LOCAL BRIEFS.

THE HERALD establishment now runs three telephones.

THE GRAY Company in the Mascot this evening at the Opera House.

MCCORMICK & Co. received, yesterday, one car Hanauer bullion, $3,570.

WELLS, FAROE & Co. received, yesterday, Southern Utah ore, $1,896.15.

THE UTAH delegates to the St. Louis convention will soon turn their faces homeward.

THE JUDIC Opera Company, forty-one in number, passed through Ogden on Tuesday evening, bound for San Francisco.

F. A. MITCHELL yesterday received this commission from the Governor as Commissioner to Locate University Lands.

MR. AND MRS. J. E. BERKELEY celebrated their crystal wedding on Tuesday evening last, by a very pleasant sociable.

CORNER JOHS is renovating the assay office next to his establishment, and will make of it a fine entrance leading to his ladies' parlor.

UNION NATIONAL Bank received, yesterday, fifteen tons Bannock Co. ore, $4,020; eight bars Alice bullion, $8,419.33; total, $12,439.33.

P. C. COWLING's team dashed past THE HERALD office last night on a full runaway. The driver left his wagon and limped away with his team.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN HONLICK are the latest to receive the congratulations of their friends. A bouncing girl arrived yesterday, and all are well and happy.

It has been discovered that Deputy Vandercook made the complaint on which the women were brought back from Denver. It charges breach of confidence.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT WILLIAM M. STEWART desires a full and practical acquaintance of the school trustees of Salt Lake County on Friday evening next. Business of importance will be presented for the consideration of those present.

THERE is a very general desire among musicians that Nevada should render the scene from Lucia, with Hure obligato. Should she consent, it will afford an opportunity to contrast her with Di Murska and Gerster, both of whom have appeared in that opera here.

DR. S. B. YOUNG yesterday informed a HERALD reporter that McMurrin's condition still continued favorable. His pulse, temperature and breathing are almost normal, and if blood poisoning or sloughing of some large blood vessel does not set in, he will probably recover.

J. C. MORTON and C. W. CARSON were brought down from Ogden yesterday morning by Deputy Marshal Perkins, they having been committed on a charge of burglary. Edward Johnson, charged with grand larceny, accompanied the party, and took up his quarters in the Pen.

IT CALLED the Tribune yesterday to retract a barefaced lie. They could not very well overlook the communication from J. A. Livingston Smith, of Nephi, but it may as well be understood that they will get even on someone else. If Mr. Smith could but know how the liars down the street cursed him for sending in that communication, it would make him blush to think that he noticed the rag at all.

MR. ABRAHAM GOULD who will be remembered by many of the poorer people of this city for his many kindly acts in their behalf, has been appointed purchasing agent of the Missouri Pacific and the Texas & Pacific railway companies, of which Jay Gould is the president. There are many people in this part of the world who will always be pleased to learn of the success of the old Salt Lake.

DAVID REESE, of Logan, and Williams, of the Lordswere, but who has undoubted ability in covering ground, having downed his opponent in every match in which he has run in this vicinity, will meet on Saturday, next in a contest of 100 yards, Reese being given 4 1/2 yards start. It is understood that Sam Levy has the money in hand, which he will hold until the race has taken place.

THE ITEM which appears in our court notes of a default secured by Le Grande Young, trustee, against the Salt Lake Rock Company, involves between $7,000 and $8,000, due by the Rock Company to Williams & Young and the other old owners of the rock lands, on account of the original purchase. The company has six months to redeem; failing in this, it will, of course, lose all interest in the quarry.

"The" Place of Beverages. The Occidental bar, where the choicest of wines, liquors and beers are manipulated in the most tempting fashion by the experienced proprietors. The family trade and private parties supplied. Best of California and imported wines and fragrant cigars always in stock. ALEX & MURPHY.

HIGHEST price allowed for dried apricots, pecked peaches, plums and pears at G. F. CUTLER & Bros.

