What Transpired in Congress on Monday.

THE PENSION BILL LAID ASIDE.

The Urgency Deficiency Bill in the Senate—White's Special Strike Committee Resolutions.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—In the Senate, to-day, Reagan reported adversely from the postoffice and post roads committee the Edmunds and Cullom postal telegraph bills, and reported favorably an original bill to regulate inter-state commerce carried on by telegraph and to subject telegraph companies to the supervision of the inter-state commission. Cullom insisted that the bill should be referred to the inter-state committee. A sharp conflict between the committees followed, and the matter finally went over without action.

Among the petitions and memorials presented and referred were the following: From the Women's Christian Temperance Union, for the repeal of internal revenue taxes on alcoholic liquors, and for a tributary amendment to the Constitution.

Thirty-two petitions (presented by Sherman) for the passage of a per diem service pension bill, and a number of other petitions from other States to the same effect.

A House concurrent resolution, directing the Secretary of the Navy to designate the national vessel to convey the remains of ex-President Paez, of Venezuela, Lagnagua, was passed.

Unfinished business (pension bill) was laid aside, and the urgency deficiency appropriation bill was taken up.

Among more amendments recommended by the committee on appropriations and adopted by the Senate, were the following:

Reducing the item for erecting officers' quarters at Mare Island, Cal., from $5,000 to $2,500; inserting the item of $779,455 to complete the reports of the 4th census; reducing the contingent expenses of land offices from $35,000 to $25,000; striking out the item of $20,000 for miscellaneous expenses of United States courts, being the deficiency for the year 1887; inserting the item of $88,000 for printing and binding for the Postoffice Department.

The amendment to strike out the following paragraph: "And the public printer is hereby directed to rigidly enforce the provisions of the eight-hour law in the department under his charge," having been reached, Hoar inquired of Hale why those lines should be stricken out.

Hale said there were persons in the department working by the piece, who desired to work more than eight hours, who preferred to work twelve hours, and the adoption of the item might be construed to make these men stop work at the end of eight hours. The resolution might compel good workmen to stop work after eight hours and to allow new, untried, green hands to be brought into the office.

Hawley said the provision, if it had any meaning at all, was an attempt to forbid a man to work more than eight hours; therefore, in behalf of workmen, he protested against it. It seemed to him a piece of demagogism.

Quite a lively debate ensued between Hoar and Hawley, which was finally terminated by Hale withdrawing his amendment.

Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

White, of Indiana, introduced the following preamble and resolution, which were referred to the committee on commerce:

Whereas, there has been inaugurated a great strike on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, which, if not speedily checked, will end in widespread destitution and suffering, not only to those immediately engaged in it, but to others who are not directly connected therewith, yet, nevertheless, are greatly affected by the prolongation and continuance of said strike.

Resolved, that a special committee of five members be appointed by the Speaker to proceed at once to Chicago, and there investigate the condition of affairs in relation to said strike and that they be empowered and requested to act as mediators between the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Company and Chief Arthur, and bring about a settlement of the pending troubles and differences which will be amicable and agreeable to both parties so that the strike will terminate.

In the House, to-day, Morrow, of California, introduced a resolution calling on the President for correspondence between the United States and its consular agents at Navigators' (Samoa) Islands, touching public affairs at said islands; the seizure and deposition of the late King, with whom this government had entered into a certain treaty stipulation, and the difficulties which have recently taken place concerning the government said islands; and a due administration of law; also for such other correspondence as may have been had with European governments, and particularly with Germany, respecting the government of those islands and the President is requested to inform the House what measures have been taken to protect the rights and property of American citizens in those islands.

Woodburne, of Nevada, introduced a bill authorizing the issue of United States coin notes.

Grosvenor, of Ohio, introduced a resolution directing the committee on military affairs to ascertain whether unofficial matter has been incorporated in the War of the Rebellion records, as has been asserted, and if so, under what circumstances and by what authority.

By Nutting, of New York, a bill was entered for the construction of a ship canal around Niagara Falls, in New York.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the McDuffie-Davidson Alabama contested election case.

Maish, of Pennsylvania, opened the case for the contest, and denying the statement made in the minority report that the case involved no legal question, proceeded to discuss the legal bearings of the contest, as well as the facts elicited in the testimony which, he contended, was utterly insufficient to prove the allegations of fraud made by the contestant.

Powell, of Illinois, advocated the minority report, and after some debate, the case went over till to-morrow.

A joint resolution was passed allowing the payment, J. O. Barton, of the United States navy, to accept from the Emperor of Japan the decoration of the Order of the Rising Sun.

Adjourned.

BREDEMAYER'S ALLEGED FAST

A Theory That May Possibly Prove the True One.

