

DRAMA, MUSIC AND COMEDY

The "Penny Twinkler" Tea Pot Tempest.

THE UNION CLUB CONCERT

Booth and Madam de Barrios—The Next Attractions—Jo McIntyre's Letter—Latest Amusement Notes.

A mild flurry has been caused during the week past by the frantic assaults of the Twilight Penny Twinkler on the Salt Lake theatre; no one paid any attention to it of course, until the Twinkler's big brother took the matter up, then the chief of the first department and the insurance chief...

New that it is ended, it would not do to leave one small bit of history untold. Manager Burton related to THE HERALD so we can vouch for it. A few weeks ago the Twinkler served the theatre with a notice that on and after a certain date it must receive for its theatre advertisements the same rate as the Salt Lake Herald...

Washington's birthday will be observed in a very pleasant way. It is the first time that we have had a custom—by the Union club at their quarters in the Hotel Terminus. The affair is in the hands of Mr. Grant Hampton, who has been appointed...

The theatre made money during the "Supper" nights, and it is a little at the moment. The verdict of Salt Lake is that "Supper" is a magnificent spectacle, and that its stage is excellent and that its acting and story were excellently told.

To-morrow night and Tuesday afternoon the Debutantes hold the boards. The affair has not been loudly boomed, and not much is known of it except that it is a dancing party. Saturday afternoon next Phil Gray gives an entertainment for the benefit of the Debutantes. Next week Katie Putnam and "William's" Widow Harry more appear, divide the six nights equally.

Jo McIntyre, one of Salt Lake's pianists, is still hard at work in Berlin. His friends will be pleased to read the following extracts from one of his recent letters: "Music and I are still in the ring and hard at it. Notwithstanding that this is the hub of the musical universe, the very fine teachers are not to be despised. There is an abundance of fine players, who have no time or inclination or ability (1) to teach, but more abundant still are the very few who are not only good but who are not hungrily eager. I had to fight against the best and most favored of talented pupils for recognition, but I came too far to say that I was not successful. Here is the very best possible to bring me what I came for. Our session is in full blast. I could hear during January and February, Robert, D'Alber, Rosenthal, Wisniewski, Carreno, S'Winski, Joachim, Sarasate, Yocco, the teaching quarters, on every evening, the Blower concerto, the different singing societies, the concert houses, not mentioning light opera and the many small concerts."

Edwin Booth's myriads of admirers will be specially interested by the following, which is printed in the New York Herald: "Before entering the theatre, two of the people from home who are such enthusiastic music lovers, but I am fearing now that the pond is too wide for them, or that their sailing is too shallow. You yourself, are not afraid of spelling your German accent, you might come over and hear your favorite symphonies performed at headquarters."

that the expenses involved will not be less than $5,000 for the stage show, quite aside from the expenses of the reception and ball. But the hall of the enterprise which contemplated an act of "Hissmarch" with Booth in it, has failed utterly. A bustling theatrical agent, who had been connected at one time in business with Mr. Booth, was employed as the negotiator to make the proposition.

Mr. Booth lives nowadays in the upper half of the Players' club, and is a great deal of a recluse, meeting only a few intimate friends, and even with them maintaining more than his former habitual taciturnity. Mr. Booth is a man of few words. After listening to the cautiously worded offer of an engagement to play one night before a small audience of "society" people in a private theatre, he stopped the speaker short at the point where the question of remuneration was going to be raised.

The engagement of Mr. Burton Stanley for the "Hissmarch" being completed, he will be followed by Mr. Joseph Clifton, a young and talented actor, possessing much merit, ambitious and painstaking in all he does. Mr. Clifton will be supported by Louise Astor and the enlarged stock company in a comedy drama called the "Hissmarch." As the "Hissmarch" will observe a complete change in every department Thursday, presenting a number of rare high-priced freaks, such as Ell Bowen, the remarkable legless Frenchman, and athletes of much wonder, performing marvelous feats of strength, "Hissmarch" will be a grand success.

It is reported that Sarasate will return at the end of the season to his estates in Spain, and that he will appear in public only for charity.

Mr. Hayden estimates the profits of Stuart's four last seasons at $100,000. He does not intend to leave the city until he has paid the loss of "The Cad."

Miss Kate Clouston and her husband, Mr. A. C. Clouston, are again traveling with "The Two Orphans." They are in the city generally brings out a new drama intended to be produced in Salt Lake. It is a comedy in one act, and is a very good one.

John L. Sullivan went around behind the scenes at the Taber Grand, however, one night last week during the performance of "The Sheep to Conquer," stepped on the stage and exclaimed his name to the audience. "That's my name," replied the comedian, backing off a little. Then he recovered from his surprise and shook hands with the big Sullivan, and the best wishes for his home in Paris. He is invited to big audiences all the week. The audience who will see Sullivan walk on the stage to return to his own performance at Broadway and the applause was deafening.

Did You Ever Know. A church that died because it paid too much! A revival of religion that spoiled the missionary collection! A missionary pastor who did not build up all sides of his church! A man who paid liberally to missions and then felt meanly about it!

I will give a dancing matinee on Monday afternoon, February 22nd, (Washington) market, in new Odd Fellows temple, on Market street, between Main and West Temple, commencing at 4 p.m.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Mr. Barnes, representing Talbot Bros., the well known educational publishers, is in the city looking over the educational field. President Snodgrass, of the Utah Agricultural college, has been in the city this week in the interest of that institution. He has the plans for a magnificent building that will be an honor to the whole territory.

Training of the Emotions and Will is the subject for all grades during the next month. Mr. Millspaugh will meet the first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades the second and fourth weeks. There will be two meetings for each grade.

The World's Fair for Kansas is promoting a plan whereby it is expected that the expense of creating the Exposition will be met by the sale of tickets to school pupils. The proposition is to have all of the schools in the state observe a "World's Fair Day," by holding an entertainment with a special program, etc., to which a small entrance fee will be charged.

Washington's Birthday Exercises. Twelfth School—The Debutantes ball is expected to be present; also a company of cadets from the university will arrive in the city with music and guns.

Fourth School—Three programmes will be given. Grades 6, 7 and 8 will unite, and the flag for the state will be taken by William Nelson, vice-president of the board of education.

Eleventh School—A programme will be carried out in each room, and then will be a general program in the hall, where a general program will be read.

Twelfth School—A programme will be carried out in each room, after which a general program will be given on the campus. Judge Varian will present the flag.

The Ethies of Story Telling. It seems to us that in good fiction will not appear as a full for good; that it must be set over against rightness as well as black black indeed and white pure white. The story teller need have no expressive moral hobby to ride post haste; his tale will be all the better if told with the pure love of story telling; but we may be sure that his taste is unclouded if he chooses a salacious story to tell and gives it a touch of personal rehearsal. Here, indeed, is where we would draw the line. Evil can be used by the artist with clean hands and to wholesome effect by contrasting it with the healthy, solid protection of good. The chief trouble with current realism is that it does not do this, but chooses to set hopeless evil and powerless common-place side without any triumphant moral purpose of the author. It is the general effect that the work is likely to produce when read by the aggregate of readers which must be a large element of the test.

Industrial Gatherings. Paper matches are coming into Michigan, and a factory will be built shortly in Michigan. Out of the 240,000 domestic accounts there are in London it is estimated that 10,000 are always out of employment.