Fashionable Tailor. Jos. Bauwarten, No. 111, Main street, makes up the finest and best fitting suits at prices to suit the times. He has just received a fine line of cloths, of his own importation. Give him a call and be convinced.

CONFUSION OF THE FIENDS.

How the News of Davenport and Fields' Arrest was Received.

Marshal Ireland sat dreamily in his private office, bitterly thinking over his thorny duties in the present, and regretfully recalling the halcyon days when he sold lamp wicks and measured coal oil for a living. His reverie was interrupted by the hasty entrance of Deputy Vandercook who sank into a chair and pulled a HERALD from his pocket.

"What is there in this?" he gasped.

"In what?" asked the Marshal surprised.

"In this cussed report about Greenman's having arrested those women in Denver?"

"Why it's true."

"My G—! What's it done for?"

"Why, we want their evidence, of course in this d—n conspiracy."

"My G—n—n, do you suppose that I am innocent?" yelled the deputy.

The Marshal sank back into his chair; further speech was interrupted by the frenzied entrance of Sam Lewis. He opened the conversation with a deep groan.

"Is this true in THE HERALD about Greenman and Fanny Davenport?" he said at length with a gulp.

"It is," responded the Marshal with a smile of satisfaction. "I am free to admit that I consider the arrest and return of those women one of the most admirable coups de etat that I have yet achieved."

"Coup de h—!" ejaculated Mr. Dickson's proxy. "What's he bringing her back for? Greenman wouldn't be so d—n previous if his name was on the list."

"The d—n, double d—n fool! What's he bringing her back for?"

"Why, we thought," said the Marshal feebly, "that you would want her evidence to shatter this deep laid conspiracy."

"The devil paint you black," howled Sam in a frenzy. "do you suppose that I am innocent?" and he joined Vandercook in a hurried pace up and down the apartment.

The door opened slowly and the classic head of Mr. ex-U. S. Commissioner Pearson protruded slowly through the opening. "Marshal," he said in a weak voice, "can you tell me—"

"Oh, to h—! with all of you!" exclaimed the Marshal in a rage. "Do you too mean to say that this conspiracy I have worked so hard to—"

The Marshal stopped aghast on perceiving through the open door over Pearson's head, an advancing column of his warmest personal friends, each with a wild look of inquiry in his eye and a HERALD in his hand; with the presence of mind for which he was ever noted, the Marshal sprang to the door, bolted it, and hurried out of a side entrance.

"Make my excuses, Van," he said as he vanished. "I'll run out and see if it's possible to have Murray rescind the requisition."

FROM THE HANDS OF TRAMPS.

Narrow Escape of a Young Lady From a Horrible Fate.

Another very vivid illustration of the danger to which young girls are exposed who may be on the streets late at night occurred on Tuesday evening. At about 11.30 a young lady, who gives her name as Lorenda Brown, was on her way home, having been down town to purchase some medicine for a sick child. As she passed the corner of Main and South Temple Streets, a couple of men started in pursuit of her. Of course, they could have had but one object in view, and realizing her danger, she commenced to run in the direction of her home, screaming for help as she went. Between First and Second East Streets she was intercepted by Mr. L. R. Wilcox, who was on his way home. She was too much excited to offer any explanation, but in a few moments a couple of hard-looking fellows approached, and demanded to know what he was doing with the girl. Mr. Wilcox called for assistance to a man on the opposite side of the street, when the individuals desamped. The young lady was assisted into a neighboring house, where she remained until morning, and then went home.

Before the Bar.

Michael Sullivan, vulgarly called "Mike," was arrested for being under the influence of the ardent. He left $10 for his appearance yesterday and failing to show up at the time set for his trial, the amount was forfeited.

John McIntyre, a plain common drunk, was assessed in the usual amount—$5.

Billy Simpson indulged similarly, and was asked for a like amount.

