Business Failures.

New York, 24.—Matthew Morgan & Sons, bankers, have suspended. The announcement of the failure caused depression in the stock market, but it recovered and became steadier. The firm was an old one. The house of Morgan & Sons has been in this city thirty-five years. It came originally from New Orleans and they have always been correspondents of several London houses. They were rated at one million dollars. The suspension was due to the shrinkage of values at the stock exchange. The firm was identified with the Denver and Rio Grande and the C and T. C. railroad company. Henry Morgan was formerly a director of the Denver and Rio Grande.

Morgan & Sons are not members of the Stock Exchange. They are known as merchant bankers. They drew exchange and dealt in securities on the list.

The suspension of Morgan & Sons is attributed to the shrinkage of values of railroad bonds, principally Denver & Rio Grande, of which they were large holders at high prices. Their liabilities were mainly due to the exchange, but they have liabilities on the Stock Exchange. Members of the firm are large real estate owners. It is believed their inability to realize on real estate was the immediate cause of the suspension.

The assignment was made to protect all creditors equally. Correspondents of the firm are the Union and City Banks in London, and A. & M. Heine, Marcouard Andre and Hottenger & Co. in Paris. They have correspondents also in all parts of Europe. The social conditions of members of the firm are very high, a daughter of Edward Morgan being the wife of August Belmont, Jr., and Henry Morgan is connected with the family of Mr. Brown, of Brown Bros. & Co., by marriage.

The Immigrants.

New York, 23.—Twenty-five Mormon missionaries with 501 converts, 401 Scandinavians and 100 English, arrived on the steamship Arizona, enroute for Salt Lake City, under charge of chief elder C. H. Nye. As the steamer reached the dock roll call was held and each elder was detailed to his respective post. Elder C. H. Nye said "The converts I bring are not all recent accessions, some having been members of the church for over thirty years, who, through lack of means or other causes, have been unable to come here sooner. I am now going back to Utah to remain there. Within a short time of our arrival a further relay of elders will be sent to Europe to keep up the work. I consider I have been very successful." Referring to the arrest of Mormon missionaries in Vienna Mr. Nye said: "I do not contemplate any serious outcome from it. Austria is very intolerant I look upon the trouble as only temporary, and it is doing our church more good than harm." Nye, on being questioned in regard to the number of each sex he had with him was very reticent. Women formed a majority in his party.

Woerishoffer, prominently identified with the bear interest, was interviewed to-day regarding the situation in Wall Street, and said: "I regard the failure of Morgan & Sons as very serious. They were in an old house and greatly respected. I do not think it will have a great effect on the stock market. It is more of a commercial disaster. I do not anticipate more failures at present, though I think stocks will go lower." Regarding Gould's position he said: "Gould cannot fail. He has lost a great deal of money, but has plenty left. Anything may happen; Gould may go under, this house may tumble down, but I am taking my chances on it. I do not intend to move." The market, Woerishoffer said, looked bad and he acknowledged that he felt blue.

Capital Chops.

Washington, 24.—The House committee on ways and means agreed to report favorably, by a vote of 7 to 2, the administrative question of the Hewitt tariff bill, as far as it relates to customs duties. Kasson, Russell and Blackburn were not present. The division on the bill was on party lines, the Democrats voting for and the Republicans against it.

The Senate committee on finance postponed further consideration of the trade-dollar bill until next December, for the reason that the House bill required amendment and a conference with the House could not be obtained this session.

The body was left hanging until five o'clock when it was cut down by friends. The mob was quiet, but determined. The sheriff was at the jail but was overpowered and no resistance was made. The murder was an outrageous one, Canfield killing the woman from jealousy.

Wisconsin gives promise of a full average crop. Prospects in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois are only fair, and have shown no improvement since last report. Of His Nomination, and Accepts.

