THE REMAINS of the late Isaac Fink, whose death we noticed yesterday, will be sent to New York this morning, via the D. & N. G. THE FORGERY case still drags along. It is not thought that the case against Martin will come up before Monday, and it may belated. THE RACES at the Driving Park today, promise to be very interesting, and should draw out a good attendance. Admission will be free. A WOMAN, whose name could not be learned, was taken to the City Hall at a late hour last night, in a state which assured that she had been imbibing too freely of the bowl which cheers and inebriates. AT UTON, Summit County, on Sunday last, five children of Thos. Fewkes were badly burned by an explosion of gunpowder. They were playing with the powder during the absence of their parents from home. THE new schoolhouse being erected by the Thirteenth District is approaching completion. The belfry frame was being put up yesterday. When finished the building will present a neat appearance, its front of red and white brick being very attractive. CASTLE BROTHERS, tea merchants, of San Francisco, yesterday filed with the Secretary of the Territory their trade mark, used to distinguish a particular brand of Japan tea. It is of curious design, representing an ugly-looking, big-mouthed, red-and-green dragon—"Dragon Chop" being its name. ON WEDNESDAY evening next, November 9th, under the auspices of Messrs. H. S. Beattie, T. N. Olson, Ed. Calder, W. W. Calder, George T. Bourne, Albert Erickson, L. H. Clawson, Charles Lenzi, A. F. Jackman, D. G. Calder and W. G. Crabbe, a social party will be given in Calder's Hall. Pedersen and Olsen's band will furnish the music, and Hillman will be found in his usual position. THE CRAZY man, whose finding on the street early on Wednesday morning by the watchmen was mentioned in THE HERALD, was claimed by Mr. Hazenbrook, as one of the two patients who ran away from the asylum recently. As soon as his escape was known, men were set on his trail, but it is supposed that the unfortunate fellow boarded the train and worked his way to this city on Monday or Tuesday. He was taken south by Asylum Superintendent Hazenbrook yesterday morning.

BEN ISRAEL.

Mr Tullidge's Masterpiece to be Presented this Evening.

The performance of Tullidge's Jewish play to-night, we believe, will take the audience by a very agreeable surprise; not so much do we mean relative to the merits of the play, as to the performance both by the dramatic and operatic people. First, by courtesy, we mention the beautiful character of Rachel (as prospectively reviewed) of Edith Clawson-Knowlton, judging from several scenes which we witnessed at the rehearsal on Wednesday evening, in which the lady threw herself with abandon into the part, by way of testing herself for the criticism of her father and tutor. The Jewess, of Tullidge's creation, we predict, will be pronounced as the lady's crowning dramatic triumph, and her impersonation will exalt her acknowledged native talents to a high legitimate cast in the public mind. This young lady has that fine nervous organization, and with it that due proportion of power and intensity necessary to make the great impassioned actress, and the opportunity which she has found in Rachel will, we believe, stamp her true cast from this time forth. Sir Walter Templar, as the lover of Jewess, has found in Mr. Heber Wells the heroic dignity and manly passion which the character requires to render it the complement of Rachel, and every other part is in the hands of the best talent in the city. Mr. John W. Spencer has a good character part in Levi (and Spencer does every part he takes well); Mr. Harry Taylor is entrusted with the responsible part of Charles II.; Mr. George J. Bywater has the strong character of the villain, Hawley, to render (and it will be well done by him); J. E. Evans has the difficult character of Sir Judah to impersonate, who in some of his touches is Mephistopheles, but without malice, and Mr. B. S. Young personates Gabriel, Sir Walter Templar's rustic "familiar spirit," who patterning after his master's, is, of course, the weakest of Annetti, the foster-sister of Rachel. David Ben Israel, who, though last named, is the great character of the play, is to be rendered by Mr. John S. Lindsay, an actor of professional and local reputation, of whose merits or fitness for the part it is not necessary for us here to emphasize. In addition to the dramatic elements—dialogue, scenic and mechanical effects—the introduction of a couple of choruses, characteristic of the lifting of the curse from the Jews, and of the gladness the persecuted race experience in finding a welcome refuge in England, the appropriate music for which was written by Professor Careless for the occasion, will form a pleasing feature of the performance. The singing will be by about forty or fifty members of the Careless Opera Company, each of whom will be attired in Hebrew garb. The play and the occasion of its present production—the author's benefit—should fill the Theatre.