Quin Shay, was charged with disturbing the peace of Jane Davis. The offense was proven, and the judge decided that the ordinance covering his case had been damaged to the extent of $10.

The latter three persons, being short of money, will become the involuntary guests of the city until the law is satisfied.

AMUSEMENTS.

GRAY'S MIKADO.—The seventh and the worst performance of the Mikado in this city, occurred last evening at the Walker Opera House by Gray's Company.

This Gray, by the way, is not the famous Maurice, but Jules, a cousin, who makes considerable capital out of the well known family name. The performance might have been considered passable, had it not been for the superior representations which have preceded it. One's respect for the arduous work of the Careless Company materially increases, when he has seen a performance like that of last evening.

There was not a regard in which the professionals—such as they may be called—were not distanced by the amateurs. Kc-Ko was very funny in spots, and Yum-Yum sang a song introduced into the second act, with a good deal of spirit and precision. Why either of them should be starred on the bills, however, may grow apparent later on in the engagement; it was certainly not apparent last evening. The Nanki-Poo was not a satisfactory tenor, and was made up to look more like a bandman than a romantic hero. The Poo-Bah has the best voice in the company; he is indeed a good basso singer, but he acts like hewed timber; the Fish-Tush is entirely and hopelessly bad. The one originality of the night, and one that was ludicrously funny, was the grotesque attempt at a regard in which the chorus were few, and attired in very shabby costumes; all wore Spencer & Kimball Laird, Schroeder & Mitchell shoes, another regard in which the local chorus outdressed them. The orchestra was handled frightfully, coming out frequently a full bar behind the singers. The stage settings were very appropriate, though little or no change was made in the two acts.

To-night the company give the Mascot, a work always popular here, and one which they know thoroughly well. The house last evening was surprisingly good, when the wear and tear of the opera are considered.

NANOS.—The formal announcement of Carleton and his porguous company appear in another column. His troupe is always one that can be honestly, warmly and sincerely commended.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

THE REGULAR monthly meeting of the Y. L. M. I. A. will be held on Saturday, 5th inst. at 11 a.m. at the residence of Mrs. E. S. Taylor, one block and a half west of Cliff House. All officers are urgently requested to attend, and all who are interested are cordially invited.

MARY A. FREEZE.

PROFESSOR CARELESS has received what will be a novelty to the musicians of this section. It is no less than a "skeleton" violin, the back, ribs and belly being missing, and nothing but the strings and frame being present. It is designed to lessen the horrors of the practicing amateur, as it emits a sound which, though clear and pure, can hardly be heard outside of the room where the instrument is played.

THE MEMBERS of the Careless Opera Company held a business meeting Tuesday evening, which was adjourned out of respect to Mrs. Barnes. Mr. Barnes being one of the most active members of the company, Prof. Careless tendered the services of the company for the funeral, but arrangements had already been made to hold the services in the Congregational Church, and Prof. Benner has charge of the musical exercises.

ON TUESDAY afternoon, says the Ogden Herald, at a point somewhere between Brigham City and Willard, the U. & N. freight train, a double-header, ran into a cow, and the result was that the two engines and some cars were derailed. The train was only traveling at the rate of about four miles an hour, but a stoppage in time to avert the collision with the bovine could not be made. No one was hurt, and as soon as possible a track was built around the wreck. The passenger train, which should have arrived in Ogden at 4.30 p.m. on Tuesday, was delayed till 1.30 yesterday morning.

THE LATEST SENSATION.

Miss Davenport and Mrs. Fields Jailed at the Valley House.

Deputy Marshal Greenman arrived on the D. & R. G. train last evening from Denver, having in his charge the notorious Fanny Davenport and Mrs. Fields, who have figured so prominently in the recent turmoil and confusion in this city. The women were immediately taken to the Valley House and placed under the care of Deputies Sprague and Smith. A HERALD reporter called at the hotel a few moments after the party had been installed in their temporary jail, and ran against Deputy Sprague, who curtly informed him that the women could not be seen. In response to queries, Mr. Sprague said that he knew nothing of the case, save that the women had arrived on the evening train in company with Marshal Greenman. Further inquiry, however, revealed the fact that Mrs. Fields had been arrested by Captain Hawley, who once resided in this city, but who is now on the Denver detective force, and on a requisition from this Territory.

