IT IS A FACT

That thousands of our business men go to their offices in the morning after an uneasy night, or a late dinner, feeling dull and all out of sorts. This is entirely unnecessary, for a single dose of that sparkling foaming specific, Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient, taken before breakfast, will immediately dispel all feelings of heaviness, remove gently but surely the cause, and quicken into healthy action every fibre of the system. For sale by all druggists.

THE STRIKE.

Editors Herald:

During my stay in this place I am in a position to see your paper very soon after its arrival here, and of course the first thing after perusing my letters is to see what is going on in Zion.

One of the items lately gleaned is that Watermaster Wilcken (under instructions from the city fathers, who in turn are no doubt acting at the request of the able, energetic and influential committee appointed by the Twentieth Ward "dry beavers" to look after their interests in regard to the water supply of that region) has been prospecting in the mountains and is likely to be able to coax a few drops down to where water is so much needed; indeed, I have long believed that to be a practicable means of furnishing a limited supply for household purposes. Tunneling and water pipes will win, but the fathers must not be afraid of a little expense for water pipes. I have no doubt that one-half the money already sunk in the artesian well would long since have yielded a decent supply for the dry settlement. Not that I have any complaint to make about the well; let the experiment go forward, but not at the expense of other improvements.

Another item which suits me is the suggestion that the city should purchase any water right belonging to any and all persons connected with the mill recently burned up City Creek. Let the water right be bought and paid for; the water of the entire stream be utilized in the interest of the citizens of Salt Lake City. No flour or marble mills should be allowed.

These suggestions made, I now desire to say a few words to the HERALD and its readers. In doing so permit me to premise that it is always unpleasant to take issue with a man in his own house, or an editor in his own paper. However, as most questions have two sides to them, it is well enough occasionally to discuss public subjects pro and con. The theme I propose to take up now for ventilation is the strike of the telegraph operators, which is now the prevailing topic of conversation and speculation.

I have clipped the following excerpt from a late number of the HERALD, wherein the editor gives expression to his views on the subject:

The principle upon which striking rests is all wrong. It is simply the weaker party making demands on the stronger and attempting to enforce them. Arbitration, or at least no greater exactions on the part of the laborer than is consistent with his position and his employer's interests, and these unaccompanied by threat, is the better plan to pursue. Something may then be effected if circumstances warrant it; but extortionate and disproportionate claims backed by prepared striking as the result of refusal, will hardly ever prevail. Those who control large interests and receive and disburse great sums of money, will not be coerced in that way.

The first proposition contained in the above extract is that the principle of striking is wrong. Let us see. The operators believed that their employer was not paying a fair compensation for their services. They so informed the employer, and asked an increase of pay. But the "stronger" party, instead of complying or proposing "arbitration," treated the application for increased compensation, with silence and contempt.

When the "weaker" party became convinced that there was no hope of a change, they made up their minds and so notified the employer, I believe, that they would quit work, which they did.

Was there wrong in the principle or in the act? I say no; no person will contend that any one employed did not have the right to quit work. If not had, all had the right, and in quitting work each took the risk of consequences. It is true some, perhaps all of them, may lose money and may be in a worse condition financially than if they had continued to work at the terms paid by the company, but is that a reason why they should put in obedience the rights of free men?

The first strike of any moment that I remember to have read about in the history of the American people is that little affair at Boston, when the people, having had a surfeit of government at the hands of royalty, made the memorable strike against the stamp act, by not only refusing to buy and use the same, but which stamp duties were demanded, but they valiantly, defiantly and unlawfully destroyed a cargo of tea in Boston harbor.

Was the principle which dictated that strike wrong? I think not. It was not only right, but was the opening wedge which led to the independence of the colonies.

The people of the United States have so long submitted to the outrageous monopoly known as the Western Union Telegraph Company that the latter has become a power for evil in the land.

That company fixes its own rates for the work performed by the operators, charging exorbitant rates therefor, and at the same time arbitrarily reduces the compensation allowed the men (and women) who earn the money. It does this in order to insure heavy dividends upon largely watered stocks. Not only this, but it has become, and is to-day, and has been for years a political engine working always in the interest of a political party and against the interests of the people at large. It not only sends news, but is also editor of hundreds of newspapers in the country, whose managers are so lazy or indifferent that they print verbatim whatever stuff may come to them over the wires.