JOHNNY BURNS' ACCIDENT.

A Very Narrow Escape from Instant Death.

Johnny Burns, who runs a barber shop on First South Street, met with an accident while out hunting yesterday that will keep him confined to his room for some time to come, but which will not necessarily prove fatal. In company with his brother-in-law, a young boy named "Bud" Arnold, he was about half a mile below Pettit's, and slightly in the lead, when a flock of pelicans approached overhead. The word was given, and both bent down so that the tules would hide them from the game. At this time, they were not more than a rod apart, and as young Arnold raised the hammer of his gun, the weapon was discharged, a portion of its contents taking effect immediately under the left shoulder blade. Burns' coat and vest were badly burned from the powder, and the wound made, Dr. Benedict says, was as large as a man's hand. It was not thought, last evening, that the shot had penetrated any vital part, and while Mr. Burns necessarily suffers severely, there seems to be no reason why a fatal result should be anticipated. He was resting as well as could be expected last evening, and was receiving the congratulations of many of his friends who called upon him on his fortunate escape from what, had the shot taken effect a few inches either way, would doubtless have been instant death.

The City Council.

The City Council held a special session last evening, at which work on the ordinances was continued. The only other business coming before the Council was a petition from John W. Young, asking in behalf of the Salt Lake & Fort Douglas railway that the matter of its application for right of way be considered. Mr. Young was present in person and addressed the Council, saying that he found it impossible to buy a right of way, owing to the fact that the farmers owning land through which he desired to run, held it at such an exorbitant figure. In one case, he said, a man had asked $5,000 for the right to run through forty acres. He, therefore, asked that the city grant him a right of way along the banks of the canal for a distance of about a couple of miles. Referred to the committee on canal.

Temple of Honor Installation of Officers.

Last night, the newly elected officers of Salt Lake Temple, No. 1, were installed in office by D. M. W. T., Henry F. Clark, assisted by G. W. U., John E. Butler. The officers installed were: S. F. C. Larson, W. C. T., A. T. Christensen, W. V. T., George H. Knowlton, W. R., C. E. Silverwood, W. A. R., Charles W. Symons, W. F. R., O. I. Eliason, W. Treas.; H. Loewenberg, W. U.; Joseph Moss, W. D. U.; W. H. Harris, W. Chap.; W. Smithen, W. G.; H. McDonald, W. S. The officers installed invited all present to an oyster supper at Arbogast & Trumbo's Oyster Parlor, where they had a pleasant and enjoyable time.

HOMICIDE AT PARK CITY.

Pete Anderson Shot and Killed Last Night.

Shortly after midnight, this morning, it was learned that a shooting had occurred at the Park, by which the population had been reduced one. The particulars were very brief and meagre, just enough to state that a man named Pete Anderson went into Grant's saloon last night, drunk, and on making himself offensive, Mr. Grant ejected him. Anderson became exasperated at being put out and went off, procured a knife and returned with blood in his eye, murder in his heart, and evidently bent on cutting up the saloon keeper. The latter, perceiving the danger he was in and to protect himself, shot Anderson.

The following additional particulars were received at 2 this morning:

