

THE COMMISSION.

It Makes a Report of the Situation.

SOME VIEWS ENTERTAINED.

With a Number of Suggestions as to the Treatment of the "Problem."

Suggestions for the Future Treatment of the Mormons.

WASHINGTON, December 2.—The report of the Utah Commission is made public. It states that the duties imposed on the Commission at the recent election were successfully performed, and that all polygamists were excluded from voting, and continues as follows: "After more than two years' labor and experience here, it becomes our duty to advise the government and the country that, although the law has been successfully administered in respect of the disfranchisement of polygamists; the effect of the same upon the preaching and practice of polygamy has not been of a character to improve the former or decrease the latter. During the present year, there appears to have been a polygamic revival. The institution is boldly and defiantly defended and commended by spiritual teachers, and plural marriages are reported to have increased in number." A considerable portion of the report is devoted to an account of the recent trial and conviction of Badger Clawson, which the Commission think will have a restraining influence upon young Mormons. "It is not unlikely," says the report, "that, finally, the Federal government will find it necessary to take into its own hands all the civil power in this Territory. For the present, however, we advise only: First, that the offices of Territorial Auditor and Treasurer should be definitely defined by Congress, as offices to be filled by appointment, and we may remark, in this connection, that, although the Organic Act would seem to leave no doubt as to appointment and double character of these offices, and the Commission has persistently refused to recognize the right of election under the law, and the local courts sustained this view, the incumbents of these offices at the present time are those who held over from previous elections. We would recommend, in addition to the above, that the Commissioners to Locate University Lands, Probate Judges, County Clerks, County Selectmen, County Assessors, and Collectors, and County Superintendents of District Schools be made, by act of Congress, appointable, and all these, after nomination by the Governor, shall require to be confirmed by a majority vote of the Commission before being commissioned. The reason for this is obvious. The Organic Act now requires that all nominations by the Governor shall be confirmed by the Legislative Council. The Council is always a creature of Mormon power. Hence, no suitable appointments can be secured. The Governor and Commission, acting respectively as nominating and confirming powers, would insure such appointments as would be effective in the effort of the Federal government to overthrow polygamy. For the courts, after conferring with the judges and district attorneys of this district, we recommend: First, that the provisions of the law of 1874, relative to juries and the mode of selection, be revised, either by providing for a greater number of jurors or by authorizing an open venire, when the names in the box have been exhausted. A better provision, perhaps, would be one authorizing an open venire in all cases prosecuted by the United States. Second, the jurisdiction of the several district courts ought to be extended, so as to give each jurisdiction in all cases of polygamy wherever in the Territory the crime may have been committed. Third, in United States cases the territorial courts should be invested with power co-extensive with that possessed by the United States circuit and district courts in the several States, in matters of contempt and punishment thereof. Fourth, that prosecutions for polygamy should be exempted from the operation of the general limitation laws; certainly while parties continue to live in polygamy the statute should not run against the principal crime, polygamy. Fifth: The process of subpoenas in all cases prosecuted by the United States should run from the Territorial courts into any other district of the United States. Sixth: Provision should be made for binding over witnesses on the part of government in all United States cases, to appear and testify at trial. Seventh: When a continuance is granted upon the motion of defendant, provision should be made for the taking of depositions of witnesses on the part of government, with an opportunity given defendant to be confronted with the witness or witnesses making such deposition, and to cross-examine; such deposition to be used at the trial in the event of the death of a witness or in case of his or her absence from the Territory at the time of the trial, or in the event that such witness concealed himself or herself so as to elude the process of the subpoena. Eighth: It should be made a penal offense for any woman to enter into the marriage relation with a man, knowing him to have a wife living and undivorced. This should be coupled with a provision that, in cases where a polygamous wife was called as a witness in any prosecution for polygamy against her husband, her testimony given in such cases could not be used against her in any future prosecution against herself, with a like provision as to testimony as to the husband called as a witness in a prosecution against his polygamous wife.

FORT DOUGLAS JOTTINGS.

QUITE A number of the enlisted men attended Divine service in the city on Sunday.

ON SUNDAY evening the Post pulpit was occupied by the Rev. J. Walker Jackson, D. D.

THE MILN dramatic troupe will be liberally patronized by the residents of Fort Douglas. We trust the eminent actor will appear in the role of Cardinal Richelieu.

WE OPINE another ball shortly at the Post. We have heard a great many talking of getting up one and feel certain in predicting another joyous occasion before the coming holidays.