A HERALD reporter then sought Secretary Thomas, and from him it was learned that a requisition was issued some days ago for each of the females mentioned above, and the charge against them, so far as he knew, was keeping a house of ill-fame. It is upon these requisitions, of course, that the arrests were made. Just what object is aimed at in making these arrests, is hard to say, but it is understood that there is something behind a mere prosecution for the crime mentioned above.

THE QUAKING ALARMISTS.

Official Dispatches Passing Between Salt Lake and Washington.

A rumor gained considerable currency on the street yesterday to the effect that General McCook had received dispatches of some official nature from Washington regarding the situation here. To a HERALD reporter who last evening sought the General and asked him what truth there was in the rumor, he answered tersely and brusquely, "I can't tell you anything at all about it." The truth is that the dispatch was from Cleveland, and asked the general to make a report upon the situation here. It was learned authoritatively last night, also, that Governor Murray had received a dispatch from the President instructing him to protect life and property in the event of a crisis. By what internal rot, the President's mind has been poisoned, regarding the situation here, it now becomes easy to see. It is believed that General McCook, at least is too experienced a soldier to adopt the red-eyed views of those unscrupulous alarmists who are trying to make political capital out of the recent trouble. It is to be hoped that the General will take a sensible view of the situation, and advise the President that there is about as much danger of an outbreak here as there is of his appointing a resident to fill a local office.

One of the First. Sheriff W. W. Hutchings, of Beaver, who has been attending the cattle convention in St. Louis, was on the streets yesterday, having returned home on Tuesday evening. He expresses himself as being highly pleased with the trip, which he says, has been one perpetual round of pleasure. He speaks in high terms of the Utah delegation, who, he says, made a better appearance than that of any other State or Territory represented at the convention. He describes Dr. Faust as being a lion in society circles, and the champion speech-maker of the entire assemblage. The badges, the car decorations, and the general deportment of the Utah boys have been highly spoken of by all. The delegates have scattered to the four winds, and they may soon be expected to commence to arrive home in parties of two or three at a time.

"About Ben Zane." Chief Justice Zane (may his tribe decrease) Awoke, one night, troubled for peace, And saw, within the darkness of his room A sulphurous burning in the sky. The devil was there, with his dolorful tune. Being well acquainted, Zane spoke full soon "What wastest thou?" The devil said his head, "And with a look meant to inspire dread. Answered, "No questions; get thee out of bed." "Has a Mormon e espied?" asked Zane. "Verily so," Replied the devil. Zane spoke more low "I tell thee, sir, 'tis a seducer of women." The devil grinned and vanished. The next night He came with many a sulphurous light And showed the light, the devil's very best. When, ah! the Judge's name led all the rest. Deutscher Verein.

The following was accidentally omitted from THE SUNDAY HERALD: Some time ago, the German Turnverein met an untimely death, but out of it grew a new society, the Deutsche Verein, with Mr. A. Hollander as president and Mr. R. Kletting as secretary. The new society has within it all the vigorous elements that guarantee a steady growth. The aim and object of this new organization is the cultivation of the German tongue, for which purpose they meet together once a week, when there will be readings and recitations from German classics, debates on topics of general interest, vocal and instrumental music, etc., in fact the indulging in everything that will both amuse and instruct. One prominent feature is the absolute banishment of all religious and political questions. They believe in the rational enjoyment of life, doing everything to entertain their members. On November 23rd, the Deutscher Verein gave its first annual ball to its members and invited friends at Sheldon's Hall, which was well attended and proved a social success, reflecting