PARK CITY, November 4, 1.39 a.m.—[Special to THE HERALD.]—About 10.30 last night, Richard Grant shot and killed a Scandinavian, about 45 years old, named Peter Anderson. The facts of the shooting, as near as can be ascertained, are these: Anderson had been on a spree and had been put out of Grant & Clark's saloon, three times by Mr. Grant for his offensiveness. On coming in the saloon the fourth time, Anderson had a big pocket-knife drawn, and as he approached Grant, the latter said, as he passed out from behind the bar, with a 45-calibre pistol in his hand, "Get out of this house, and keep out, or I'll kill you." Grant snapped the pistol, but it didn't discharge, when he fired twice, both balls taking effect in the region of the heart. Anderson then turned, took a step and fell dead on the sidewalk. Grant's victim was not over three feet away when he fired. Grant gave himself up to Deputy Sheriff Garrity, and without any official inquiry, he went off with the officer, who evinced his willingness to let Grant go home and sleep, without any guard. This was after Commissioner Cohen had refused to say whether he would admit the prisoner to bail, before the inquest and examination were held. The remains were taken in charge by Undertaker Fenemore, after Coroner Mantor had summoned a jury and adjourned the inquest till 10 o'clock on Friday. The deceased was an inoffensive fellow, and Dick Grant is considered something of a hard character when his uncontrollable temper rises. There is no great excitement here over the affair, though some indignation at the conduct of the officer. This makes the third homicide here since August 1st. Grant has a wife and family, but Anderson is unmarried, and seems to have had few, if any, friends around the camp.

HIS EXCELLENCY'S REPORT.

Joe Barker Reviews the gubernatorial Effusion.

To the Editor of THE HERALD: And so our Democratic Governor (excuse me for saying Democratic, I should have said mugwump) has written his little budget to the Secretary of the Interior, in which he says that the leaders of the Mormons inaugurated the movement for statehood. O dear! And is that a crime, that he should call the attention of the Secretary to it. He makes a statement that is not correct, and which he cannot prove. I think Mr. Lamar would be very apt to tell Mr. West that it was none of his business who inaugurated it, and if he is what he pretends to be, a Democrat, he would have written some kind words of encouragement for the people that are asking for their rights.

Local self government is one of the first principles of Democracy. It was the voice of the people through their political representatives, and the voice of the people at the polls: "For populi, pro Dei." Why doesn't he and the rest of the government pup-suckers want Utah to be a State? Because they would lose their positions; their bread and dinner hangs on that, and they do hate the idea of the Mormons turning them out. But Utah will be a State, and neither he nor the rest of the mugwumps can hinder it. Again, he says: "It will be remembered how recently that people maintained a position which placed them in conflict with the Federal laws." Another misstatement. Then he goes on to state that these same people held the same position in Ohio, Missouri and Illinois. Now, I would like to ask the Governor if he knows how many of the people there are living in Utah today, who lived in Ohio, that held the position he speaks of? I think that if he knows anything he must know that they are nearly all dead.

He further says: "This people are in antagonism to all new-comers to the Territory not identified with them." Another wrong statement. He wants the people kept in Territorial slavery, to a horde of mugwumps, tyrants, Federal despots and office-seekers, who would think no more of taking bootie than they would of taking their lunch and not paying for it. Now, that report was his first, and I'll bet it will be his last. I think he could have made a much more honest report about the leaders of the people. Well, hoping that the Governor will not be offended, I remain, as ever,

JOE ANTE-BELUM DEMOCRAT, 70 Commercial Street, Salt Lake City, November 1, 1887.

THE "LITTLE CHICAGO"

The City of Nephi Coming to the Front.

IMPROVEMENTS NOW GOING ON

Industry, Push and Str Characterizing the Movements of the Business Men There.

JIMMY CLINTON'S "Southern Metropolis" is old. The latest name for Nephi given by some one in your vicinity is "Little Chicago." PLEASANT WEATHER again. Had we written about a week ago, we would have said with the "Utahian" "Cold—'Bitter Cold," but could not say, "Business seems dead." Business is as brisk as ever and is on the improve. THE WATER question is not being pushed very hard. We think it should be attended to before winter sets in. It has been estimated that it will take only $3,000 to bring the water into town through a good and substantial system of water works. THE NEW postoffice is causing much favorable comment just now. A new cabinet office has been put in the place of the old one, and it is a beauty. For appearance and convenience it beats anything of the kind in the Territory outside of Salt Lake and Ogden. THERE is nothing at all going on in the way of amusements in Nephi. Some twelve or fifteen young men have organized themselves into a class which will answer the purpose of amusement, and at the same time be instructive. The name of the class is "The Civil Government and Literary Association of Nephi." SEVERAL NEW lines of business have been recently started, and are going to start chief among the latter we might mention the wholesale house being erected and the livery stable nearly completed; but still there is great need and good show for several others. A wholesale boot and shoe factory is one thing we must have soon. Other manufactories could be conducted profitably, but there is immediate opening for a good baker in Nephi. Who bids? THE SALE of coal has become quite a profitable industry in Nephi since wood is so scarce. There has been a change made in the agency, the same having been taken from George Winn and given to C. L. Hyde, which has caused some bickering. Both gentlemen are selling, and apparently kept quite busy, and as competition is something new to Nephi it has been of great advantage to the parties who furnish the coal, as it has advertised the business and caused more coal to be sold.

