware, the gradual awakening of the thought he had killed his enemy and that with his wife where he begins his escape, are unquestionably the finest for Mr. Tearle, and he takes advantage of the opportunity thus afforded to show a power which nowhere else in the play can be displayed. Miss Rosa Corham, faithful, loving wife, is a portrayal that once seen, will rarely be forgotten. Two of the finest pieces of character acting—or acting of any kind in the play—are those of Jakies by Mr. Jennings, and Father Christmas, with his "dear boy," by Daniel Leeson. The contrast in these two characters is a striking one, the faithful old servant all goodness all soul; the other, as consummate an old scoundrel with as perfect an air of genuine honesty as ever blessed the eyes of mortal; while both have a humorous side which manifests itself on the most touching and startling occasions; as when one feels the tears beginning to well up at a touching scene with the poor wife, that good old soul the Jaikes comes out with some dry remark, affecting in itself, but which, owing to the surroundings, is laughable in the extreme.

These are two characters never to be forgotten, that of Jaikes a picture which can not be effaced. So one might go on through the whole list; with the "Spider," Baxter, the "Duke of York," and especially Miss Carrie Elberts and Miss May German. They were all gratifying successes when considered in their relations to the whole.

True to the announcement, the company carried its scenery entire; and such scenery, too. Those acquainted with English country must have recognized it in an instant, so natural, so picturesque, so real. The manner in which the enormous amount of scenery was handled must have been gratifying indeed. Twice there was a little difficulty with the drops, which marred the pleasure to some extent, but when the remarkable mechanical effects were produced—the moving off of whole scenes and the placing on of others, in the presence of the audience took place—the surprise of the spectators turned to admiration and a burst of applause followed. The whole entertainment was a grand success.

The piece will be repeated to night for the last time.

The Circus.

The circus has hit the town hard, the exhibitions yesterday afternoon and evening drawing thousands of people to them, the immense pavilion last evening being literally crammed and jammed. We can only guess as to the number of people present, but there were so many as to set everybody to wondering where they all come from and where they got the money that the pleasant man at the ticket wagon insisted upon accepting. What is of greater importance is the fact that the show is really a good one, as circuses go, much of the business being new and all of it being well performed. It is ancient and venerable to particularize in regard to the acts in a circus, hence we will make a departure by saying that Uncle John Robinson's embraces and includes ground and lofty tumbling, the trapeze, the various branches of the horse opera, tight rope performances, gymnastic exhibitions, dog and monkey acts for the delectation of the juveniles, feats of strength and skill, the inevitable clowns, et cetera and so on ad infinitum, and everything is done well, while some of the acts are executed in a manner to elicit loud applause and genuine praise. The menagerie branch of the show contains a fine collection of rare birds, beasts and reptiles. Altogether the circus is one of the best that has ever visited Salt Lake. Two more entertainments will be given—this afternoon and evening.

Penny Wisdom—Pound Folly.

It is foolish to save the little that SOZODONT costs, and suffer what will result in bad teeth and large payments to dentists. Place a bottle of it on the toilet, use five drops only of it every time after eating, cleanse the mouth, and show your wisdom.

LATEST TELEGRAMS.

The Telegraphers. Baltimore, 25.—The basis of the agreement between the Brotherhood of Telegraphers and the American Rapid Telegraph Company is an advance of 10 per cent. on salaries, extra pay for all work over eight hours for the day and seven hours for night work, and extra for all Sunday work.

Montreal, 25.—The situation in the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company officers continues to improve. The officers of the company claim that they are entirely independent of the strikers. As an evidence of returning confidence, the stock market at Montreal was buoyant and strong to-day, with the whole list higher.

Pittsburg, 25.—The following dispatch was received by secretary Hughes of the Brotherhood of telegraphers: "New York, 25.—Satisfactory arrangements having been made between the Brotherhood of the United States and Canada and the American Rapid Telegraph Company, all the members working for that company will resume work to-morrow morning, July 25."

Signed, JOHN CAPSHELL. New York, 25.—There is yet no disposition on the part of the W. U. company to meet the demands of the strikers and the rumor that a compromise is being effected was denied by the officers of the company. They claim that the situation is continually improving and that a practical victory has been won over the strikers.

Denver, 25.—From private reliable sources we learn that a secret meeting of managers of western roads is being held here, having for its object the forming of a California pool of the roads represented by the Union Pacific, Denver and Rio Grande, Central Pacific, Southern Pacific and Missouri Pacific, including the line lately completed to El Paso. It is confidently expected that the pool will be formed, upon what basis it is yet unknown.

The recent statement of Mr. Lehmman shows that the original rumor that late Sheriff Boyer was connected with the Grand County assassination is untrue. The evidence is positive that he was many miles away.

The national mining exposition is attracting thousands of visitors. The greatest crowd ever on the grounds was present to-day. All the departments are rapidly filling up. Every feature of the exhibition is a decided improvement over last year.

The N. H. Senatorship. Concord, 25.—In the second ballot to-day, Chandler received 65 votes, Harry Bingham, 111; necessary to a choice, 157.

BEYOND THE RIVER

Across the Mississippi is Held a Convincing Conference.

"I tell you, sir, that they are one of the nearest combinations ever produced, and my experience of that sort of thing has been wide enough to enable my judgment to be true respect."

"Oh, I don't know," responded the first speaker's friend, with a little yawn, as though he didn't take much interest in the subject. "I have never been able to see much difference in those things. They are all pretty nearly the same size, and made of about the same stuff."

The talk, at which the foregoing is a fragment, took place in Galveston, Missouri, not long ago, in the snug office of Dr. M. P. Flowers, one of the leading physicians of the state, who followed up the vein in which he had introduced it substantially in these words:

"Nonsense, that is the rigmarole of a boy, or rather of a man who either doesn't know or doesn't care what he says. Those things, as you call them, are just as different as the moon is from green cheese. Now, liniments, lotions, and ointments are very good in most cases for the relief of pain or inflammation. But, in the first place, they are uncertain; they soil the hands and the linen, besides being always out of reach when they are most wanted."

"Well, my dear doctor," sighed the traveler from the north, "what would you have? This is a wretched world anyhow, and nothing is ever at hand when it is wanted. You can't suggest anything—"

"Yes I can," broke in the doctor, thumping the table with his fist. "I can suggest BENSON'S CAPSICUM PLEASANT PLEASTER. I have tried it on my patients, and I have tried it on myself for an attack of rheumatism, and in all cases relief has followed in from three to forty eight hours. The old plasters are a good deal better—the Capsicum is a telegraph dispatch. For instance, in case of Neuralgia, Muscular Rheumatism, Lumbago, retarded action of the kidneys, and—"

"I give it up, doctor, and in case of need I'll buy Benson's," said the traveler, pleasantly.

In the centre of the genuine is out the word CAPSICUM. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.
