Now That House Cleaning Time is at Hand,

And the period for a general renovation has arrived, such as the taking up and cleaning of carpets, painting, calcimining and the performance of various things required—don't you think you had better remove your old, smoky stove, do away with the flying soot, the emptying of ashes, avoid the intense heat that will soon be objectionable, and in sheer defense put in one of our incomparable "Quick Meal" Gasoline Stoves! What do you know of our "Quick Meal"? If you have not thoroughly examined it, if you have not seen it in actual use; if you are not familiar with its essential features—safety and simplicity—don't assume to have any knowledge of its virtues. Above all things, don't permit yourself to compare the "Quick Meal" to the old-style, dangerous, fluid-lighting gasoline stove. There is just as much difference between them as exists between a lumbering locomotive of sixty years ago and a major's Mogul of to-day. Let us show you the Labor-Saving, Fuel-Saving, Comfort-Insuring "Quick Meal."

cottagers whose names were refused. The telescope, by Clark, of Cambridge, that the venerable historian used day and night on his piazza fronting the ocean, was the desired object, and was captured by Mr. Mason, of Newport, for $75. Carvings, statuary and a host of knickknacks were bid in by Mr. Bliss. The sale was continued till next week on account of the storm. Mr. Bancroft's library desk and a hundred other objects of interest will be sold then, including a beautiful lot of old china, greatly valued by the historian.

Corbett's Opinion of Fitzsimmons. (Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch.) PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—Jim Corbett was asked by a correspondent what he thought of Fitzsimmons. He said: "He has shown himself a corking good man, and in my opinion he is now justified in fighting any of the heavy-weights. While he fought at 154 pounds he was not thought to be a match for a heavy-weight, but since he scaled 170 pounds against Maher he ought to fight heavy-weights. He is game, clever and a hard hitter, and would probably make it warm for anyone."

THE BANCROFT SALE

Newport, R. I., March 4.—Aquadneck hall was crowded to excess yesterday when Auctioneer Burlingham began selling the household furniture of the late George Bancroft. Agents were present representing several well known cottagers and also the heirs. A large number of carriages were brought in for Mr. Carroll, of Baltimore. Mr. Leland, lately of New York, was a bidder. Very few things, however, brought the prices expected. An engraving of General Jackson, presented by him to Bancroft, was bought by Alexander Bliss, of Washington. There was a spirited contest for a painted dinner set of 175 pieces. It was bought by W. S. Lawrence, of Newport. Two quaint paintings with marble tops were bought in for the heirs, as were four choice engravings. The engravings of Lincoln, Lafayette, Sir Humphry Davy and other celebrities brought fancy prices, and were bought for

MINING IN IDAHO.

An English Syndicate Investigating Property.

Report of An Important Discovery—Prospects in the Wood River Country Were Never Better.

BOISE CITY, Ida., Feb. 29.—[Special Correspondence to THE HERALD.]—Another rich strike is reported in the Phillips & Sullivan mine at Silver City. The owners have been running a cross-cut tunnel for some time. It is now in 650 feet, has cut the vein and run through it fourteen feet so far without encountering the hanging wall. The strike is made fully one hundred feet lower the old workings, and the ore will run high in gold. Samples are being assayed now, but the result will not be made public. It is said to be immensely rich, however, and will be second to none in that respect in that entire district. Messrs. Phillips and Sullivan have received flattering offers to sell their property, even before it was fully developed. They are sure that there was more ore in it than was in sight at that time, and this last strike shows how wise they have been in not putting the property on the market.

Work on the Blaine tunnel goes on at the rate of eight feet per day. It is already has been experienced in keeping the waste rock away from the tunnel, and when it is not for the double track system and the large cars used it would be almost impossible to proceed with the work. An important discovery was made by J. J. Smith, a mining expert, arrived in this city yesterday from Milwaukee. He represents a powerful New York syndicate, and his mission is to expert a number of mines in the immediate vicinity, report his opinion to the members of the syndicate, and if favorable, it is likely they will make some heavy purchases. The two districts which interest him most are the Neal and Slavin's Mountains. He left this morning in company with C. S. Brown to visit the latter. A miner named Holmes claims he has made a rich strike in Slavin's mountains, and if so, Mr. Smith may for the time give that district his attention, reserving the inspection of the Neal for some future time. Holmes says he struck a vein of ore which prospects over 400 feet long, with indications of richer material west of it. An assay of the samples brought to this city verified his story. Holmes is confident his discovery is one of the richest ever made, and that this city will receive a brisk trade therefrom. A number of other mining men are interested in this district, prominent among them being John Early, Esq., John Lemp, one of the best known and ablest miners in Idaho, O'Farrell, Mayor Pinyan and others. Two brothers named Hardwick made a few weeks ago. While hunting they found a rich vein of silver-bearing ore which further investigation proved to come from a large and well defined ledge. The ore runs about 400 to 500 feet in length, and contains lead and copper. The extensions to this mine have been developed, and a large number of claims are being staked. Later reports claim the finding of 425 ore in the vein discovered by the Hardwick brothers.

