It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism...

A Positive Cure. "I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time..."

For Twenty Years I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla...

AVOIDING THE ISSUE.

Mr. Baskin Proves a Very Artful Dodger.

STARTLING FEATS OF AGILITY.

He Affords Considerable Amusement for the Committee and the Herald's Readers.

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 19, 1889. [Special correspondence to THE HERALD.]—The House committee of Territories met at 1:30 this afternoon, thinking that by 5 o'clock Mr. Baskin and Judge Wilson would be through with their arguments...

BASKIN AND REVELATIONS.

Mr. Baskin, as a starting point, maintained that the only person authorized to receive revelations to the church was the head of the church; in matters of abstract belief he did not object to this, but just as soon as that belief practically asserted itself he fled his protest...

STARTED ANOTHER GIGGLE.

by inquiring if that was not in Illinois the chairman's district? Mr. Baskin had chased the co-operative idea, had developed itself in Utah and brought it to pay, its origin was in the building of the Nauvoo house. Mr. Mansur wanted to know the very latest revelation on business matters...

THE SPEAKER WALKED SILENT.

Was it to be wondered, he asked, that he and his fellow American gentlemen should fight such a system? They would prove recreant to themselves, their families and their country if they did otherwise. Then the speaker taxed the patience of the committee in an effort to prove that the Mormon had legal polygamy; in fact, this was the first thing they did...

CALLING HIM DOWN.

THE CHAIRMAN—Why not come down to conditions of the present time? Our time is precious. Mr. Baskin remarked that the pith of his argument was that we can only judge of what they will do in the future by what they have done in the past, thus confirming the "Mormon" doctrine enunciated by THE HERALD, that "once a guerilla always a guerilla."

The speaker attacked Mr. Richards' doctrine on plural marriage in which that gentleman claimed that it was not mandatory. He quoted the revelation as disproof. The words therein "she shall be destroyed" were associated with the blood-stained doctrine, which the committee must read in order to understand. And then this ingenious spirit went on to show that the Mormons had no legal status at all, the ceremony for first and plural marriages being identical, hence it was impossible to prove polygamy; and, said he, on that ground he would defend polygamists if he were their attorney. Mr. Baskin having allowed his friend Judge McBride to use the gobbling up City Creek Canyon chestnut; he therefore had now to resort to Mrs. Staehouse.

Through the aid of that lady he showed the committee through the Endowment House, but it didn't take worth a cent. Warner asked who she was.

Mr. Baskin—An apostate from the Mormon Church. Mr. WARREN—Apprehended that. This closed the "arguments" against Utah's admission, and THE HERALD readers can judge for themselves as to the merits of what has been said. There is one thing very evident...

FEDERATED TRADES COUNCIL.

The Organization on Sunday—Resolutions Adopted. THE HERALD mentioned some time ago that a movement was on foot towards organizing a Federated Trades Council for Utah. Delegates from all the prominent local unions and some from outside towns were present at A. O. U. W. Hall on Sunday, at which place a permanent organization was effected. The officers elected were as follows:

President—R. G. Sleater. Vice-president—G. Cushing. Corresponding secretary—recording secretary—H. H. Stephens. Financial secretary—A. Haig. Treasurer—H. Hamlin. Sergeant-at-arms—F. Morris. Board of directors—S. Hansen, chairman; E. Ashton, W. J. Lewis, C. M. Olsen and G. Parimore.

Executive committee—G. Fullman, chairman; J. Sage, T. S. Kowland, E. M. Forcher and G. G. Taylor. The organization is composed of delegates elected or appointed by the various trades and labor unions; therefore, it is a general union, and its object is to secure the best interests of all laboring men, so as to prevent the product of the country coming into competition with honest industry.

WHEREAS—The necessity of unity of action among the working classes has been fully demonstrated, and we believe such unity of action can be best accomplished by an organization composed of delegates elected or appointed by the various trades and labor unions; therefore, we, the undersigned, do hereby pledge ourselves to assist each other in securing fair wages to the laboring man by all honorable means and we shall withdraw, and use our influence to have our employer, let his calling be what it may.

Fourth—We declare that all beneficial labor laws should be rigidly enforced, especially those requiring compulsory education for the boys of this territory, and we pledge ourselves to take such measures as will secure such enforcement.

Fifth—We are in favor of arbitration whenever differences exist between employer and employed.

Sixth—We favor the self-employment of labor, as only complete independence can be obtained when the laborer is no longer dependent on the employer for his right to work; and, especially do we recommend that, wherever trades intend striking for the accomplishment of any just purpose, if the funds of the organization will allow, he resistance, instead of being passive, should become active and aggressive, by using the funds productively instead of unproductively.

The first inaugural concert and ball will be given on Thursday, February 28th. It is the intention of the committee in charge to make this an elaborate affair, sparing no trouble to furnish the best of music and entertainment. A number of parties have already signified their willingness to appear. The following is the committee of arrangements: G. Fullman, chairman; J. Sage, H. Hamlin, G. Cushing and S. Hansen.