THE BUILDING boom hasn't left us yet. One or two dwelling houses have been commenced since last writing, and "Cy" Foote is laying a foundation for an extension to his hotel. When this is completed, that portion of town will have a lively appearance, with Grant Bros.' extensive lumber yards and planing mill on the other corner, Dinwoodey's branch furniture store, now nearly completed, one general merchandise store, drug store and a saloon (always a saloon handy), two blacksmith shops and the busy plan and smoke stack of Adams & Sons' planing mill towering above the trees everything bids well for a real metropolitan appearance. Other portions of our town, especially on Main Street, already are showing up well. Verily, Nephi is coming to the front.

THERE was an auction sale in town last Saturday, to cancel an attachment on the firm of Barr & Brown by Clark, Eldridge & Co., of Salt Lake, which passed off very quietly. It was not necessary to sell all of the goods attached to cancel the bill owing and costs of court. On the 25th of July, by mutual consent, the firm was dissolved, but proper notice was not given to creditors and Mr. Brown, the member who withdrew from the firm, was obliged to bear his portion of the burden. Mr. Barr is now a resident of your town, his place of business being at the mansion of mud situated on the bench about three miles southeast of Main Street. He is there, poor fellow, because of his inability to secure bondsmen on a charge of adultery which at present seems to be a strong one. We are sorry to state that this is not a cobab-adultery case. It is a fact that we are sorry to be obliged to state that there have lately been brought to light in Nephi two or three similar cases, but for which Nephi would bear a name that might be envied.

AMUSEMENTS.

NEL BURGESS in VIM.—A house full of people passed a roaring night at the Theatre last evening. Neil Burgess, the original Widow Bedott, set out for the delectation of his audience a piece brimful of hilarity by the name of Vim, and not for a long time past has anything on the comedy order proven so laughable a success. The play, like Widow Bedott, is one with the merest shred of a plot, but in its course it brings in a host of domestic things which, comical as they are, are still almost as natural and homelike as Josh Whitcomb or the old homestead. Burgess as the widow is at his very best, and the garrulous humor he threw into the part was immensely enjoyed by the audience. The episode of the flying but stationary horse, an invention of Burgess' own, was greatly applauded. Mr. Palmer, the leading support, is an excellent comedian, and unless we except Frank Daniels, of whom he is very reminiscent at times, we know of no one who could better fill the idea of the persecuted Mr. Puffy. Aside from Mr. Palmer, the support is nothing to boast of. The young lady who played Miss Somers was very tart; the exasperating manner in which her black stockings swung constantly into view was a source of much uneasiness. The two young acrobats are very clever, as acrobats—not as actors. The song regarding Ficking Cherries might have been omitted without material damage to the piece. The piece "Celia's Charms" was as fine a piece of old-fashioned madrigal murder as was ever listened to. It was encored to the echo.

GIVING FICTITIOUS NAMES.

The custom in vogue of giving fictitious names at the police headquarters, by parties arrested for infractions of city ordinances, is one which often works considerable trouble and misunderstanding, and does very little good. An instance occurred a day or two since. An individual was taken in for Ficking Cherries, he gave a wrong name, left what things were taken from him before being locked up. When he sobered up next morning, he had forgotten the name he had given, and asked for his personal property, in his own name. The officers searched, but could find nothing with the genuine name on. Trouble ensued, and a misunderstanding had to be explained before he could recover his things. The object of giving these John Does and Richard Roes is to keep the offenders' identity from the public. The better and only way to do this, is to do nothing to require such action.