THE OUTLOOK IN THE WOOD RIVER COUNTRY

was never better. The sale of the Mistle Moore and Relief mines at Bradford is all but consummated, and the change of ownership will give ready equipment to 800 men. The Queen of the Hills will resume operations with the Mistle Moore and Relief mines. The Eliphan showing up richer every day. It is making such a splendid showing that the owners are confident it will resume the paying of dividends in a short while. The Buttercup company have spent nearly $500,000 on their property lately, but the mine is developing so nicely they will be paid with good interest for all the improvements during the coming summer. The Van Dusen, New Argus, North Argus, Red Cloud, Wolf Run, Arctic and Antarctic, the North Star group and others, are being splendidly developed and a large number of men. The Standard company's property will take charge on that date. The Baltimore and Victoria groups are to be sold plain. The Eastern company and Wing is now to be started, giving employment to over one hundred men. James S. I. Tipple, Deadwood, Gold Belt, Canons No. 4, Abbey and a number of other properties which have been doing little or nothing for some time past, will be sold soon, or resume active operations with a full force each. The owners of the Gold Belt have paid off all the judgments against that property, which aggregated thousands of dollars, and have a splendid offer to sell. The owners and lessees are alike confident a prosperous season, and will continue operations whether the silver bill passes or not.

A REVIVAL MEETING

An Iowa Mob Threaten the Leaders With Violence.

THE FIELD INSANITY INQUIRY

Judge Van Grunt Unceremoniously Dismisses the Jury—The Scudder Case—Horrible Scenes at a Gallotting.

DR. MORSE, March 4.—A late report received at the Register office states that a revival, under the auspices of the Free Methodists, has been going on in Corning for some time. The town is thoroughly excited, and the rougher and freer-thinking elements have opposed the revival, threatening the leaders with mob violence, on account of the effect they were having on the people, some of whom have shown symptoms of religious insanity. The revivalists declare it is the work of God, and have kept up the meetings. Though have surrounded the church and attempted to break up the services. This afternoon, just as the governor was leaving Des Moines, he was appealed to by a local militia, who asked him to order out the local militia. The governor telegraphed for further information, receiving the reply the local authorities and the sheriff did not need the assistance of the militia, consequently nothing has been done.

The Field Insanity Inquiry.

New York, March 4.—Judge Van Grunt created a sensation in the Field Insanity hearing this evening. The hearing had been proceeding quietly for seven days. At 7:30 this evening Judge Van Grunt suddenly interrupted the proceedings and said: "When this trial began, counsel promised it would consume five days and I have already sat here eight days, and the prospects of finishing this week are meager indeed. Gentlemen of the jury, be added, ranging, you are discharged." For a moment all was confusion. The judge, with much deliberation, was putting on his coat when the jury seemed so much surprised to do anything, but still still and wonder. Then Mr. Cochran walked over to District Attorney Nickoll and remarked: "Well, I'll be damned!"

The Salt Styled "Crink" Sued.

CHICAGO, March 4.—In the Cook county circuit court to-morrow will be filed a suit against George Jacob Schweinfurth, the self-styled "Crink." The suit is for $50,000 damages for alienating from the complainant, George Couder, the affections of his wife. The suit, if successful, will precipitate many others. Couder is a man of considerable wealth. Three weeks ago he was visited by a piece of Chicago real estate valued at $10,000. His wife, however, refused to sign the deed without consulting "Crink," and Schweinfurth justified her refusal. This precipitated the suit.