Dr. Bredemeyer has broken his fast. Yesterday morning he drank a glass of port wine, ate an egg, a small steak, and a cake, giving as his reason therefor that he had received good news from his wife—a cheering message—as he put it. Although his coat does not fit him with the same precision that it did before his incarceration in the Pen., his voice is not impaired and his nerves seem to be as strong as they were before he grasped the brilliant idea that it would be a good thing to starve himself to death. There can be no reason to believe that Bredemeyer has eaten anything since he was incarcerated in the county jail at least; but there seems to be good grounds for believing that he has been drinking from half to three-quarters of a pint of milk each day. A Herald reporter yesterday had a talk with the jailor, and from him it was learned that the Doctor had been allowed unlimited quantities of water, for drinking, bathing, etc. So far as the jailor was concerned, he did not believe that Bredemeyer had eaten anything since he had been a guest of the county; but as to the milk, he was not so sure. Each morning he has taken to the Doctor's cell about one and a half pints of milk, and each evening he has carried out the same quantity, so far as he could judge. Although the milk was "pure and undefiled" when taken into Bredemeyer's cell, the jailor seems positive it was not so when taken out. An examination, he said, showed him, beyond a doubt, that the Doctor had drunk from half to three-quarters of a pint of milk for him each morning, and had filled the pitcher up with water.

The Doctor now announces that he will drink nothing in the way of coffee save that made from the best brands of Mocha. It looks very much as though the Doctor's "funny business" was really reaching an end.

WASHINGTON WORDS.

The Report on the Inter-State Telegraphy Bill.

THE FISHERY TREATY PAPERS

The President Transmits Them to Congress, With a Letter from Secretary Bayard—Etc.

Doings at Washington.

THE WELL-LA ABRA CLAIMS.

WASHINGTON, March 5. The President sent to the Senate a message in relation to the well-known Well-La Abra claims. The President says: "It will be seen from the accompanying report from the Secretary of State, that it is suggested that these claims be referred to a court, in order that the charges of fraud made in relation to the claims, be fully investigated. If, for any reason, this proceeding be considered inadvisable, he asks that some final and definite action be taken, directing the Executive Department of government what course to pursue in the premises."

INTER-STATE TELEGRAPHY REPORT.

The report accompanying the Spooner bill to regulate inter-state telegraphy, says the telegraph system of the country has become a monopoly, and complaint is made that rates are extortionate and are levied to pay dividends on watered stock. The committee, while recognizing the necessity for reasonable and limited control of the telegraph companies, doubt the policy of government assuming the ownership and entire management of them. It does not pretend to extend the power of regulating to dispatches which are only within a State, and supplementary legislation will be needed by the States. The report, in conclusion, expresses it as the sense of the committee that whatever can be done as well by private enterprise, and with as much safety and security to the people, should not be undertaken by government at present.

CONFIRMATIONS.

The following confirmations were made to-day: Moses J. Liddell, Louisiana, associate justice of the Supreme Court of Montana; Thomas Cutler, collector of customs, District of Humboldt, Cal.; C. P. Brisco, Mississippi, agent for the Crow Indians, Montana.

THE FISHERY DOCUMENTS.

The President has transmitted to Congress the remaining documents and protocols relating to the fisheries treaty, together with a letter from Secretary Bayard. In his letter Secretary Bayard says: "An inspection of this documentary history will serve to demonstrate the practical and important results accomplished by the treaty now pending before the Senate, which question of interpretation and administration of the treaty of 1818, between the United States and Great Britain, is transformed and elevated from the obscurity into which it has been suffered to lapse since the date of that convention, and its restoration from the practical control of minor and local officials of the Canadian maritime provinces. Until the treaty now pending was concluded, no available remedy seems to have been supplied for the inconsistencies, incongruities and unjustifiable construction of the treaty of 1818, to which our fishermen for year after year have been subjected, and which, by the progress of gradual encroachments of Canadian legislation and local port regulations, had almost converted their privileges, expressly reserved by the treaty, into sources of inconvenience and expense. The pretext or causes alleged for arrests, fines, detentions and other embarrassments of American fishing vessels during the year 1887 and 1888, were based upon the alleged infractions of the treaty of 1818, or of Canadian laws passed in the professed execution of that treaty. All such vexatious action as is recorded in the lists of seizures, is met and rendered impossible of occurrence in the future, by the provisions of the treaty now before the Senate, and the amplest enjoyment by the United States fishermen treaty rights and customary law pinalities due under inter-national law and comity, is secured in the ports and harbors of eastern Canada and Newfoundland. The correspondence will serve also to establish the fact that prior to the treaty of reciprocity of 1854, and subsequent to its abrogation, in the years 1870 and 1871, a vexatious and harassing administration by Canadian authorities was practiced and unchecked. As neither the treaty of 1854 nor that of 1871, contained any allusion to the wrongs thus inflicted upon United States fishermen, and as neither convention contrived any remedy or provision against their renewal and repetition, it became necessary that the remedy should no longer be unprovided. It is believed that such remedy is practicable and fully supplied by the treaty now pending and that by its terms now and for the first time since 1818, a just and joint interpretation is agreed to by both governments and placed upon the treaty of 1818, which will secure just and hospitable treatment to United States fishermen, and secure to them the unmolested and full measure of their rights; and that under the proposed arrangement, every American fisherman pushing his vocation in the waters adjacent to British North America, can acquire a clear understanding of his rights and duties, whilst within the jurisdiction of all waters of Canada, or to such ports and harbors as casually, necessity or convenience may suggest, without fear of encountering any such harsh and unfriendly treatment as he was heretofore subjected to, under the uncertain, warranted and variant interpretation of his treaty rights.