Now, if all this be true, may it not turn out that the present strike may open the way for the country to emerge from the thralldom of this "stronger" power, by causing the United States to control the telegraph as they do the post-offices, in the interest of the people, and not in that of a heartless corporation.

As I have taken issue with a portion of the HERALD's ideas on strikes, I will try to make somewhat of amendment by endorsing its concluding remarks, wherein it says: "A persistence in the course it (the Western Union Telegraph Company) has of late pursued will some day bring upon it a strike which will not be so easily overcome—a revolt of the combined press of the Pacific coast."

Now, here let me suggest that this strike cannot take place any too soon, because the press and the people, of not only the Pacific coast, but every where else, have submitted too long already to its extravagant charges for a very poor quality of goods.

But, if the HERALD should be found in the ranks of strikers when the time arrives, will it not be found carrying out a "wrong principle?" If it's theory be sound.

LATEST TELEGRAMS

Report of the Cattle Commission.

Washington, 2.—The treasurer of the cattle commission has made a report to the treasury department in regard to the alleged existence of foot and mouth disease among cattle in this country. It says in part: "Charges have recently been made in the British Parliament to the effect that cattle was being shipped from our ports infected with foot and mouth disease; and a majority of the House of Commons having voted for a resolution opposing the importation into Great Britain of cattle from any country in which said disease is said to exist, we deem it only our duty to state the facts in the case, as far as this country is concerned. After the most extended and the most exhaustive inquiry, your commission has not been able to find any trace of foot or mouth disease, apart from herds just landed from Great Britain, and whole herds have been in every case sequestered until the infection had entirely disappeared; and the nature and scope of our inquiry may be deduced from our report for 1881. Beginning with the great rendezvous of cattle at Kansas City, Council Bluffs and Omaha, we have made a careful investigation along all the lines of cattle traffic, as far as the Eastern seaboard, and in this investigation we have included all the great stock yards where cattle are detained for feeding.

Suits Against the Western Union

Philadelphia, 2.—The hearing of five civil suits, brought by C. E. Tuller against the Western Union Telegraph company, for refusal to accept messages from him on July 25, and under ordinary conditions, took place this afternoon before the magistrate of the district. The plaintiff swore that he presented messages for Cape May, Atlantic City, Trenton and Chicago; these were refused except upon condition that they be subject to delay or mailing. Tuller then declined to accept the conditions and refused to send the messages. The officers of the telegraph company swore that the plaintiff was informed that there would be no unusual delay in sending his messages to Atlantic City and Trenton, and chief operator Clark swore that on the day named business was moving with reasonable promptness, between this city and all the points mentioned. The magistrate held the suits under advisement until Wednesday. Tuller states that he will begin other suits against the company, and claim damages in $15,000.

Miscellaneous.

Mexico, 2.—The telegraph operators on the Mexican National Railway struck this morning. They demand an increase of $30 per month. Trains are interrupted.

Galveston, 2.—News' Laredo special: The rebellion in the State of Tamaulipas was quelled. The success was due, in a measure, to the quick transportation of troops by railway, and Mexicans are much gratified at the success of the new method.

A great crowd was awaiting the arrival of the President's train in Chicago, but the party stepped into their carriages and escaped the mob.

The Hill Investigation

Washington, 2.—In the Hill investigation case to-day, Feigler, foreman for Bartlett, Hayward and Company, testified concerning the charges made in the heating apparatus of the Chicago custom house. Coleman offered in evidence, plans and specifications and vouchers, which showed that the furring and lathing work on the public buildings in Austin, Nashville, Washington, Harrisburg, Pittsburg, Cincinnati and New York, amounting to large sums of money had been given to Dwight & Hoyt, without contract or competition. Totten objected to the introduction of such evidence, alleging that the work was done under contract. The commission took the matter under consideration and, after recess, Coleman announced the withdrawal of his offer in regard to the furring and lathing work on public buildings. Coleman asked for a ruling in regard to the admission of further testimony touching the heating apparatus in Chicago building; also for a ruling on the proposition made by him, to prevent further evidence in regard to the granite contracts. Chairman New thereupon read the dated statement announcing that the testimony in all the questions was closed, excepting the single question of heating apparatus at Chicago, upon which the commission wanted more light; if the prosecution were dissatisfied with it, they could file charges and specifications with the secretary of the treasury. Coleman protested in vigorous language against the closing of testimony, and demanded that the prosecution be allowed to continue the investigation. Notwithstanding the objections and annoyances which had been thrown in the way of the prosecution by the supervising architect to prevent, if possible, a full and fair investigation of Hill's official acts. New informed the court that no more arguments would be heard. Coleman will cross-examine Thompson, of the architect's office, to-morrow, when the investigation will practically be finished. Adjourned.