THE COMMAND was inspected by Gen. A. McD. McCook on Sunday morning, at 9 o'clock. The Battalion was in full dress and presented quite a striking appearance, as it passed in review. After the captains of the different companies had thoroughly inspected the rifles, uniforms and accoutrements of their men, the Barrock rooms were visited by the commandant. Everybody and everything presented a most soldierly and clean appearance.

AT EVERY guard mount, the cleanest and most soldierly member of the guard is selected by the Post adjutant as orderly to the commanding officer for that day. A certain member of a certain company was detailed for guard one day last week. He inwardly wished to "cap" orderly and used every precaution to appear extra neat. He used several ingredients to cause the brasses of his accoutrements and buttons to glisten. Elated at his appearance, he was marched to his place in the guard by his first sergeant. By some mistake he did not "cap" it, and on returning to his quarters to change from his holiday attire to his every day dress, he soberly remarked that surely his time for orderly would come at his next guard mount, as the selected one was next to him and he came within one of it. He apparently forgot that "a miss was as good as a mile."

BUTCHERY OF SHEEP.

The D. & R. G. Runs into a Flock and Does Some Heavy Slaughter.

As the Utah Central and D. & R. G. trains were running towards this city yesterday morning, very nearly abreast, the passengers on the first named saw that a flock of sheep had congregated on the D. & R. G. track, and that unless the train "slowed up," there would be some frightful havoc among the animals. The engine whistled several times but made no signs of diminishing its speed. Just before the train reached the herd, the sheep had piled up in front directly on the track, and the spectacle, as the engine ploughed through the pyramid, was said to have been a horrifying one. Geo. C. Miln was a passenger on the Utah Central, and he expressed himself in the most unmeasured terms against the needless butchery. Two gentlemen who were also on the Central informed the Herald reporter that the D. & R. G. could easily have stopped before reaching the sheep. One said that the animals were thrown up over the smoke stack, tossed aside like feathers, heads severed by the wheels and whole bodies cut in two. The sight of the bloody remnants, and the sound of the bleating is described as having been fearful in the extreme, and the D. & R. G. passengers were loud in their denunciation of the other train. The profound ignorance that usually reigns in such affairs at the railroad office existed at the D. & R. G. when a reporter called to make inquiries and just how many sheep were killed or maimed or to whom they belonged, it was impossible to find out.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS.

How the Senators and Representatives Killed Time Yesterday at the Capitol.

The Senate.

WASHINGTON, December 2.—Sheffield, the new Senator from Rhode Island, was sworn in.

The chair laid before the Senate the reports of the Secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency. Vest offered a resolution directing an investigation into all leases of land in Indian Territory for grazing or other purposes by Indian tribes, the number of acres embraced in said leases, their terms and the persons or corporations becoming lessees; also the circumstances under which the leases were made, the means used in obtaining the leases, and whether they were authorized by law.

Vest said he had information these leases were obtained from the Indians by corruption, fraud and bribery.

Maxey Harrison and others advocated the resolution and the proceedings broadened into a general discussion of Indian lands and supplies.

Dawes said that these leases of Indian lands, while wrong, were no more outrageous than the authorized enclosures, by wire fences, of thousands of acres of public lands. If remedial action was not taken in time, the public domain would pass irretrievably into the possession of large land owners, foreign and native. He hoped the matter would not be allowed to end in talk or be confined to the Indian lands alone. Congress had the power to clothe the executive officers of the government with ample authority in the premises and should do so.

At the request of Conger the matter went over one day.

Adjourned.

House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON, December 2.—Wilson (Iowa), presented the credentials of Smith, member-elect from the Iowa district, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Kasson. Smith took the oath of office.

Follett, as a question of privilege, presented the following preamble and resolution: "I do impeach Lot Wright, United States Marshal for the Southern District of Ohio, of high crimes and misdemeanors. I charge him with usurpation and violation of law, in that he appointed a large number of deputy marshals to serve at the several voting precincts in Cincinnati, at the election for members of Congress on the 14th of October, 1884, and armed said deputy marshals with pistols and other deadly weapons, said to have been furnished by the War Department of the United States government; in that a large number of deputy marshals so appointed, and armed were notorious criminals, and men known to be of vicious and brutal habits and reputation, and many of them non-residents of Cincinnati and of the State of Ohio; and that said deputy marshals, acting under his orders and directions, aided, abetted and encouraged in fraudulent voting, intimidation of voters and gross outrages upon the elective franchise and the rights of honest voters of the city in furtherance of the interests of a political party and its candidates. Therefore,

Resolved: That the committee on expenditures in the Department of Justice be required and directed, as soon as the same can reasonably be done, to investigate such charges and report to this House."