Caught on the Run.

A couple of individuals, on Wednesday night, stopped over night at West Jordan, and on their departure next morning at daybreak, it was found that a set of harness was missing. An inquiry was instituted which revealed the fact that the men had traveled in the direction of Utah's Dixie. Immediate pursuit was begun, the constable of the precinct taking the lead, and the fleeing harness appropriators were overhauled at Pleasant Grove, arrested and brought back to Sandy, and lodged in the calaboose there. Sheriff Turner had also learned of the larceny and started to head them off from the other end of the line, and reached Pleasant Grove a short time after the arrest had been made.

ON A CHARGE OF RIOT.

Mrs. Marks, Ike Reese and P. T. Cook Bound Over.

Anna Marks, Ike Reese and P. T. Cook, all of Eureka, Utah, were before Commissioner Norrell, yesterday, to answer to a charge of riot, alleged to have been committed at that place on the 17th of October. It appears from the evidence adduced by complainant's counsel, that the Eureka Hotel is run by Mrs. Belle Tompkins, but is owned by a gentleman residing in this city. Surrounding the house and its out-buildings is a large piece of ground, claimed by the owner of the hotel, a portion of which Mrs. Marks had, in plain language, jumped, and on which she had commenced the erection of a house, with the idea of holding and possessing the land in question. To this an objection was made, on the part of the gentleman claiming the property, and he had ordered the removal of the buildings. Mrs. Marks refused, and as a result there was considerable difficulty over the matter. On one occasion, when some posts were being put in the ground, she came out and ordered the men to desist in their work. When they refused, she adopted the somewhat novel method of stopping further work by planting herself in the hole and begging the man who was about to set the pole not to hurt her. "Of course," he said, "I couldn't set the post and the lady together, and I didn't." It further transpired that the reputation of the defendant of having shot at three men during her lifetime, and also that a man was seen at night patrolling the disputed premises with a double-barreled shotgun, did not have a very quieting effect upon the nerves of Mrs. Mark's neighbors, and the gentleman claiming the land went so far as to say that had it not been that she was generally armed, he would have removed the building, because he thought he had a perfect right to do so; as it was, he preferred to let the law take its course. He had requested Reese and Cook, the other two defendants, to cease work, but they had merely replied they were the employ of Mrs. Marks, and if there was anything wrong she was the party responsible, not them. The defense set up the ground that the land did not belong to the complainant, and that she had as much right there as anyone else, and claimed they were merely acting in a lawful manner—were simply protecting their rights in the matter. The case dragged through the whole of the day, with the result that Anna Marks, P. T. Cook and Ike Reese were bound over to await the action of the next Grand Jury.

NATURAL GAS THE THEME.

Efforts to Induce Eastern Capital—Our Home Company.

Right upon top of the formation of a natural gas company by home capitalists comes the announcement that a well known real estate man has departed for the east, where he will meet men of wealth, who propose to form a syndicate for the purpose of prospecting thoroughly for natural gas. A tract of land near to or adjoining the property known as Lake Shore, and which was formerly owned by E. Garn, has, it is said, been bought, or at least a portion of the amount asked for it paid, with the option of purchase at the end of ninety days. This is the land that the eastern syndicate will undoubtedly operate. There is probably no spot in Utah where natural gas has proven so plentiful as in the region named above. Wells that have been in constant operation for over a year past now yield a greater flow than when first struck. These average from 120 to 190 feet in depth. If a strong and permanent supply can be obtained at this point, the syndicate will doubtless erect several manufactories, which will utilize this cheap fuel to good advantage. Just where the local organization will commence work is not at all certain, although we understand that a liberal offer has been made by a gentleman who owns some land adjoining that near Lake Shore, and upon which several fine gas wells have been in operation for more than a year past.

Probate Court Matters.