Political Outrages—Small pox and Yellow Fever.

Panama, 2.—The particulars of the outrages at Monte Cristo, are that Colonel Manuel Ceballos seized the barracks, taking the prisoners of the prefect. The colonel and troops then broke into the houses of Rodriguez, Governor Colonel Heredia, Chaves and Valdes, and captured and imprisoned them, with Cordova and Reyes and Vasquez. They were brought from Monte. The excitement became intense when it was known that a body of young men were coming from Monte to attack the barracks, and Guevara Degano and Reyes were arrested. Ceballos ordered Jose Castro to murder all the prisoners if the attack were made. Early this morning the attack was made, and after nine hours storming the town was taken. A number were killed including Jose Castro. Ceballos escaped on horseback. The remainder of the party took to the woods. Duaste Vasquez, Reyes and Guevara were found murdered in prison. Heredia was alive although wounded in two places and his leg broken. A court martial was at once held on the leaders of the party captured, and four of them, Sanchez, Pinceve, Sambreno and Picon were publicly shot in the square of Monte Cristo. Small-pox and malignant fever are ranging on the coast of Guatemala.

Yellow fever is playing havoc among foreign residents at Callis, Peru.

Danger from a New Quarter.

Washington, 2.—The secretary of the treasury received a letter from a prominent firm in New York, calling his attention to the fact that large quantities of wool of a low grade were exported from Egypt, Syria and countries in their vicinity, to this country, which is the principal market for them, besides a considerable quantity of bed wools, extracted from old mattresses from Constantinople, and these wools are frequently shipped to Marseilles and England, for this country. In view of the epidemic raging in the eastern part of the Mediterranean, these wools might convey the infection as well as rags.

Ford Arrested.

Kansas City, Mo., 2.—Charley Ford, slayer of Jesse James, the famous outlaw, was arrested at the police headquarters this afternoon on an old indictment for the Blue Cut train robbery. It is not known yet what caused his arrest at this time. Ford said he was dumbfounded at his arrest, and was evidently badly frightened.

The Invincible.

Minneapolis, 2.—Hartan easily won the decisive heat at Minnetonka, Homer second, Teemer third. In the consolation race Plaisted and Riley were the only starters, the former won by a length and a half.

The last testimony in the Hill investigation has been submitted.

Through Passengers—Knights Templars.

Omaha, 2.—Through passengers on to-day's train to arrive at San Francisco, August 5th: Francis Ackley, St. Charles, Mich.; Robert Searly, Mrs. C. D. Hopkins and three sons, San Francisco; James H. Shaw, Thomas L. Gadatt, Hall Culbertson, J. C. Churchill, Eau Claire, Wis.; C. W. Dolan, Stephens Point, Wis.; Henry M. Morgan, Milwaukee; Samuel Crawford, Indianapolis; William Lundberg, Davenport; C. S. Rodes, Omaha; J. M. Campbell, Chicago.

A Knights Templar excursion of eight Pullman sleepers will leave Kansas City in a day or two for San Francisco via the Union Pacific railway. The excursionists are chiefly from Philadelphia and are in charge of E. M. Henkins, of New York.

The Plague.

Cairo, 2.—There were 887 deaths from cholera in Egypt on Wednesday, including 273 here, and three among the British troops. Twelve English doctors arrived at Alexandria to-day on their way to Cairo.

Yellow Fever.

New York, 2.—On the arrival of the steamer Saratoga, from Havana, James Barnes, steward, was removed to the quarantine hospital, suffering from supposed yellow fever.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

The President's trip is partaking of the nature of a triumphal march, the citizens all along the route displaying the greatest enthusiasm.

The Woodstock branch of the Nova Scotia bank of Montreal, has become heavily involved by the failure of Shaw and Brothers bank, Boston.

F. T. and J. D. Phinney, boot and shoe manufacturers of Boston, have suspended; liabilities over $400,000. Their failure brings down the banking firm of Shaw and Brothers.

A gang of Kukulks have been disturbing the negroes in Georgia lately; many negroes have been whipped numerically; the citizens are taking steps to end the abuse.

Thirty-two guns were fired in the public square at Syracuse, N.Y., in celebration of the killing of Carey, the informer. Two gunners were badly injured by a premature explosion.