Keifer made a point of order against the reception of the resolution, but the Speaker overruled it, deciding the resolution presented a matter of privilege, and the House could determine for itself how far the investigation would be proceeded with, and what committee should have charge of the subject.

After a long discussion, the House adopted Follett's resolution.

Reagan called up the inter-State commerce bill, and the House decided to consider it, notwithstanding the effort of O'Neill, of Pennsylvania, to postpone the discussion until to-morrow.

Reagan offered as a substitute for the bill reported by the committee on commerce last session, the bill generally known as the Reagan bill, and entered into an exhaustive comparison of the two measures. Under the committee bill, he said, the liability of railroad corporations to any person suffering wrong by its action was actual damages sustained; while under the substitute, he was liable for three times the amount of damages. The bill of the committee did not prohibit a discrimination in rate of charges, but the substitute prohibited for a shorter time for a longer distance, for the same quantity of freight. The substitute gave complete legal and equitable remedies to the citizen for every injury, without delay. The committee's bill failed to do this. Another great improvement in the substitute over the committee bill lay in the fact that, while the latter directed the committee to inquire into the method of pooling and to report what legislation was needed on the subject, the former absolutely prohibited such pooling.

At the conclusion of Reagan's remarks, the House adjourned.

"What we learn with pleasure we never forget."—Alfred Mercier. The following is a case in point. "I paid out hundreds of dollars without receiving any benefit," says Mrs. Emily Rhodes, of McBridge, Mich. "I had female complaint, especially 'dragging-down,' for over six years. Dr. R. V. Pierce's 'Favorite Prescription' did me more good than any medicine I ever took. I advise every sick lady to take it. And so do we. It never disappoints its patrons. Druggists sell it."

Jottings from St. George and Its Vicinity.

Correspondence of THE HERALD.

There is not much interesting news down in this part of our Territory, but, nevertheless, it is a source of pleasure to find the country steadily on the improve.

In Cedar City, I found the people, one and all, rejoicing over the result of the election, and under the leadership of Bishop Lunt and others there is a feeling of contentment and industry existing. They have had good crops, though their market has been limited this year. None of the go-ahead people complain. I visited the towns along the way, and Toquerville, Virgin City and Rockville. Up in this section the people have had numerous washouts, etc., but having a late fall their crops have been good, and I heard but very little of the cry of "hard times." Since my departure, I learned of a sad accident to a baby boy belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Hilton, of Virgin City. From what I could learn, the child was sitting near the fire and fell, burning itself very badly. They have the sympathy of all. Mrs. H. is the daughter of our fellow-townsmen, Samuel S. Richards.

Silver Reef: The old camp looks about the same. Times have been dull there this past summer, but are on the boom again. The Christy mill is running, and the future looks much brighter.

After a dusty Dixie ride I arrived at the beautiful little city of St. George. But, oh, the ride to get here! Mark Twain's "Roughing It" is nowhere. The stage horse's prayer, repeated by the gentlemanly driver, was and is very appropriate:

Ease me up, and ease me down; send me along on level ground.

But we got there.

I am delighted to find the people aiming in the right direction, to educate old and young. Under the auspices of the Y. M. M. I. A. a nice reading room is running in good shape, with a good selection of the best and most popular papers and periodicals, open to the public, comfortably warmed, lighted, etc. It is the intention of the association to establish a good library and with the lines of government in the hands of such men as J. C. Bentley, Moroni Snow and Andrew Thompson, it is bound to succeed. They have the good wishes of all lovers of true advancement.

I am informed by good authority, that in the near future an academy will be established here, which is much needed and cannot fail to be a great benefit to the country and its people. The climate is delightful, and, in my estimation, St. George is not complete till the academy is in full and successful running order.

THE HERALD is read and appreciated by the people, and all admired your style through the political fire.

With best wishes for your success, I am, yours truly,

J. P. M.

EXCELLENT ADVICE.

Professor Maeser Gives Some to Teachers.

AT THE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION.

An Interesting Session on Monday Evening—Bancroft's History Recommended.

A large audience was in attendance at the Assembly Hall on Monday evening, to participate in the interesting proceedings of the monthly Union meeting. After music by the Union Brass Band, the Mill Creek Ward choir sang; followed with prayer by Jens Hansen, and singing again by the Mill Creek choir.