A feature of Sunday's meeting was full delegations from several local unions. The next meeting will be held Sunday, February 21st, at which time delegates from a number of minor unions will be represented. This movement is being watched with a good deal of interest all over the Territory, as one of the features which distinguish it will be a system of financial benefit enabling those in trouble to maintain themselves for a long time.

Representatives of over 2,500 men already are identified with the Council, and by next Labor Day 5,000 more are expected to come forward.

The Chill Blast.

that sets the naked branches a-quivering, is not felt by the wealthy valetudinarian indoors, but not all the covering that can be piled on his warm bed, nor all the furnace heat that can be furnished, will warm his marrow when chills and fever runs its icy fingers along his spinal column. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the only thing to infuse new warmth into his chilled and aching frame, to remedy the fierce fever and exhausting sweats which alternate with the chill. Dumb ague, acute bilious remittent—in short, every known form of malarial disease is subjected by this potent and safe medicine. Billions—sore, constipation, dyspepsia, sick headaches, loss of appetite and sleep, kidney trouble, rheumatism and debility are also remedied by it. Use it with persistence to effect a thorough cure.

IN RAILWAY CIRCLES.

The D. & R. G. Wants Ten Thousand Men.

THE WHITE RIVER COUNTRY.

Holcombe's Little Hetchet Creates Havoc in Omaha—Personal and General.

A gentleman just in from Denver says the D. & R. G. people are advertising for 10,000 men at $2 per day to go to work at once in the White River country. Although preferring not to be quoted as authority, and requesting that the sources from which he obtained the assurance be not given, he said that while the D. & R. G. people were figuring largely in the matter, he was confident that the Missouri Pacific was the moving power, and that the scheme was backed by $22,000,000 of Jay Gould's wealth. He further said that the road would be pushed on this way at once, and that the route from this city would be via the south end of the Great Salt Lake. The starting point would be Glenwood Springs, the Missouri Pacific having a traffic arrangement whereby they would be enabled to reach that point from Denver. The old rumor of the Missouri Pacific having gained control of the Denver & Rio Grande, has been again revived, and is very generally believed in Denver.

HOLCOMBE'S LITTLE HATCHET.

There is a dull, gloomy feeling pervading the Union Pacific headquarters at present, says the Omaha Herald. The employees do not seem to be happy, and a suggestion of an involuntary shiver appears to shake the frame of the listener. The heads of many departments have lost a great portion of the interest formerly given their respective positions, and the clerks plod along in a sort of listless I-wonder-when-time-will-come manner.

It was expected of Mr. Holcombe that he would make some changes when he assumed the office of vice-president and general manager of the Union Pacific. Such action has always been looked for under similar circumstances, but that he would, in the face of his assertion that he was no tomahawk man, take it upon himself to relieve or displace all the heads of departments to make way for his special pets no one believed for a moment. But such are the indications at present. When a man like Dickinson, who has worked his way from a plain operator to the position he will occupy until February 1, is removed from office, "Who" said one official yesterday, "can tell who will be the next?" And it really does look that way.

A conversation was had with a gentleman connected with the Union Pacific yesterday who is in a position to know as much about the workings of the road as are Mr. Kimball and Mr. Orr, the silent majority of the management, in which the former gave vent to a few choice facts, which, when read by Mr. Holcombe, will probably cause him just a fraction of annoyance. Holcombe came here through the influence of Charles Francis Adams, who was desirous of relieving himself to some extent from the arduous duties formerly imposed on him, and through Adams' recommendations that Holcombe was a first-class man, provided he had full power to do everything he liked, the latter was selected. Like all new brooms he proposed to make a clean sweep, and has already done very well, considering the short time he has been in Omaha. But there is a limit to human endurance, and the principal stockholder in a railroad, the man who owns a controlling interest—or directs it at least—is no exception to the rule. So with Mr. Ames, who at the present time is as heavy a man, all things considered, as is Adams.

But for Ames, Holcombe would undoubtedly have expressed a preference to be rid of Thomas L. Kimball, the present general manager. But, no; Mr. Kimball was too valuable a man with the Ames faction. He knows every foot of the Union Pacific, can describe every cattle guard on the right-of-way; is familiar with more employees; and in short is one of the practical men, with one exception, which is given below. Holcombe could not dismiss Kimball if he would, because in so doing he would be putting down his own man, and under the knife, and Holcombe is not that sort of a man. He could not dispense with the services of Thomas Orr, for reasons which have already been stated in the Herald and those applying to Kimball's case. Ames knows that Orr knows something about the Union Pacific and for that reason he is valuable. As long as there is a Union Pacific road run by a company, just so long will Orr remain. Management and directory may change, but if Orr desires to remain he can do so.

But as to Kimball, the gentleman who imparted the information contained in the above paragraph in mentioning Mr. Kimball stated that at present the old man had the opportunity of his lifetime. Backed by a more powerful influence than is Holcombe, if it comes to a show down, Kimball could check his superior officer in his career of cutting off heads if he chose. Why not do so?

Every man who has been, or is to be dismissed from the service, is as capable as his successor. Why the changes, if not from motives of persons favor?