"God Has Punished Us"

St. Louis, March 4.—"God has punished us" was the groaning confession by Mrs. Marcus Cohen today of an attempt at arson, which resulted in the death of her husband and brother-in-law, Marcus and Abraham Cohen. Just after 5 o'clock this morning an officer was attracted to 3744 Chouteau avenue by a fire at that time showing through the window. In the building dwell Marcus Cohen, his wife and three children and brother Abraham, over the store owned by Marcus. Scarcely had the Officers reached the place when an explosion of terrific force blew out the entire front of the building. The body of Abraham was burned to a charred mass, and the body of Marcus was removed to the hospital. An examination showed the gas fixtures had all been unsecured. Throwing the gas to flow into the room, and that a night or two ago teams had been employed carrying goods out of the back entrance to the store. An empty gasoline can was also found. Cohen died of his injuries at the hospital. The men evidently desired to burn the place to the ground. The horror of the scene was increased when the executor raised the knife and made an attempt to cut the head of the unfortunate man with his hands, while the blood gushed in torrents from the gaping wounds. In spite of all his taunting and taunting he failed to tear it off and again placed the body under the guillotine. Again the blade failed to perform its duty, leaving the remains more mutilated than before. The brutal executioner then took a knife and hacked and slashed at the back of the neck until he succeeded in tearing the head away.

A Horrible Scene at a Gallotting.

BENLIX, March 4.—A horrible story was received here today from Slade, a small village in Hanover. A murderer was to be gallotted there today. He was placed in position, but when the knife fell, to the horror of the spectators, it failed to sever the head from the trunk, leaving the neck in a terribly mutilated condition. The horror of the scene was increased when the executioner raised the knife and made an attempt to cut the head of the unfortunate man with his hands, while the blood gushed in torrents from the gaping wounds. In spite of all his taunting and taunting he failed to tear it off and again placed the body under the guillotine. Again the blade failed to perform its duty, leaving the remains more mutilated than before. The brutal executioner then took a knife and hacked and slashed at the back of the neck until he succeeded in tearing the head away.

The Case of Dr. Scudder.

CHICAGO, March 4.—Who drew up the forged will is to-night the first question in the Jekily-Hyde case that is puzzling all Chicago. But for the alleged discovery of Dr. Scudder's surreptitious handling of the private papers of the rich woman he is charged with having murdered, he might never have been suspected of the crime. The forged will is in the possession of Attorney Simon, representing the rich woman's husband and sister. The circumstances under which Scudder had it drawn, he did, will likely go far to prove or disprove his sanity and guilt. It is said an expert was prepared by a lawyer, and the question of the attorney's identity and possible complicity is being carefully brought toward a solution. It is said an expert, to whom the two wills were submitted before, Dr. Scudder's arrest, and who knew nothing of the circumstances in the case, decided without hesitation that the two documents were not signed by the same person, one signature showing the tremor incident to old age or feebleness, and the other firmly written with forced attempts at irregularity of outline.

The Case of Dr. M. Scudder.

CHICAGO, March 4.—In the Cook county circuit court to-morrow will be filed a suit against George Jacob Schweinfurth, the self-styled "Crink." The suit is for $50,000 damages for alienating from the complainant, George Couder, the affections of his wife. The suit, if successful, will precipitate many others. Lord Lytton's Will.

LONDON, March 4.—The Daily Telegraph published this (Friday) morning the late Lord Lytton's will. The personal estate is valued at $75,370. It was the late lord's desire to be buried by the side of his sister in the mausoleum at Knobworth and at the expense of his funeral should not ex-

Queer Behavior of a Girl in the Stock Exchange

(Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch.) NEW YORK, March 4.—There are stirring times in Wall street. To-day was no exception. About 2 p.m. a yellow-haired young woman, carrying an alligator hand bag, made her way up to the gallery to see the excitement. Arriving there, she coolly opened her bag and produced a vicious-looking carving knife, which she stuck in her belt. Of course, all eyes were upon her in a moment. A messenger was sent to ask her to leave the gallery, and why, certainly," she said in the most haughty way. Then she put her knife in the bag and proceeded down the stairs. When she reached the stern door one of the door-keepers advanced to open it for her. Pushing him aside with a disdainful gesture, she slowly raised her skirts until her stockings, which matched her hair, could be seen in their full splendor. Then she raised her foot and, with a mighty push, such as Kilgore, of Texas, used to give the swinging doors of the House of Representatives when he didn't want Mr. Reed to count him among the quorum, she sent the door flying outward. Waving a graceful farewell to the astonished brokers, she dropped her skirts and proceeded up Wall street.