The roll was then called. Professor Karl G. Maeser delivered an address to Sabbath School teachers. The large audience present was an indication of the great interest felt in the Sunday School movement. Commenting upon the present excellent organization of the Union, he yet realized it to be insufficient, when considering the great responsibility that rested upon the future of the rising generation. Faithfulness of parents would not directly benefit these children, as instance the enticing away of some young people from the faith of their fathers. The future of our youth should be placed secure. When we contemplate the maintenance of a children that assemble each Sabbath in the Sunday schools, and consider the pains that are being taken, it seems that the manifest results are not commensurate with the pains taken. I take every opportunity to remind my fellow teachers of that golden rule: that a teacher can never impart that which he has not himself. A lack of punctuality, attendance, or non-attendance becomes a failure to impart the law of regularity to the scholars. I have known page after page, and chapter after chapter to be read without any effort on the part of the teacher to explain the meaning of their contents, or what application they had to their own faith. In my teacher's experience in all these many years, I have learned this one thing, that I cannot attempt to fill my position satisfactorily each day without imploring and obtaining that divine assistance necessary to sustain my words to my scholars. We must not only obtain the confidence of the children, but become exemplars and expounders of the glorious faith we believe in. Forget me for speaking of my own experience, it is only an illustration of that of many others. I have many times been called upon to give advice and counsel to the wayward youth, who have subsequently returned to thank me for it. The joy experienced by the teacher, in thus having the "bread cast upon the waters," returned to him after many days, "is one that is unspeakable. You differ somewhat from the dayschool teacher, in that your special duty is to lead children on in the way of faith in Him, who is their Maker and Savior. An obstacle frequently stands in the way of our faithful labors in the Sunday school, in the lack of organization. The entire disposition of the superintendent is felt throughout the whole school. Such a man—the superintendent—is, above anyone else, in greater need of inspiration and help from Him above; that he may in like manner inspire and encourage his fellow teachers. The labors of the school do not commence and end with the opening and closing of the school. We cannot lay our responsibilities aside when we please, and resume them again at will. Our daily lives must be consistent with our efforts on the Sabbath, for you cannot impart or give that which you do not have in and of yourself. Innocent children are precious in the sight of God, and you and I, as teachers, will one day have to answer for a that example which we have set before the children. When you find school children unruly and ill-behaved, it is a reflex of the inability of their teachers. Some children cannot be kept from learning, no matter how insufficient our labors; these will take care of themselves, generally. But it is the wayward and inattentive that need our constant endeavors and kindest solicitude. A frequent mistake is made in not appreciating the wants of the child which is suffering from lack of maternal care and affection; a poor wail that has not been matured in the sunshine of love. Such a case is an opportunity to extend the kindness loving feeling necessary to draw out the goodness of children. My own experience is that each day demands I should endeavor to obtain the aid of God in my labors.

Music by the Union band.

Superintendent John F. Suedaker reported the Mill Creek Ward Sunday school as comprising 321 male and female scholars, with forty teachers and making a total roll of 361 names. Interesting details of the books used and classes maintained showed progress, under the constant encouragement of the Bishop and his counselors.

Organ solo by Joseph J. Daynes.

Assistant Superintendent George Goddard said he had pleasure in meeting with his friends once more. The congregation this evening was at least five gregeous as large as any he had attended during his recent visit to England. Great difficulty is experienced in obtaining the attention of even a few of the people to the preaching of our missionaries. Nevertheless, they would continue to be sent out into the world, and some of them would be the exemplary young men of our Sabbath schools.

Apostle Franklin D. Richards made a few remarks, expressing the pleasure he had experienced in listening to the proceedings of the evening. Mentioned the history now being written by Hugh S. Bancroft, of California, fourteen volumes of which have already been published. Among those to be issued, is promised one entire volume devoted to a history of Utah, which bids fair to be correctly and fairly represented. He commended the work to the careful consideration of Utah's citizens, that the improvement associations and other societies might obtain these volumes for their libraries and be in possession of the valuable information they contain.

Apostle W. W. Woodruff said he endorsed the remarks of the previous speaker and advised obtaining the works of Historian Bancroft. They are worthy of our attention.

Supt. Geo. Q. Cannon said enough had already been advanced of the value of the Historian Bancroft's works to render further remarks from him unnecessary. He suggested that if associations could not possibly themselves obtain the entire works, they could join with other associations to raise funds to obtain the volumes jointly.

County-Superintendent John C. Cutler announced that hereafter they would dispense with reports from the school superintendents. At the next meeting addresses would be given by George Goddard and M. M. Stewart, the Fourteenth Ward to furnish the music and doorkeepers.

Singing by Mill Creek choir. Ad-journed for one month.

Benediction by Elder Jos. H. Felt.