As to Ressequie. Ressequie is an old Chicago, Burlington & Quincy man and his position as division superintendent is hardly one that a "Q" man could appreciate. He must have a greater title. What shall it be? The absorption of the St. Joseph & Grand Island, and the promotion of Ressequie to the position of assistant general manager, having jurisdiction over the St. Joseph & Grand Island and the Nebraska division. Then Holcombe would be partially satisfied. With Ressequie, a "Q" man, for one assistant general manager, Barr superintendent of the Wyoming division, his especial pet, Cumming, in a other fact position, he could hardly fail to be satisfied, inasmuch as Milten, Kimball and Orr are beyond his jurisdiction.

The question now arises, what of the heads of other departments? Will Munroe, Worrack and Johnson, of the freight office, and Tebbetts and Lomax of the passenger department, be left alone? Time only can tell.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

TEN carloads of ore came in over the Salt Lake & Western from Tintic yesterday.

A TELEGRAM from San Diego, Cal., announces the death of Captain Bertram Hanson, who for years has held the position of local land and passenger agent of the Union Pacific, at that place of consumption.

J. M. BARR, formerly division superintendent of the Chicago, Burlington & Northern, has been appointed to the position made vacant by the promotion of G. M. Cumming, of the Wyoming division of the Union Pacific.

GENERAL Superintendent Dickenson of the Union Pacific is in Chicago consulting with Vice-President Holcombe and Assistant-General Manager Milten. For what purpose is not definitely known, but it is supposed that arrangements are being made by which Mr. Dickenson is to receive a new position.

The general managers of the western roads met in the Bookery building Thursday to consider the question of fast trains west of the Missouri River. The "Q," which is the disturbing factor refused to discontinue its fast train to Denver, and the Union Pacific run a similar train from Omaha. The other lines will equalize matters by cutting rates. It is understood that the "Q" is anxious to have the matter arbitrated by the executive board of the new Interstate Railway Association, and some settlement may be reached in this way that will avert any trouble.

Noted Arrivals.

New York, January 27.—Among the arrivals on the Euroria to-day, were Nellie Grant Sartoris, Paul Dana and Madam Schneider Hanfstaengl, prima donna. The Euroria met with a mishap on reaching the straits of the Atlantic. She ran aground on the south-west spit, but backed off without injury.

King Humbert.

Rome, January 27.—A demonstration was made by Radicals to-day to celebrate the anniversary of the battle of Delafaye. The procession was orderly until one of the speakers alluded in offensive terms to King Humbert. This led to a conflict with the police, several of whom were injured. Fifteen persons were arrested.

Rome, January 28.—Parliament was opened to-day by King Humbert. In his speech he alluded to the bills which would be introduced by the government as eminently pacific. The visit of the Emperor of Germany had proved the depth of Germany's attachment to Italy. In conclusion the King said: "Italy will continue to work for peace, which all desire and which I can declare will be kept by us."

Chronic Pleurisy Cured.

L. E. Callen, Garfield, Pawnee Co., Kansas, writes: I have been for some years troubled with pleuritic pains in my left side, which come on in the beginning of winter, and are so severe that I am confined to the house. During the past winter I used two ALCOCK'S PLASTERs on my left side, and after the first week all pain left me and I was perfectly able to attend to my business. After wearing them two weeks I would wash them off with a little alcohol and then would go two or three weeks perfectly well. I have only had to put them on three times during the past winter, and must say ALCOCK'S PLASTERs are all that they are represented to be.

Trouble in the Cabinet.

New York, January 28.—A Washington special to the Post says: There has been for several days a rumor that there is a sharp difference of opinion in the Cabinet on account of the Samoan complication. The latest form which this rumor has taken is that Secretary Whitney or Secretary Bayard may resign. Attempts made this morning to obtain any authorized information on this subject were not successful. A United States Senator says he is informed that there is much feeling on account of the Samoan affair, and that the estrangement is of a serious character. This Senator says the President holds Secretary Bayard responsible for the situation, while the friends of Secretary Bayard insist that the President has interfered in the affairs of the State Department, and is wholly responsible.

Beauty

Is desired and admired by all. Among the things which may best be done to enhance personal beauty is the daily use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. No matter what the color of the hair, this preparation gives it a lustre and pliancy that adds greatly to its charm. Should the hair be thin, harsh dry, or turning gray...

Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the color, bring out a new growth, and render the old soft and shiny. For keeping the scalp clean, cool, and healthy, there is no better preparation in the market.

"I am free to confess that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor has convinced me that it is a genuine article. Its use has not only cured the hair of my wife and daughter to be but it has given my rather stunted mustache a respectable length and appearance."—R. Britton, Oakland, Ohio. "My hair was coming out (without any assistance from my wife, either). I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor, using only one bottle, and I now have as fine a head of hair as any one could wish for."—R. T. Schmitt, Dickson, Tenn.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor in my family for a number of years, and regard it as the best hair preparation I know of. It keeps the scalp clean, the hair soft and lively, and preserves the original color. My wife has used it for a long time with most satisfactory results."—Benjamin M. Johnson, M. D., Thomas Hill, Mo.

"My hair was becoming harsh and dry, but after using half a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it grew black and glossy. I cannot express the joy and gratitude I feel."—Mabel C. Hardy, Delavan, Ill.