At the Philharmonic.

The members of the Philharmonic Society and their friends were the recipients of a rare musical treat last evening, when Mr. Carl Fittig, of New York, a famous soloist, favored them with several zither solos. In his hands the exquisite sweetness of the instrument was shown in its full perfection, and for his masterly rendition of the "Fantasia Concert" he was awarded a vociferous recall. In response the gentleman gave "Tyrolese Airs" and being again recalled responded good-naturedly with another beautiful selection. The fine capabilities of the zither as a solo instrument are known to but few here, and it is safe to say that could the public at large have listened to the wonderful melody called forth last evening by Mr. Fittig, it would certainly enter upon an era of much greater popularity here.

Prudence! Prudence!

In medication, as in aught else, prudence should be our guide. Yet thousands cast to the winds. Every new nostrum finds its patrons, the medical empires of every false school have their gulls. Every change in the gamut of humbug is rung successfully—for a time at least—the notes being furnished by the credulous. In happy contrast to the many advertised impostures of the day stands Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, now in its third decade of popularity, approved and recommended by physicians, indorsed by the press of many lands, sought and prized by invalids everywhere. It is an unobtainable specific for and preventive of malarial diseases, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, checks the growth of rheumatism and neuralgia, is a peerless invigorant and useful diuretic. Nervous people benefit by it.

OFFICE FURNITURE cheap and good, at Dinwoodey's.

There is also the text of a letter from Secretary Bayard to Sir Charles Tupper, under date of May 31, 1887, in which Bayard briefly reviews the points at issue, deprecates the chronological necessity in dealing with Canada through Great Britain and proposes that in a joint commission which ought to be arranged for the Canadian colonies to be represented in. He speaks at length of the interests involved, and of the necessity for prompt action to avoid disagreeable friction between the two countries, at the same time expressing the most earnest desire for the amicable adjustment of all differences.

Sir Charles Tupper's letter in reply thanks Secretary Bayard for the suggestions made, and says they have been referred to the proper authority, and coincides completely with the views of Mr Bayard in the earnest hope for an early settlement of the vexed question.

A letter from Secretary Bayard to Minister Phelps refers to a telegram from Lord Salisbury, regarding the appointment of a commission. In this Mr. Bayard proposes a convention similar in some respects to the new treaty, but which was not acceptable in other points to the British government. The remaining correspondence brings the subject to an agreement for the conference.

Salt Lake Musicians in Unity at Last.

Probably never before has there been such unanimity of feeling manifested by the orchestral musicians of this city as has been shown with regard to the recently organized Symphony Orchestra. The proposition was met with almost unanimous approval. The chief aim of the organization—as its name would suggest—is the production of music of a classical order, and its ability so to do can be better judged by reference to the following names of those who have already been enrolled: Antonio Pederson, Conductor; W. E. Weihe, George Ceasless, Magnus Olsen, E. O. Hogberg, E. Beesley, W. Youngdalen, J. J. Toronto, Olof Thomasson, J. A. Kraus, N. W. Alley, Fred J. Johnson, John W. Anrews, W. H. Shultz, F. C. Gronmann, violins; E. Beesley, Jr., Neil Neilson, violas; James P. Olson, H. Monson, cellos; Chas. L. Castleton, O. N. Witzel, J. C. Poulton, T. H. Roberts, J. Akett, bass; Geo. W. Hedger, Hyrum Case, George D. Nebecker, Willie Hannusch, flutes; E. W. Kent, W. E. Shimas, clarionets; H. Aldous, L. Sharp, J. S. Johnson, cornets; Geo. W. Clark, trombone; C. J. Thomas, E. M. McIntyre, J. H. Smith, O. J. Jerspersen, horns; Charles Olson, oboe; J. A. Evans, bassoon; Adel Beesley, drums. In addition to the above, it is expected that there will soon be another oboe and a bassoon, which will complete the instrumentation.

The orchestra now has Beethoven's First Symphony well under way, and will commence practice on other pieces in good earnest as soon as the ball season is over.

At an election held recently the following officers were chosen: C. J. Thomas, president; E. Beesley, vice-president; J. A. Evans, secretary and treasurer; James P. Olson, W. E. Weihe, Ed. W. Kent, J. H. Smith and Magnus Olsen, directors; A. Pedersen, conductor.