Mr. Chairman, and Gentlemen of the Committee:

I receive your visit with pleasure and accept with gratitude the sentiments you have so generously expressed in the discharge of the duty with which you have been entrusted by the National Convention intending to address you a formal communication shortly in accordance with recognized usage, it would be out of place to detain you at this time with remarks which properly belong to the official utterances of a letter of acceptance. I may be permitted to say, however, that though I did not seek the nomination (or Vice-President, I accept it as proposed in me by the Republican party to the advancement of those broad policy upon all questions connected with the progress of our government and our people, and with this acceptance I may properly signify my approval of the platform principles adopted by the convention. I am not unmindful of the great responsibility attaching to the office, and I elected shall enter upon the performance of its duties with the firm conviction that he who has such strenuous support of his party friends, as the circumstances connected with the nomination and with your own words, Mr. chairman indicate and consequently such wealth of counsel to draw upon cannot fail in the proper discharge of the duties committed to him. I tender you my thanks, Mr. Chairman, for the kind expressions you have made and I offer you and your fellow committee men my most cordial greeting.

When General Logan had concluded, the chairman stepped forward and shook him by the hand as did the other members of the committee. Mrs. Logan warmly thanked Gen. Henderson for the sentiments conveyed in his address. Members of the committee then took leave, with the exception of a few who were engaged in conversation with Logan and his wife.

One Tramp Less.

An out and out specimen of the tramp brotherhood carrying a case of matches as a safeguard against the vagrant act, was unfortunate enough the other day to time his visit to a family in the Tenth Ward before the man of the house had departed for work. Mr. John Hillstead happened to be the man of the house in question. While sitting peacefully at the family meal Mr. Hillstead was surprised to notice the kitchen door open, and the form of the match vendor stalk leisurely in. The family dog had noticed the same thing, and in a trice was upon the peddler. Mr. Hillstead hastening to the rescue requested to be informed by what right the match vendor entered his house without knocking. For a reply he received the assurance from the tramp that that dogs days were numbered and an intimation that he might send the master to follow it; whereupon without more ado Mr. Hillstead turned the fellow about, took firm hold with both hands, and by alternate use of knee and boot, sent the gentleman of the road through the gate, and his matches flying to the several winds, in all of which Mr. Hillstead has set an example that other heads of families would do well to follow.

A Peep Behind the Scenes.

A HERALD representative yesterday evening, at the Opera House, had the pleasure of meeting behind the scenes Mr. H. M. Pitt, the "Rajah." The gentleman has performed this part for 340 nights, and a very excellent performance it is. He was managing the stage when our representative called, was ordering rocks placed here, cliffs there and chasms elsewhere, all making up the most beautiful scene ever seen in Salt Lake, but never forgetting to point out the salient features and causes of the effects to be produced before the audience, to our ubiquitous courier. To see the mechanism and machinery, together with a thoroughness of the work in a brief space of time, in the third act of "The Rajah," and behold the almost marvelous effect from the auditorium, causes one to inquire if the dramatic art has not about reached its ultimatum. The brook of real running water, with its surroundings, is as natural as a dream; it looks so natural from the front that one never thinks at the time about how it is done on the stage.

How Is It?

SALT LAKE CITY, June 24, 1884. Editors Herald: Can the management of the ticket sellers of the two theatres explain a certain difficulty? Within ten days I have purchased reserved seats twice at the theatre, and last night at the Opera House, and on neither occasion have I been able to get the seats chosen, other parties, for some unknown reason, securing them. In the language of the street, I kick.

Peers, of Warrenton, was made permanent chairman; secretary, Nicholas Bell, of St. Louis; with several assistants and one vice-president from each congressional district. John O'Day, of Springfield, and Dr. Morrison Munford, of Kansas City, were then nominated for delegates at large. when, shortly after 4 o'clock, the convention adjourned until 9 o'clock to-morrow.

Interviews with district delegates disclosed the fact that if Tilden cannot be had, the delegation will be practically solid for Cleveland, not more than three of them being for Bayard. Their action will depend largely, however, upon the position and preferences of the delegation from New York.