In the Probate Court, yesterday, the following business was disposed of: In the matter of the estate of A. W. Taylor, deceased, a decree was filed allowing final account. In the matter of the estate and guardianship of Sidney K. Hooper, minor, the petition of the guardian for the sale of real estate and the order to show cause on said application were filed. In the matter of the estate of John B. Kimball, deceased, the agreement between the administrator, Henry W. Lawrence, and the widow and heirs of said deceased, as to the latter's share in the distribution of the estate, was filed and the agreement was allowed and approved. An order confirming the sale of real estate in the matter of the estate of John McGuire, deceased, was made and filed. The marriage certificates of M. S. Gunnerson and Erika Soderman, of Salt Lake City, and Charles L. Hamilton, of Ogden, and Minnie J. Taylor, of West Jordan, were filed for record.

The Aid Society's Ball.

There was scarcely the attendance at the Opera House last evening that might have been expected, or that should have greeted the efforts of the young ladies who have been working so assiduously in the matter. However, all who attended had a most enjoyable time. The financial outcome will be fairly satisfactory, a great number of tickets being sold to parties who were prevented from attending.

THE WELCH FATALITY.

Particulars of the Dreadful Accident near Peoa.

Wednesday morning, Mr. James Welch, of Coalville, who was sentenced, about a month ago, to a term in the Penitentiary for unlawful cohabitation, received word that his presence was required at the Marshal's office. No reason was assigned, and he came down quite ignorant as to why he had been sent for. He remained in the office for several hours, and chatted pleasantly with several people who happened in. About 4 o'clock he was informed by the Marshal that the reason he had been sent for was that his son, John Richard Welch, aged about 15 years, had met with an accident at a saw mill in Weber Canyon, by which the young man had lost his life. No particulars beyond these have been received up to this writing, but it is supposed that the youth's clothing caught in the machinery, and he was thus drawn on to his death. Through the kindness of Marshal Dyer, Mr. Welch was permitted to go to his home in Coalville, for which place he left on Wednesday afternoon. He will return as soon as the funeral services over the remains of his son are held.

After the above was written, the following letter from THE HERALD's correspondent was received:

A sad and fatal accident occurred at James Welch's saw mill, about twelve miles east of Peoa, yesterday, at 3.45 a.m. John Richard Welch, about 15 years of age, while working in the mill, was accidentally caught by the circular saw and mangled in a fearful manner. A slab was taken from the left leg, from the hip bone to the ankle, and the knee-cap was cut through; flesh torn from left breast; left arm cut off at the shoulder, only hanging by some of the flesh at top of shoulder; cut in the head from about one inch below the right eye, diagonally through the chin, and to the windpipe; part of the inside of right knee cut off. The deceased lived between half and three-quarters of an hour after the accident. Dr. John Maxwell was there, and did all that lay in human power for the poor sufferer, who was insensible up to his death. O. F. Lyons, Justice of the Peace for Peoa Precinct, was sent for and an inquest was held, and after a careful examination the jury brought in a verdict of accidental death, and no blame could be attached to anyone for the sad affair. The body of the young man was taken to Coalville to his sorrowing mother last evening. The father of the deceased is serving out six-months' term in the Penitentiary for unlawful cohabitation. The sympathy of the entire community is felt for the sorrowing family. L.

Wells that have been in constant operation for over a year past now yield a greater flow than when first struck. These average from 120 to 190 feet in depth. If a strong and permanent supply can be obtained at this point, the syndicate will doubtless erect several manufactories, which will utilize this cheap fuel to good advantage. Just where the local organization will commence work is not at all certain, although we understand that a liberal offer has been made by a gentleman who owns some land adjoining that near Lake Shore, and upon which several fine gas wells have been in operation for more than a year past.

The Aid Society's Ball.

There was scarcely the attendance at the Opera House last evening that might have been expected, or that should have greeted the efforts of the young ladies who have been working so assiduously in the matter. However, all who attended had a most enjoyable time. The financial outcome will be fairly satisfactory, a great number of tickets being sold to parties who were prevented from attending.
